PROPOSED RULE MAKING

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

[47 CFR Part 3]

[Docket No. 11129; FCC 54-1210]

TELEVISION BROADCAST STATIONS

TABLE OF ASSIGNMENTS

In the matter of amendment of § 3.606 Table of assignments, rules governing Television Broadcast Stations; Docket No. 11129.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration the request of the Department of Education of Puerto Rico "For Extension of Time Within Which to File Replies to Comments", and an Opposition to this request filed by Radio Americas Corporation.

2. On August 11, 1954, the Commission issued a notice of proposed rule making (FCC 54-1012) in the above-entitled matter proposing the substitution of Channel 11 in San Juan, Puerto Rico for Channel 6, and the substitution of Channel 6 in Caguas, Puerto Rico for Channel 11. The notice specified that comments were to be filed on or before September 7, 1954, and replies to such comments 10 days thereafter. The Board of Education filed comments in the proceeding.

3. In support of its request, the Department of Education states that "on September 15, 1954 the Department's consulting engineer discovered that certain information relating to the proposal was on file at the Commission which had not been brought to their attention before that date"; and additional time is requested to file comments in the proceeding. Although the request of the Department of Education is labelled a request to file a reply to comments, it is apparent that the Department of Education is actually seeking an extension of time in which to file a supplement to its original comments in the proceeding rather than a reply to other comments which have been filed pursuant to the notice.

4. The Radio Americas Corporation opposes the request for extension, urging that there is no reason for granting an extension of time to file comments in this proceeding. It is contended that the Department of Education has not alleged that the information in the Commission's files is newly discovered evidence and has not shown that its failure to file timely comments is due to anything other than lack of diligence on its part.

5. In our view, the Department of Education has made a sufficient showing to warrant an extension of time to file comments in this proceeding: Accordingly, it is ordered, That the request for extension of time of the Department of Education of Puerto Rico is granted.

6. Notice is hereby given that the time for filing comments in this proceeding is extended to October 4, 1954, and the time for filing replies to such comments is extended to October 14, 1954.

Adopted: September 22, 1954.

Released: September 23, 1954.

POWER AND ANTENNA HEIGHT REQUIREMENTS

In the matter of amendment of § 3.614 (b), rules governing Television Broadcast Stations, Docket No. 11181.

1. Notice is hereby given that the Commission has received proposals for rule making in the above-entitled matter.

2. Section 3.614 (b) specifies the maximum authorized powers for television broadcast stations and reads, in pertinent part, as follows:

(b) Maximum power. Except as provided in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, the maximum effective radiated powers of television broadcast stations operating on the channels set forth below with the antenna heights not in excess of 2,000 feet above average terrain shall be as follows:

	Maximum visual effective radiated power in db above on kilowatt (dbk)
2 to 6	20 dbk (100 kw).
7 to 13	25 dbk (316 kw).
14 to 83	30 dbk (1000 kw).

(1) In Zone I, on Channels 2–13, inclusive, the maximum powers specified above for these channels may be used only with antenna heights not in excess of 1,000 feet above average terrain. Where antenna heights exceeding 1,000 feet above average terrain are used on Channels 2–13, or antenna heights exceeding 2,000 feet above average terrain are used on Channels 14–83, the maximum power shall be based on the chart designated as Appendix III, Figure 2a.

(2) In Zones II and III, the maximum powers which may be used by television broadcast stations operating on the respective channels set forth in the above table with antenna heights exceeding 2,000 feet above average terrain shall be based on the chart designated as Appendix III, Figure 2b.

3. The Commission has received petitions from WBEN, Inc., Buffalo, New York, filed on August 24, 1953, and WSAZ, Inc., Huntington, West Virginia, filed on March 20, 1953, and now made part of this docket, requesting an amendment of § 3.614 (b) so as to delete subparagraph (1) and to revise subparagraph (2) to read as follows:

(2) In all zones, the maximum powers which may be used by television broadcast stations operating on the respective channels set forth in the above table with antenna heights exceeding 2,000 feet above average terrain shall be based on the chart designated as Appendix III, Figure 2b.[1]

Thus, petitioners request elimination of the distinction in heights and powers among television stations in Zone I, II, and III and provision for the same power-height compensation for antenna heights above 2,000 feet in all zones.

4. In support of their requests petitioners urge that the amendment proposed would greatly increase the service area of all stations in Zone I on Channels 2–13; would cause little, if any, interference provided all stations operate with maximum power under the proposal; would remove the artificial limitation on increased power for stations in Zone I, especially those near the line dividing Zones I and II; and would encourage the use of high antenna heights.

5. The Commission believes that rule making proceedings should be instituted in this matter in order that all interested persons may have the opportunity of submitting their comments and that the Commission may have the benefit of such views.

6. Authority for the issuance of the proposed amendments is contained in section 303 (a), (b), (c), (d), (e), (f), (g), (r), and 4 (i) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

7. Any interested person who is of the opinion that the amendment proposed by petitioners should not be adopted, or should not be adopted in the form set forth herein, may file with the Commission on or before November 25, 1954, written data, views or arguments setting forth his comments. Comments in support of these proposals may also be filed on or before the same date. Comments or briefs in reply to the original comments may be filed within 10 days from the last day for filing said original comments or briefs. No additional comments may be filed unless (1) specifically requested by the Commission or (2) good cause for the filing of such additional comments is established. The Commission will consider all such comments that are submitted before taking action in this matter, and if any comments appear to warrant the holding of a hearing or oral argument, notice of the time and place of such hearing or oral argument will be given.

8. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.764 of the Commission's rules and regulations, an original and 14 copies of all statements, briefs, or comments shall be furnished the Commission.

Adopted: September 22, 1954.

Released: September 23, 1954.

RADIO STATIONS IN ALASKA OTHER THAN AMATEUR AND BROADCAST

FURTHER NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

In the matter of amendment of Part 14 of the Commission's rules to delete authority for operation by fixed, coast and ship stations in Alaska on the frequency 2986 kc and substituting 2118 kc in lieu thereof; Docket No. 10915.

The original notice of proposed rule making in this docket proposed to delete the frequency 2986 kc and substitute the frequency 2118 kc therefor. However, clearance of a replacement frequency has not been completed as of this date. Deletion of 2986 kc is now made necessary by the pending activation of 2987 kc in the aeronautical mobile service. Therefore, pending a study by the Commission with regard to finding a permanent replacement for 2986 kc, it is proposed to amend Part 14 of the Commission's rules so that the frequency 2986 kc will not be available after November 30, 1954, for use in the territory of Alaska by non-Government fixed, coast or ship stations, and, as a temporary measure, to permit the use, by fixed stations of one or more substitute frequencies until April 1, 1955. By that date, it is believed that the permanent replacement frequency 2986 kc will be activated.

The proposed amendments to the rules are set forth below and are issued pursuant to the authority recited in the original notice of proposed rule making.

Any interested person who is of the opinion that the proposed amendments should not be adopted, or should not be adopted in the form set forth below, may file with the Commission on or before October 22, 1954, written data, views, or arguments setting forth his comments. Comments in support of the proposed amendments may also be filed on or before the same date. Comments in reply to the original comments may be filed within 10 days from the last day for filing said original data, views or arguments. No additional comments may be filed unless (1) specifically requested by the Commission or (2) good cause for the filing of such additional comments is established. The Commission will consider all such comments prior to taking final action in this matter, and if comments are submitted warranting oral argument, notice of the time and place of such oral argument will be given.

In accordance with the provisions of § 1.764 of the Commission's rules, an original and 4 copies of all statements, briefs or comments filed shall be furnished the Commission.

Adopted: September 22, 1954.

Released: September 24, 1954.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,
[SEAL] MARY JANE MORRIS,
Secretary.

Part 14 of the Commission's rules is amended as follows:

1. In § 14.14 after the frequency 2986 kc, add the footnote designator 15.

2. In § 14.32 after the frequency 2986 kc, add the footnote designator 16.

3. In § 14.53 after the frequency 2986 kc, add the footnote designator 16.

4. Add the following footnotes after footnote 14 to this part:

[15] Not to be used after November 30, 1954. During the interim period from December 1, 1954, to April 1, 1955, those stations, whose need for 2 Mc frequencies for communication with the ACS is not fulfilled by operation on any of the other frequencies in the 2 Mc band included in this section, may, as a temporary measure, utilize one or more of the frequencies authorized under § 14.15 provided such operating arrangements are made with the ACS.

WILLIAM C. MOSS (KSEY)

ORDER AMENDING ISSUES

In re application of William C. Moss (KSEY), Seymour, Texas, for modification of license; Docket No. 10218, File No. BML-1473.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 22d day of September 1954;

The Commission having under consideration a petition filed June 10, 1954, by the Chief of its Broadcast Bureau requesting that an issue in the above-captioned proceeding be modified, that a party be removed from said proceeding, and that a party be added to said proceeding;

It appearing, that said proceeding includes issues requiring the determination of whether applicant's proposed operation would involve objectionable interference with Stations KPAT and KWTX or with any other existing standard broadcast stations, and whether the installation and operation of its proposed station would be in compliance with the Commission's rules and Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Standard Broadcast Stations; and

It further appearing, that engineering studies indicating the possibility of objectionable interference to said stations were based upon Figure 3 of the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Standard Broadcast Stations; and

It further appearing, that additional engineering studies based upon a revised soil conductivity map adopted by the Commission on February 24, 1954, effective April 5, 1954, disclose that applicant's proposed operation would not involve objectionable interference with Station KWTX but that said operation would cause objectionable interference to Station KADA, Ada, Oklahoma, and would receive objectionable interference from KADA in an area exceeding ten percent of the remaining interference-free area within applicant's proposed 0.5 mv/m contour; and

It further appearing, that the Chief of the Commission's Broadcast Bureau requests that particular inquiry be made as to whether applicant's proposed operation would provide the recommended minimum of interference-free service to the area within the normally protected 0.5 mv/m contour;

It is ordered, That Station KWTX is removed as a party to this proceeding and that Station KADA is made a party to this proceeding; and

It is further ordered, That the above-mentioned petition of the Chief, Broadcast Bureau is granted, and that issues number "2" and "4" in the above-entitled proceeding are amended to read as follows:

There is now pending before the Commission in the above-entitled matter (1) the petition of Western Broadcasting Company, Inc. MERCER BROADCASTING CO. ET AL.

ORDER ADDING ISSUE

In re applications of Mercer Broadcasting Company, Trenton, New Jersey, Docket No. 10931, File No. BP-8714; Drew J. T. O'Keefe, Jack J. Dash and William F. Waterbury, Levittown-Fairless Hills, Pennsylvania, Docket No. 10933, File No. BP-8964; William A. Brewer, Albert W. Eastburn and Theresa Rose, a partnership d/b as Levittown-Fairless Hills Boadcasters, Levittown, Pennsylvania, Docket No. 11096, File No. BP-9193; for construction permits.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 22d day of September 1954;

The Commission having under consideration a Petition to Enlarge Issues, filed July 22, 1954, by Drew J. T. O'Keefe, Jack J. Dash and William F. Waterbury; an Opposition to the foregoing petition, filed August 2, 1954, by William A. Brewer, Albert W. Eastburn and Theresa Rose, a partnership d/b as Levittown-Fairless Hills Broadcasters; a Response to the foregoing petition, filed August 2, 1954, by Mercer Broadcasting Company; and a Comment on the foregoing petition, filed August 17, 1954, by the Acting Chief of the Commission's Broadcast Bureau; and

It appearing, that the above-described petition requests enlargement of the issues in the above-entitled proceeding to include issues designed to permit inquiry into the financial qualifications of Levittown-Fairless Hills Broadcasters to construct, own and operate the standard broadcast station it proposes and into the question of whether Levittown-Fairless Hills Broadcasters is the real party in interest in the standard broadcast station it proposes; and

It further appearing, that, with respect to the financial qualifications of Levittown-Fairless Hills Broadcasters, petitioner has set forth no facts from which it may reasonably be inferred that the funds called for in the application may not in fact be available and none not before the Commission at the time it designated for hearing the above-entitled application of Levittown-Fairless Hills Broadcasters; and that no grounds exist, therefore, for enlargement of the issues in this regard; and

It further appearing, that, with respect to the question of the real party in interest in the application of Levittown-Fairless Hills Broadcasters, Commission files disclose that as of February 24, 1954, Theresa Rose, one of the three equal partners in Levittown-Fairless Hills Broadcasters, has been Secretary-Treasurer and Director of Morrisville Broadcasting Company, licensee of standard broadcast Station WBUD, Trenton, New Jersey, having been elected to those positions on January 29, 1954; that the application of Levittown-Fairless Hills Broadcasters, filed February 23, 1954, does not reveal the true nature of the interest or connection held by Theresa Rose in Morrisville Broadcasting Company; that this information was not called to the attention of the Commission in any amendment filed to the said application; and that these facts, coupled with the facts of the long association of the partners in Levittown-Fairless Hills Broadcasters with Station WBUD as key employees thereof, Station WBUD's willingness to sell substantial broadcast equipment to this applicant upon terms described by the applicant as "very favorable", Station WBUD's proximity to the station proposed by Levittown-Fairless Hills Broadcasters, and a substantial overlap of service areas of the proposed station and the present service area of Station WBUD, constitute grounds for the enlargement of the issues as requested by the petitioner herein;

It is ordered, That the above-described petition of Drew J. T. O'Keefe, Jack J. Dash and William F. Waterbury is granted insofar as it requests enlargement of the issues in the above-entitled proceeding to include an issue designed to permit inquiry into the question of whether Levittown-Fairless Hills Broadcasters is the real party in interest in the standard broadcast station it proposes and, in all other respects, is denied.

It is further ordered, That the Commission's order of June 30, 1954 (FCC 54-806), designating for hearing the above-entitled application of Levittown-Fairless Hills Broadcasters is modified by the addition of the following issue: To determine whether Levittown-Fairless Hills Broadcasters is the real party in interest in the standard broadcast station it proposes.

TRIAD TELEVISION CORP. ET AL.

ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATIONS FOR CONSOLIDATED HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re applications of Triad Television Corporation, Parma, Michigan, Docket No. 11169, File No. BPCT-1846; Booth Radio & Television Stations, Inc., Parma, Michigan, Docket No. 11170, File No. BPCT-1866; Television Corporation of Michigan, Inc., Onondaga, Michigan, Docket No. 11171, File No. BPCT-1870; Jackson Broadcasting & Television Corporation, Parma, Michigan, Docket No. 11172, File No. BPCT-1871; Michigan State Board of Agriculture, Onondaga, Michigan, Docket No. 11173, File No. BPCT-1885; for construction permits for new television stations.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 22d day of September 1954;

The Commission having under consideration the above-entitled applications, each requesting a construction permit for a new television broadcast station to operate on Channel 10 assigned to Parma-Onondaga, Michigan; and

It appearing, that the above-entitled applications are mutually exclusive in that operation by more than one applicant would result in mutually destructive interference; and

It further appearing, that pursuant to section 309 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the above-named applicants were advised by letters of the fact that their applications were mutually exclusive, of the necessity for a hearing and of all objections to their applications; and were given an opportunity to reply; and

It further appearing, that upon due consideration of the above-entitled applications, the amendments filed thereto, and the replies to the above letters, the Commission finds that under section 309 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, a hearing is mandatory; but Triad Television Corporation and Jackson Broadcasting & Television Corporation are legally, financially and technically qualified to construct, own and operate a television broadcast station; and that Booth Radio & Television Stations, Inc., Television Corporation of Michigan, Inc., and Michigan State Board of Agriculture are legally, financially and technically qualified to construct, own and operate a television broadcast station, but that questions are raised as to whether a grant to any of the three last-named applicants would be consistent with the provisions of § 3.636 of the Commission rules and policies promulgated thereunder; and

It further appearing, that the antenna site and structure proposed by Television Corporation of Michigan, Inc., and Michigan State Board of Agriculture have been approved with respect to safety to air navigation, but that additional hazard marking symbols are deemed necessary: therefore, any grant authorizing the antenna site and structure proposed by the last-named applicants will be subject to the following condition: That the antenna structure be marked in accordance with special hazard marking specifications to be prescribed by the Commission in addition to those required by Part 17 of the Commission rules;

It is ordered, That pursuant to section 309 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the above-entitled applications are designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding to commence at 10:00 a. m. on the 22d day of November 1954, in Washington, D. C., upon the following issues:

1. To determine, in light of the ownership by Booth Radio & Television Stations, Inc., of television station WBKZ, Battle Creek, Michigan, whether a grant of the application of Booth Radio & Television Stations, Inc., would be consistent with the provisions of § 3.636 of the Commission rules and policies promulgated thereunder.

2. To determine, in light of the fact that Lansing Broadcasting Company, subscriber to 40 percent of the capital stock of Television Corporation of Michigan, Inc., is owner of television station WILS–TV, Lansing, Michigan, and the fact that John C. Pomeroy, President and a director of Television Corporation of Michigan, Inc., is an officer and stockholder of said Lansing Broadcasting Company, whether a grant of the application of Television Corporation of Michigan, Inc., would be consistent with the provisions of § 3.636 of the Commission rules and policies promulgated thereunder.

3. To determine, in light of the ownership by Michigan State Board of Agriculture of television station WKAR-TV, East Lansing, Michigan, whether a grant of the application of Michigan State Board of Agriculture would be consistent with the provisions of § 3.636 of the Commission rules and policies promulgated thereunder.

4. To determine on a comparative basis which of the operations proposed in the above-entitled applications would best serve the public interest, convenience and necessity in the light of the record made with respect to the significant differences among the applications as to:

(a) The background and experience of each of the above-named applicants having a bearing on its ability to own and operate the proposed television station.

(b) The proposals of each of the above-named applicants with respect to the management and operation of the proposed station.

(c) The programming service proposed in each of the above-entitled applications.

It is further ordered, That the issues in the above-entitled proceeding may be enlarged by the Examiner, on his own motion or on petition properly filed by a party to the proceeding and upon sufficient allegations of fact in support thereof, by the addition of the following issue: To determine whether the funds available to the applicant will give reasonable assurance that the proposals set forth in the application will be effectuated.

JORDAN DISPATCH SERVICE

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE

In the matter of R. C. Jordan, d/b as Jordan Dispatch Service, Plainview, Texas and Lubbock, Texas, order to show cause why the licenses of stations KKG563 and KKE970 in the Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio Service should not be revoked; Docket No. 11174.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 22d day of September 1954;

The Commission having under consideration the annual reports (FCC Form L) for the year 1953 by R. C. Jordan, d/b as Jordan Dispatch Service as licensee of stations KKG563 and KKE970, respectively, in the Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio Service at Plainview and Lubbock, Texas, respectively; and

It appearing, that, such annual reports show that no common carrier radio service has been rendered to the public through the facilities of such stations during that year; and

It further appearing, that, as the result of a complaint received from Robert S. Bryant alleging inability to obtain communication service from the licensee herein, the Commission advised the licensee, by letter of April 29, 1954, as to his obligation as a common carrier, and the possibility that revocation proceedings might be undertaken herein; and

It further appearing, that, said licensee has willfully failed and refused to provide communication service, without just or reasonable cause, to Robert S. Bryant; and

It further appearing, that, there may either be no public need or demand for the service offered by the above-entitled licensee through such facilities or, if there is a public need or demand for such Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio Service, that need or demand is not being met by such stations; and

It further appearing, that, continuation in effect of the licenses of such stations may not serve the public interest, convenience, or necessity;

It is ordered, That, pursuant to the provisions of section 312(a)(2), (c), and (d) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the above-named R. C. Jordan, d/b as Jordan Dispatch Service shall appear at the Commission's offices in Washington, D. BILL MATHIS

ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATION FOR HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re application of Bill Mathis, Abilene, Texas, for construction permit; Docket No. 11180, File No. BP–8917.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 22d day of September 1954;

The Commission having under consideration the above-entitled application for construction permit for a new standard broadcast station to operate on 1280 kilocycles with a power of 500 watts, daytime only, at Abilene, Texas;

It appearing, that the applicant is legally, technically, financially and otherwise qualified to operate the proposed station, but that the application may involve interference with Station KTRN, Wichita Falls, Texas, and may not otherwise comply with the Standards of Good Engineering Practice; particularly with reference to furnishing a minimum field intensity of 25 mv/m over the business or factory areas of the city sought to be served; and

It further appearing, that pursuant to section 309 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the subject applicant was advised by letters dated April 27 and June 27, 1954, of the aforementioned deficiencies and that the Commission was unable to conclude that a grant of the application would be in the public interest; and

It further appearing, that Station KTRN, in a letter dated June 8, 1954, opposed a grant of the subject application and requested that it be designated for hearing and that KTRN be made a party thereto; and

It further appearing, that the applicant filed replies on August 19 and 24, 1954, stating in the former that it would appear at a hearing on its application and submitting in the latter field intensity measurements purporting to show no interference to Station KTRN from the proposed operation, but that the said measurements were not made in accordance with the Commission's Standards and are not sufficient to substantiate that there would be no interference to Station KTRN; and

It further appearing, that the Commission, after consideration of the replies, is of the opinion that a hearing is necessary;

It is ordered, That pursuant to section 309 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the said application is designated for hearing, at a time and place to be specified in the subsequent order, upon the following issues:

1. To determine the areas and populations which may be expected to gain or lose primary service from the operation of the proposed station and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

2. To determine whether the operation of the proposed station would involve interference with Station KTRN, Wichita Falls, Texas, and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

3. To determine whether the installation and operation of the proposed station would be in compliance with the Commission's rules and Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Standard Broadcast Stations with particular reference to furnishing a minimum field intensity of 25 mv/m over the business or factory areas of the city sought to be served.

4. To determine whether, in light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issues, the proposed operation would serve the public interest, convenience and necessity.

It is further ordered, That the Texoma Broadcasting Company, licensee of Station KTRN, Wichita Falls, Texas, is made a party to the proceeding.

PANHANDLE EASTERN PIPE LINE CO. ET AL.

ORDER FIXING DATE FOR ORAL ARGUMENT ON APPLICATION FOR ABROGATION OF ORDER OR IN THE ALTERNATIVE FOR REHEARING AND APPLICATION FOR REHEARING AND STAY

In the matters of Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company, Docket Nos. G–2035, G–2040, G–2048, G–2049, G–2050, G–2073, G–2301, G–2349; and Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company, Southeastern Michigan Gas Company, Citizens Gas Fuel Company, Citizens Gas Company, Michigan Gas Utilities Company, Docket No. G–2091.

Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company (Panhandle) filed, on August 6, 1954, an application for abrogation of or in the alternative rehearing respecting our order issued July 15, 1954, denying Panhandle's motion to make effective revised tariff sheets which provided for the cancellation of its interruptible rate schedules. By our order issued September 3, 1954, we deferred action on the aforesaid application so that it might be considered together with Panhandle's application filed August 23, 1954, for rehearing and stay of Opinion No. 274 and accompanying order issued July 28, 1954. In this opinion and order we found, among other things, that Panhandle's interruptible rate schedules as modified should be maintained in full force and effect.

The Commission finds: It is desirable and in the public interest that oral argument be had on the matters and issues presented in Panhandle's application for abrogation of order in the alternative rehearing filed on August 6, 1954, and its application for rehearing and stay filed on August 23, 1954.

The Commission orders: Oral argument shall be had before the Commission October 18, 1954 at 10:00 a. m., e. s. t., in a hearing room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street, NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters involved and the issues presented in Panhandle's application for abrogation of order or in the alternative rehearing filed on August 6, 1954 and its application for rehearing and stay filed on August 23, 1954.

Adopted: September 22, 1954.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File No. 70-3291]

MIDDLE SOUTH UTILITIES, INC.

ORDER REGARDING ISSUANCE AND SALE OF COMMON STOCK PURSUANT TO RIGHTS OFFERING

SEPTEMBER 23, 1954.

Middle South Utilities, Inc. ("Middle South"), a registered holding company, having filed a declaration pursuant to sections 6 (a) and 7 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 regarding certain proposed transactions which are summarized as follows:

Middle South proposes to issue and sell, without an underwriting, 475,000 additional shares of its authorized but unissued $10 par value common stock pursuant to a rights offering to its stockholders on the basis of one share of additional common stock for each 15 shares held of record as of the close of business on September 22, 1954, at the price of $28 per share. The subscription period will expire at 3:30 p. m., New York Time, on October 8, 1954. The subscription rights will be evidenced by transferable warrants to be mailed September 23, 1954, which will afford the holder the privilege of subscribing for one new share for each 15 shares held ("primary rights") and of subscribing, subject to allotment, for such additional number of shares as the warrant holder may elect ("additional rights"). No fractional shares will be issued. If a holder of record on September 22, 1954, receives a warrant which is for a number of shares not evenly divisible by 15, such holder will be entitled to purchase one full share with the primary rights which are either in excess of a multiple of 15 or which total less than 15. Should there be insufficient shares to fill all subscriptions under the primary rights, subscriptions will first be filled on the basis of 15 primary rights and exact multiples thereof, then on the basis of 14 primary rights, then on the basis of 13 primary rights, and then successively on the basis of 12, 11 and so on to one primary right, in that order. Should it be possible to fill some but not all subscriptions in any one of these groups, subscriptions will be filled in the order of their receipt.

Additional rights under a warrant may be exercised only if all full shares possible have been subscribed for pursuant to the primary rights represented by such warrant. In the event that the aggregate number of shares subscribed for by all warrant holders exceeds 475,000 shares, the number of shares remaining after providing for the issuance of shares subscribed for pursuant to the primary rights will be allotted pro rata as nearly as practicable among warrant holders exercising additional rights in accordance with the respective number of shares subscribed for by such holders pursuant to primary rights.

Warrants issued to common stockholders whose addresses are outside the continental United States or Canada will not be mailed but will be held by the agent for their accounts until 12:00 o'clock noon, New York Time, October 7, 1954, when, if no instructions are received, they will be sold to the extent practicable, together with warrants sent to other stockholders and returned unclaimed. The net proceeds from any such sales are to be held for the account of such stockholders.

The declaration states that the proceeds from the proposed sale of stock will be used by Middle South to repay $12,000,000 which it has borrowed and which is outstanding under a credit agreement dated May 12, 1952 with five banks. If the proceeds should not be sufficient for this purpose, they will be applied toward the partial repayment of such $12,000,000, or, to the extent that they are more than sufficient for this purpose, they will be used for other corporate purposes.

Subsequent to its original filing Middle South represented that none of the proceeds of the offering covered by the declaration will be used by it to make investments in Mississippi Valley Generating Company ("Mississippi Valley"), a corporation newly organized for the purpose of constructing, owning and operating a steam electric generating plant near West Memphis, Arkansas, except as may be authorized in other and subsequent proceedings before the Commission, and Middle South also consented that any contentions which could be advanced in the instant proceeding against such investment or the financing thereof may be advanced in such other proceedings.

Fees and expenses in connection with the proposed transactions are as follows:

Filing fee—Securities and Exchange Commission	$1,425
Federal stamp tax	[1] 5,500
Printing, including Registration Statement, Prospectus, financial schedules, Form U-1, etc.	[1] 40,000
Fee of Cahill, Gordon, Reindel & Ohl, counsel	6,500
Fee of Haskins & Sells, auditors	[1] 4,000
Fee of Ebasco Services Inc.	[1] 3,000
The Hanover Bank, warrant agent:
Fee	24,775
Expenses	[1] 9,000
Miscellaneous	[1] 5,800
Total	[1] 100,000

[1] Estimated.

Due notice of the filing of said declaration having been given in the manner prescribed by Rule U-23 and written requests for hearing having been filed by the City of Memphis, Tenn.; Memphis Light, Gas & Water Division of the City of Memphis; Electric Power Board of Chattanooga, Tenn.; Clarksville Electric Power Board, Clarksville, Tenn.; Warren Rural Electric Cooperative Corporation, Bowling Green, Ky.; Natchez Trace Electric Power Association, Houston, Miss.; North Electric Membership Corporation, Dalton, Ga.; Sand Mountain Electric Cooperative, Fort Payne, Ala.; National Rural Electric Cooperative Association; and American Public Power Association; said requests indicating that the issue which said persons seek to have considered is the propriety of Middle South's investing any of the proceeds of the financing in Mississippi Valley; and

The said persons so requesting hearings having subsequently advised the Commission that in view of the aforesaid representation by Middle South that none of the proceeds of the present offering would be used by it to make investments in Mississippi Valley except as might be authorized in other and subsequent proceedings before the Commission, and upon the understanding that the Commission's order would reserve all questions respecting the investment by Middle South in Mississippi Valley, including methods of financing such investment, until a proceeding involving such investment is before the Commission, they now consider that a hearing is unnecessary; and

The Commission having considered the foregoing, and finding that the issue so sought to be raised has been eliminated by an amendment to the said declaration containing the aforesaid representation by Middle South, and that such issue will come before the Commission in subsequent proceedings in the event that Middle South seeks to invest any of its funds in Mississippi Valley, and that accordingly it is not necessary in the public interest or for the protection of investors or consumers that a hearing be held upon the present declaration as amended; and

The Commission finding that the applicable provisions of the act and the rules promulgated thereunder are satisfied; that the fees and expenses set forth above are not unreasonable, and that the declaration as amended should be permitted to become effective as of September 22, 1954:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the act, that said declaration as amended be, and the same hereby is, permitted to become effective as of September 22, 1954, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24, all questions respecting the investment by Middle South in Mississippi Valley, including methods of financing such investment, being reserved for determination until a proceeding involving such investment in Mississippi Valley is before the Commission.

By the Commission.

[SEAL] ORVAL L. DUBOIS,
Secretary.

CORRECTION

The Notice of filing of MC–F–5737, appearing on page 4656 of the July 28, 1954, issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER is incorrect in that it reads "Newark, N. Y." The notice should read, "from Newark, N. J.", also the notice should show that the authority is subject to a "Keystone" restriction requiring contracts with persons who operate retail stores, the business of which is the sale of food.

Application of CHARLES G. CHILBERG, 33 Reed St., Rockville, Conn., and CLIFFORD J. O. NELSON, 5 Old Farm Rd., Dover, Mass., to control R. A. BYRNES, INCORPORATED, 11 South Main St., Mullica Hill, N. J., Docket No. MC–F–5749, published on page 5427, issue of August 25, 1954. The following general commodity authority was inadvertently omitted: "Between New York, N. Y., on the one hand, and, on the other, Philadelphia, Pa., and points in Pennsylvania within 25 miles of Philadelphia, and points in New Jersey."

By the Commission.

NOTICE OF REOPENING OF HEARING

At a general session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 21st day of September, A. D., 1954.

Upon consideration of (1) the record in the above-entitled proceeding, (2) petition, dated September 7, 1954, of certain railroad respondents to enforce the order entered herein on May 2, 1933, and (3) the replies to said petition filed by (a) Ohio Coal Association, (b) Clarksburg Coal Freight Association, (c) North American Coal Corporation, (d) Cleveland Electric Illuminating Company, and (e) New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad Company; and for good cause appearing:

It is ordered, That responsive to said petition, this proceeding be, and it is hereby, reopened for further hearing, at a time and place later to be determined, for the purpose of determining whether the intrastate rates on bituminous coal from origins in Ohio to Cleveland, Lorain, Avon Lake, Willoughby, and intermediate points, affect interstate rates on coal traffic in such manner as to contravene (a) the requirements of the said order of May 2, 1933, and (b) the provisions of section 13 (3) (4) of the Interstate Commerce Act.

It is further ordered, That copy of this order shall be served upon all parties to this proceeding; that the State of Ohio shall be notified hereof by sending copies of this order and of the said petition by registered mail to the Governor of the said State at Columbus, Ohio; and that notice be given to the public by depositing a copy of this order in the office of the Secretary of the Commission, at Washington, D. C., for public inspection, and by filing a copy with the Director, Division of the Federal Register, Washington, D. C.

By virtue of the authority vested in me by Articles 36 and 56 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice (established by the act of May 5, 1950, 64 Stat. 107), and as President of the United States, it is ordered that the Manual for Courts-Martial, United States, 1951 (prescribed by Executive Order No. 10214 of February 8, 1951), be, and it is hereby, amended as follows:

RULES AND REGULATIONS

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

[Docket No. AO-219 A-4]

PART 918—MILK IN MEMPHIS, TENNESSEE, MARKETING AREA

ORDER AMENDING ORDER, AS AMENDED

§ 918.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and each of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Memphis, Tennessee, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions of said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk produced for sale in the said marketing area as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for such milk, and the minimum prices specified in the order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

(b) Additional findings. It is necessary, in the public interest, to make this order, amending the order, as amended, effective not later than October 1, 1954. Any delay beyond that date in the effective date of this order would unnecessarily postpone needed changes in the order.

The provisions of the said order are well known to handlers. The recommended decision containing all amendment provisions of this order was issued September 1, 1954 (19 F. R. 5643). The decision of the Secretary concerning the proposed amendments was issued September 17, 1954 (19 F. R. 6081). The changes effected by this order will not require extensive preparation or substantial alteration in method of operation for handlers. It is hereby found, therefore, that good cause exists for making this order effective October 1, 1954. (Sec. 4 (c): Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.)

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing or shipping milk covered by this order amending the order, as amended, which is marketed within the Memphis, Tennessee, marketing area) of more than 50 percent of the milk which is marketed within the said marketing area, refused or failed to sign the proposed marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the said marketing area, and it is hereby further determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign said proposed marketing agreement tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of the order amending the order, as amended, is the only practical means, pursuant to the declared policy of the act, of advancing the interests of producers of milk which is produced for sale in the said marketing area; and

(3) The issuance of this order amending the order, as amended, is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who, participated in a referendum thereon, and who, during the determined representative period (July 1954), were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the said marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Memphis, Tennessee, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended as follows:

1. Delete § 918.7 and substitute therefor the following:

§ 918.7 Fluid milk plant. "Fluid milk plant" means (a) any milk processing or bottling plant from which a volume of Class I milk equal to an average of 1,000 pounds or more per day, or not less than 5.0 percent of the Class I milk of such plant is disposed of during the month on routes (including routes operated by vendors) or through plant stores to retail or wholesale outlets (except other fluid milk plants) located in the marketing area, (b) any plant which during the months of January through August ships Grade A milk, skim milk, or cream to a plant qualified pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, or (c) any plant which during the months of September through December receives milk from farmers holding dairy farm permits for the production of Grade A milk issued by a health authority having jurisdiction in the marketing area, and from which milk, skim milk, or cream is moved during the month to a plant qualified pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section.

2. Delete § 918.61 and substitute therefor the following:

§ 918.61 Plants subject to other Federal orders. A plant specified in paragraph (a) or (b) of this section shall be considered a nonfluid milk plant except that the operator of such plant shall, with respect to the total receipts and utilization or disposition of skim milk and butterfat at the plant, make reports to the market administrator at such time and in such manner as the market administrator may require, in lieu of the reports required pursuant to § 918.30, and allow verification of such reports by the market administrator.

(a) Any plant qualified pursuant to § 918.7 (a) which would be subject to the classification and pricing provisions of another order issued pursuant to the act unless the Secretary determines that a greater volume of Class I milk is disposed of from such plant to retail or wholesale outlets (except fluid milk plants) in the Memphis, Tennessee, marketing area than in the marketing area regulated pursuant to such other order.

(b) Any plant qualified pursuant to § 918.7 (b) or (c) which would be subject to the classification and pricing provisions of another order issued pursuant to the act unless such plant was qualified as a fluid milk plant pursuant to § 918.7 (c) during each of the preceding months of September through December.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c)

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 27th day of September 1954 to be effective on and after October 1, 1954.

PART 958—IRISH POTATOES GROWN IN COLORADO

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

Findings. (a) Pursuant to Marketing Agreement No. 97 and Order No. 58 (7 CFR Part 958), regulating the handling of Irish potatoes grown in the State of Colorado, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the administrative committee for Area No. 2, established pursuant to said marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the amendment to the limitation of shipments, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(b) It is hereby found that it is impractical and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendment until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) in that (1) the time intervening between the date when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, (2) more orderly marketing in the public interest, than would otherwise prevail, will be promoted by regulating the shipment of potatoes, in the manner set forth below, on and after the effective date of this amendment, (3) compliance with this amendment will not require any preparation on the part of handlers which cannot be completed by the effective date, and (4) information regarding the committee's recommendations has been made available to producers and handlers in the production area.

Order as amended. The provisions of § 958.317 (b) (1) (FEDERAL REGISTER August 4, 1954, 19 F. R. 4873) are hereby amended to read as follows:

(b) Order. (1) During the period October 2, 1954, to June 30, 1955, both dates inclusive, no handler shall ship:

(i) Any potatoes of the round varieties (including, but not being limited to, Red McClure, Katahdin, Pontiac, and Bliss Triumph) grown in Area No. 2 unless such potatoes meet the requirements of the U. S. No. 1, or better grade, Size A, 2 inches minimum diameter, or U. S. Commercial grade, Size A, 2 inches minimum diameter, or U. S. No. 2 grade, 1⅞ inches minimum diameter; or

(ii) Any potatoes of the long varieties (including, but not being limited to, Russet Burbank and White Rose) grown in Area No. 2 unless such potatoes meet the requirements of the U. S. No. 1, or better grade, 2 inches minimum diameter or 4 ounces minimum weight, or U. S. Commercial grade, 2 inches minimum diameter or 40 ounces minimum weight, or U. S. No. 2 grade, 4 ounces minimum weight.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c)

Done at Washington, D. C., this 27th day of September 1954, to be effective October 2, 1954.

Director, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service.

TITLE 18—CONSERVATION OF POWER

Chapter I—Federal Power Commission

Subchapter E—Regulations Under Natural Gas Act

[Order 174-A, Amdt.; Docket No. R-138]

PART 154—RATE SCHEDULES AND TARIFFS

PART 157—APPLICATIONS FOR CERTIFICATES OF PUBLIC CONVENIENCE AND NECESSITY UNDER SECTION 7 OF THE NATURAL GAS ACT AS AMENDED

EXTENSION OF TIME FOR FILINGS OF INDEPENDENT PRODUCERS AND GATHERERS; CHANGES IN RATE SCHEDULES

In the matter of compliance by natural-gas producers and gatherers with certificate and rate requirements; Docket No. R-138.

Numerous petitions were filed for rehearing on Order No. 174-A which prescribes regulations governing the filing of rate schedules and applications for certificates of public convenience and necessity by producers and gatherers of natural gas which are also natural-gas companies. Rehearing on this order was granted by order issued September 8, 1954, for the purpose of receiving briefs and arguments in order that the Commission might determine whether to revoke or rescind Order No. 174-A or to modify that order in any respect. Briefs were filed by a number of petitioners and oral argument heard on behalf of some of the petitioners on September 22 and 23, 1954. The objections, recommendations, proposals and contentions of all of the petitioners, whether briefs were filed or oral argument presented on their behalf or not, will be given consideration.

Many of the petitioners have shown that compliance with the filing requirements by October 1, 1954, the date fixed in Order No. 174-A for certain purposes, would work a hardship. The Commission has already received approximately 350 applications for certificates of public convenience and necessity and approximately 1,500 rate filings under Order No. 174-A and in order to handle these filings in an orderly manner it is desirable to extend the time requirement.

Paragraph (c) of § 154.94, Changes in rate schedules, should be clarified to express more precisely its applicability to rate schedules for new service initiated after June 7, 1954. The other points and issues raised in the petitions for rehearing will be decided as quickly as possible and appropriate announcement made.

It is necessary and desirable in the public interest and for the convenience of the Commission that the filing dates prescribed in Order No. 174-A for some purposes be extended as hereinafter provided and that paragraph (c) of § 154.94 be revised as hereinafter provided.

The Commission orders:

(A) The requirements in Order No. 174-A for filings by independent producers and gatherers by October 1, 1954, as specified in the following sections of the regulations therein adopted are hereby extended to December 1, 1954:

Paragraph (a) of § 154.92 Filing of rate schedules by producer-gatherer "Natural-gas Companies".

Paragraph (a) of § 157.23 Applications for certificate of public convenience and necessity by independent producer.

(Sec. 16, 52 Stat. 830; 15 U. S. C. 717o)

Adopted: September 24, 1954.

Issued: September 24, 1954.

On September 14, 1954, respondents filed a petition requesting authority to put into effect to and including July 31, 1956, certain modifications of the currently authorized schedule of rates and charges.

The proposed modifications of the currently authorized schedule are set forth below.

1. To eliminate completely Note B, Section F, which now reads as follows:

2. To change the designation of Note C, Section F to read "Note B."

3. To change Item 2, Section G, to read as follows:

Accordingly, it appears that this public notice should be given of the petition and its contents in order that all interested persons may have an opportunity to be heard in the matter.

All interested persons who desire to be heard in the matter should notify the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., within fifteen days from the date of publication of this notice.

R. 1937), I hereby revoke Departmental Order of December 22, 1949, in so far as said order affects the following described land: Provided, however, That such revocation shall not affect the withdrawal of any other lands by said order or affect any other orders withdrawing or reserving the land hereinafter described:

SEPTEMBER 24, 1954.

I concur. The records of the Bureau of Land Management will be noted accordingly.

The land is located about six miles northeast of Wiggins, Colorado. The tract is nearly level, with sandy soil that supports principally blue gramma grass, sand sage, and weeds. The land is not suitable for crop production because of low annual precipitation and lack of water for irrigation.

No application for the land may be allowed under the homestead, desert-land, small tract, or any other nonmineral public-land law unless the land has already been classified as valuable or suitable for such type of application, or shall be so classified upon the consideration of an application. Any application that is filed will be considered on its merits. The land will not be subject to occupancy or disposition until it has been classified.

This order shall not otherwise become effective to change the status of the described land until 10:00 a. m., on the 35th day after the date of this order. At that time the said land shall become subject to application, petition, location and selection, subject to valid existing rights, the provisions of existing withdrawals, the requirements of applicable laws, and the 91-day preference-right filing period for veterans and others entitled to preference under the act of September 27, 1944 (58 Stat. 747; 43 U. S. C. 279–284), as amended.

Veterans preference-right applications under the act of September 27, 1944 (58 Stat. 747; 43 U. S. C. 279–284), as amended, may be filed on or before 10:00 a. m., on the 35th day after the date of this order, and those covering the same land shall be treated as though simultaneously filed at that time. Applications filed under the act after that time and during the succeeding 91 days shall be considered in the order of filing. Applications by the general public under the public-land laws, filed on or before 10:00 a. m., on the 126th day after the date of this order shall be treated as though simultaneously filed at that time, where the applications are for the land; otherwise, priority of filing shall govern.

Inquiries, regarding the land shall be addressed to the Manager, Land Office, Bureau of Land Management, Denver, Colorado.

LICENSEES OF ALL CLASSES OF RADIO STATIONS, EXCEPT STANDARD, FM, AND TV BROADCAST STATIONS, STATIONS IN AVIATION RADIO SERVICES, AND STATIONS IN AMATEUR RADIO SERVICE

REQUEST TO COMPLY WITH INTERIM VOLUNTARY PLAN FOR CONTROL OF ELECTROMAGNETIC RADIATION (CONELRAD)

The Commission is charged with the responsibility for preparing and putting in effect plans to minimize the navigational information that might be obtained during periods of imminent air attack from radio stations it licenses.

Official plans and regulations are being formulated for each radio service and will be acted upon for approval in accordance with the requirements of Executive Order 10312 and the Administrative Procedures Act.

In the interest of expedition, and to provide for prompt alerting methods and efficient operation during periods of possible air attack, it is requested that licensees to which this notice is addressed comply with the Voluntary CONELRAD Plan set forth below.

The cooperation of licensees in these defense measures is greatly appreciated.

Adopted: September 22, 1954.

By direction of the Commission,

[SEAL] MARY JANE MORRIS,
Secretary.

[FCC 54-1200]

VOLUNTARY CONELRAD FOR ALL CLASSES OF RADIO STATIONS EXCEPT STANDARD, FM, AND TV BROADCAST STATIONS, STATIONS IN THE AMATEUR RADIO SERVICE AND STATIONS IN THE AVIATION RADIO SERVICES

Information Memorandum—AC-1.

To: Licensees of all Classes of Radio Stations within the Continental Limits of the United States, Except Standard, FM, and TV Broadcast Stations, Stations in the Aviation Radio Services and Stations in the Amateur Radio Service.

Subject: Alerting and Operating Procedure during Periods of Imminent Air Attack.

I. General information. The Federal Communications Commission is charged with the development of Plans for the Control of Electromagnetic Radiation (CONELRAD) to be put into effect during periods of imminent air attack. In order that our radio stations will not give material navigational aid to an enemy, it is essential that plans be developed to minimize the navigational aspect of the problem while still providing for transmission of certain types of traffic by radio stations.

It is contemplated that all radio stations licensed by the FCC will operate under controlled conditions[1] during periods of probable air attack.

Until formal plans are developed and made effective for individual services, it is requested that all radio stations, to which this memorandum is addressed, voluntarily comply with this plan for alerting and operation.

II. Scope and application. This plan applies to all radio stations operating below 890 megacycles, licensed by[2] the Federal Communications Commission and located within the continental United States, except:

A. Standard, FM, and TV Broadcast Stations.

B. Stations in the Amateur Radio Service.

C. Stations in the Aviation Radio Services.

III. Purpose. The purpose of this plan is to provide for a system whereby, in the event of hostile action, or imminent threats thereof, all stations to which this notice is addressed may be notified of Radio Alerts and Radio All Clears, and to provide a means whereby certain classes of stations may continue their operation under controlled conditions, when such operation is essential to the public welfare.

IV. The alerting plan. From a Command standpoint and for the purpose of air defense, the Continental United States is divided by the Air Defense Command (ADC) of the United States Air Force into large areas known as the Eastern, Central, and Western Air Defense Forces. Each Air Defense Force is further subdivided into smaller areas known as Air Divisions (Defense). Each Air Division (Defense) has, as its operational staff section, an Air Defense Control Center (ADCC). The alerting plan is built around the various Air Defense Control Centers.

Certain Standard, FM, and TV broadcast stations have been designated as "Basic Key" or "Relay Key" stations and will disseminate a Radio Alert by telephone and radio broadcast to implement the CONELRAD plan for the Broadcast Services.

Each Standard, FM, and TV broadcast station (whether or not it is a Basic Key or Relay Key Station) will, upon receipt of the Radio Alert, proceed as follows:

(a) Discontinue normal program.

(b) Cut the transmitter carrier for approximately 5 seconds.

(c) Return carrier to the air for approximately 5 seconds.

(d) Cut transmitter carrier for approximately 5 seconds.

(e) Return carrier to the air.

(f) Broadcast 1,000 cycle (approx.) steady state tone for 15 seconds.

(g) Broadcast the CONELRAD Radio Alert message.

CONELRAD RADIO ALERT MESSAGE

"We interrupt our normal program to cooperate in Security and Civil Defense measures as requested by the United States Government.

This is a CONELRAD Radio Alert.

Normal broadcasting will now be discontinued for an indefinite period. Civil Defense information will be broadcast in most areas at 640 or 1240 on your regular radio receiver.

I Repeat.

This is a CONELRAD Radio Alert.

Normal broadcasting will now be discontinued for an indefinite period. Civil Defense information will be broadcast in most areas at 640 or 1240 on your regular radio receiver."

NOTES: (a) through (f) above is for the purpose of attracting the listeners' attention, or, if desired, to operate an automatic alert receiver or warning device. (Caution (a) through (f) is a warning that a Radio Alert may follow; the actual RADIO ALERT signal is the spoken word in the form of the CONELRAD Radio Alert Message.)

The CONELRAD Radio Alert message is worded in a manner suitable for reception by the public; however, it is the Radio Alert Warning, and action should be initiated by all licensees concerned to comply with the CONELRAD operating procedure when the Radio Alert Message is broadcast.

V. How the radio alert can be received. (A) Licensees of radio stations to which this notice is addressed can receive the Radio Alert by monitoring (either manually, or by automatic means) any standard, FM or TV broadcast station in the Air Division (Defense) in which they are located. (See map of Air Defense Boundaries attached[1] and section IV above.)

(B) Certain radio stations are on Air Defense Warning Networks, or extensions thereof. Such stations can receive the Alert Warning by this means. If this is the case, these radio stations will follow the CONELRAD operating procedure upon receipt of Air Defense Warning Yellow (or Air Defense Warning Red if no Warning Yellow is transmitted).

(C) Certain Government radio stations will transmit the Radio Alert on 500 kc A2 emission in the following form:

"XXX XXX XXX CONELRAD Radio Alert Ordered ---------- (Limit of affected area designated) Maintain Radio Silence."

Licensees can receive the Alert by this method if applicable

(D) Designated government radio stations will transmit the Radio Alert on 2182 kc A3 emission in the following form:

"Urgent Broadcast Urgent Broadcast Urgent Broadcast CONELRAD Radio Alert Ordered---------- ---------- Maintain (Limit of affected area designated) Radio Silence".

Licensees can receive the Alert by this means if applicable

(E) Radio stations to which this notice is addressed can receive the Alert Warning by any means of communication from any point that has received the ALERT by means of either (A), (B) or (C) above: Provided, specific arrangements are made with the parties concerned for forwarding the Alert.

NOTE: Reception of an Alert by public warning methods such as sirens or whistles is not deemed as satisfactory for warning radio stations; however, reception of an Alert by such means is a criterion that an Alert exists and radio stations should at that time be following the CONELRAD operating procedure.

VI. Responsibility for receiving the Radio Alert. It is the responsibility of the station licensee to make arrangements for receiving the CONELRAD Radio Alert.

The licensee will be free to choose the method for receiving the ALERT listed in V above in a way most applicable to his situation.

VII. CONELRAD radio all clear procedure. The Radio All Clear can be received by one or more of the methods listed below:

(A) By reception of the Radio All Clear from any standard, FM or TV broadcast station. At the conclusion of a Radio Alert and when the Radio All Clear is issued, each standard, FM and TV broadcast station will broadcast an All Clear message as follows:

"CONELRAD Radio All Clear
Resume Normal Operation".

(B) By reception of the Radio All Clear from a government radio station operating on 500 kc A2 emission and transmitting the following message:

----------"
(Limit of area affected)

(C) By reception of the Radio All Clear from a government radio station operating on 2182 kc A3 emission and transmitting the following message:

"To All Ships To All Ships This is
CONELRAD Radio All Clear
----------"

When any one of the above messages is received, radio stations to which this notice is addressed may resume normal operation, unless otherwise restricted by order of the Federal Communications Commission.

VIII. CONELRAD operating procedure—(A) General. The CONELRAD operating procedure as set forth in this notice is designed to minimize the navigational information that might be obtained from our radio stations while at the same time providing for essential transmissions.

Radio stations continuing to operate during a Radio Alert should, to the extent practicable, comply with the following:

(1) No transmissions shall be made unless they are of extreme emergency affecting the national safety, or the safety of people and property.

(2) Transmissions shall be as short as possible. The station carrier shall be removed from the air during periods of no message transmission.

(3) No station identification shall be given either by announcement of FCC assigned call signal, or by announcement of location.

This plan does not prevent the use of radio stations for Civil Defense purposes during a Radio Alert if and when so authorized by the Federal Communications Commission.

(B) Detailed operating procedures during a Radio Alert. The following procedures are for stations in the Radio Service indicated:

Radio Service	Operating Procedure During a Radio Alert
International and Non-Commercial Educational FM Broadcast Services (Part 3 of the FCC Rules).	Maintain radio silence. NOTE: International Broadcast stations may continue with transmissions of urgent government traffic.
Experimental and Auxiliary Broadcast Services (Part 4 of the FCC Rules).	Maintain radio silence.
Experimental Radio Services (Part 5 of the FCC Rules).	Maintain radio silence, except where this service is used as an integral part of another existing service in which case it may operate in accordance with CONELRAD operating procedure VIII (A) above.
Public Radio Communication Services (Part 6 of the FCC Rules).	Stations operating above 30 Mc may operate in accordance with VIII (A), others will maintain radio silence except for transmissions of government traffic in accordance with the requirements of VIII (A).
Stations on Land in the Maritime Service (Part 7 of the FCC Rules).	Maintain radio silence, except for urgent traffic involving the national safety or the safety of ships.
Stations on Shipboard in the Maritime Mobile Service (Part 8 of the FCC Rules).	Maintain radio silence, except for urgent transmissions involving the national safety or the safety of the ship.
Public Safety Radio Services (Part 10 of the FCC Rules).	Radio stations in this service may operate in accordance with CONELRAD operating procedure VIII (A) above.

[1] To operate under controlled conditions includes both operation in a definitely prescribed manner and cessation of operation producing radio silence.

[2] As used herein, the term "licensed by" includes every form of authority issued by the Federal Communications Commission pursuant to which a station may be operated, including construction permits, station licenses, temporary authorizations, etc.

[1] Filed as part of the original document of the Voluntary CONELRAD Plan. Copies may be obtained from the Federal Communications Commission.

Radio Service	Operating Procedure During a Radio Alert
Industrial Radio Services (Part 11 of the FCC Rules).	Radio stations in this service may operate in accordance with CONELRAD operating procedure VIII (A) above.
Land Transportation Radio Services (Part 16 of the FCC Rules).	Radio stations in this service may operate in accordance with CONELRAD operating procedure VIII (A) above.
Disaster Communication Radio Services (Part 20 of the FCC Rules).	Radio stations in this service may operate in accordance with CONELRAD operating procedure VIII (A) above.

IX. Future CONELRAD plans. As future CONELRAD plans and regulations are approved and made mandatory, the radio service concerned shall discontinue operation under this voluntary plan and proceed in accordance with the approved plans and regulations.

X. Tests. Tests of the alerting system involving broadcast station reception are being conducted from time to time (see V (A) above).

Tests of the Civil Air Defense Warning Networks are made at frequent intervals (see V (B) above).

It is not contemplated that tests of the 500 kc or 2182 kc alerting arrangement will be conducted under this voluntary plan (see V (C) and (B) above.

Radio stations to which this plan is addressed will not be required to take part in any alerting tests under this plan.

Tests of the CONELRAD operating procedure (i. e. discontinuing transmissions or operating in a prescribed manner as in VIII above) will not be made under this plan.

This plan will be used only in the event of an actual RADIO ALERT and only until approved mandatory plans and regulations are completed and officially put in operation.

XI. General information. It should be noted that this CONELRAD Plan is voluntary and should be carried out to the extent practicable and that the "cut off" frequency is 890 Mc.

Many problems relating to CONELRAD alerting and operation remain unsolved in this Voluntary Plan; for instance, the terms "Urgent Traffic", "transmissions affecting the national safety or the safety of people and property", "safety of ships" etc. are not specifically defined or interpreted. Interpretations and decisions on these points must be made by station licensees as far as this Voluntary Plan is concerned.

It is contemplated that the CONELRAD alerting system using standard, FM, and TV broadcast stations will continue to be a basic method of alerting and that equipment purchased for receiving the Radio Alert will be appropriate for final mandatory CONELRAD plans.

During a CONELRAD Radio Alert stations permitted to operate as in VIII above must not identify themselves by FCC assigned call signal or location.

Normal station identification is, of course, required in accordance with the Rules and Regulations for that service at all times except during a CONELRAD Radio Alert.

It is represented in the filing that the proceeds from the sale of these securities are to be used to prepay $9,500,000 aggregate principal amount of Notes Payable to Banks and that the remaining proceeds will be added to Indiana-Michigan's treasury funds and will be applied to extensions, additions and improvements to its properties.

ADMINISTRATIVE INSTRUCTIONS PRESCRIBING METHOD OF TREATING GARLIC FROM ALGERIA, HUNGARY, ITALY, MOROCCO, SPAIN, AND YUGOSLAVIA

Pursuant to the authority conferred on him by § 319.56–2 of the regulations supplemental to the Fruits and Vegetables Quarantine (Notice of Quarantine No. 56, 7 CFR and 1953 Supp. 319.56) under section 5 of the Plant Quarantine Act of 1912 (7 U. S. C. 159), the Chief of the Plant Quarantine Branch hereby amends administrative instructions now appearing as 7 CFR Supp. 319.56–2h (19 F. R. 4126), effective July 8, 1954, prescribing method of treatment of garlic from Algeria, Hungary, Italy, Morocco, Spain, and Yugoslavia, to read as follows:

§ 319.56–2h Administrative instructions prescribing method of treatment of garlic from Algeria, Hungary, Italy, Morocco, Spain, and Yugoslavia. (a) (1) Except as otherwise provided in these administrative instructions, fumigation with methyl bromide in vacuum fumigation chambers approved by the Chief of the Plant Quarantine Branch is a condition of entry under permit for all shipments of garlic (Allium sativum) from Algeria, Hungary, Italy, Morocco, Spain, and Yugoslavia. Fumigation is to be carried out under the supervision of a plant quarantine inspector and at the expense of the importer. While it is believed that the garlic will be unaffected by the fumigation, the treatment will be at the importer's risk. Such entry will be limited to the ports of Baltimore, Md., Boston, Mass., Los Angeles, Calif., New Orleans, La., New York, N. Y., Norfolk, Va., San Juan, P. R., San Francisco, Calif., and Seattle, Wash., where approved facilities for vacuum fumigation with methyl bromide are available, and to such other ports as may be named in the permits if approved vacuum fumigation facilities are later made available at those other ports.

(2) Such vacuum fumigation shall be in accordance with the following fumigation schedule:

Temperature (° F.)	Dosage—pounds of methyl bromide per 1,000 cu. ft.	Exposure period (hours)	Vacuum (inches)
80	2	1	15
70	2	2	15
60	3	2	15
50	3	3	15

(b) (1) The following alternate procedure is approved by the Chief of the Plant Quarantine Branch as a condition of entry under permit for shipments of garlic (Allium sativum) from Italy and Spain:

(i) A certificate shall be obtained from the appropriate phytosanitary official of the country of origin to the effect that such garlic is free of living stages of Brachycerus spp. and Dyspessa ulula (Bkh.), said certification to be based on field inspection and certification and subsequent reexamination at the port of departure prior to exportation. The phytosanitary certificate to be issued by such official shall show the shipment to be either initially free from these pests or to have been fumigated.

(ii) The original copy of the phytosanitary certificate shall be attached to the manifest accompanying the shipment. However, with the consent of the Plant Quarantine inspector, the importer may arrange to have the original phytosanitary certificate mailed direct to the Inspector in Charge, Plant Quarantine Branch, at the port of entry, if this will expedite inspection and release of certified shipments. If such an arrangement is made, a copy of the phytosanitary certificate shall be attached to the manifest accompanying the shipment.

(iii) Shipments of certified Italian or Spanish garlic will be subject to inspection upon arrival in the United States and if found infested with living stages of Brachycerus spp. or Dyspessa ulula (Bkh.) shall be fumigated in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section.

(2) The entry of certified garlic under the alternate procedure provided for in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph will be limited to the ports named in paragraph (a) (1) of this section or such other ports as may subsequently be named in the permits.

(3) Continuance of the alternate procedure provided for in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph for the importation of Italian or Spanish garlic is contingent upon the satisfactory observance of such procedure by the respective countries of origin.

The chief purpose of this amendment of the administrative instructions is to make available to shippers of Spanish garlic the alternate procedures heretofore authorized for the entry of Italian garlic only. The amendment also liberalizes the requirements with respect to the handling of the phyto-sanitary certificates provided for in the instructions. The amendment thus relieves restrictions, and in order to be of maximum benefit to importers, it should be made effective as soon as possible. Therefore, pursuant to section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003), it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to this amendment are impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and the amendment may be made effective less than thirty days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

This amendment shall be effective on and after October 1, 1954, when it shall supersede the administrative instructions in 7 CFR Supp. 319.56–2h, effective July 8, 1954.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 27th day of September 1954.

TITLE 14—CIVIL AVIATION

Chapter I—Civil Aeronautics Board

[Civil Air Regs., Amdt. 40–11]

PART 40—SCHEDULED INTERSTATE AIR CARRIER CERTIFICATION AND OPERATION RULES

EXTENSION OF EFFECTIVE DATE OF REQUIREMENT FOR CHOP MARKS ON AIRPLANE EXTERIORS

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 29th day of September 1954.

The Air Transport Association has requested that the effective date of the chop mark requirement be delayed pending further investigation and determination as to the effectiveness of this requirement.

Section 40.178 (b) of Part 40, which was made effective April 1, 1954, required that the exterior area of the fuselage of an airplane be marked to indicate the location of mechanisms of access and areas suitable for cutting to facilitate the escape and rescue of occupants in the event of an accident. Marks indicating areas suitable for cutting are commonly known as "chop marks".

By Amendment 40–5, effective April 1, 1954, the date for compliance with that part of this regulation applicable to chop marks was extended until October 1, 1954. The extension was made to provide the carriers with additional time to make certain that the chop marks appearing on airplane exteriors would be applied on the basis of a sound engineering analysis of the airplane structure involved, since chop marks at points not readily penetrable would serve to mislead rescue crews.

The Board's attention has been drawn to the fact that recent analyses both from an engineering and a practical standpoint of current types of air carrier airplanes indicate that the difficulties encountered in the actual breakthrough and the time involved, would render escape or rescue virtually impossible. The Board has also been advised that it would be impossible to reach areas where penetration could be made from the outside without the use of ladders, stands, or similar means, when the fuselage is in a normal upright position, and that, in most instances, it would be difficult to remove passengers from the interior of the airplane after access had been obtained.

In view of the difficulties encountered in properly locating the chop marks, there appears to be a need for further study and determination of the chop mark requirement. It appears that this determination can reasonably be expected to be made by April 1, 1955, and the effective date is being extended accordingly.

Since this amendment is minor in nature and imposes no additional burden on any person, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary and the amendment may be made effective without prior notice.

In consideration of the foregoing, the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 40 of the Civil Air Regulations (14 CFR Part 40, as amended) effective immediately:

By amending § 40.178 (b) by deleting the date "October 1, 1954" and inserting in lieu thereof the date "April 1, 1955".

SUBPART B—PROCEDURES FOR DESIGNATION AND MAINTENANCE OF PROPERTIES IN THE NATIONAL INDUSTRIAL RESERVE

DESIGNATION

§ 111.350 Scope of §§ 111.350 to 111.354. Sections 111.350 to 111.354 set forth the procedures applicable to the designation by the Secretary of Defense of excess industrial properties which are to become a part of the National Industrial Reserve under the provisions of the act. It applies to two general categories of property—Those properties which are under the control of disposal agencies, and those properties which have been disposed of by the United States to private individuals, firms, corporations or other persons, subject to a National Security Clause. It also applies to excess industrial properties which have been disposed of without National Security Clause restrictions and which at a future time may revert to the Government. Sections 111.350 to 111.354 also set forth the procedures by which the latter type of properties may be designated for future inclusion in the National Industrial Reserve.

§ 111.351–1 Reports. Each disposal agency created for the purpose of disposing of excess Government property generally, shall within 90 days after the effective date of the regulations in this part, furnish the Secretary of Defense with a statement of the industrial plants held by it for disposal, and shall on the 1st days of February and August of each year submit a report to the Secretary of Defense of additional industrial plants received by it for disposal during the six months' period ending the preceding January 1 and July 1, respectively, and of all industrial plants previously designated for the reserve which shall have been disposed of by it, during the said six months. The head of every other disposal agency shall (a) within 90 days after the effective date of the regulations in this part, furnish the Secretary of Defense with a statement of all of the industrial plants under its control which have been determined not to be required for the immediate needs and responsibilities of such agency, and (b) notify the Secretary of Defense immediately upon a determination in the future that an industrial plant under its control is no longer required for the immediate needs and responsibilities of such agency. The Secretary of Defense will specify the inventories and lists of property to be furnished to it by the heads of disposal agencies having machine tools, industrial manufacturing equipment or other personal property under their control as a part of the National Industrial Reserve.

§ 111.351–2 Notice of designation. In the case of property under the control of a disposal agency and to be designated for the National Industrial Reserve by imposition of National Security Clause restrictions upon its transfer, the Secretary of Defense will designate such property by a written notice to the head of the disposal agency having control of the property of its determination that such property is to become a part of the Reserve, and shall prescribe the provisions of the National Security Clause which shall be applicable to it.

§ 111.351–3 Effective date of designation. From and after the date of notice of designation, the property specified in such notice shall be deemed to become a part of the National Industrial Reserve.

§ 111.351–4 Recommendation of property to be designated for National Industrial Reserve. The Secretaries of the military departments of the Department of Defense, the Director of the Office of Defense Mobilization, the Chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, and the head of any other governmental department or agency having functions involving the national defense, may on behalf of his respective department, board, commission, or agency recommend the designation of specific excess industrial property, whether or not under his control, for inclusion in the National Industrial Reserve. Such recommendation should include a statement of the reasons that are believed to justify the proposed designation and should be forwarded to the Secretary of Defense.

§ 111.352–1 Property subject to the National Security Clause. The properties heretofore disposed of which may be included in the National Industrial Reserve under section 3 (a) of the act by virtue of having been disposed of by the United States subject to a National Security Clause will be designated by the Secretary of Defense. Such designation will be contained in a notice to the transferee to whom such property has been disposed of and to the head of the department or agency which has authority to administer the clause. The notice shall state that the terms and conditions contained in the instrument of transfer for the protection of the Government have been determined to constitute a National Security Clause within the meaning of the act, and that the property has been designated to become a part of the National Industrial Reserve.

§ 111.352–2 Effective date. From and after the date of notice of designation, the property specified in the notice shall be deemed to have become a part of the National Industrial Reserve.

§ 111.352–3 Continuation of property in the Reserve upon termination of lease. Upon termination of a lease of property subject to a National Security Clause, the property shall continue to be a part of the National Industrial Reserve unless and until the Secretary of Defense determines that such property is no longer needed therefor, and it shall not be offered for further lease, sale, or other disposition except subject to the conditions of the National Security Clause as prescribed by the Secretary of Defense. The head of the agency responsible for disposition of such property shall, on or before the expiration of the lease, notify the Secretary of Defense of the expiration date thereof and shall in such notice recommend the modifications, if any, that in his opinion should be included in the provisions of the National Security Clause applicable to the property for purposes of further disposition.

§ 111.353 Property not subject to National Security Clause, designation of, for future inclusion in the Reserve. With respect to property under the control of a transferee by virtue of a lease or other instrument reserving an interest in the Government, but not containing a National Security Clause, the Secretary of Defense may designate such property to be included in the National Industrial Reserve at the expiration of the lease or vesting in possession of such interest in the Government. Such designation shall be in writing addressed to the head of the agency responsible for disposition of the property, and shall include a statement of the terms and conditions of the National Security Clause which shall be included in any future sale, lease, or other disposition of property.

§ 111.354 Records. The Secretary of Defense will cause a list of the properties constituting the National Industrial Reserve to be maintained in sufficient detail and appropriately classified so as to indicate the nature, number, costs, and condition of the properties in the National Industrial Reserve, together with a statement of justification for their retention. Such records need not, however, include detailed or itemized inventories of small tools and equipment or other numerous articles although such information will be kept available to the extent that it is in existence. The Secretary of Defense will also maintain copies of the pertinent provisions of all instruments of transfer of properties in the National Industrial Reserve, including particularly the provisions of the National Security Clauses applicable thereto.

MAINTENANCE

§ 111.400 Scope of §§ 111.400 to 111.404–2. Sections 111.400 to 111.404–2 deal with the subject of surveys and inspections of properties in the National Industrial Reserve, standards of maintenance of such properties, and provisions for the enforcement of such standards.

§ 111.401 Engineering Surveys. The General Services Administration shall, when requested by the Secretary of Defense, make an engineering survey of any industrial manufacturing plant that has been designated by the Secretary of Defense for transfer to the General Services Administration as a part of the reserve. Such survey may include a determination of (a) the present maintenance condition and status of the principal components of the plant, (b) the estimated cost of putting it in standby status and annual cost of maintenance in such status, (c) the cost of such rehabilitation and conversion as may be necessary to put the plant into full wartime operating status, (d) the estimated length of time that such rehabilitation and conversion would require, and (e) any other related information that may be requested by the Secretary of Defense. Such survey should also include recommendations of the General Services Administration as to the standards of maintenance to be applied, recommended maintenance standards to be presented in successive steps so as to be readily adaptable to the amount of funds available for purposes of maintenance and rehabilitation of properties in the National Industrial Reserve. The General Services Administration shall submit four copies of each such engineering survey to the Secretary of Defense upon its completion.

§ 111.402 Periodic inspections. The Secretary of Defense shall cause periodic inspections to be made of properties in the National Industrial Reserve, and such inspections shall be made not less often than annually for each such property. These inspections shall be conducted in such a manner and in such detail as to indicate whether or not the properties are being properly maintained in accordance with the prescribed standards, and whether the covenants of the National Security Clause are being performed.

§ 111.403 Special reports. In the event that a survey or inspection reveals the existence of a breach of one or more of the covenants of the National Security Clause, or conditions which if permitted to continue would adversely affect the availability of a particular property for national defense, a special report of such breach or condition shall be given by the department, agency, or other person making such survey or inspection to the Secretary of Defense immediately upon the discovery thereof, and notice shall also be given to the transferee in control of the property.

§ 111.404 Maintenance standards.

§ 111.404–1 Plants. The maintenance responsibilities of disposal agencies with respect to properties in the National Industrial Reserve which are under their control are as follows:

(a) Police protection against theft of property, destruction, and vandalism;

(b) Weather protection, with special emphasis on roofage, windows, water seepage, and drainage problems;

(c) Additional maintenance functions and standards for specific plants to be prescribed by the Secretary of Defense after consideration of the engineering surveys of such plant and other relevant factors.

§ 111.404–2 Machine tools and industrial manufacturing equipment. Except as noted below, maintenance standards of machine tools and industrial manufacturing equipment which has not been disposed of shall be in accordance with the MIL–STD–107 as it may be amended from time to time. These standards may be modified in their application to specific properties by directive of the Secretary of Defense or, with the approval of the Secretary of Defense, by the agency in control of the property. Except as otherwise provided in the applicable National Security Clause, maintenance of such tools and equipment disposed of for use and operation by the transferee shall be in accordance with standards commensurate with sound business practice, having due regard for the Government's interest in preserving the productive capacity of such property.

SUBPART C—THE NATIONAL SECURITY CLAUSE AND PROCEDURES FOR TRANSFERS OF PROPERTY

THE NATIONAL SECURITY CLAUSE

§ 111.450 Scope of §§ 111.450 to 111.454 Sections 111.450 to 111.454 deal with the text of the National Security Clause, its incorporation in instruments of transfer, and procedures for its modifications, amendment, revocation, or termination.

§ 111.451 Short title. The material set forth in § 111.453 shall be known and referred to as the "Standard National Security Clause, revised".

§ 111.452 Use of the National Security Clause in instruments of transfer. (a) A National Security Clause shall be incorporated in all deeds, bills of sales, leases or other instruments transferring property in the National Industrial Reserve. Contracts of sale or letters of intent, executed in contemplation of such transfers, shall be made on the express condition that the instrument of transfer contain a National Security Clause. In incorporating the National Security Clause in instruments of transfer, the substance of the appropriate clause set forth in § 111.453 shall be used, but may be modified as necessary to conform to the context of the rest of the instrument. For leases of personal property, the real estate lease clause (§ 111.453–2) may be converted.

(b) Nothing in the National Security Clause shall be construed to preclude Government disposal agencies from including whatever terms they deem necessary or desirable in instruments of transfer so long as these other terms do not vitiate the Government's rights and benefits under the National Security Clause. In the case of leases, especially, provisions will have to be included for the purpose of protecting the Government's ownership generally, as distinguished from provisions aimed merely at preserving its national security interests. It is assumed these would include, without limitation, provisions with respect to payment of rent, taxes and charges, etc., insurance, subleasing and assigning, maintenance, nuisances, indemnity against liability, surrender upon expiration of the lease in the same or equivalent condition etc., and a right of entry in the Government to terminate the lease upon the lessee's breach of condition, bankruptcy or insolvency, etc.

§ 111.453–1 National Security Clause for deeds of real property.

NATIONAL SECURITY CLAUSE

Whereas, the Secretary of Defense pursuant to section 4 (1) of the National Industrial Reserve Act of 1948 (Pub. Law 883, 80th Cong.) has designated the premises hereby conveyed a part of the National Industrial Reserve for the production of [insert designation of end item or basic material as the case may be] at an annual capacity of [insert quantity] and, whereas, pursuant to section 4 (4) of that act, it has authorized their disposal subject to a National Security Clause formulated in accordance with that Act; now therefore, in consideration of their respective obligations under this instrument, the parties hereto, for themselves, their heirs, successors, and assigns, do hereby enter into the terms, covenants, and conditions hereinafter set forth which shall, together with this paragraph, be collectively known and referred to as the National Security Clause.

ARTICLE I. Definitions. For purposes of this Clause the following definitions will apply:

(a) The term "premises" means the property transferred by this instrument.

(b) The term "assigned function" means the function for which the premises have been designated a part of the National Industrial Reserve or for which they may be hereafter redesignated under Article IX hereof.

(c) The term "production equipment" means all property, other than property transferred by this instrument, at any time in or appurtenant to the premises which is necessary to their assigned function or to their current operations.

(d) The term "facilities" means the sum total of the premises and the production equipment.

ART. II. Maintenance. The Grantee hereby covenants and agrees that it will maintain the facilities in such a manner that they can be placed, within a period of 120 days, in a condition adequate to perform the assigned function of the premises.

In addition, the Grantee covenants and agrees,

(a) That it will maintain in accordance with sound practice in the industry, normal wear and tear excepted, that part of the facilities necessary for the assigned function of the premises which is actively being used in its current operations;

(b) That it will not make any alterations to the facilities which would impair performance of the assigned function of the premises, unless each such alteration can be restored in a period of 60 days or less and the sum total thereof restored in 120 days or less; and

(c) That it will not dispose of any production equipment, or any machinery and equipment transferred as a part of the premises by this instrument, the disposal of which would impair performance of the assigned function of the premises, unless the items so disposed of are immediately replaced with equivalent items.

Provided, however, That the provisions of this Article shall not apply to timber structures and their appurtenances for more than 15 years from the date hereof, or to machinery and equipment for more than 10 years from the date hereof; and provided further, that nothing herein contained shall prevent the Grantee from relocating any machinery or equipment within the premises for the purpose of improving operating efficiency or increasing productive capacity so long as the standards of care set forth above are continually observed.

ART. III. Defaults—(a) Inspections. The Grantee and the Government mutually covenant and agree that the latter may, after reasonable prior written notice to the Grantee, inspect the facilities for the purpose of determining whether the Grantee is in default on its obligations under this Clause.

(b) Determinations of default. If, as a result of such inspections, the Government adjudges the Grantee in default, it shall furnish the latter a written statement setting forth in detail the grounds on which the allegations are based, following which the Grantee shall have thirty days to submit evidence to the contrary. If in the light of the evidence so presented, the Government still holds that the Grantee is in default, it shall then advise the latter of the specific defaults to be corrected and the periods of time in which each correction must be completed, such periods to be as reasonable as possible.

(c) Repairs by the Government. In the event the Grantee fails to correct its defaults in the times stated, the Government shall then have the right to enter the premises for the purpose of correcting the defaults; and the Grantee, or its sureties, will reimburse the Government for all costs incurred by the Government in making such corrections. The Government, or any contractor employed by the Government for the purpose, shall have such right of access to the premises or any part thereof as may be necessary to permit such repairs or replacements.

ART. IV. Government utilization—(a) Negotiation of contract. The Grantee and the Government mutually covenant and agree that, whenever the Government considers the productive capacity of the facilities necessary for national security purposes, they will jointly undertake to negotiate a contract for the Grantee to furnish from the facilities the materials or services for which the premises are designated a part of the National Industrial Reserve.

(b) Repossession. The Grantee hereby covenants and agrees that, in the event the Government determines such a contract is not feasible, or that the Grantee is not qualified to furnish the materials or services required, or that a mutually satisfactory contract cannot be negotiated, the Grantee will turn over to the Government full possession of the premises together with all structures, improvements, easements, rights-of-way, and other interests appurtenant thereto (including all rights-of-way over and across other property of the Grantee necessary or convenient to the operation or use of the facilities) for such time as the Government deems necessary for national security purposes. The Grantee further agrees that it will lease to the Government, upon the latter's request and for a period co-extensive with the Government's repossession of the premises, any or all of the production equipment owned or controlled by the Grantee. The Government's rights to such possession and usage, together with its right to lease properties of the Grantee hereunder, shall vest on the date set by it in written notice to the Grantee, which date shall be not less than 15 days from the date of notice thereof, and shall expire on the termination date of this National Security Clause as provided for in Article XI below.

(c) Withdrawal by the Grantee. The Grantee hereby covenants and agrees that, upon the date set for transfer of the premises to the Government, it will immediately undertake to restore such alterations made by it and to remove such improvements, fixtures, machinery and other equipment installed by it as the Government may direct, such undertakings to be completed in the shortest possible time, but in no event to exceed 120 days from the date of repossession unless otherwise agreed upon between the Grantee and the Government. Thereafter, the Grantee shall have no further right to enter the premises during the period of Government possession except with the prior consent of the latter. During any period of Government possession, the premises may be used, occupied, or operated for or on behalf of the Government by any government department, agency, agent, or by any tenant, contractor, or subcontractor of the Government.

ART. V. Compensation. The Government hereby covenants and agrees that, upon any repossession under IV (b) above, it will pay the Grantee:

(a) At the time of repossession. (i) Fair and reasonable compensation for all losses, not including loss of profits, incurred by the Grantee or its assignees in respect of work in process in the premises which cannot be completed because of repossession by the Government.

(ii) Fair and reasonable costs incurred by the Grantee or its assignees in complying with Article IV (c).

(b) During each period of possession. (i) Fair and reasonable compensation for the use of the premises as agreed on by the parties hereto at a rate not in excess of prevailing rental for similar properties.

(ii) Fair and reasonable compensation for the use of any production equipment as agreed on by the parties hereto at a rate not in excess of prevailing rental for similar properties.

(c) Upon termination of each period of possession. Fair and reasonable costs incident to reinstallation of machinery and equipment removed from the premises and restoration of the premises to their condition on the date of repossession by the Government, reasonable depreciation excepted.

Any failure of the parties to reach agreement as to what amounts are fair and reasonable under this Article shall be deemed a dispute of fact within the meaning of Article XIII hereof.

ART. VI. Insurance. The Grantee hereby covenants and agrees that the proceeds of any insurance which is required of the Grantee by the terms of this instrument, or by any other agreement between it and the Government, to be placed on the premises or any part thereof will be applied, upon damage to or destruction of the premises by fire or other insurable casualty, to a restoration of the property, unless the Grantee is expressly released from such obligation by the Government.

ART. VII. Subsequent Transfers. The Grantee hereby covenants and agrees not to sell, lease, mortgage, or otherwise encumber the facilities without expressly making such sale, lease, mortgage, or encumbrance subject to the provisions of this National Security Clause for the remainder of its term.

ART. VIII. Parties. The Grantee and the Government mutually agree that the latter, in exercising its rights and carrying out its obligations under this National Security Clause, shall act through the Secretary of Defense or such departments, agencies, or individuals as he may designate, which may include, without limitation, the Assistant Secretaries of Defense (S and L) and (P and I), Board, the Departments of the Army, Navy, or Air Force, or the General Services Administration. References in this National Security Clause to the Government shall be deemed to refer as appropriate to the Secretary of Defense or such departments, agencies, or individuals as he may designate.

ART. IX. Redesignation of purpose and use of premises. The Government hereby covenants and agrees that, upon a petition by the Grantee for a change in the assigned function of the premises, it will re-evaluate the defense potential of the premises, both for the purposes for which they are designated for inclusion in the National Industrial Reserve and those for which it is requested they be redesignated, and will, if it deems the interests of national security are best served thereby, and upon tender by the Grantee of whatever consideration may be requested, change their designation to that requested by the Grantee. Conversely, the Government may, on its own initiative, recommend a redesignation to the Grantee which, if acceptable to the latter, shall be put into effect. Redesignations under this paragraph may be made only by written instrument and may not be requested by the Grantee more often than once in 6 months.

ART. X. Modification or amendment of the National Security Clause. The Government hereby covenants and agrees that, upon a petition by the Grantee for a reconsideration of the particular applicability of any of the terms, conditions, reservations or restrictions of the National Security Clause, the Government will, if it deems the interests of national security are best served thereby, modify or amend the Clause to the degree it sees fit upon tender by the Grantee of whatever consideration may be requested. Conversely, the Government may, on its own initiative, recommend modifications or amendments to the Grantee, which, if acceptable to the latter, shall be put into effect.

ART. XI. Termination or revocation of the National Security Clause. The Government and the Grantee mutually covenant and agree that their respective obligations under this National Security Clause, except those of the Grantee to reimburse the Government under Article III, or of the Government to furnish compensation under Article V, and except as may be otherwise specified herein, shall terminate 20 years following the date of this instrument or, in the event the Government is in possession at that time in accordance with Article IV (b), upon release of possession by the Government to the Grantee: Provided, however, That the Government, at its own election, or upon a petition by the Grantee, may reconsider the necessity for continuing all or any part of the Clause in effect and shall, in the event it determines such necessity no longer exists, and upon tender by the Grantee or whatever consideration may be requested, revoke the Clause, in whole or in part, by executing and delivering to the Grantee a release, quitclaim deed, or whatever instrument is necessary to remove the encumbrance of the Clause, or of a part thereof, from the facilities.

ART. XII. Covenants. It is the intention of both the Grantee and the Government that these covenants shall run with the land and bind subsequent purchasers of the premises hereby conveyed: Provided, however, That the Grantee shall not be liable for any violation of said covenants by subsequent owners of the premises.

ART. XIII. Disputes. Disputes on questions of fact which cannot be resolved by agreement of the parties shall be decided by the Secretary of Defense or the instrumentality duly and expressly designated by him, whose decision shall be final and conclusive. In connection with any proceeding under this Article, the Grantee shall be afforded an opportunity to be heard and to offer evidence in support of its own case. Pending final decision of a dispute hereunder, the Grantee shall proceed diligently with the performance of its obligations under the Clause.

ART. XIV. Recordation. The Grantee shall forthwith cause this instrument to be duly recorded and shall furnish satisfactory evidence of such to the Government.

ART. XV. Saving provision. The Grantee and the Government mutually covenant and agree that nothing in this Clause shall be construed as affecting obligations of the Grantee under any other provisions of this instrument, except that, in any cases of inconsistency or ambiguity, the provisions of this National Security Clause shall, to the extent that they impose greater obligations on the Grantee, be deemed controlling.

§ 111.453–2 National Security Clause for leases of real property.

NATIONAL SECURITY CLAUSE

Whereas, the Secretary of Defense pursuant to section 4 (1) of the National Industrial Reserve Act of 1948 (Pub. Law 883, 80th Cong.) has designated the premises leased hereunder a part of the National Industrial Reserve for the production of [insert designation of end items or basic material as the case may be] at an annual capacity of [insert quantity] and, whereas, pursuant to section 4 (4) of that act, it has authorized their disposal subject to a National Security clause formulated in accordance with that act; now therefore, in consideration of their respective obligations under this instrument, the parties hereto, for themselves, their heirs, successors, and assigns, do hereby enter into the terms, covenants, and conditions hereinafter set forth which shall, together with this paragraph, be collectively known and referred to as the National Security Clause.

ARTICLE I. Definitions. For purposes of this Clause the following definitions will apply:

(a) The term "premises" means the property leased by this instrument.

(b) The term "assigned function" means the function for which the premises have been designated a part of the National Industrial Reserve or for which they may be hereafter redesignated under Article VIII hereof.

(c) The term "production equipment" means all property, other than property leased by this instrument, at any time in or appurtenant to the premises which is necessary to their assigned function or to their current operations.

(d) The term "facilities" means the sum total of the premises and the production equipment.

ART. II. Maintenance. The Lessee hereby covenants and agrees that it will maintain the facilities in such a manner that they can be placed, within a period of 120 days, in a condition adequate to perform the assigned function of the premises.

In addition, the Lessee covenants and agrees,

(a) That it will maintain in accordance with sound practice in the industry, normal wear and tear excepted, that part of the facilities necessary for the assigned function of the premises which is actively being used in its current operations;

(b) That it will not make any alterations to the facilities which would impair performance of the assigned function of the premises, unless each such alteration can be restored in a period of 60 days or less and the sum total thereof restored in 120 days or less; and

(c) That it will not dispose of any of its own production equipment, the disposal of which would impair performance of the assigned function of the premises, unless the items so disposed of are immediately replaced with equivalent items.

Provided, however, That the provisions of this Article shall not apply to timber structures and their appurtenances for more than 15 years from the date hereof, or to machinery and equipment for more than 10 years from the date hereof: And provided further, That nothing herein contained shall prevent the Lessee from relocating any machinery or equipment within the premises for the purpose of improving operating efficiency or increasing productive capacity so long as the standards of care set forth above are continually observed.

ART. III. Defaults—(a) Inspections. The Lessee and the Government mutually covenant and agree that the latter may, after reasonable prior written notice to the Lessee, inspect the facilities for the purpose of determining whether the Lessee is in default on its obligations under this Clause.

(b) Determinations of default. If, as a result of such inspections, the Government adjudges the Lessee in default, it shall furnish the latter a written statement setting forth in detail the grounds on which the allegations are based, following which the Lessee shall have thirty days to submit evidence to the contrary. If in the light of the evidence so presented, the Government still holds that the Lessee is in default, it shall then advise the latter of the specific defaults to be corrected and the periods of time in which each correction must be completed, such periods to be as reasonable as possible.

(c) Repairs by the Government. In the event the Lessee fails to correct its defaults in the time stated, the Government shall then have the right to enter the premises for the purpose of correcting the defaults; and the Lessee, or its sureties, will reimburse the Government for all costs incurred by the Government in making such corrections. The Government, or any contractor employed by the Government for the purpose, shall have such right of access to the premises or any part thereof as may be necessary to permit such repairs or replacements. Where the defaults are such that they jeopardize the Government's interest in the facilities, the Government may take and maintain full possession thereof, without terminating the Lessee's interest or estate therein, for the period necessary to remedy such defaults and until reimbursement therefor has been made by the Lessee.

ART. IV. Government utilization—(a) Negotiation of Contract. The Lessee and the Government mutually covenant and agree that, whenever the Government considers the productive capacity of the facilities necessary for national security purposes, they will jointly undertake to negotiate a contract for the Lessee to furnish from the facilities the materials or services for which the premises are designated a part of the National Industrial Reserve.

(b) Repossession. The Lessee hereby covenants and agrees that, in the event the Government determines such a contract is not feasible, or that the Lessee is not qualified to furnish the materials or services required, or that a mutually satisfactory contract cannot be negotiated, the Lessee will turn over to the Government full possession of the premises together with all structures, improvements, easements, rights-of-way, and other interests appurtenant thereto (including all rights-of-way over and across other property of the Lessee necessary or convenient to the operation or use of the facilities) for such time as the Government deems necessary for national security purposes, on the condition, however, that the Lessee's obligations to pay rent for the premises shall be suspended for the period of Government possession. The Lessee further agrees that it will lease to the Government, upon the latter's request and for a period co-extensive with the Government's repossession of the premises, any or all of the production equipment owned or controlled by the Lessee. The Government's rights to such possession and usage, together with its right to lease properties of the Lessee hereunder, shall vest on the date set by it in written notice to the Lessee, which date shall be not less than 15 days from the date of notice thereof, and shall expire on the termination date of this National Security Clause as provided for in Article X below.

(c) Withdrawal by the Lessee. The Lessee hereby covenants and agrees that, upon the date set for transfer of the premises to the Government, it will immediately undertake to restore such alterations made by it and to remove such improvements, fixtures, machinery and other equipment installed by it as the Government may direct, such undertakings to be completed in the shortest possible time, but in no event to exceed 120 days from the date of repossession unless otherwise agreed upon between the Lessee and the Government. Thereafter, the Lessee shall have no further right to enter the premises during the period of Government possession except with the prior consent of the latter. During any period of Government possession, the premises may be used, occupied, or operated for or on behalf of the Government by any Government department, agency, agent, or by any tenant, contractor, or subcontractor of the Government.

ART. V. Compensation. The Government hereby covenants and agrees that, upon any repossession under IV (b) above, it will pay the Lessee:

(a) At the time of repossession. (1) Fair and reasonable compensation for all losses, not including loss of profits, incurred by the Lessee or its assignees, in respect of work in process in the premises which could have been completed prior to normal expiration of the lease but which cannot be completed because of repossession by the Government.

(ii) Fair and reasonable costs incurred by the Lessee, or its assignees, in complying with Article IV (c), less a reasonable set-off for those that would ordinarily be incurred on normal expiration of the lease. If, however, the period of Government possession expires prior to the expiration of the lease, and the Lessee, or its assignees, resumes possession for the balance of the term, the Government will compensate the Lessee for the full amount of any set-off previously deducted.

(b) During each period of possession, fair and reasonable compensation for the use of any production equipment as agreed on by the parties hereto at a rate not in excess of prevailing rental for similar properties.

(c) Upon termination of each period of possession, fair and reasonable costs incident to reinstallation of machinery and equipment removed from the premises and restoration of the premises to their condition on the date of repossession by the Government, reasonable depreciation excepted.

Any failure of the parties to reach agreement as to what amounts are fair and reasonable under this Article shall be deemed a dispute of fact within the meaning of Article XIII hereof.

ART. VI. Subsequent transfers. The Lessee hereby covenants and agrees not to sub-lease, assign, mortgage, pledge, or otherwise encumber the facilities without the prior written consent of the Government and without expressly making such sub-lease, assignment, mortgage, pledge, or encumbrance subject to the provisions of this National Security Clause for the remainder of its term.

ART. VII. Parties. The Lessee and the Government mutually agree that the latter, in exercising its rights and carrying out its obligations under this National Security Clause, shall act through the Secretary of Defense or such departments, agencies, or individuals as he may designate, which may include, without limitation, the Assistant Secretaries of Defense (S and L) and (P and I), the Departments of the Army, Navy, or Air Force, or the General Services Administration. References in this National Security Clause to the Government shall be deemed to refer as appropriate to the Secretary of Defense or such departments, agencies, or individuals as he may designate.

ART. VIII. Redesignation of purpose and use of premises. The Government hereby covenants and agrees that, upon a petition by the Lessee for a change in the assigned function of the premises, it will re-evaluate the defense potential of the premises, both for the purposes for which they are designated for inclusion in the National Industrial Reserve and those for which it is requested they be redesignated, and will, if it deems the interests of national security are best served thereby, and upon tender by the Lessee of whatever consideration may be requested, change their designation to that requested by the Lessee. Conversely, the Government may, on its own initiative, recommend a redesignation to the Lessee which, if acceptable to the latter, shall be put into effect. Redesignations under this paragraph may be made only by written instrument and may not be requested by the lessee more often than once in 6 months.

ART. IX. Modification or amendment of the National Security Clause. The Government hereby covenants and agrees that, upon a petition by the Lessee for a reconsideration of the particular applicability of any of the terms, conditions, reservations, or restrictions of the National Security Clause, the Government will, if it deems the interests of national security are best served thereby, modify or amend the Clause to the degree it sees fit upon tender by the Lessee of whatever consideration may be requested. Conversely, the Government may, on its own initiative, recommend modifications or amendments to the Lessee which, if acceptable to the latter, shall be put into effect.

ART. X. Termination or revocation of the National Security Clause. The Government and the Lessee mutually covenant and agree that their respective obligations under this National Security Clause, except those of the Lessee to reimburse the Government under Article III, or of the Government to furnish compensation under Article V, and except as may be otherwise specified herein, shall terminate upon the normal expiration of the lease or 20 years following the date of this instrument, whichever is sooner: Provided however, That in the event the Government is in possession at that time in accordance with Article IV (b), such termination shall occur upon release of possession by the Government to the Lessee; and provided further that the Government, at its own election, or upon a petition by the Lessee, may reconsider the necessity for continuing all or any part of the Clause in effect and shall, in the event it determines such necessity no longer exists, and upon tender by the Lessee of whatever consideration may be requested, revoke the Clause, in whole or in part, by executing and delivering to the Lessee a release or whatever instrument is necessary to remove the encumbrance of the Clause, or of a part thereof, from the facilities.

ART. XI. Disputes. Disputes on questions of fact which cannot be resolved by agreement of the parties shall be decided by the Secretary of Defense or the instrumentality duly and expressly designated by him, whose decision shall be final and conclusive. In connection with any proceeding under this Article, the Lessee shall be afforded an opportunity to be heard and to offer evidence in support of its own case. Pending final decision of a dispute hereunder, the Lessee shall proceed diligently with the performance of its obligations under the Clause.

ART. XII. Recordation. The Lessee shall forthwith cause this instrument to be duly recorded and shall furnish satisfactory evidence of such to the Government.

ART. XIII. Saving provision. The Lessee and the Government mutually covenant and agree that nothing in this Clause shall be construed as affecting obligations of the Lessee under any other provisions of this instrument, except that, in any cases of inconsistency or ambiguity, the provisions of this National Security Clause shall, to the extent that they impose greater obligations on the Lessee, be deemed controlling.

§ 111.453–3 National Security Clause for sales of personnel property.

NATIONAL SECURITY CLAUSE

Whereas, the Secretary of Defense pursuant to section 4 (1) of the National Industrial Reserve Act of 1948 (Pub. Law 883, 80th Cong.) has designated the properties hereby transferred a part of the National Industrial Reserve for the production of [insert designation of end item or basic material as the case may be] at an annual capacity of [insert quantity] and, whereas, pursuant to section 4 (4) of that Act, it has authorized their disposal subject to a National Security Clause formulated in accordance with that act; now therefore, in consideration of their respective obligations under this instrument, the parties hereto, for themselves, their heirs, successors, and assigns do hereby enter into the terms, covenants, and conditions hereinafter set forth which shall, together with this paragraph, be collectively known and referred to as the National Security Clause.

ARTICLE I. Definitions. For purposes of this Clause the following definitions will apply:

(a) The term "properties" as used herein means those properties (personal property) transferred by this instrument or any other properties subsequently substituted therefor by agreement of the parties and expressly made subject, by a separate written instrument, to the terms and conditions of this National Security Clause.

(b) The term "assigned function" means the function for which the properties have been designated a part of the National Industrial Reserve or for which they may be hereafter redesignated under Article IX hereof.

ART. II. Maintenance. The Purchaser hereby covenants and agrees that it will maintain the properties in such a manner that they can be placed, within a period of 120 days, in a condition adequate to perform their assigned function.

In addition, the Purchaser covenants and agrees,

(a) That it will maintain in accordance with sound practice in the industry, normal wear and tear excepted, such part of the properties as is necessary for their assigned function which is actively being used in its current operations; and

(b) That it will not make any alterations to the properties which would impair performance of their assigned function unless each such alteration can be restored in a period of 60 days or less and the sum total thereof restored in 120 days or less.

ART. III. Defaults—(a) Inspections. The Purchaser and the Government mutually covenant and agree that the latter may, after reasonable prior written notice to the Purchaser, inspect the properties to determine whether the Purchaser is in default on its obligations under this Clause.

(b) Determinations of default. If, as a result of such inspections, the Government adjudges the Purchaser in default, it shall furnish a written statement to the Purchaser setting forth in detail the grounds on which it bases its allegations, following which the Purchaser shall have 30 days to submit evidence to the contrary. If in the light of the evidence so presented, the Government still holds that the Purchaser is in default, it shall then advise the latter of the specific defaults to be corrected and the periods of time in which each correction must be completed, such periods to be as reasonable as possible.

(c) Repairs by the Government. In the event the Purchaser fails to correct its defaults in the times stated, the Government shall then have the right to correct such defaults; and the Purchaser, or its sureties, shall reimburse the Government for all costs incurred by the Government in making such corrections. The Government, or any contractor employed by the Government for the purpose, shall have such right of access to the properties as may be necessary to permit making such repairs.

ART. IV. Government utilization—(a) Negotiation of Contract. The Purchaser and the Government mutually covenant and agree that, whenever the Government considers the productive capacity of the properties necessary for national security purposes, they will jointly undertake to negotiate a contract for the Purchaser to use the properties in furnishing the materials or services for which the properties are designated a part of the National Industrial Reserve.

(b) Repossession. The Purchaser hereby covenants and agrees that, in the event the Government determines such a contract is not feasible, or that the Purchaser is not qualified to furnish the materials or services required, or that a mutually satisfactory contract cannot be negotiated, the Purchaser will turn over to the Government full possession of the properties and all rights of use incident thereto (including a right of entry for removal of such properties) for such time as the latter deems necessary for national security purposes. The Government's rights to such possession and usage shall vest on the date set by it in written notice to the Purchaser, which date shall be not less than 15 days from the date of notice thereof, and shall expire on the termination date of this National Security Clause as provided for in Article XI below.

(c) Relinquishment by the purchaser. Upon repossession by the Government, the Purchaser shall have no further right to use the properties during the period of Government possession except with the prior consent of the latter. During any such period of Government possession the properties may be used or operated for or on behalf of the Government by any government department, agency, agent, or by any tenant, contractor, or subcontractor of the Government.

ART. V. Compensation. The Government hereby covenants and agrees that, upon any repossession under IV (b) above, it will pay the Purchaser:

(a) At the time of repossession, fair compensation for all losses, not including loss of profits, incurred by the Purchaser or its assignees in respect of work in process which cannot be completed because of repossession by the Government.

(b) During each period of possession, fair and reasonable compensation for the use of the properties as agreed upon by the parties hereto at a rate not in excess of prevailing rental for similar property.

(c) Upon termination of each period of possession, fair and reasonable costs incident to restoration of the properties to their condition on the date of repossession by the Government, reasonable depreciation excepted, and fair and reasonable costs for their reinstallation, if required.

Any failure of the parties to reach agreement as to what amounts are fair and reasonable under this Article shall be deemed a dispute of fact within the meaning of Article XII hereof.

ART. VI. Insurance. The Purchaser hereby covenants and agrees that the proceeds of any insurance which is required of the Purchaser by the terms of this instrument, or by any other agreement between it and the Government, to be placed on the properties hereby conveyed or any part thereof will be applied, upon damage to or destruction of the properties by fire or other insurable casualty, to a restoration thereof, unless the Purchaser is expressly released from such obligation by the Government.

ART. VII. Subsequent transfers. The Purchaser hereby covenants and agrees not to sell, lease, mortgage, pledge, or otherwise encumber the properties without expressly making such sale, lease, mortgage, pledge, or encumbrance subject to the provisions of this National Security Clause for the remainder of its term, with the right to enforce such provisions expressly stated as vested in the Government.

ART. VIII. Parties. The Purchaser and the Government mutually agree that the latter, in exercising its rights and carrying out its obligations under this National Security Clause shall act through the Secretary of Defense or such departments, agencies, or individuals as he may designate, which may include, without limitation, the Assistant Secretaries of Defense (S and L) and (P and I), the Departments of the Army, Navy, or Air Force, or the General Services Administration. References in this National Security Clause to the Government shall be deemed to refer as appropriate to the Secretary of Defense or such departments, agencies, or individuals, as he may designate.

ART. IX. Redesignation of purpose and use of properties. The Government hereby covenants and agrees that, upon a petition by the Purchaser for a change in the assigned function of the properties, it will re-evaluate the defense potential of the properties, both for the purposes for which they are designated for inclusion in the National Industrial Reserve and those for which it is requested they be redesignated, and will, if it deems the interests of national security are best served thereby, and upon tender by the Purchaser of whatever consideration may be requested, change their designation to that requested by the Purchaser. Conversely, the Government may, on its own initiative, recommend a redesignation to the Purchaser which, if acceptable to the latter, shall be put into effect. Redesignations under this paragraph may be made by written instrument only and may not be requested by the Purchaser more often than once in 6 months.

ART. X. Modification or amendment of the National Security Clause. The Government hereby covenants and agrees that, upon a petition by the Purchaser for a reconsideration of the particular applicability of any of the terms, conditions, reservations or restrictions of the National Security Clause, the Government will, if it deems the interests of national security are best served thereby, modify or amend the Clause to the degree it sees fit upon tender by the Purchaser of whatever consideration may be requested. Conversely, the Government may, on its own initiative, recommend modifications or amendments to the Purchaser which, if acceptable to the latter, shall be put into effect.

ART. XI. Termination or revocation of the National Security Clause. The Government and the Purchaser mutually covenant and agree that their respective obligations under this National Security Clause, except those of the Purchaser to reimburse the Government under Article III, or of the Government to furnish compensation under Article V, and except as may be otherwise specified herein, shall terminate 10 years following the date of this instrument or, in the event the Government is in possession at that time in accordance with Article IV (b), upon release of possession by the Government to the Grantee: Provided, however, That the Government, at its own election, or upon a petition by the Purchaser, may reconsider the necessity for continuing all or any part of the Clause in effect and shall, in the event it determines such necessity no longer exists, and upon tender by the Purchaser of whatever consideration may be requested, revoke the Clause, in whole or in part, by executing and delivering to the Purchaser a release or whatever instrument is necessary to remove the encumbrance of the Clause, or of a part thereof, from the properties.

ART. XII. Disputes. Disputes on questions of fact which cannot be resolved by agreement of the parties shall be decided by the Secretary of Defense or the instrumentality duly and expressly designated by him, whose decision shall be final and conclusive. In connection with any proceeding under this Article, the Purchaser shall be afforded an opportunity to be heard and to offer evidence in support of its own case. Pending final decision of a dispute hereunder, the Purchaser shall proceed diligently with the performance of its obligations under the Clause.

ART. XIII. Recordation. The Purchaser shall forthwith cause this instrument to be duly recorded and shall furnish satisfactory evidence of such to the Government.

ART. XIV. Saving provision. The Purchaser and the Government mutually covenant and agree that nothing in this Clause shall be contrued as affecting obligations of the Purchaser under any other provisions of this instrument, except that, in any cases of inconsistency or ambiguity, the provisions of this National Security Clause shall, to the extent that they impose any greater obligations on the Purchaser, be deemed controlling.

§ 111.454 Modifications in National Security Clause. The National Security Clause prescribed in this subpart may be modified or deviated from and specific provisions may be omitted for purposes of specific properties and transactions provided such modifications, deviations, or omissions or substance are approved by the Secretary of Defense before becoming binding upon the Government.

DISPOSALS OF PROPERTY SUBJECT TO THE NATIONAL SECURITY CLAUSE

§ 111.500 Scope of §§ 111.500 to 111.506. Sections 111.500 to 111.506 deal with the procedures for disposing of property in the National Industrial Reserve to private individuals, firms, corporations, or other persons, subject to the National Security Clause.

§ 111.501 Specification of National Security Clause. The Secretary of Defense may authorize disposition of specific properties, and will specify the National Security Clause and will notify the head of the disposal agency having control of each such property. If not otherwise specified, the National Security Clause formulated in this part shall be considered to be applicable.

§ 111.502 Modification of National Security Clause. In the event that any agency charged with the disposal of excess property in the National Industrial Reserve is unable to dispose of such property because the terms of the National Security Clause imposed upon it are unacceptable without modifications and substance, the head of such agency shall promptly notify the Secretary of Defense thereof, indicating the modifications in the disposal of the property. Upon receipt of such notification, the Secretary of Defense may, in his discretion, direct what, if any, modifications shall be made in the provisions of the National Security Clause applicable to the property, which modifications may, but need not, conform to the recommendations of the head of the disposal agency.

§ 111.503 Qualifications of transferees. In addition to any other requirements, disposals of property in the National Industrial Reserve shall be made only upon proof, satisfactory to the head of the disposal agency having control of such property, of the financial responsibility and integrity of the transferee, and of his or its ability to operate the property and knowledge of the technical problems involved.

§ 111.504–1 Responsibility of head of disposal agency. Except as provided in § 111.504–2, negotiations for the sale, lease, or other disposition of a property in the National Industrial Reserve shall be the responsibility of the head of the disposal agency having control of the property. The terms of such disposition shall in all cases include the provisions of the National Security Clause as specified by the Secretary of Defense for the property, with such modifications as may be approved, but in other respects may be upon such terms and conditions as shall be mutually agreed upon by the head of the disposal agency and the transferee.

§ 111.504–2 Negotiations by General Services Administration. In the case of negotiations for the sale, lease or other disposition of a property in the National Industrial Reserve by the General Services Administration, terms and conditions negotiated by the General Services Administration, shall not become effective until they have either been approved by the Secretary of Defense or the Secretary of Defense has indicated that his approval of the particular transaction or type of transaction is not required.

§ 111.505 Disposal procedures. Subject to the regulations in this subchapter and to the extent not inconsistent with it, disposals of property in the National Industrial Reserve subject to the National Security Clause shall be governed by the rules, regulations, and procedures established by the disposal agency having control of such property.

§ 111.506 Documentation. Each disposal of property shall be documented in accordance with the rules, regulations and procedures of the disposal agency having control of the property, and, in addition, the Secretary of Defense shall be furnished with at least three conformed copies of all documents of transfer including any letters of intent, agreements and other documents containing the commitments of the parties to enter into the transaction.

Such property will ordinarily come to the General Services Administration as a result of the failure of other disposal agencies to dispose of it subject to the National Security Clause or authorized modifications thereof. It may be held by General Services Administration as custodian for an indefinite period of time, or it may be transferred or disposed of by the General Services Administration in accordance with directives of the Secretary of Defense.

§ 111.551–1 Determination by head of disposal agency. Upon a determination by the head of a disposal agency that a particular excess industrial property in the National Industrial Reserve which is under its control cannot be disposed of subject to the National Security Clause, or a National Security Clause as modified in accordance with the provisions of § 111.502, after every practicable effort has been made, he shall give written notice to the Secretary of Defense certifying that such property is not salable subject to a National Security Clause.

§ 111.551–2 Disposition or transfer by Secretary of Defense directive. Upon receipt of a certification that a property is unsalable under the provisions of a National Security Clause, the Secretary of Defense may, in his discretion: (a) Direct the disposition of such plant in accordance with the provisions of §§ 111.600 to 111.606 or; (b) direct the certifying agency to transfer such property to the General Services Administration in accordance with the provisions of this subpart.

§ 111.551–3 Limitation on necessity for modification of conditions. It shall not be necessary, as a condition precedent to certification, transfer or disposal under §§ 111.551–1 and 111.551–2, to seek to dispose of any property under a modified National Security Clause, or to attempt to dispose of any property for a use other than the use for which it was designated for the National Industrial Reserve.

§ 111.552 Transfer of possession, accountability and responsibility. Transfer of possession, accountability and responsibility pursuant to directive of the Secretary of Defense in accordance with the provisions of § 111.551–2 shall be in accordance with such procedures as may be prescribed by the General Services Administration. Unless otherwise prescribed by the Secretary of Defense, transfers shall include the entire interest of the Government at the location of the property being transferred including the assignment of responsibility for administration of all agreements relating to such property; other than agreements secured by mortgage, lien, or other interests; the General Services Administration to assume the obligation of all such agreements as of the date of transfer. All such transfers shall be without reimbursement or transfer of funds and the property transferred shall continue to be held as a part of the National Industrial Reserve unless other instructions shall be received from the Secretary of Defense.

§ 111.553 Documentation. Each transfer of property to the General Services Administration shall be documented according to procedures specified by the General Services Administration, and the Secretary of Defense shall be furnished with at least three conformed copies of all documents of transfer.

§ 111.554 Transfer of machine tools and industrial manufacturing equipment. Machine tools and industrial manufacturing equipment which may be designated as a part of the National Industrial Reserve shall not be offered for disposal except as part of a plant which is to be disposed of, but shall be transferred to the General Services Administration in accordance with the provisions of this subpart. Transfers of such machine tools and equipment shall be accomplished without reimbursement or transfer of funds.

TRANSFERS OF PROPERTY FOR USE OF, OR OPERATION BY, OTHER GOVERNMENTAL DEPARTMENTS AND AGENCIES

§ 111.600 Scope of §§ 111.600 to 111.606. Sections 111.600 to 111.606 deal with the procedures for transfers of property in the National Industrial Reserve in the custody of the General Services Administration to other governmental departments and agencies, to be used or operated by such other departments or agencies while the property in question continues to constitute a part of the National Industrial Reserve.

§ 111.601 Request for transfer. The head of any governmental department or agency may present a written request to the Secretary of Defense for the transfer to his department or agency of any property in the National Industrial Reserve which is being held by the General Services Administration for the use of, or operation by, the department or agency on behalf of which the request is made. Such request shall be in writing, and shall set forth in detail the uses that are intended to be made of the property, the standard of maintenance that is contemplated, the effect of such use or operation upon the availability of the property for the purpose of national defense, and other contemplated terms and conditions of the proposed transfer. The department or agency so making a request shall furnish the Secretary of Defense with such additional information relating to the proposed use and operation of the property as the Secretary of Defense may request.

§ 111.602 Terms of transfer. The Secretary of Defense may deny any such request, or may offer to transfer the property requested upon terms other than those contained in the request.

§ 111.604 Accountability and responsibility. Upon completion of the transfer of the property, in accordance with the terms of transfer prescribed by the Secretary of Defense, and pursuant to the regulations and procedures of the disposal agency having control of the property prior to the transfer, the department or agency to which the property has been transferred shall be responsible for the proper maintenance of the property and for its availability for purposes of national defense, as prescribed by the Secretary of Defense in the terms of transfer.

§ 111.605 Inspection and reports. While subject to the use of, or operation by, such other governmental department or agency, the property shall be available for the engineering surveys and inspections provided for in §§ 111.400 to 111.404–2, and such department or agency shall adhere to the maintenance requirements specified in said § 111.400 and shall make such reports to the Secretary of Defense from time to time concerning the property's condition and availability, together with accounts of its operation, as may be requested by the Secretary of Defense.

§ 111.606 Return of property. Whenever such governmental department or agency has no further need for the use or operation of property transferred to it under this §§ 111.600 to 111.606 it shall promptly notify the Secretary of Defense. Upon receipt of such notice, the Secretary of Defense shall cause a review to be made of the justification for the retention of such property in the National Industrial Reserve, and if such retention is determined to be justified, the Secretary of Defense may (a) cause it to be transferred to another department or agency for its use in accordance with terms and conditions to be prescribed, or (b) direct it to be transferred to the General Services Administration to be held by it in the National Industrial Reserve.

LOAN OF PROPERTY IN THE NATIONAL INDUSTRIAL RESERVE TO NONPROFIT EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS AND TRAINING SCHOOLS

§ 111.650. Scope of §§ 111.650 to 111.654. Sections 111.650 to 111.654 deal with the rules and procedures governing loans of property in the National Industrial Reserve by the General Services Administration to nonprofit educational institutions and training schools, as provided in the act. Such loans will be limited to certain machine tools and industrial manufacturing and laboratory equipment under the control of the General Services Administration.

§ 111.651 Application for loan of property. The head of any nonprofit educational institution or training school as defined in § 111.201–7 may make a written application to the General Services Administration for the loan of specific machine tools or industrial manufacturing equipment for the use of such institution or school in connection with a program of instruction. The application shall specify in detail the property requested, the nature of the program, and the number, age, and qualifications of the persons expected to participate in the program.

§ 111.652 Investigation and report by General Services Administration. Upon receipt of an application for a loan of property in the National Industrial Reserve the General Services Administration will cause an investigation to be made to determine (a) whether the applicant conforms to the definition contained in § 111.201–7, (b) the accuracy of the statements contained in the application, (c) the ability of the applicant properly to care for and maintain the property, (d) the importance of the property in question to the program of instruction, (e) the relative importance of the program as a means of training critically-needed skills, compared to the importance of preserving the productive capacity of the property for future use, and (f) such other facts as may be material. The results of such investigation will be reported by the General Services Administration to the Secretary of Defense together with its recommendation with respect to the granting or denying of the application.

§ 111.653 Action by Secretary of Defense, conditions of loan. The Secretary of Defense may in his discretion authorize or refuse to authorize such loan. § 111.654 Authorization to General Services Administration. In the event that the Secretary of Defense approves the loan, the General Services Administration will be notified of such approval, and will be authorized to make the loan upon the conditions prescribed in § 111.653, and such other terms as the General Services Administration may prescribe.

§ 111.700 Scope of §§ 111.700 to 111.701–2. Sections 111.700 to 111.701–2 deal with procedures for disposition of property in the National Industrial Reserve when it is no longer needed for such reserve.

§ 111.701 Relinquishment or waiver of National Security Clause. Whenever the Secretary of Defense shall determine that the retention of the productive capacity of an excess industrial property in the National Industrial Reserve (including a lesser part or interest than the entire property) is no longer essential to the national security, it will authorize the relinquishment or waiver of a part or all of the provisions of the National Security Clause applicable to such property.

§ 111.701–1 Property under control of disposal agency. If the property is under the control of a disposal agency, the Secretary of Defense will notify the head of such disposal agency of the relinquishment or waiver of the National Security Clause, and the property shall thereafter be offered for disposition free from the provisions so relinquished or waived.

§ 111.701–2 Property under control of a transferee. If the property has been disposed of to a transferee subject to a National Security Clause, the Secretary of Defense will relinquish or waive the National Security Clause.

In § 535.6, paragraph (i) is revised, and in § 535.9a, add paragraphs (l), (m), (n) and (o) as follows:

§ 535.6 Discounts. • • •

(i) (1) Discount taken after deduction of export differential. Where a contract for supplies provides that, as a consideration for furnishing the articles involved, the contractor should be paid the total sum specified therein, subject to a discount for prompt payment, but the contract price itself is subject to reduction with respect to such of the articles as are consigned for export shipment, the discount with respect to articles so consigned may be computed on the reduced contract price, that is, after deduction of the export differential, rather than on the full contract price, even though there is no provision to that effect in the contract. (See 22 Comp. Gen. 846.)

(2) Refund of excess discount deduction. Under a contract containing a cash or prompt payment provision and a price redetermination clause, a contractor is entitled to refund of the amount of cash or prompt payment discount taken by the Government on that amount paid to the contractor under basic contract price which was in excess of amount finally determined to be due on contract after revision of the price under the price redetermination clause. (See 33 Comp. Gen. 364.)

• • • • •

§ 535.9a Miscellaneous special cases. • • •

(l) Patent fees. Payment of patent fees for services rendered by the Patent Office or the transfer of funds to the Patent Office for such services is not authorized. (See 32 Comp. Gen. 392; and 33id. 27.)

(m) Fees for motor-vehicle-operators' permits. When United States personnel assigned to duty in foreign countries are required to secure motor-vehicle-drivers' permits for the performance of their official duties, the fees for the payment of the permits will be paid from Government funds provided the employee's tenure of duty in such foreign country can be reasonably expected to be of such duration as to warrant the expenditure. (See B 115463, Sept. 18, 1953.)

(n) Payment for supplies or services furnished subsequent to filing petition in bankruptcy. (1) Where amounts have become due for supplies or services furnished the Government subsequent to the date the firm files a petition in bankruptcy, whether it be straight bankruptcy, arrangement or reorganization proceedings, payments for such services or supplies to operating trustees, receivers, or debtors in possession will be made, provided a proper court order has been issued authorizing the designee of the bankrupt to continue operation of the business, with apparent authority to assume and/or complete Government contracts and to collect amounts due or to become due the estate. The finance officer will require a copy of such orders for his records before making payments. It is not necessary to forward such claims to the Claims Division, General Accounting Office for direct settlement unless payment otherwise is doubtful, or there is a change in the status of the bankruptcy proceedings that will warrant forwarding of such claims to the General Accounting Office in order to protect the interest of the United States.

(2) Payments also may be made to a proper court designee in State insolvency proceedings for services and supplies furnished the United States subsequent to the initiating of such proceedings. Where State insolvency proceedings develop into Federal Bankruptcy Act proceedings the receiver or trustee under the Federal Bankruptcy Act proceedings who is authorized by the court to complete a Government contract, is entitled to payment of all amounts earned in the performance of such contract. This right to payment reverts back to the date the State insolvency proceedings were initiated provided there is no dispute between the State and Federal court designees as to who is entitled to payment of the amounts due or any portion thereof.

(3) No right of set-off exists in favor of the Government under subsection 68 (a) of the Bankruptcy Act (30 State. 565, as amended; 11 U. S. C. 108 (a)) on account of a bankrupt's indebtedness to the United States where amounts have become due for supplies and services furnished the Government subsequent to the filing of the petition in bankruptcy, whether it be straight bankruptcy, arrangement or reorganization proceedings. Amounts due from the Government which were earned by the bankrupt prior to the date the petition in bankruptcy was filed and where there are pre-existing debts in favor of the Government from the bankrupt, are subject to the Government's right of set-off pursuant to the mutual debts and credits provision of that subsection.

(o) Registry fees on domestic airmail. The appropriations of the various Government agencies are available for payment of registry fees on domestic matter sent by registered airmail from Washington, D. C., notwithstanding such appropriations are not available for payment of registry fees on domestic surface mail. See B 119219, May 18, 1954.

Persons or agencies must be in receipt of DD Form 553 (Absentee Wanted by the Armed Forces), or have been notified by military authorities or Federal law enforcement officers that the person is absent and that his return to military control is desired. Subchapter D—Military Reservations and National Cemeteries

PART 552—REGULATIONS AFFECTING MILITARY RESERVATIONS

REAL ESTATE; CLAIMS FOR RENT, DAMAGE, AND OTHER PAYMENTS

Section 552.16a is rescinded and the following substituted therefor:

§ 552.16a Real Estate; claims for rent, damage, and other payments—(a) Statutory provisions. Except as otherwise provided by law all claims and demands whatever by the Government of the United States or against it, and all accounts whatever in which the Government of the United States is concerned, either as debtor or creditor, shall be settled and adjusted in the General Accounting Office. (R. S. 236, as amended by the act of June 10, 1921; 42 Stat. 24; 31 U. S. C. 71.)

(b) Scope. (1) This section applies to the investigation and settlement of claims for:

(i) Rent and payments for janitor, custodial, utility, and other similar contractual services;

(ii) Damage to real or personal property in excess of $1,000 (claims for damages which may be settled for $1,000 or less will be processed under applicable provisions of §§ 536.12 to 536.23 of this chapter), arising under the terms and conditions, whether express or implied, of leases or other contracts for the use and occupancy of real estate by the Department of the Army or arising from the use and occupancy of real estate by this Department with the express or implied consent of the owner thereof in the absence of any formal lease or similar contract.

(2) The provisions of subparagraph (1) (i) of this paragraph are applicable in the United States, its territories and possessions and in all overseas commands except in occupation zones. The provisions of subparagraph (1) (ii) of this paragraph are applicable in the United States, its territories and possessions only. Claims for damage to real or personal property arising in foreign countries will be processed in accordance with applicable provisions of § 536.26 of this chapter.

(c) Other regulations applicable to particular cases—(1) Claims under the act of July 3, 1943. The act of July 3, 1943 (57 Stat. 372; 31 U. S. C. 223b), as amended, provides for the payment of claims arising on or after May 27, 1941, except claims cognizable under part 2, Federal Tort Claims Act of August 2, 1946 (60 Stat. 842) as amended, for damage to or loss or destruction of real property caused by military or civilian employees of the Department of the Army or the Army while acting within the scope of their employment, or otherwise incident to noncombat activities of the Department of the Army or the Army, including claims for damage to real property not in excess of $1,000 (but not for rent or other payments) incident to the use and occupancy thereof under a lease express or implied, or otherwise, and including claims of the foregoing categories arising out of civil works (see §§ 536.12 to 536.23 of this chapter). Each division engineer, Corps of Engineers, United States Army, is authorized, subject to appeal to the Secretary of the Army, to approve or disapprove claims falling within the provisions of this subparagraph in an amount not in excess of $1,000.

(2) Federal Tort Claims Act. The Federal Tort Claims Act of August 2, 1946 (60 Stat. 842) as amended, provides for the payment of claims accruing on and after January 1, 1945 on account of damage to or loss of property, where the total amount of the claim does not exceed $1,000, caused by the negligent or wrongful act or omission of any employee of the Government while acting within the scope of his office or employment, under circumstances where the United States, if a private person, would be liable to the claimant for such damage or loss, in accordance with the law of the place where the act or omission occured. The Federal Tort Claims Act, with respect to claims cognizable thereunder repeals all prior provisions of law authorizing the administrative settlement of claims. The act, however, does not repeal provisions of law authorizing the administrative settlement of claims for damage to or loss of property not caused by any negligent or wrongful act or omission of an employee of the Government while acting within the scope of his office or employment, or for the settlement of any other claim not cognizable under the act. See § 536.29 of this chapter.

(3) Claims under the Uniform Code of Military Justice. The Uniform Code of Military Justice, act of May 5, 1950 (64 Stat. 107; 50 U. S. C. 551-736) provides for the payment, by the offender through stoppage of pay, of certain claims for damage to or loss or destruction of property by members of the Armed Forces provided such damage, loss, or destruction is caused by riotous, violent, or disorderly conduct, or acts of depredation, willful misconduct, or such reckless disregard of property rights as to carry an implication of guilty intent (see § 536.25 of this chapter).

(4) Claims for damage to or loss or destruction of property, or for personal injury or death, caused by Army forces in foreign countries. The act of January 2, 1942 (55 Stat. 880; 31 U. S. C. 224d), as amended, provides for the payment of claims to or loss or destruction of real or personal property (but not for rent or other payments) and for personal injury or death, caused by Army forces, or individual members (whether military personnel or civilian employees) thereof, or otherwise incident to noncombat activities of such forces, in a foreign country to public property located therein or to the privately owned property, or to the persons, or inhabitants of such country. TITLE 38—PENSIONS, BONUSES, AND VETERANS' RELIEF

Chapter I—Veterans' Administration

PART 6—UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT LIFE INSURANCE

PART 8—NATIONAL SERVICE LIFE INSURANCE

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

1. In Part 6, immediately following § 6.30 insert the centerhead "Calculation of Time Period" and add new § 6.31.

§ 6.31 Calculation of time period. If the last day of any time period specified or allowed for filing applications for insurance, reinstatement of insurance, or for the payment of any premium due on United States Government life insurance shall fall on a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday, the time period will be extended to include the following workday.

2. Section 6.36 is revised to read as follows:

§ 6.36 Computation of grace period. For the purpose of determining whether a premium tendered on United States Government life insurance shall be accepted, the grace period for the payment of the premium shall be computed so as to include 31 days from and after the date on which the premium was due. But if the last day of the grace period falls on Saturday, Sunday, or a legal holiday, the premium will be accepted if tendered on the next following workday. The postmark date will govern the date on which the premium was tendered. The monthly premium when paid within the grace period shall be deemed to carry such insurance in force for the calendar month for which the premium was due. If a premium is not paid during the grace period, the effective date of the lapse shall be the due date of the premium in default.

3. Section 6.121 is revised to read as follows:

§ 6.121 Definition of total permanent disability. Total permanent disability as referred to in a United States Government life insurance policy is any impairment of mind or body which continuously renders it impossible for the disabled person to follow any substantially gainful occupation and which is founded upon conditions which render it reasonably certain that the total disability will continue throughout the life of the disabled person. The total permanent disability benefits may relate back to a date not exceeding 6 months prior to receipt of due proof of total permanent disability, and any premium paid after receipt of due proof of total permanent disability and within the 6 months shall be refunded without interest: Provided, That where the insured becomes or has become totally and permanently disabled while outside the continental limits of the United States and because of war conditions could not feasibly file claim therefor, such benefits may relate back to the beginning date of such disability but not prior to June 27, 1950: Provided, That claim therefor is filed within 1 year after discharge, or the insured's return to the continental limits of the United States, or prior to January 1, 1955, whichever is the earlier.

4. In § 6.164, the 5th undesignated paragraph of the Total Disability Provision beginning "Total disability as referred to herein * * *" is amended to read as follows:

§ 6.164 Total disability provision for United States Government life insurance authorized by section 311 of the World War Veterans' Act, 1924, as amended July 3, 1930. * * *

Total disability as referred to herein is any impairment of mind or body which continuously renders it impossible for the disabled person to follow any substantially gainful occupation. The monthly income payments may relate back to a date not exceeding six months prior to receipt of due proof of such total disability but not prior to the first day of the fifth consecutive month of continuous total disability: Provided, That where the insured becomes or has become totally disabled while outside the continental limits of the United States and because of war conditions could not feasibly file claim therefor, such benefits may relate back to the first day of the fifth consecutive month of continuous total disability, but not prior to June 27, 1950: Provided claim therefor is filed within one year after discharge or the insured's return to the continental limits of the United States, or prior to January 1, 1955, whichever is the earlier. Without prejudice to any other cause of disability, the loss of the use of both feet, or both hands, or of both eyes, or of one foot and one hand, or of one foot and one eye, or of one hand and one eye, or the loss of hearing of both ears, or the organic loss of speech, or becoming permanently helpless or permanently bedridden, shall be deemed to be total disability, and monthly income payments for any of these specifically enumerated causes of total disability may be paid from the first day of the fifth consecutive month of such continuous total disability. However, such anatomical and functional loss shall not be deemed to be a total disability under a total disability provision originally issued subsequent to December 15, 1936.

6. Section 8.15 is revised to read as follows:

§ 8.15 Computation of grace period. For the purpose of determining whether a premium tendered on National Service life insurance shall be accepted, the grace period for the payment of the premium shall be computed so as to include 31 days from and after the date on which the premium was due. next following workday. The postmark date will govern the date on which the premium was tendered. The monthly premium when paid within the grace period shall be deemed to carry such insurance in force for the month for which the premium was due. If a premium is not paid prior to the expiration of the grace period, the effective date of the lapse shall be the due date of the premium in default.

7. Section 8.98 is revised to read as follows:

§ 8.98 Total disability income provision for National Service life insurance authorized by the National Service Life Insurance Act of 1940, as amended August 1, 1946. The total disability income provision for National Service life insurance authorized by the National Service Life Insurance Act of 1940, as amended August 1, 1946, is as follows:

NATIONAL SERVICE LIFE INSURANCE

TOTAL DISABILITY INCOME PROVISION

Attached to and made a part of Policy No. ------ on the life of ----------. ------ age of insured.

Premiums

Monthly ---------- Quarterly ----------
Annual ----------

If the insured becomes totally disabled before the anniversary of this policy nearest his sixtieth birthday and remains so disabled for at least six consecutive months, there will be paid to the insured, for as long as the total disability continues, a monthly income of $5 for each $1,000 of face amount of this policy, and the payment of the premiums for this provision (as well as for this policy) will be waived, subject to the following clauses (A) to (L):

(A) Total disability is defined as any one of the following:

(1) Any impairment of mind or body which continuously renders it impossible for the insured to follow any substantially gainful occupation.

(2) The permanent loss of the use of both feet, or both hands, or of both eyes, or of one foot and one hand, or of one foot and one eye, or of one hand and one eye.

(3) The total loss of hearing of both ears, or

(4) The organic loss of speech.

(B) Total disability must be continuous and must exist for at least six consecutive months. It must have started:

(1) Before the anniversary of the policy nearest the insured's 60th birthday,

(2) After the date of application for this provision or the effective date hereof, whichever is later, and

(3) While this provision is in effect.

(C) The insured must file written application for total disability income benefits and must file the required proof that clauses (A) and (B) above have been fulfilled. The required proof must be filed while this provision is in force or within 1 year after this provision has ceased to be in effect.

(D) The disability income payments will be paid from the first day of the seventh consecutive month of continuous total disability, except that if the total disability is not due to one of the specific causes listed in (A) (2), (A) (3), and (A) (4) above, the disability income payments will not relate back to a date more than 6 months prior to receipt at the Veterans Administration of the required proof: Provided, That where the insured becomes or has become totally disabled while outside the continental limits of the United States and because of war conditions could not feasibly file claim therefor, such benefits may relate back to the first day of the seventh consecutive month of total disability, but not prior to June 27, 1950: provided claim therefor is filed within 1 year after discharge or the insured's return to the continental limits of the United States, or prior to January 1, 1955, whichever is the earlier. Any disability income payments due the insured and not paid during his lifetime will be paid to the person entitled to the proceeds of this policy.

(E) Waiver of the payment of premiums for this provision (as well as for this policy) will be made effective with the first monthly premium due after the start of the continuous total disability, except that premiums due more than 1 year prior to receipt of claim will be waived only if the Administrator finds that the insured's failure to submit timely claim or satisfactory evidence of continuance of total disability was due to circumstances beyond the insured's control. Waiver of premiums will continue for as long as the total disability continues. Premiums paid to cover a period during which waiver of premiums is effective will be refunded without interest to the insured if living, otherwise to the person entitled to the proceeds of this policy.

(F) Notwithstanding the fact that proof of total disability may have been accepted as satisfactory, the Administrator may at any time require proof of continuance of total disability. If the insured fails to furnish evidence, satisfactory to the Administrator, of the continuance of such total disability, or if it appears to the Administrator that the insured is not totally disabled, no further total disability income payments will accrue and no further waiver of the payment of premiums will be granted. Thereafter, premiums on this policy (including this provision) will become due and payable as provided in the policy and in this provision.

(G) This provision will cease to be in effect, and no further premiums for it will be payable, on the anniversary of this policy nearest the insured's 60th birthday, or if this policy, or this provision lapses, or of this policy is surrendered for its net cash value, or for extended term insurance, or is surrendered for paid-up life insurance of less than $1,000, or if the policy matures as an endowment, or expires as term insurance.

(H) If this policy is surrendered for paid-up life insurance of not less than $1,000 face amount, this provision may be continued by the payment of the required premiums as they become due. In that event the face amount of this policy, for the purposes of this provision only, will be the largest multiple of $500 which does not exceed the amount of the paid-up life insurance.

(I) If this provision has lapsed, it may be reinstated provided the following requirements are met:

(1) A written application signed by the insured, and evidence of health satisfactory to the Administrator must be furnished.

(2) The required premiums and interest must be paid.

(J) If there is a change of plan under this policy which results in a larger premium for this provision, then in order to continue this provision there must be paid (1) the differences between premiums already paid for this provision and those that would have been paid for this provision had this policy been in force on the new plan when this provision originally became effective, and (2) interest on such differences at the rate of 3 percent a year compounded annually. To this extent the provision entitled "Change of plan" is modified.

(K) The benefits provided for in this provision will be in addition to all other benefits and privileges under this policy, including the participation in such dividends on this policy as may be determined by the Administrator. Disability income payments made under this provision will not reduce the face amount of this policy.

(L) This provision is granted in consideration of the application, evidence of good health, and payment of the monthly premium of $ ----- (in addition to the monthly premium stated on the face of this policy), and the payment thereafter of the same amount on each succeeding monthly premium due date of this policy. Premiums for this provision are payable until the anniversary of this policy nearest the insured's 60th birthday or until the end of the premium paying period of this policy, if earlier. If any premium for this provision is not paid before the end of the 31-day grace period, this provision will lapse as of the due date of that premium. Premiums for this provision may be paid quarterly, semiannually, or annually, in advance, but most be paid in the same manner as the premiums for this policy.

This provision takes effect on this ------ day of ----------, 19--.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Agricultural Marketing Service

[7 CFR Part 993]

HANDLING OF DRIED PRUNES PRODUCED IN CALIFORNIA

ADMINISTRATIVE RULES AND PROCEDURES

Notice is hereby given that the Secretary of Agriculture is considering the approval of proposed amendments submitted by the Prune Administrative Committee, as set forth hereinafter, of the amended administrative rules and procedures (19 F. R. 5297) issued pursuant to the applicable provisions of Marketing Agreement No. 110, as further amended, and Marketing Order No. 93, as further amended (19 F. R. 1301), regulating the handling of dried prunes produced in California, effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.).

Consideration will be given to any data, views, or arguments pertaining to the amendments hereinafter set forth which are filed in triplicate with the Director, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., and received not later than the tenth day after the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, except that, if said tenth day after publication should fall on a legal holiday or Saturday or Sunday, such submission will be received by the Director not later than the close of business on the next following business day.

The proposed amendments are as follows:

1. Amend the provisions of § 993.105 to read as follows:

§ 993.105 Lot. "Lot" as used in §§ 993.148 and 993.150 (a) means (a) any number of tenders accepted by a handler from one producer or from one dehydrator, the net weight of which does not exceed 50,000 pounds in the aggregate, or (b) in the event a single tender has a net weight in excess of 50,000 pounds, any portion of such tender, the net weight of which does not exceed 50,000 pounds: Provided, That no lot shall include prunes of any tender that is not tentatively accepted by the handler on the same day as other tenders included in such lot, except that this time limitation shall not apply to prunes tendered exclusively in "ton box" containers or to prunes tendered in lug boxes on pallets and remaining intact thereon: And provided further, That each lot of prunes shall be reasonably uniform in quality and condition, and shall not include any container of prunes which obviously is inferior in quality or condition to the quality and condition of the prunes in the rest of the containers in such lot.

2. Amend the provisions of § 993.148 (b) (1) relating to incoming inspection to read as follows:

§ 993.148 Receiving of prunes by handlers. • • •

(b) Incoming inspection—(1) General. For each tender of prunes made to a handler by a producer or dehydrator, the handler shall, immediately upon tentative acceptance thereof, issue to the producer or dehydrator a door receipt or weight certificate showing the name and address of such producer or dehydrator, the weight of the tender, and any other information necessary to identify the tender. Any prunes so tendered to a handler must, prior to their acceptance, be inspected at an inspection station, and in order to be received as standard prunes must be certified as standard prunes. The handler shall identify each tender tentatively accepted by him pending inspection with its corresponding door receipt or weight certificate until the prunes in such tender have been inspected and accepted by him or returned to the producer or dehydrator tendering the prunes. A separate inspection shall be made of each lot and an inspection certificate shall be limited to the prunes included in one lot. Certification of any lot shall be made and computed on the basis of the net weight of prunes included in such lot, and the handler shall supply such information to the inspector. At the time of inspection of any lot, the handler shall provide the inspector with any assistance necessary in drawing samples. When necessary, in order to perform proper inspection, the inspector may require the handler to dump containers to permit proper sampling. Each lot shall be inspected immediately following tentative acceptance by a handler of all of the prunes to be included in such lot, except that any lot of prunes tendered to a handler by a producer or dehydrator in "ton box" containers or tendered in lug boxes on pallets and remaining intact thereon which cannot be dumped for sampling at the time of such acceptance, because of inadequate handling equipment, may be held for later inspection: Provided, That each lot of prunes so held is identified by the handler to the satisfaction of the inspector until the lot is inspected. After inspection, each lot of prunes shall be promptly accepted by the handler or returned to the producer or dehydrator. When a lot of prunes is inspected at other than a handler's plant, the inspector shall forward with such lot to the handler, the handler's copies of the certificate.

3. Amend the provisions of § 993.161 (e) to read as follows:

§ 993.161 Surplus tonnage. • • •

(e) Diversion privileges. Any producer who desires to divert prunes in accordance with the provisions of § 993.62 shall make application to the committee for permission to avail himself of such privilege on Form PAC 10.1, "Application for Green Diversion of Prunes," containing the following information: (1) The date and the name and address of the applicant; (2) the exact location of the orchard or orchards or the name and location of the dehydrator at which the diversion is to take place; (3) the total bearing acreage of prunes operated by the applicant; (4) the applicant's estimate of his then current crop of prunes in equivalent dried tons; (5) the applicant's estimate of the dried tonnage equivalent of the quantity proposed for green diversion; (6) the proposed method of diversion, if harvested, indicating whether the prunes are to be fed to livestock or otherwise destroyed; (7) the proposed method of diversion, if unharvested, indicating whether the prunes are to be diverted by disking, pasturing, or irrigating the orchard; (8) the period during which diversion will take place, and the estimated date on which proof thereof can be supplied; (9) the name and address of the handler to whom salable tonnage covered by the diversion certificate, together with such certificate, will be delivered, if known; and (10) the name and address of the producer or other person to whom the diversion certificate will be transferred, if known. Each such application submitted to the committee shall be accompanied by a deposit of $25.00 to apply against the costs of appraisal and supervision: Provided, That in the event diversion is accomplished at one dehydrator location and four or more producers shall designate the dehydrator as their agent for the purpose of accomplishing the green diversion, a deposit of $100.00 shall be made by such dehydrator. The charge for any diversion certificate so issued shall be based on actual costs: Provided, That the charge for the issuance of any such certificate shall not exceed $3.00 per ton, or fractional part of a ton in excess of one-half ton, on a dried weight basis, of prunes diverted, but there shall be a minimum charge of $25.00 in the event the amount to be charged on such basis would be less than $25.00: And provided further, That the minimum charge shall be $100.00 in the event four or more producers shall designate a dehydrator as their agent for the purpose of green diversion at one location. In the event an application is rejected without an appraisal being made, the committee shall remit the full amount of the applicant's deposit. If an application is rejected or withdrawn after an appraisal is made, the committee shall remit to the applicant that portion of the deposit which is over and above the actual cost of the appraisal. The committee shall notify the applicant promptly of its decision, and, upon submission of proof of diversion satisfactory to the committee, it shall issue a diversion certificate.

Issued this 28th day of September 1954.

[Docket No. AO-197-A2 RO-1]

HANDLING OF MILK IN LIMA OHIO, MARKETING AREA

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO ORDER

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.) and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was conducted at Lima, Ohio on August 17–19, 1953 pursuant to notice thereof which was issued on July 23, 1953 (18 F. R. 4407). The hearing was reopened in Lima on May 27, 1954, pursuant to notice thereof which was issued on May 22, 1954 (19 F. R. 2985).

The material issues of record were concerned with the following:

(1) Extending the marketing area to include all of Allen County, instead of only the city of Lima, and to include Hancock County, and the city of Findlay, its principal center of population;

(2) Modifying the definition of a producer-handler;

(3) Including a cheese pricing formula as one of the basic formula prices;

(4) Increasing the Class I differentials;

(5) Modifying the provisions applicable to milk received from sources other than producers;

(6) Reclassifying and raising the price of milk used in ice cream and cottage cheese;

(7) Stating class prices in terms of an amount per hundredweight of milk of a basic butterfat content, instead of quoting separate prices for the butterfat and skim milk components;

(8) Modifying the pooling provisions to provide for individual-handler pooling or for an adjustment of prices paid to producers that would be based upon the respective utilization of milk in the Lima and the Findlay portions of the marketing area;

(9) Adopting a modified form of the base-rating plan for encouraging a more uniform seasonal pattern of production;

(10) Modifying the determination of the rate of partial payments to producers for milk delivered during the first 15 days of the month;

(11) Modifying the provision relating to payments to cooperative associations for services performed on behalf of producer-members; and

(12) Allowing a certain type of custom-bottling arrangement to be excluded from the pricing provisions of the order.

The Deputy Administrator's recommended decision on the issues considered at the original hearing was filed March 5, 1954 (19 F. R. 1343, F. R. Document 54–1715). A further recommended decision was filed August 9, 1954 (19 F. R. 5039, F. R. Document 54–6236).

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions on the issues decided herein are hereby made upon the basis of the record of the hearing:

(1) Marketing area. The marketing area should be expanded by including the city of Findlay and all of Allen County, both in the state of Ohio. However, the territory in Hancock County which is outside of the corporate limits of Findlay should not be included.

Findlay is located 32 miles northeast of Lima. The city had a 1950 population of 24,000, as compared with a population in Lima of 50,000. The need for extending Federal regulation to Findlay arises primarily from pricing problems. Handlers in Findlay pay for milk purchased from producers at a flat price rather than at prices determined in accordance with the classified use of milk.

Under this method of pricing producers are unable to ascertain the quantities of milk used by the handlers for fluid milk purposes or the quantities of daily and seasonal excess which must be converted into manufactured dairy products. In the absence of this information they cannot determine the appropriate level of price for the milk they sell to handlers. Under a classified price plan all handlers are charged the same Class I price for all milk utilized in bottled form, such price being higher than prices paid for milk for manufacture by an amount sufficient to compensate producers for the added costs involved in meeting the higher sanitary standards, providing a year-around supply, and transporting the milk for the longer distances which usually characterize a city milk supply. Class II milk, not needed for fluid purposes, is priced at the manufacturing level.

The absence of a classified price plan also results in differences in the cost of milk for each use as between handlers in the Findlay area. If, for example, all handlers paid the same flat price to producers, a handler who sold a larger than average proportion of his milk in bottled form would have a competitive advantage in the sale of his product over the other handlers. However, the Findlay handlers have not paid the same flat prices in recent months. Without consulting the officials of the producers' association one of the major handlers in Findlay has paid an average of the blend prices under the Toledo and Lima orders, whereas the other also averages in the minimum order price payable to producers at the Cleveland pool plant located in Findlay.

The difference in handlers' costs is an obvious problem in the areas where handlers under the Lima order are directly competitive with Findlay handlers. The Lima handlers, of course, purchase their milk under a classified price plan and are obligated to pay the full Class I price on all sales of fluid milk.

These variations in price plans and in net prices paid to producers as between the Findlay handlers themselves and as between the Findlay and Lima handlers have created dissatisfaction among producers and have further implications. A condition of unequal costs among the handlers, in accordance with use, may cause them to attempt to economize by reducing prices to producers. This in turn would tend to stimulate successive price reductions by competitors. This development is contrary to the interests of producers and over a period of time may jeopardize an adequate supply of milk.

Extending the order to the Findlay handlers will price milk to each handler strictly in accordance with the use each individual handler makes of the milk. Such utilization will be subject to audit by the market administrator. Under an order the butterfat tests and weight of producer milk delivered by any shippers who are not members of a cooperative association already furnishing such service will be checked by the market administrator. Also publication of complete data on supplies and utilization will promote stability in the market through the availability of accurate information to all interested parties and to the public at large.

The need for an order in Findlay could conceivably be met either by establishing a separate order for that territory or by combining it with Lima. Despite the distance between the two cities, milk marketing conditions are sufficiently interrelated to make it desirable to combine them in a single marketing area.

The supply interrelationships are close in several respects. The Lima and Findlay milksheds are virtually co-extensive; only a comparatively small portion of the Findlay supply area, to the east of Findlay and in Seneca County is outside of the procurement area of Lima. Another common element of supply is that a large proportion of the producers supplying milk to each market are members of the Northwestern Cooperative Sales Association. A third similarity is that the supply area for the Toledo, Ohio market overlaps the northern portions of both the Findlay and Lima milksheds, and the bulk of the Toledo shippers are also members of the Northwestern Cooperative Sales Association. Finally, both the Lima and Findlay milksheds are integral parts of the Cleveland milkshed. Cleveland draws its supplies from the entire northern portion of Ohio, the northeast portion of Indiana, and southeastern Michigan. The Belle-Vernon Milk Company of Cleveland operates supply plants both in Lima and in Findlay. A portion of the milk is bottled and distributed locally from the Lima plant though that at Findlay is strictly a supply plant for Cleveland and no sales are made locally. Producers shipping to these Cleveland plants in Lima and Findlay are, of course, interspersed among producers shipping to the local handlers in Lima and Findlay and in each case the number of Cleveland shippers is a substantial proportion of the total shippers.

There is also considerable competition between Lima and Findlay distributors. One of the major Lima handlers distributes milk in and around Findlay. Handlers from both markets compete extensively with each other in territories outside of the two cities and one handler from each market competes with the other in sales territory extending over much of northwestern Ohio.

The health regulations applicable to milk sold in both Lima and Findlay are substantially equal. Both ordinances are patterned after the United States Public Health Service's model for Grade A milk. A demonstration of the similarity is the fact, previously mentioned, that a Lima handler distributes milk in Findlay. It follows that, insofar as health department regulations and procedures are concerned, the two cities may properly be considered as a single marketing area.

At a hearing held in June 1952, producers and handlers in Lima supported the inclusion of all of Allen County in the marketing area. Under that proposal all milk sold in the County for Class I purposes would be subject to the order. In the current proceeding, the Lima handlers incorporated their previous testimony to support the inclusion of Allen County at the present time. At the reopened hearing on May 27, 1954, producers also supported an extension of the area to include all of Allen County.

The health officer who administers both the Lima and the Allen County General Health District milk regulations testified that although identical regulations had been formally adopted for both areas, not all of the plants distributing milk in Allen County had as yet been granted Grade A permits. However, all such plants and the producer patrons were in process of qualifying for Grade A permits. Since the definitions of "Grade A milk," "producer," and "fluid milk plant" in the attached order apply only to fully accredited Grade A supplies of milk, it is appropriate to extend the marketing area to include all of Allen County. The pricing and other provisions of the order would become fully applicable and would be appropriate as soon as the supplies were fully qualified as Grade A.

There is no effective Grade A ordinance in Hancock County outside the city of Findlay and the price structure which is suitable for encouraging a supply of Grade A milk is not applicable to the production of non Grade A milk. The territory outside of Findlay should not, therefore, be included in the marketing area.

(2) Producer-handler. Handlers proposed that the definition of producer-handler be limited to a handler who obtained his entire supply from his own production.

The order now provides only that a producer-handler not receive any milk from other producers. He is permitted, however, to purchase supplemental supplies of milk either from regulated handlers or from plants which are not regulated under the order.

It was maintained that this provision would allow a producer-handler to purchase non Grade A milk from manufacturing plants at lower prices than handlers are required to pay for Grade A milk for Class I purposes, thereby allowing the producer-handler a competitive advantage. However, the health regulations requiring that only Grade A milk be sold in the marketing area are as fully applicable to that sold by handlers qualifying under the order as producer-handlers as to other handlers. It is concluded that no change should be made in the definition of a producer-handler.

(3) Basic formula price. Considerable attention was given at the hearing to a proposal by producers that a basic formula price representing the value of milk used for cheese making be included as one of the basic formula prices. However, in view of the recommended adoption of the Cleveland Class I price less a location differential, there is no need for separate basic formula price computations for the Lima marketing area and they should be deleted.

(4) Class I milk prices. The Class I price should be equal to the Class I price under Order No. 75 regulating the handling of milk in the Cleveland, Ohio, marketing area, less the Class I location adjustment effective at a pool plant location in Lima. The lower price which applies to the butterfat and skim milk content of cream under the Cleveland order should also apply in Lima.

Milk marketing conditions in Lima and Findlay are closely related to those prevailing in the Cleveland market. Several elements which these markets have in common were described in the preceding section on marketing area.

Supply conditions in Lima and Findlay are particularly closely related to those in Cleveland. The volume of milk received at the Cleveland pool plant in Lima is three-fourths as large as that received at the local distributing plants in Lima. In Findlay the volume received at the Cleveland pool plant is as large as the total locally used supply. The producers delivering to the Cleveland pool plants are, of course, interspersed with those delivering to the local handlers. In addition the Cleveland milkshed completely envelops the Lima and Findlay supply area.

Distribution of milk in Lima and Findlay is also in direct competition with Cleveland. The operator of the Cleveland pool plant in Lima also distributes milk in and around Lima from such plant, in direct competition with the other Lima handlers. One other Cleveland handler also distributes milk in Lima and in other territory in northwestern Ohio in direct competition with Lima handlers. This milk is processed and delivered from the handler's plant located in the city of Cleveland. The extent of competition between the Lima and Findlay handlers has already been described.

The Class I location differential under the Cleveland order is 22 cents at Findlay and 28 cents at Lima. Such differential applies to milk shipped into Cleveland from supply plants in Lima and Findlay and also applies to the local Class I sales of milk by the Cleveland pool plant located in Lima. The same differentials apply to payments to producers at the Cleveland pool plants. It is, therefore, appropriate that the Cleveland location differential in effect at the Lima pool plant be applied to the Lima market.

By adopting the Cleveland Class I price less the location differential as the local price, the local handlers will be on a uniform competitive basis with each other and on a substantially uniform basis with the Cleveland handler whose plant is located in Lima. Blend prices payable to producers will not necessarily be uniform as between the Cleveland and local shippers; rather the blend prices will reflect any differences which may prevail between the local markets and Cleveland in the level of Class II and Class III prices and in the proportion of milk which is utilized for Class I purpose.

The stated Class I differentials in Cleveland, less a location adjustment of 28 cents are at an annual average of $1.28 per hundredweight. The annual average Class I differential under the present order in Lima is $1.225. However, the Cleveland differential is subject to a supply-demand adjustment. Supplies in the Cleveland market had been larger than normal in relation to sales in each month from March 1952 to the date of the hearing and would have resulted in negative supply-demand adjustments throughout the period of a magnitude which would have more than offset the 5½ cent difference.

In any event the change in pricing is not designed either to raise or lower price levels but rather to integrate pricing in Lima and Findlay with that prevailing in Cleveland.

Cleveland pricing will provide greater seasonal variation. The recommended Class I price differentials, exclusive of the operation of the supply-demand adjustment, will be 72 cents in April, May, and June, $1.17 in February, March, and July, and $1.62 in August through January compared with prices of 85 cents, $1.15, and $1.45 in corresponding months under the present Lima order.

A single Class I price should be applied in Lima and Findlay in lieu of a 6-cent difference in prices proposed by producers. The Lima and Findlay handlers are so directly competitive that no Class I price differential between them is justified.

(5) Other source milk. In the Lima marketing area there are several sources of milk received by handlers other than the regular shippers which are defined as "producers" under the order. Substantial quantities of other source milk come from other Federally regulated marketing areas. As previously mentioned, milk is distributed in the Lima area from the Cleveland pool plant located in that city. Another example consists of the distribution of milk in Lima by a Cleveland handler who supplies such milk from his Cleveland plant. Also, it was testified at the hearing that sizeable quantities of milk in two-quart containers of milk packaged in Toledo are sold by a Findlay handler.

The allocation of milk from other Federal areas as other source receipts under the Lima order would create serious problems. The order presently provides that all other source milk (whether from unregulated or other Federal sources) be allocated first to any Class II utilization by the Lima handler. This provision has no effect on those handlers described above who distribute milk in Lima from plants subject to the Cleveland order, since they have no producers under the Lima order. The provision would, however, affect a handler such as the one at Findlay who supplies part of his sales by milk from local producers and part by milk bottled in two-quart containers at a Toledo plant subject to Federal regulation. In this case the producer milk under the Lima order, which would otherwise be assigned to Class II use, will be allocated instead to upon the basis of the record of the hearing:

development is contrary to the interests

A demonstration of the similarity is the

mula price representing the value of milk

may prevail between the local markets

Class II use, will be allocated instead to Class I to the extent of the receipts of the other Federal order milk. Clearly, the seasonal and daily reserves of milk necessary to supply the exact quantities of 2-quart milk was carried by Toledo producers, while the producers at the Findlay plant would get Class I credit for milk which should properly be considered as reserve supply for the quantities of milk actually bottled at the Findlay plant for fluid distribution. Accordingly, milk in bottled form, classified and priced under another Federal order should be exempt from the allocation provisions as well as the pricing provisions of this order.

However, bulk milk from other Federal areas which might be expected to be purchased to supplement a handler's local supplies should continue to be allocated first to Class II, in the same fashion as other source milk from unregulated plants. Such allocation will encourage handlers to purchase other source milk only when producer milk is not available. At such times, of course, there would be little or no producer milk in Class II to be affected by the allocation.

It will be recognized that the above mentioned distinction between the bulk and packaged milk is also a distinction between regular and irregular sources of supply. Under present conditions the two are synonymous, but if marketing conditions change, further changes in the order provisions may be desirable.

There is no need to continue the present provision for charging a compensatory payment on Lima Class I sales of milk from other Federally regulated markets whenever the other order price is below the Lima Class I price. The adoption of Cleveland pricing in Lima removes any possibility of Class I price differences between these two markets, and prices in the other regulated markets from which the Lima market draws milk are also closely aligned with Cleveland.

Other source milk may, of course, be received from sources which are not under Federal regulation. Handlers in both Lima and Findlay purchase manufacturing grades of milk and cream for ice cream and other Class II uses. Such purchases do not, however, constitute any problem in the actual or potential displacement of Class I sales of producer milk since such milk is not eligible for sale as bottled milk. The principal category of other source milk which is purchased by handlers for Class I purposes consists of milk packaged in two-quart containers. Handlers who do not have two-quart bottling facilities in their Lima and Findlay plants obtain such milk from sources which do not qualify as fluid milk plants under the Lima order. The order presently provides that such other source milk be allocated to each handler's Class II utilization, thereby giving producer milk the priority on Class I utilization. It follows that so long as each handler's Class II utilization exceeds the quantities of milk in two-quart containers sold as Class I in the marketing area, the other source milk will not displace producer milk in Class I. Any supplemental milk which might be purchased by a handler in bulk form is subject to the same allocation provisions. These allocation provisions of the order appear to have been adequate to prevent milk from unregulated sources from being assigned to Class I to displace producer milk. The local handlers have maintained adequate supplies of milk from the regularly inspected producers. It appears from the record that a similar situation exists in Findlay.

(6) Class II price. Producers originally proposed that butterfat and skim milk used in the manufacture of ice cream and cottage cheese be classified separately and priced on the basis of market prices for butter and non-fat dry milk solids. At the hearing this proposal was modified to leave the classification system unchanged but raise the price of all Class II milk by 10 cents per hundredweight in the months of August through March. The Class II price is determined by averaging the prices paid for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content at five local milk manufacturing plants.

The recommended increase in prices was based mainly on a contention that premiums in excess of the stated prices are commonly paid to shippers at the local manufacturing plants. However, actual data with respect to such premiums were too few to be representative of the entire group of plants and did not cover a sufficient period of time to permit an analysis of the conditions under which premiums are most likely to prevail.

The point was also made that most Class II milk in the Lima market is utilized in the manufacture of ice cream and cottage cheese and that skim milk and cream so utilized commands a higher price than milk for general manufacturing purposes. Data were presented to show that cottage cheese and ice cream are not always the principal outlet for Class II milk. In all of the first 7 months of 1953 the quantities of producer skim milk classified as Class II were substantially in excess of the total quantities of skim milk utilized by the regulated handlers for ice cream and cottage cheese. Producer butterfat was also in excess of the quantities used in these two products during the period January through April but not in the months of May, June, and July. A review of similar data for the 41-month period from the inception of the order in August 1949 through December 1952 shows that producer skim milk was in excess of ice cream and cottage cheese requirements only during six months and that butterfat was in excess only within 14 months. However, it is problematical whether the quantities of producer milk classified as Class II will again decline to the point where the skim milk and butterfat can be utilized principally in ice cream and cottage cheese.

It is concluded that the Class II price should not be changed.

(7) Method of stating class prices. The notice announcing the original hearing contained a proposal submitted by the producers' association calling for a revision of the order to provide that class prices for milk be stated in terms of a hundredweight of milk of basic butterfat content, with differentials for each one-tenth of a percent that actual butterfat test varied from the base test. The proposal was not supported at the hearing in August, 1953 but was considered at the reopened hearing.

The butterfat and skim milk utilized in each class is accounted for separately under most of the Federal orders, including all these in Ohio. The price per hundredweight of milk must, of course, be allocated to the skim milk and butterfat components. In most orders throughout the United States this is accomplished by specifying a basic butterfat test and a butterfat differential, which is the amount to be added or subtracted from the announced price for each one tenth of one percent variation in butterfat content. Under the Cleveland, Stark County, and Lima orders the 3.5 percent price is only an intermediate computation; official class prices are then computed and announced separately per hundredweight of butterfat and per hundredweight of skim milk. There is no substantive difference between the two means of computing and announcing class prices. However, the butterfat differential method is more simply stated, focuses attention on the 3.5 price, and is used in the great majority of orders which utilize a butterfat and skim milk accounting system.

Possible changes in the relative values of the skim milk and butterfat components of Class I and Class II milk were not considered at the hearing. The butterfat differentials should, therefore, be as closely aligned as possible with the relative values previously in effect. In 1953 the value of Class I butterfat ranged from 1.44 times the market price of butter in the summer months to 1.65 in the fall months. The average factor was 1.55 and this should be adopted as the Class I butterfat differential. The value of Class II butterfat averaged only 1.04 times the butter price in the same year. However, the local plant pay prices which establish the Class II price under the order were substantially below their normal relationship to the market prices of butter and nonfat dry milk solids. In the basic butter-powder formula presently included in the order, the value of butterfat is 1.14 times the market price of butter. It is concluded that a Class II butterfat differential of 1.10 times the butter price should be adopted, since it would provide a more nearly normal allocation value between butterfat and skim milk than the 1953 experience.

(8) Pooling. The order should be amended to provide for the distribution of returns to producers on the basis of individual-handler pools instead of a marketwide pool.

The producers originally proposed that handlers be identified with either the Findlay or Lima portion of the marketing area and that payments to producers be adjusted in accordance with the average utilization of the group of handlers to whom they ship. The proposal was based upon partial data indicating that the handlers in Findlay have a higher proportion of Class I sales than those in Lima.

However, the possibility of achieving essentially the same result by individual-handler pooling throughout the extended marketing area was also discussed at the hearing and strongly endorsed by producers. They cited their satisfactory experience with individual-handler pooling under the Toledo order and their original support for the same type of pooling at the promulgation hearing in Lima as grounds for such endorsement.

Under this method of distributing returns to producers each handler's obligations are the same as under a marketwide pool. Each handler pays for milk at Class prices in accordance with the quantities utilized in each Class. However, the producers supplying each handler are paid the blend price resulting from that handler's utilization instead of being paid the blend price equal to the average utilization of all handlers in the market.

Handlers in the Findlay portion of the marketing area, not heretofore subject to an order, have been purchasing milk under procedures more nearly analogous to individual-handler than to marketwide pooling to the extent that they have had to compete directly with each other in the purchase of milk without sharing any differences in utilization through the mechanism of a marketwide pool and equalization fund. It was testified that in Lima none of the handlers have made such substantial changes in their operations under a marketwide pool as to create undue difficulty in adjusting their purchasing of milk from producers to a system of individual-handler pooling.

Individual-handler pooling was considered further at the reopened session of the hearing, on May 27, 1954. The producers' association and the handlers whose principal business is in the Findlay portion of the marketing area strongly favored individual handler pooling as a means of returning to the producers supplying each handler the sales proceeds reflecting the class utilization of milk by each separate handler.

(9) Seasonal variation in production. Producers proposed that a modified form of the base-rating plan be adopted to encourage more even production throughout all seasons of the year. It would apply only during May and June of each year. In these months a producer who delivered more than twice as much milk per day as during the preceding October, November, and December would be paid for such excess at the Class II price. In successive years the excess production in May and June would be computed at 180 percent, 160 percent, and 140 percent of production in the previous fall.

The order now relies upon seasonal variation in the stated Class I price differential and basic formula prices to encourage level production. The stated Class I differential ranges from 85 cents in 3 spring months to $1.45 in 6 late summer and fall months. Adoption of Cleveland pricing for Lima would provide a greater seasonal variation, namely from 75 cents to $1.65.

Where primary reliance is placed on a base-rating plan, there is usually no seasonal variation in the Class I differential. Any lower price in the spring months, when the base plan is designed to exert its greatest effect, would reduce the difference between the base and excess prices, thereby reducing the price reward for the producer who achieved a high base the previous fall, while correspondingly reducing the price penalty on the uneven, low-base producer. Another shortcoming of the proposal is that no rules are provided for producers who failed to deliver throughout the October-December period, for producers who joined the market in the spring, or for changes in partnership status.

At the reopened hearing one of the handlers proposed a more thorough base-rating plan. Bases would be established during September through November and apply during the following March through August.

No change in the seasonal pattern of pricing was proposed. As already mentioned, the low Class I price differentials prevailing during April, May, and June, would leave room for but little difference between the base and excess prices. This handicap was acknowledged by the proponents, but the usual practice of having little or no seasonal difference in the Class I price would leave Lima prices seriously out of line with the Cleveland prices. Moreover, production in the Lima milkshed is already substantially more uniform during the year than in the Cleveland milkshed and it would not appear that the local market requires a greater incentive than the increased seasonal price differences provided herein.

It is concluded that neither of the base-rating proposals should be adopted.

(10) Partial payments. The order now provides that each handler shall pay producers for milk received during the first 15 days of the delivery month at a rate equal to the uniform price during the preceding month. This payment is designed to serve as an advance to producers, the final payment for the deliveries, during the entire month being made on or before the 18th of the following month.

The rate at which advance payments are computed under the order has occasionally caused difficulty. These problems are particularly likely to arise during the spring months when Clsss I prices decline seasonally. In such circumstances a partial payment based upon the previous month's prices accounts for considerably more than half of the total amount due for the month. In occasional instances, when a producer's deliveries during the second half of the month are substantially less than deliveries during the first 15 days, a producer may actually receive a greater partial payment than the total amount due him for the entire month.

The partial payments should be so computed as to make them more accurately reflect prices during the delivery month. Producers proposed that the rate of partial payment be 75 cents less than the proceeding month's uniform price. This rate would be further subject to adjustment by any changes in the Class I price differential. For example, the stated Class I differential herein recommended for April is 45 cents less than that prevailing during March. Exclusive of any possible effects of the supply-demand adjustment, therefore, the rate of advance payment in April would be $1.20 ($0.75 and $0.45) per hundredweight below the uniform price for March. It was further proposed that the rate be rounded off to the nearest 10 cents in order to facilitate computations.

It is concluded that the above technique will provide an equitable rate of partial payments and should be adopted.

(11) Cooperative associations. The order now provides that under certain circumstances handlers shall make such deductions from the payments due to producer-members of a cooperative association "as may be authorized by the membership agreement or contract between such cooperative association and such producers" and pay the funds so deducted to the cooperative association. An association must fulfill the several requirements contained in the definition of a cooperative association under the order and, for this particular purpose, must also provide for its members certain minimum marketing services as determined by the market administrator. However, the deductions here involved are the deductions incidental to membership status. Hence they are usually of a sufficient amount to support all the activities of the association and are not limited to those necessary to the performance of the more limited marketing service functions performed by the market administrator for nonmember producers. In cases where the membership contract or agreement or other conditions of membership provides for deductions, the deductions authorized in accordance therewith have been considered by the Secretary as having been appropriately authorized by the individual producers.

It was proposed by the producers' association that the order language be changed by deleting the phrase "as may be authorized by the membership agreement or contract between such cooperative association and such producers" and substituting therefor the phrase "as may be properly authorized by such cooperative association." It was testified that handlers under the Toledo, Ohio milk marketing order had questioned whether the membership contract between this same association and the producer members was sufficient authorization by the producers for such deductions to be made under that order. It was further testifield that all Lima handlers are making deductions at the rate specified by the association and remitting such deductions to the association.

Within the limitations, if any, of the state statute under which a cooperative association is organized, producers are at liberty to determine for themselves, through the adoption of by-laws and their amendment from time to time or through the provisions of a membership contract, or both, what contributions are to be made by members to support their organization and how such amounts may be changed. By accepting membership, new members accept previously established requirements and these new members also become participants in the making of subsequent changes. Should directors or officers exceed their authority under such instruments of organization, an adequate remedy lies within the organization itself rather than with a third party. On the other hand, the authority to require handlers to make such deductions and pay them over to the association resides in the act and not in the contracts or arrangements between the cooperative and its member producer.

There is one potential problem which was not specifically dealt with in the producers' proposal. This relates to possible errors in the list of producer-member names submitted to the handler. If, as a result of change in status, lack of sufficient identification, or otherwise, a handler pays to the association a deduction subsequently found to be owing to a non-member producer, the association should reimburse the handler the amount erroneously paid to it.

It is concluded that the order should be revised to specify that action taken by cooperative association, in accordance with stated conditions, constitutes appropriate authorization for deductions on behalf of its producer-members.

(12) Custom bottling. A handler proposed that milk processed at a pool plant under arrangements commonly referred to as "custom bottling" be exempted from the price and classification provisions of the order. This handler has a bottling plant located within the marketing area in which he bottles milk for a plant located outside the area from which fluid milk is distributed only in communities located outside the defined marketing area. The pool plant is equipped to bottle milk in paper containers. The nonpool plant is not so equipped and obtains its supply of paper-packaged milk from the pool plant. The handler's practice has been that equivalent quantities of raw milk are supplied to the pool plant.

The order presently provides that all milk processed at pool plants be classified and priced under the order. The minimum order prices are applicable whether the milk is sold within the marketing area or outside such area. This uniformity of pricing avoids the possibility that a lower price on milk sold outside the area could be construed as unfair price competition by outside producers and distributors. The price uniformity also avoids imposing higher costs for milk of the same quality on the consumers who happen to be located within the marketing area than on consumers outside such area. Lower prices on outside sales would, in effect, subsidize out-of-area consumers at the expense of in-area consumers who would be obliged to pay a disproportionate share of the cost necessary to induce producers to furnish an adequate supply of milk for the market.

Any exemption of custom bottled milk would constitute a departure from the provisions for pricing milk uniformly whether it is ultimately sold within or without the marketing area. Any handler who owned or could make suitable arrangements with a nonpool plant could supply his out-of-area business from such plant. Meanwhile the supply of these handlers who relied exclusively upon their pool plant would be fully priced under the order. It is concluded that any such exception would be unduly disruptive of normal operations in the market and should not be allowed.

Rulings. Within the period for filing exceptions to the recommended decision, exceptions were submitted by the Northwestern Cooperative Sales Association, Inc., The Page Dairy Company, and Charles W. Sherk, Attorney at Law, representing the Sen-A-Pure Dairy Company of Findlay, Ohio. These exceptions have been fully considered and such changes in the recommended decision and proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order as were considered appropriate have been made in this decision. To the extent to which the findings and conclusions of this decision are at variance with the exceptions, such exceptions are hereby overruled.

Determination of representative period. The month of July, 1954, is hereby determined to be the representative period for the purpose of ascertaining whether the issuance of amendments to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Lima, Ohio, marketing area in the manner set forth in the attached amending order is approved or favored by producers who during such period were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area specified in such marketing order, as hereby amended.

Marketing agreement and order. Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled respectively, "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Lima, Ohio, Marketing Area," and "Order Amending the Order, as amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Lima, Ohio, Marketing Area," which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions. These documents shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision, except the attached marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the order as hereby proposed to be amended by the attached order which will be published with this decision.

This decision filed at Washington, D. C., this 28th day of September 1954.

AUTHORITY: §§ 995.1 to 995.111 issued under sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c.

§ 995.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held at Lima, Ohio, on August 17–19, 1953, upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Lima, Ohio, marketing area. The hearing was reopened in Lima on May 27, 1954. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that;

(1) The said order, as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area and the minimum prices specified in the order as hereby amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Lima, Ohio, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as hereby amended, as set forth below:

DEFINITIONS

§ 995.1 Act. "Act" means Public Act No. 10, 73d Congress, as amended and as reenacted and amended by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C., 1946 ed. 601 et seq.).

§ 995.2 Secretary. "Secretary" means the Secretary of Agriculture, or such other officer or employee of the United States as may be authorized to exercise the powers or to perform the duties of the said Secretary of Agriculture.

The market administrator shall give further written notification to the handler promptly upon the termination of the litigation or when the records are no longer necessary in connection therewith.

CLASSIFICATION

§ 995.40 Basis of classification. All skim milk and butterfat (in any form) received at a fluid milk plant as (a) producer milk, (b) a transfer from another fluid milk plant, and (c) other source milk, shall be classified in the classes set forth in § 995.41.

§ 995.41 Classes of utilization. Subject to the conditions set forth in §§ 995.42, 995.43, 995.44, and 995.45, the classes of utilization of milk shall be:

(a) Class I milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat disposed of (1) in fluid form (other than as livestock feed) as milk, skim milk, buttermilk, flavored milk, flavored milk drinks, cultured milk products, concentrated milk, and sweet or sour cream, eggnog and any cream product in fluid form having more than 8 percent butterfat; and (2) as all skim milk and butterfat not accounted for as Class II milk.

(b) Class II milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat accounted for as (1) used to produce a product other than those specified in paragraph (a) of this section, (2) having been dumped or disposed of for livestock feeding, (3) actual plant shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat received in producer milk but not to exceed 2 percent of such receipts of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, and (4) actual plant shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat in other source milk received: Provided, That if producer milk is utilized as milk, skim milk, or cream in conjunction with other source milk, the shrinkage allocated to each shall be computed pro rata according to the proportions of the volume of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, received from each such source to their total.

§ 995.42 Interplant transfers. Skim milk and butterfat disposed of in the form of milk, cream, or skim milk by a handler to any milk processing or milk manufacturing plant, including any other fluid milk plant, shall be Class I milk, unless (a) Class II use is indicated in writing to the market administrator by both the transferring handler and the receiver on or before the 7th day after the end of the month within which such disposition was made, and (b) the receiver maintains books and records showing the utilization of all skim milk and butterfat at his plant which are made available if requested by the market administrator for the verification of such reported utilization: Provided, That, in no event shall the amount so reported be greater than the total amount so used by the receiver.

§ 995.43 Responsibility of handlers and reclassification of milk. (a) All skim milk and butterfat shall be classified as Class I milk unless the handler who first received such skim milk or butterfat proves to the market administrator that such skim milk or butterfat should be classified otherwise.

(b) Any skim milk or butterfat classified in one class shall be reclassified if used or reused by such handler or by another handler in another class.

§ 995.44 Computation of skim milk and butterfat in each class. For each month the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and for obvious errors the report submitted by each handler and compute the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in Class I milk and Class II milk for such handler.

§ 995.45 Allocation of butterfat classified. The market administrator shall determine the classification of butterfat in producer milk received by each handler as follows:

(a) Subtract from the total pounds of butterfat in Class II milk the total pounds of butterfat shrinkage pursuant to § 995.41 (b) (3) and (4).

(b) Subtract from the pounds of butterfat remaining in each class the pounds of butterfat received from other handlers and used in such class.

(c) Subtract from the pounds of butterfat in each class the pounds of butterfat contained in milk or milk products received in packaged form which were classified and priced under another Federal order and disposed of in the same form as received.

(d) Subtract from the pounds of butterfat remaining in each class, in sequence beginning with Class II milk, the pounds of butterfat in other source milk other than butterfat shrinkage in other source milk subtracted pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section.

(e) Add to the pounds of butterfat remaining in Class II milk the pounds of butterfat shrinkage in producer milk subtracted pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section; and if the remaining pounds of butterfat in all classes exceed the pounds of butterfat received in producer milk, subtract such excess from the remaining pounds of butterfat in each class, in sequence beginning with Class II milk. The pounds of butterfat remaining shall be the pounds in each class allocated to producer milk.

§ 995.46 Allocation of skim milk classified. Skim milk shall be allocated to each class in accordance with the same procedure as outlined for butterfat in § 995.45.

MINIMUM PRICES

§ 995.51 Class I milk prices. Subject to the provisions of § 995.53, the minimum prices per hundredweight to be paid by each handler for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from producers at his fluid milk plant during the month, which is classified as Class I milk, shall be determined by the market administrator as follows:

(a) Ascertain the Class I minimum price for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content for the month as determined pursuant to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Cleveland, Ohio marketing area (Order No. 75; Part 975 of this chapter).

(b) Deduct the location adjustment rates on Class I milk which would be applicable pursuant to Part 975 of this chapter at a pool plant located at Lima; and

(c) On sweet or sour cream, eggnog, and any cream product in fluid form having more than 8 percent butterfat, also make any deduction specified by the proviso in § 975.61 (a) of this chapter.

§ 995.52 Class II milk prices. The minimum prices per hundredweight to be paid by each handler for skim milk and butterfat in producer milk received at his fluid milk plant during the month, which is classified as Class II milk, shall be determined by the market administrator by computing (to the nearest tenth of a cent) prices per hundredweight reported to have been paid, or to be paid, for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from farmers during such month at the following plants or places for which prices have been reported to the market administrator by the U. S. D. A. or by the companies listed below:

Company and Location

Defiance Milk Products Co. Defiance, Ohio.
Pet Milk Co., Coldwater, Ohio.
Nestles Milk Products Co., (uninspected milk price), Marysville, Ohio.
Fisher Dairy and Cheese Co., Wapakoneta, Ohio.
Swift and Co., Lima, Ohio.

§ 995.53 Handler butterfat differentials. If the average butterfat content of the milk of any handler allocated to any class is more or less than 3.5 percent, there shall be added to the prices of milk for each class as computed pursuant to §§ 995.51 and 995.52 for each one-tenth of one percent that the average butterfat content of such milk is above 3.5 percent, or subtracted for each one-tenth of one percent that such average butterfat content is below 3.5 percent, an amount equal to the average daily wholesale price per pound of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter per pound at Chicago as reported by the U. S. D. A. during the month, multiplied by the following factors:

(a) Class I milk. Multiply by 1.55 and divide the result by 10.

(b) Class II milk. Multiply by 1.10 and divide the result by 10.

HANDLER'S OBLIGATION AND UNIFORM PRICE

§ 995.60 Value of producer milk. The value of producer milk received by each handler during the month shall be the sum of money computed by the market administrator by multiplying the hundredweight of skim milk and butterfat in each class by the applicable class prices and adding together the resulting amounts, and adding or subtracting, as the case may be, the amount necessary to correct errors in classification for previous months as disclosed by audit of the market administrator: Provided, That, if a handler after the subtraction of other source milk and receipts from other handlers, has disposed of skim milk or butterfat in excess of the skim milk or butterfat which on the basis of his reports for the month, pursuant to § 995.30, has been credited to his producers as having been received from them, there shall be added to the value of his producer milk a further amount computed by multiplying the pounds in each class as subtracted pursuant to §§ 995.45 (d) and 995.46 by the applicable class price.

§ 995.61 Computation of uniform price. For each month the market administrator shall compute for each handler a "uniform price" per hundredweight of producer milk received by such handler by:

(a) Subtracting from the value of milk computed for such handler pursuant to § 995.60, if the weighted average butterfat test of all producer milk represented by such value is greater than 3.5 percent or adding, if the weighted average butterfat test of such milk is less than 3.5 percent, an amount computed by multiplying the total pounds of butterfat represented by the difference of such weighted average butterfat test from 3.5 percent, by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 995.75 multiplied by 10;

(b) Adding or subtracting, as the case may be, the amount necessary to correct errors in classification for previous months as disclosed by audit of the market administrator;

(c) Adjusting the resulting amount by the sum of money used in adjusting the uniform price, pursuant to paragraph (e) of this section for the previous month to the nearest cent;

(d) Dividing the result by the total hundredweight of producer milk represented by the amounts computed pursuant to § 995.60; and,

(e) Adjusting the resulting figure to the nearest cent.

§ 995.62 Notification. On or before the 12th day after the end of each month, the market administrator shall mail to each handler, at his last known address, a statement showing for such month:

(a) The amount and value of his producer milk in each class;

(b) The uniform price for such handler computed pursuant to § 995.61, and the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 995.75; and,

(c) The amounts to be paid by such handler pursuant to §§ 995.76 and 995.77.

PAYMENTS

§ 995.70 Time and method of final payment. On or before the 18th day after the end of each month, each handler shall pay to each producer, or to a cooperative association with respect to milk which was caused to be delivered to him by such association either directly or from producers who have authorized such association to collect payment for them, for milk received from such producer or so delivered by such cooperative association, respectively, during such month not less than the uniform price for such handler adjusted by the butterfat differential pursuant to § 995.75, less the amount of payment made pursuant to § 995.71.

§ 995.71 Partial payments. On or before the last day of each month each handler shall pay to each producer, or to a cooperative association authorized to collect payment, for the milk received from such producer or caused to be delivered to such handler by such cooperative association during the first fifteen days of each month at a rate computed as follows:

(a) Deduct 75 cents from the uniform price for such handler for the preceding month.

(b) Add or subtract any amount by which the Class I price differential for the current month is greater than or less than, respectively, the differential for the preceding month.

(c) Round off the result to the nearest multiple of 10 cents.

Provided, That in the event any producer discontinues shipping to such handler during any month, such partial payments need not be made and full payment for all milk received from such producer during such month shall be made pursuant to the provisions of § 995.70.

§ 995.75 Producer butterfat differential. In making payments pursuant to § 995.70 the uniform price for each handler shall be adjusted for each one-tenth of one percent of butterfat content in the milk of each producer above or below 3.5 percent, as the case may be, by a butterfat differential (computed to the nearest tenth of a cent) computed as follows: Multiply by 1.3 the average daily wholesale price per pound of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter per pound at Chicago as reported by the U. S. D. A. during the month, and divide the result by 10.

§ 995.76 Expense of administration. As his pro rata share of expense incurred pursuant to § 995.22 (d), each handler shall pay the market administrator, on or before the 14th day after the end of each month, 3 cents per hundredweight of milk, or such amount not to exceed 3 cents as the Secretary may from time to time prescribe, with respect to receipts during such month, of (a) producer milk (including any milk of such handler's own production), and (b) other source milk classified as Class I milk: Provided,

That a handler who receives only other source milk shall make such payments with respect to all skim milk and butterfat disposed of within the marketing area during such month as any item included in Class I milk.

§ 995.77 Marketing services. (a) Except as set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, each handler, in making payments to producers pursuant to § 995.70, with respect to all milk received each month from each producer (except milk of such handler's own production) at a plant not operated by a cooperative association of which such producer is a member, shall deduct 6 cents per hundredweight of milk, or such amount not to exceed 6 cents as the Secretary may from time to time prescribe, and on or before the 18th day after the end of such month shall pay such deductions to the market administrator. Such moneys shall be expended by the market administrator to verify weights, samples, and tests of milk of such producers and to provide such producers with market information, such services to be performed by the market administrator, or by an agent engaged by and responsible to him.

(b) Each cooperative association which is actually performing the services described in paragraph (a) of this section, as determined by the market administrator, may file with a handler a claim for authorized deductions from the payments otherwise due to its producer members for milk delivered to such handler. Such claim shall contain a list of the producers for which such deductions apply, an agreement to indemnify the handler in the making of the deductions, and a certification that the Association has an unterminated membership contract with each producer. In making payments to producers for milk received during the month, each handler shall make deductions in accordance with the Association's claim and shall pay the amount deducted to the Association within 18 days after the end of the month.

§ 995.78 Errors in payments. Whenever audit by the market administrator of any handler's reports, books, records, or accounts discloses errors resulting in moneys due (a) the market administrator from such handler, or such handler from the market administrator, pursuant to §§ 995.76 or 995.77 or (b) any producer or cooperative association from such handler pursuant to § 995.70 the market administrator shall promptly notify such handler of any such amount due; and payment thereof shall be made on or before the next date for making payment set forth in the provision under which such error occurred, following the 5th day after such notice.

APPLICATION OF PROVISIONS

§ 995.80 Milk subject to other Federal orders. Milk received by a handler the handling of which is subject to the pricing and payment provisions of any other Federal milk marketing order issued pursuant to the act shall not be subject to the pricing and payment provisions of this subpart.

§ 995.81 Milk caused to be delivered by cooperative associations. Milk referred to as received from producers by a handler shall include milk of producers caused to be delivered directly from the farm to the fluid milk plant of such handler by a cooperative association which is authorized to collect payment for such milk.

§ 995.82 Milk diverted. (a) Producer milk diverted by an operator of a fluid milk plant from such plant to a plant not a fluid milk plant shall be deemed to have been received by the fluid milk plant from which such milk was diverted.

(b) Producer milk diverted by a cooperative association from a fluid milk plant to a plant not a fluid milk plant shall be deemed to have been received by such association.

§ 995.83 Producer-handlers. Sections 995.40 through 995.46, 995.50 through 995.52, 995.60 through 995.62 and 995.70 through 995.78 shall not apply to the milk of a producer-handler.

TERMINATION OF OBLIGATIONS

§ 995.90 Termination of obligations. (a) The obligation of any handler to pay money required to be paid under the terms of this subpart shall, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, terminate two years after the last day of the month during which the market administrator receives the handler's report of utilization of the milk involved in such obligation, unless within such two-year period the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that such money is due and payable. Service of such notice shall be complete upon mailing to the handler's last known address, and it shall contain but need not be limited to, the following information:

(1) The amount of the obligation;

(2) The month(s) during which the milk, with respect to which the obligation exists, was received or handled; and

(3) If the obligation is payable to one or more producers or to a cooperative association, the name of such producers or association, or if the obligation is payable to the market administrator, the account for which it is to be paid.

(b) If a handler fails or refuses, with respect to any obligation under this subpart, to make available to the market administrator or his representatives all books or records required by this subpart to be made available, the market administrator may, within the two-year period provided for in paragraph (a) of this section, notify the handler in writing of such failure or refusal. If the market administrator so notifies a handler, the said two-year period with respect to such obligation shall not begin to run until the first day of the month following the month during which such books and records pertaining to such obligation are made available to the market administrator or his representative.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, a handler's obligation under this order to pay money shall not be terminated with respect to any transaction involving fraud or willful concealment of a fact, material to the obligation, on the part of the handler against whom the obligation is sought to be imposed.

(d) Any obligation on the part of the market administrator to pay a handler any money which such handler claims to be due him under the terms of this subpart shall terminate two years after the end of the month during which the milk involved in the claim was received if an underpayment is claimed, or two years after the end of the month during which the payment (including deduction or set-off by the market administrator) was made by the handler if a refund on such payment is claimed, unless such handler, within the applicable period of time, files, pursuant to section 8c (15) (A) of the act, a petition claiming such money.

EFFECTIVE TIME, SUSPENSION OR TERMINATION

§ 995.100 Effective time. The provisions of this subpart, or of any amendment to this subpart, shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare and shall continue in force until suspended or terminated.

§ 995.101 When suspended or terminated. Whenever the Secretary finds this subpart or any provision of this subpart obstructs or does not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, he shall terminate or suspend the operation of this subpart, or any such provision of this subpart.

§ 995.102 Continuing obligations. If upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this subpart, these are any obligations thereunder the final accrual or ascertainment of which requires further acts by any person (including the market administrator), such further acts shall be performed notwithstanding such suspension or termination.

§ 995.103 Liquidation. Upon the suspension of the provisions of this subpart, except this section, the market administrator, or such other liquidating agent as the Secretary may designate, shall, if so directed by the Secretary, liquidate the business of the market administrator's office, dispose of all property in his possession or control, including accounts receivable, and execute and deliver all assignments or other instruments necessary or appropriate to effectuate any such disposition. If a liquidating agent is so designated all assets, books, and records of the market administrator shall be transferred promptly to such liquidating agent. If, upon such liquidation, the funds on hand exceed the amounts required to pay outstanding obligations of the office of the market administrator and to pay necessary expenses of liquidation and distribution, such excess shall be distributed to contributing handlers and producers in an equitable manner.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 995.110 Agents. The Secretary may by designation in writing, name any officer or employee of the United States to act as his agent or representative in connection with any of the provisions of this subpart.

§ 995.111 Separability of provisions. If any provision of this subpart, or its application to any person or circumstances, is held invalid the application of such provisions, and of the remaining provisions of this subpart, to other persons or circumstances shall not be effected thereby.

VOICE OF LAKE TAHOE

ORDER CONTINUING HEARING

In re application of Charles E. Halstead, tr/as Voice of Lake Tahoe, Zephyr Cove, Nevada, Docket No. 11028, File No. BP-9108; for construction permit.

Pursuant to the order dated September 1, 1954, a prehearing conference in this proceeding was convened at 2:00 p. m., e. d. t., Tuesday, September 21, 1954, at which the applicant appeared in person and in which the Chief of the Broadcast Bureau was represented by Mr. Gerald F. Hadlock as counsel, and

It appearing from statements made by Bureau counsel, and from the public records of the Commission referred to by him, that there is now pending another application for a construction permit for broadcast facilities which would involve substantial interference with the operation proposed by the applicant herein, and that it is probable that the Commission will designate that application for hearing in consolidation with the above application and in so doing will substantially change the parties and the issues in this proceeding; and

It further appearing from the docket record in this proceeding that a petition for reconsideration and grant without hearing of the application herein is pending before the Commission; and

It further appearing that the applicant was not represented by an attorney in the prehearing conference proceedings and that his statements made on the record at that conference indicate an intention on his part to consult an attorney; and

It further appearing on the basis of the factors hereinabove stated that it would serve the ends of justice and conduce to the orderly dispatch of the Commission's business to suspend the prehearing conference, which action was taken by order made on the record, and to continue without date the hearing herein which is scheduled to be commenced on October 15, 1954, so as to afford time for the Commission to act upon the conflicting application and upon the petition for reconsideration hereinabove referred to, and further to allow time for the applicant to secure the advice and assistance of an attorney.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

NORTHERN NATURAL GAS CO.

ORDER REOPENING AND CONSOLIDATING PROCEEDINGS, POSTPONING AND FIXING DATE FOR HEARING, AND DENYING MOTION TO OMIT INTERMEDIATE DECISION PROCEDURE

Hearings in the consolidated proceedings in Docket Nos. G-2409 and G-2491 were held from September 13 to September 16, 1954. The application in Docket No. G-2409 involves a proposed interruptible sale of gas by Northern Natural Gas Company (Northern) to Northern States Power Company, and in Docket No. G-2491 involves a proposed interruptible sale to Grundy Center, Iowa. At the conclusion of the hearings counsel for Northern Natural Gas Company (Northern) moved for omission of the intermediate decision procedure in Docket No. G-2491, principally on the ground that such omission, if an early decision were rendered, would facilitate the planning of the civic authorities in Grundy Center for the coming winter. Such motion was opposed by Commission Staff counsel. Dates for filing briefs in Docket No. G-2409, in which there was no motion to omit the intermediate decision procedure, were duly fixed by the Presiding Examiner, and that matter is pending before the Presiding Examiner for initial decision.

Docket No. G-2399 is an application by Northern to extend its facilities to render new service to Duluth, Minnesota, and Superior, Wisconsin; Docket No. G-2458 involves a proposed firm industrial sale by Northern to Allied Chemical and Dye Corporation; and Docket No. G-2465 is a proposal by Northern to extend its facilities to Aberdeen, South Dakota and to provide new service through such facilities.

It appears from the record in Docket Nos. G-2409 and G-2491, and from Northern's other certificate applications now on file with the Commission, that Northern presently depends on the sources of gas shown in Docket Nos. G-2409 and G-2491 for its gas supply to support the new services proposed in its various pending certificate applications. As a consequence, all of Northern's pending applications, depending as they do on Northern's present gas supply sources, are closely interrelated; and a favorable decision on any of the pending applications, including Docket Nos. G-2409 and G-2491, might prejudice our later action on the applications which have not been heard.

Furthermore, we have been requested by Northern to set a hearing date in the near future in Docket No. G-2458, which involves a proposed firm industrial sale to Allied Chemical and Dye Corporation; and we are cognizant of the fact that the other applications which are the subject matter of this order have been pending for some time before us. We are doubtful, in view of the relationship of Northern's gas supply to all of its pending certificate applications, that the public interest would be well served by separate hearings in which the relationship of Northern's existing gas supply to all of proposed new services could not be considered together. On the other hand, it is desirable that disposition of all of Northern's applications herein be made at the earliest possible date consistent with the Commission's hearing calendar and reasonable notice to Northern and to the persons which have petitioned to intervene in these matters.

The Commission finds:

(1) Good cause has not been shown for omitting the intermediate decision procedure in Docket No. G-2491, and the motion therefor by counsel for Northern Natural Gas Company should be denied.

(2) It is reasonable and in the public interest that the Commission, upon its own motion, should reopen the proceedings in Docket Nos. G-2409 and G-2491 for the joint purpose of permitting the parties to such proceedings to introduce such further evidence relating to the applications therein as they may deem advisable and of enabling consideration by the Commission of such applications in relationship to the other applications hereinafter consolidated and set for hearing.

(3) Good cause exists to consolidate the proceedings in the above-entitled matters for the purposes hereinafter specified.

The Commission orders:

(A) The motion to omit the intermediate decision procedure in Docket No. G-2491 be and the same hereby is denied.

(B) The proceedings in Docket Nos. G-2409 and G-2491 be and the same hereby are reopened.

(C) All of the above-entitled proceedings be and the same hereby are consolidated, for the purposes of hearing in Docket Nos. G-2399, G-2458, and G-2465, and for the purpose of further hearing and further consideration in Docket Nos. G-2409 and G-2491.

(D) Pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing be held on October 12, 1954, commencing at 10:00 a. m., e. s. t., in a Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters involved in and the issues presented by the above-entitled applications.

(E) Interested State commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)) of the said rules of practice and procedure.

Adopted: September 23, 1954.

Issued: September 27, 1954.

METROPOLITAN EDISON CO.

ORDER AUTHORIZING ISSUANCE AND SALE OF PRINCIPAL AMOUNT OF FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

SEPTEMBER 27, 1954.

Metropolitan Edison Company ("Meted"), a public utility subsidiary of General Public Utilities Corporation, a registered holding company, has filed an application and amendments thereto with this Commission pursuant to section 6 (b) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act") and Rules U-42 (b) (2) and U-50 promulgated thereunder with respect to proposed transactions which are summarized as follows:

Meted proposes to issue and sell, pursuant to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50, $15,000,000 principal amount of First Mortgage Bonds, __ percent Series due 1984. The bonds will be issued under and secured by the company's mortgage indenture dated November 1, 1944, as heretofore supplemented and as to be further supplemented by a supplemental indenture to be dated October 1, 1954.

The application states that the net proceeds from the sale of the bonds will be used to redeem $8,000,000 principal amount of First Mortgage Bonds, 3⅞ percent Series due 1983; $3,600,000 will be applied to the prepayment of the principal of the company's presently outstanding 3 percent notes due December 30, 1954; and the balance will be applied against the cost of Meted's construction program, it being represented in the filing that this construction program will require approximately $17,000,000 for the year 1954.

The filing contains an order of the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission authorizing the issuance and sale of the proposed First Mortgage Bonds.

By amendment to its filing Meted proposes to provide for the redemption premium of $336,000 applicable to the 1983 Series Bonds being retired as follows: (i) To make a special charge to income in an amount equal to the reductions in Federal and Pennsylvania income taxes, estimated at approximately $166,000; and (ii) to amortize the balance of approximately $170,000 in annual amounts equal to the net savings in interest as a result of the refunding (after allowing for the increase in income taxes resulting from such refunding). It is estimated by Meted that the amortization period will be between five and six years.

Meted estimates that the fees and expenses incurred and to be incurred in connection with the issuance and sale of its mortgage bonds will be as follows:

Filing fee, SEC	$1,545
Federal issue tax	16,500
Printing and engraving	27,000
Legal fees and expenses:
Harold J. Ryan, Pennsylvania counsel:
Fee	7,500
Berlack, Israels & Liberman, New York counsel	4,000
Accounting services	3,500
Trustee transfer agent and registrar	11,000
Miscellaneous	4,455
Total	76,000

Beekman & Bogue have been designated as independent counsel for the successful bidder. They have requested a fee of $5,000 for their services which will be paid by the underwriter.

Meted has requested that the Commission's order herein become effective upon issuance.

Due notice having been given of the filing of said application and a hearing not having been requested of or ordered by the Commission; the Commission finding that the applicable provisions of the act and rules promulgated thereunder are satisfied, and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that said application as amended should be granted forthwith, except that the Commission considers it inappropriate to approve or disapprove the proposed accounting treatment as described therein:

It is hereby ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the act, that said application as amended be, and hereby is, granted forthwith subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rules U-24 and U-50 provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be deemed to constitute approval or disapproval of the accounting treatment in respect of the proposed transactions.

It is ordered, That carriers by railroad participating in the transportation of hay to the said disaster area, be, and they are hereby, authorized under section 22 of the Interstate Commerce Act to establish and maintain until December 31, 1954, reduced rates for such transportation, the rates to be published and filed in the manner prescribed in section 6 of the Interstate Commerce Act except that they may be made effective one day after publication and filing instead of thirty.

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

[Docket No. AO-23-A13]

PART 913—MILK IN THE GREATER KANSAS CITY MARKETING AREA

ORDER AMENDING ORDER, AS AMENDED, REGULATING HANDLING

§ 913.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (hereinafter referred to as the "act") (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900) a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Greater Kansas City marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions of said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act:

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which hearings have been held.

(b) Determinations. It is hereby determined that handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing or shipping milk covered by this order amending the order, as amended, which is marketed within the Greater Kansas City marketing area) of more than 50 percent of the milk which is marketed within the said marketing area, refused or failed to sign the proposed marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the said marketing area, and it is hereby further determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign said proposed marketing agreement tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order amending the order, as amended, is the only practical means, pursuant to the declared policy of the act, of advancing the interests of producers of milk which is produced for sale in the said marketing area; and

(3) The issuance of this order amending the order, as amended, is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who, during the determined representative period (July, 1954) were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the said marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the Greater Kansas City marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and the aforesaid order, as amended, is hereby further amended as follows:

1. Add the following as § 913.16:

§ 913.16 Quota milk. "Quota milk" means the amount of milk received by a handler from a producer during each of the delivery periods of February through July which is not in excess of such producer's daily quota computed pursuant to § 913.6 multiplied by the number of days in such delivery period on which such milk was received by the handler: Provided: That with respect to any producer on "every-other-day" delivery to a pool plant the days of non-delivery shall be considered as days of delivery for purposes of this section and of § 913.65.

2. Add the following as § 913.17:

§ 913.17 Excess milk. "Excess milk" means the amount of milk received by a handler from a producer during each of the delivery periods of February through July which is in excess of quota milk received from such producer during such delivery period, and shall include all milk received from a producer for whom no daily quota can be computed pursuant to § 913.65.

3a. Delete § 913.22 (j) (2) and substitute therefor the following:

(2) On or before the 10th day of each month the applicable uniform price(s) computed pursuant to §§ 913.71 and 913.72 and the producer butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 913.82, both applicable to milk delivered during the previous delivery period;

3b. Amend § 913.22 by adding the following as paragraph (l):

(l) On or before February 1 of each year in writing notify: (1) Each producer who made deliveries of milk during the previous September through December of his daily quota computed pursuant to § 913.65, (2) each cooperative association of the daily quota of each member of such association, and (3) each handler of the daily quota of each producer from whom such handler received milk.

4. Delete § 913.30 (a) and substitute therefor the following:

(a) The receipts at each plant of milk from each producer, the average butterfat test, the pounds of butterfat contained therein, the number of days on which milk was received from such producer, and for each of the delivery periods of February through July, the total pounds of quota milk and excess milk received from each producer.

5. Delete § 913.31 (a) and substitute therefor the following:

(a) The total pounds of milk, the average butterfat test thereof, and the pounds of butterfat received from each producer and cooperative association, and the number of days on which milk was received from such producer, including, for each of the delivery periods of February through July, such producer's deliveries of quota milk and excess milk.

6. Add the following as §§ 913.65 and 913.66:

DETERMINATION OF QUOTA

§ 913.65 Computation of daily quota for each producer. The daily quota for each producer applicable during each of the delivery periods of February through July, inclusive, shall be determined by the market administrator as follows:

(a) Divide the total pounds of milk received by a handler(s) at a pool plant from such producer during the immediately preceding delivery periods of September through December by the number of days during such period on which milk was received from such producer, or by 90, whichever is greater: Provided, That the daily quota applicable during the delivery periods of February through July 1955 shall be the higher of that resulting from such computation or that resulting from an identical computation with respect to milk received from such producer during the immediately preceding delivery periods of October through December.

§ 913.66 Daily quota rules. (a) Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, a daily quota shall apply only to milk produced by the producer in whose name such milk was delivered to the handler(s) during the quota-forming period.

(b) A producer may transfer his daily quota during the period of February through July by notifying the market administrator in writing before the last day of any delivery period that such quota is to be transferred to the person named in such notice but under the following conditions only:

(1) In the event of the death or entry into military service of a producer, the entire daily quota may be transferred to a member of such producer's immediate family who carries on the dairy operation on the same farm;

(2) If a quota is held jointly and such joint holding is terminated on the basis of written notice to the market administrator from the joint holders the entire daily quota may be transferred to one of the joint holders, or divided in accordance with such notice between the former joint holders if they continue dairy operations.

7. Delete § 913.71 and substitute therefor the following:

§ 913.71 Computation of uniform price. For each of the delivery periods of August through January the market administrator shall compute the uniform price per hundredweight for milk received from producers as follows:

(a) Combine into one total the values computed pursuant to § 913.70 for all handlers who filed reports prescribed in § 913.30 and who made the payments pursuant to §§ 913.80 and 913.84 for the preceding delivery period;

(b) Add the aggregate of the values of all allowable location differential adjustments to producers pursuant to § 913.81;

(c) Add an amount equal to one-half of the unobligated balance in the producer-settlement fund;

(d) Subtract for each one-tenth percent by which the average butterfat content of the milk included in these computations is greater than 3.8 percent, or add for each one-tenth percent that such average butterfat content is less than 3.8 percent, an amount computed by multiplying the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 913.82 by the total hundredweight of such milk;

(e) Divide by the total hundredweight of milk included in these computations; and

(f) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents. The resulting figure shall be the uniform price for milk of 3.8 percent butterfat content received at pool plants located less than 50 miles from the City Hall in Kansas City, Missouri.

8. Add the following as § 913.72:

§ 913.72 Computation of uniform price for quota milk and excess milk. For each of the delivery periods of February through July the market administrator shall compute uniform prices per hundredweight for quota milk and for excess milk as follows:

(a) Combine into one total the values computed pursuant to § 913.70 for all handlers who filed reports pursuant to § 913.30 and who make the payments pursuant to §§ 913.80 and 913.84 for the preceding delivery period;

(b) Add the aggregate of the values of all allowable location differential adjustments to producers pursuant to § 913.81;

(c) Add an amount equal to one-half of the unobligated balance in the producer-settlement funds;

(d) Subtract for each one-tenth percent by which the average butterfat content of the milk included in these computations is greater than 3.8 percent, or add for each one-tenth percent that such average butterfat content is less than 3.8 percent, an amount computed by multiplying the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 913.82 by the total hundredweight of such milk;

(e) Compute the total value of excess milk included in these computations by multiplying the hundredweight of such milk not in excess of the total quantity of Class II milk included in these computations by the price for Class II milk of 3.8 percent butterfat content, multiplying the hundredweight of such milk in excess of the total hundredweight of such Class II milk by the price for Class I milk of 3.8 percent butterfat content, and adding together the resulting amounts;

(f) Divide the total value of excess milk obtained in paragraph (e) of this section by the total hundredweight of such milk, and adjust to the nearest cent. The resulting figure shall be the uniform price for excess milk of 3.8 percent butterfat received from producers at pool plants located less than fifty miles from the City Hall in Kansas City, Missouri;

(g) Subtract the value of excess milk obtained in paragraph (e) of this section from the aggregate value of milk obtained in paragraph (d) of this section and adjust by any amount involved in adjusting the uniform price of excess milk to the nearest cent;

(h) Divide the amount obtained in paragraph (g) of this section by the total hundredweight of quota milk included in these computations; and

(i) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents from the amount computed pursuant to paragraph (h) of this section. The resulting figure shall be the uniform price for quota milk of 3.8 percent butterfat content received from producers at pool plants located less than fifty miles from the City Hall in Kansas City, Missouri.

10. Delete § 913.80 (a) and substitute therefor the following:

(a) On or before the 12th day after the end of each delivery period during which the milk was received, to each producer for whom payment is not made pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section, at not less than the applicable uniform price(s) pursuant to § 913.71 or § 913.72, adjusted by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 913.82, subject to the location adjustment to producers pursuant to § 913.81, and less the following amounts (1) the payments made pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section, (2) marketing service deductions pursuant to § 913.88, and (3) any deductions authorized by the producer: Provided, That if by such date such handler has not received full payment for such delivery period pursuant to § 913.85 he may reduce his total payment to all producers uniformly by not less than the amount of reduction in payment from the market administrator; the handler shall, however, complete such payments not later than the date for making such payments pursuant to this paragraph next following receipt of the balance from the market administrator.

11. Delete § 913.80 (d) (2) and substitute therefor the following:

(2) The pounds per shipment, the total pounds of milk (quota milk and excess milk separately for February through July), and the average butterfat test of milk delivered by the producer.

12. Delete § 913.86.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c)

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 29th day of September 1954 to be effective on and after the 1st day of November 1954.

[Valencia Orange Reg. 24]

PART 922—VALENCIA ORANGES GROWN IN ARIZONA AND DESIGNATED PART OF CALIFORNIA

LIMITATION OF HANDLING

§ 922.324 Valencia Orange Regulation 24—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to Order No. 22 (19 F. R. 1741), regulating the handling of Valencia oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California, effective March 31, 1954, under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Valencia Orange Administrative Committee, established under the said order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of such Valencia oranges, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective as hereinafter set forth. [Avocado Order 2, Amdt. 2]

PART 969—AVOCADOS GROWN IN SOUTH FLORIDA

MATURITY REGULATION

Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement and Order No. 69 (7 CFR Part 969; 19 F. R. 3439) regulating the handling of avocados grown in South Florida, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended

(7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendations of the Avocado Administrative Committee, established under the aforesaid marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of avocados, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendment until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) in that, as hereinafter set forth, the time intervening between the date when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and this amendment relieves restrictions on the handling of avocados grown in "District 2" in South Florida.

It is, therefore, ordered as follows: The provisions in paragraph (b) (1) of § 969.302 (Avocado Order 2, as amended; 19 F. R. 4861, 5966) as pertains to the variety Booth 8, in Columns 2, 3 and 4, respectively, of the table contained therein, are hereby further amended to read as follows:

(1)	(2)	(3)	(4)
Variety	Beginning date	Minimum weight in ounces	Ending date
Booth 8 ("District 1").	Oct. 4, 1954	12	Oct. 10, 1954
Booth 8 ("District 2").	Oct. 4, 1954	10	Oct. 10, 1954

(c) Effective time. The provisions of this amendment shall become effective at 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., October 4, 1954.

PART 980—MILK IN THE TOPEKA, KANSAS, MARKETING AREA

ORDER AMENDING ORDER, AS AMENDED, REGULATING HANDLING OF MILK IN THE TOPEKA, KANSAS, MARKETING AREA

§ 980.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (hereinafter referred to as the "act") (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900) a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Topeka, Kansas, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions of said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act:

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to Section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of foods, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which hearings have been held.

(b) Additional findings. It is necessary, in the public interest, to make this order, amending the order, effective not later than October 1, 1954, so as to reflect current market conditions. Any further delay beyond this time, in the effective date of this order, amending the order, will seriously impair the orderly marketing of milk in the Topeka, Kansas, marketing area. The provisions of the said order are well known to handlers, the public hearing having been held July 23, 1954, and the decision of the Secretary having been issued on September 23, 1954. Therefore, reasonable time, under the circumstances, has been afforded persons affected to prepare for its effective date. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby found and determined that good cause exists for making this order amending the order effective October 1, 1954, and that it would be impracticable, unnecessary and contrary to the public interest to delay the effective date of this order 30 days after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (sec. 4 (c) Administrative Procedure Act, Pub. Law 404, 79th Cong., 60 Stat, 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.).

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing or shipping milk covered by this order, amending the order, as amended, which is marketed within the Topeka, Kansas, marketing area) of more than 50 percent of the milk which is marketed within the said marketing area, refused or failed to sign the proposed marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the said marketing area, and it is hereby further determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign said proposed marketing agreement tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order amending the order, as amended, is the only practical means, pursuant to the declared policy of the act, of advancing the interests of producers of milk which is produced for sale in the said marketing area; and

(3) The issuance of this order amending the order, as amended, is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who, during the determined representative period (July 1954) were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the said marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the Topeka, Kansas, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and the aforesaid order, as amended, is hereby further amended as follows:

1. Add the following as § 980.16:

§ 980.16 Base milk. "Base milk" means the amount of milk received by a handler from a producer during each of the delivery periods of February through July which was not in excess of such producer's daily base computed pursuant to § 980.66 multiplied by the number of days in such delivery period on which such milk was received by the handler: Provided, That with respect to any producer on "every-other-day" delivery to a pool plant the days of nondelivery shall be considered as days of delivery for purposes of this section and of § 980.66.

2. Add the following as § 980.17:

§ 980.17 Excess milk. "Excess milk" means the amount of milk received by a handler from a producer during any of the delivery periods of March through July which is in excess of base milk received from such producer during such delivery period and shall include all milk received from a producer for whom no daily base can be computed pursuant to § 980.66.

3. Amend § 980.22 by adding the following as paragraphs (f) and (g):

(f) On or before February 1 of each year in writing notify (1) each producer who made deliveries of milk during the previous September through December of his daily base computed pursuant to § 980.66, (2) each cooperative association of the daily base of each member of such association, and (3) each handler of the daily base of each producer from whom such handler receives milk;

(g) On or before the 8th day after the end of each delivery period mail to all handlers: (1) Such of the computations of the uniform price(s) made pursuant to §§ 980.71 and 980.72 as do not disclose information confidential pursuant to the act; (2) the applicable uniform price(s) per hundredweight computed pursuant to §§ 980.71 and 980.72; (3) the prices for Class I milk, Class II milk, and Class III milk; and (4) the butterfat differentials computed pursuant to §§ 980.51 and 980.82.

4. Delete § 980.30 (a) and substitute therefor the following:

(a) The receipts at each plant of milk from each producer, the average butterfat test, the pounds of butterfat contained therein, the number of days on which milk was received from such producer, and for each of the delivery periods of February through July, the total pounds of base milk and excess milk received from each producer.

5. Delete § 980.31 (a) and substitute therefor the following:

(a) The total pounds of milk, the average butterfat test thereof, and the pounds of butterfat received from each producer and cooperative association, and the number of days on which milk was received from such producer, including for each of the delivery periods of February through July such producers' deliveries of base milk and excess milk.

6. Amend § 980.50 (c) by deleting the words "Meyer Sanitary Milk Company at its plant at Valley Falls, Kansas" and substitute therefor the words "Bennett Creamery Company at Ottawa, Kansas: Provided, That in no event shall the price be less than that paid at the Beatrice Foods Company plant included in this paragraph.

7. In § 980.64 delete the words "Excess milk." as they appear in the heading and substitute therefor the word "Overage."

8. Add the following as § 980.66:

§ 980.66 Computation of daily base for each producer. The daily base for each producer applicable during each of the delivery periods of February through July, inclusive, shall be determined by the market administrator as follows:

(a) Divide the total pounds of milk received by a handler(s) at a pool plant from such producer during the immediately preceding delivery periods of September through December by the number of days during such period on which milk was received from such producer, or by 90, whichever is greater: Provided, That the daily base applicable during the delivery periods of February through July 1955 shall be the higher of that resulting from such computation or that resulting from an identical computation with respect to milk received from such producer during the immediately preceding delivery periods of October through December.

9. Add the following as § 980.67:

§ 980.67 Daily base rules. (a) Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, a daily base shall apply only to milk produced by the producers in whose name such milk was delivered to the handler(s) during the base-forming period.

(b) A producer may transfer his daily base during the period of February through July by notifying the market administrator in writing before the last day of any delivery period that such base is to be transferred to the person named in such notice but under the following conditions only:

(1) In the event of the death or entry into military service of a producer, the entire daily base may be transferred to a member of such producer's immediate family who carries on the daily operation on the same farm.

(2) If a base is held jointly and such joint holding is terminated on the basis of written notice to the market administrator from the joint holders the entire daily base may be transferred to one of the joint holders, or divided in accordance with such notice between the former joint holders if they continue dairy operations.

10. Delete § 980.71 and substitute therefor the following:

§ 980.71 Computation of uniform price. For each of the delivery periods of August through January the market administrator shall compute the uniform price per hundredweight for milk received from producers as follows:

(a) Combine into one total the values computed pursuant to § 980.70 for all handlers who filed reports prescribed in § 980.30 and who made the payments pursuant to §§ 980.80 and 980.84 for the preceding delivery period;

(b) Add an amount equal to one-half of the unobligated balance in the producer-settlement fund;

(c) Substract for each one-tenth percent by which the average butterfat content of the milk included in these computations is greater than 3.8 percent, or add for each one-tenth percent that such average butterfat content is less than 3.8 percent, an amount computed by multiplying the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 980.82 by the total hundredweight of such milk;

(d) Divide by the total hundredweight of milk included in these computations; and

(e) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents. The resulting figure shall be the uniform price for such delivery period for milk of producers containing 3.8 percent butterfat.

11. Add the following as § 980.72:

§ 980.72 Computation of uniform price for base milk and excess milk. For each of the delivery periods of February through July the market administrator shall compute uniform prices per hundredweight for base milk and for excess milk as follows:

(a) Combine into one total the values computed pursuant to § 980.70 for all handlers who filed reports pursuant to § 980.30 and who made the payments pursuant to §§ 980.80 and 980.84 for the preceding delivery period;

(b) Add an amount equal to one-half of the unobligated balance in the producer-settlement fund;

(c) Subtract for each one-tenth percent by which the average butterfat content of the milk included in these computations is greater than 3.8 percent, or add for each one-tenth percent that such average butterfat content is less than 3.8 percent, an amount computed by multiplying the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 980.82 by the total hundredweight of such milk;

(d) Compute the total value of excess milk included in these computations by multiplying the hundredweight of such milk not in excess of the total quantity of Class III milk included in these computations by the price for Class III milk of 3.8 percent butterfat content, multiplying the remaining hundredweight of such milk not in excess the total quantity of Class II milk by the price for Class II milk of 3.8 percent butterfat content, multiplying any remaining hundredweight of such milk by the price for Class I milk of 3.8 percent butterfat content, and adding together the resulting amounts.

(e) Divide the total value of excess milk obtained in paragraph (d) of this section by the total hundredweight of such milk, and adjust to the nearest cent. The resulting figures shall be the uniform price for such delivery period for excess milk of 3.8 percent butterfat received from producers;

(f) Subtract the value of excess milk obtained in paragraph (d) of this section from the aggregate value of milk obtained in paragraph (c) of this section and adjust by any amount involved in adjusting the uniform price of excess milk to the nearest cent;

(g) Divide the amount obtained in paragraph (f) of this section by the total hundredweight of base milk included in these computations; and

(h) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents from the amount computed pursuant to paragraph (g) of this section. The resulting figure shall be the uniform price for such delivery period for base milk of 3.8 percent butterfat received from producers.

12. Amend § 980.80 by deleting the words "at not less than the uniform price for all milk received from such producer" as they appear immediately preceding the proviso and substitute therefor the following: "at not less than the applicable uniform price(s) computed pursuant to §§ 980.71 and 980.72 for milk received from such producers."

13. Delete § 980.85 (c).

14. Delete § 980.87 (b) and substitute therefor the following:

(b) The total pounds of milk (base milk and excess milk separately for February through July) delivered by the producer and the average butterfat test thereof, and the pounds per shipment if such information is not furnished to the producer each day;

15. Delete § 980.88 (a) and substitute therefor the following:

§ 980.88 Marketing services—(a) Deductions for marketing service. Except as set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, each handler, in making payments to producers (other than himself) pursuant to § 980.80 shall deduct 5 cents per hundredweight or such lesser amount as the Secretary may prescribe with respect to all milk of each producer purchased or received by such handler during the delivery period and shall pay such deductions to the market administrator on or before the 12th day after the end of such delivery period. Such money shall be expended by the market administrator for market information to, and for the verification of weights, sampling and testing of milk received from said producers.

GENERAL

AIRCRAFT REQUIREMENTS

§ 43.10 Aircraft requirements. (a) No aircraft, except foreign aircraft authorized by the Administrator to be flown in the United States, shall be operated unless an appropriate and valid airworthiness certificate or special flight authorization and a registration certificate issued to the owner of the aircraft are carried in the aircraft, and the aircraft is identified in accordance with the requirements of Part 1 of this subchapter.

(b) No aircraft, except foreign aircraft authorized by the Administrator to be flown in the United States, shall be operated unless there are available in the aircraft appropriate aircraft operating limitations set forth in a form and manner prescribed by the Administrator, or a current flight manual approved by the Administrator. An aircraft shall be operated only in accordance with its prescribed operating limitations.

MAINTENANCE

§ 43.20 General. An aircraft shall not be flown unless it is in airworthy condition. Mechanical work must be performed in accordance with Part 18 of this subchapter.

§ 43.21 Flight tests. When an aircraft has undergone any repair or alteration which may have appreciably changed its flight characteristics or substantially affected its operation in flight, such aircraft, prior to carrying passengers, shall be test flown by at least a private pilot appropriately rated for the aircraft, and a notation to that effect shall be entered by such pilot in the aircraft log.

§ 43.22 Inspections—(a) Annual inspection. An aircraft shall not be flown, except for airworthiness flight tests, unless within the preceding 12 calendar months it has been given an annual inspection as prescribed by the Administrator and has been found to be airworthy by a person designated by the Administrator.

(b) Periodic inspection. An aircraft shall not be flown for hire, unless within the preceding 100 hours of flight time it has been given a periodic inspection by an appropriately rated mechanic in accordance with the periodic inspection report form prescribed by the Administrator, has been found to be airworthy, and a notation to that effect has been entered by such mechanic in the aircraft log. The annual inspection required by paragraph (a) of this section will be accepted as one such periodic inspection.

(c) Air carrier exemption. Air carrier aircraft are exempted from paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section when such aircraft are maintained and inspected in accordance with a continuous maintenance and inspection system as provided for by Part 41, 42, or 61 of this subchapter.

§ 43.23 Aircraft and engine records. The registered owner of a certificated aircraft shall be responsible for maintaining and keeping available for inspection by an authorized representative of the Administrator or the Board and for transfer with the aircraft or engine the following records:

(a) Aircraft and engine records which shall contain a current, accurate, and permanent record including the flight time of the aircraft and each engine, reports of inspections, minor repairs, and minor alterations of the aircraft structure, engines, and propellers. A mechanical device which records the total time of operation or the total number of engine revolutions may be used in lieu of individual flight entries: Provided, That the totals of flight time are recorded in the aircraft and engine records at periodic intervals to enable compliance with the required inspections and maintenance procedures.

(b) A record of major repairs and alterations shall be maintained as required by Part 18 of this subchapter. A reference to such major repairs and alterations shall be entered in the appropriate place in the aircraft records.

§ 43.24 Rebuilt engine logs. A new record without previous operating history may be used for an aircraft engine rebuilt by the manufacturer or any agency approved by the manufacturer for such work, provided such new record contains a signed statement by such manufacturer or agency giving the date the engine was rebuilt and such other information as the Administrator may require.

AIRCRAFT INSTRUMENTS AND EQUIPMENT

§ 43.30 Instruments and equipment for NC powered aircraft or powered aircraft with standard airworthiness certificates. The following instruments and equipment, or instruments and equipment which the Administrator has found to be the equivalent, are required for the particular category of operation specified:

(a) Contact flight rules (day). (1) Air-speed indicator.
(2) Altimeter.
(3) Magnetic direction indicator.
(4) Tachometer for each engine.
(5) Oil pressure gauge for each engine using pressure system.

(12) Safety belts for all occupants. Safety belts shall be of an approved type. In no case shall the rated strength of a safety belt be less than that corresponding with the ultimate load factors specified in the pertinent currently effective aircraft airworthiness parts of the regulations in this subchapter taking due account of the dimensional characteristics of the safety belt installation for the specific seat or berth arrangement. The webbing of safety belts shall be subject to periodic replacement as prescribed by the Administrator.

(b) Contact flight rules (night). (1) Equipment specified in paragraph (a) of this section.
(2) Set of certificated forward and rear position lights.
(3) After May 31, 1956, an approved anti-collision light for aircraft having a maximum certificated weight of more than 12,500 pounds; except that in the event of failure of such light, the aircraft may continue flight to the next stop where repairs or replacements can be made without undue delay.
(4) One electric landing light, if the aircraft is operated for hire.
(5) Certificated landing flares as follows, if the aircraft is operated for hire beyond a 3-mile radius from the center of the airport of take-off:

Maximum authorized weight of aircraft:
3,500 pounds or less: five class 3 or three class 2 flares.
3,500 pounds to 5,000 pounds: four class 2 flares.

(7) Generator of adequate capacity.

§ 43.31 Aircraft electronic navigation equipment accuracy. Except for aircraft in which the omnidirectional radio range (VOR) equipment is maintained, checked, and inspected in accordance with a procedure approved [1] by the Administrator, no person shall operate an aircraft under instrument flight rules using the VOR system of radio navigation unless the aircraft VOR equipment has been operationally checked, both within the preceding ten hours of aircraft flight time and within the preceding ten days, and found to be within the limits of the indicated bearing error specified in this section for the particular check. The checks shall be conducted in accordance with either paragraph (a) or (b) of this section as follows:

(a) (1) If a CAA operated or approved test signal [2] is available at the airport of intended departure, a check of the VOR equipment shall be accomplished using this test signal. The maximum permissible indicated bearing error is plus or minus 4°.
(2) If a CAA operated or approved test signal is not available at the airport of intended departure, a check shall be accomplished using a point on an airport surface designated [2] by the Administrator as a VOR system check point. The maximum permissible indicated bearing error is plus or minus 4°.[3]
(3) If neither a CAA operated or approved test signal nor a designated check point on the airport surface is available, a check shall be accomplished using an airborne check point designated [2] as such by the Administrator. The maximum permissible indicated bearing error is plus or minus 6°.
(4) In the event none of the checks prescribed in subparagraphs (1), (2), and (3) of this paragraph can be accomplished, because of the unavailability of a check signal or point, the following airborne procedure shall be accomplished.
(i) Select the VOR radial which lies along the center line of an established VOR airway,
(ii) Choose a prominent ground point along the selected radial preferably more than 20 miles from the VOR ground facility and maneuver the aircraft directly over the point at a reasonably low altitude, and
(iii) Note the VOR bearing indicated by the receiver when over the point. The maximum permissible difference between the published radial and the indicated bearing is plus or minus 6°.

(b) If dual systems (defined as VOR units independent of each other with the exception of the antenna) are installed in the aircraft, one system may be checked against the other in the following manner in lieu of the check procedures specified above: Both systems shall be tuned to the same VOR ground facility and the indicated bearings to that station noted. The maximum permissible variation between the two indicated bearings is 4°.

(c) The person making the VOR operational check as specified in paragraphs (a) or (b) of this section shall make an entry of such check in the aircraft log or other permanent record showing the date, place, bearing error, and his signature.

[1] An approved continuous maintenance and inspection program specified in Operations Specifications issued by or approved by the Administrator or any equivalent maintenance and inspection system specifically approved by the Administrator.
[2] CAA operated or approved test signals, and ground check points on an airport surface and airborne check points designated by the Administrator, will be shown in the Airman's Guide.
[3] In making this check, caution should be exercised to head the aircraft in a direction to prevent the aircraft structure from interfering with the ground signal.

PILOTING RULES (GENERAL)

§ 43.40 Pilot certificate. No person shall pilot a civil aircraft within the United States unless he has in his personal possession at all times while piloting aircraft a valid pilot certificate with appropriate ratings issued by the Administrator, or an appropriate and valid foreign pilot certificate and ratings. Such certificate shall be presented for examination to any inspector of the Administration or State or local law enforcement officer upon the request of such inspector or enforcement officer.

§ 43.41 Medical certificate and renewal. No person shall pilot an aircraft under authority of a pilot certificate issued by the Administrator, unless he has in his personal possession at all times while piloting aircraft a medical certificate or other evidence satisfactory to the Administrator showing that he has met the physical requirements appropriate to his rating within the following time limits:

(a) Student or private pilot. 24 calendar months.
(b) Commercial pilot. 12 calendar months, or 24 calendar months for operations requiring only a private pilot rating.
(c) Airline transport pilot. Six calendar months, or 12 calendar months for operations requiring only a commercial pilot rating, or 24 calendar months for operations requiring only a private pilot rating.

§ 43.42 Operation during physical deficiency. A person shall not pilot any aircraft during a period of any known physical deficiency or increase in physical deficiency which would render him unable to meet the physical requirements prescribed for the issuance of his currently effective medical certificate.

§ 43.43 Pilot logbooks. A record of the flight time used to substantiate recent experience or qualification for certificates or ratings shall be kept in a bound logbook. The logging of other flight time is not required. Such record shall show:

(a) Date of flight, duration of flight, and the points between which such flight was made,
(b) Category and type of the aircraft flown, the airplane class and engine horsepower,
(c) Aircraft identification mark,
(d) Dual instruction endorsed by a rated instructor, solo, pilot in command, instrument, and night flying time.

§ 43.44 Logging of flight time—(a) Student. A student pilot may log as solo only that time during which he is the sole occupant of the aircraft in flight.

(b) Private and commercial—(1) Pilot in command. A private or commercial pilot may log flight time as pilot in command that flight time during which he is the sole manipulator of the controls of an aircraft for which he is rated or that flight time during which he is the sole occupant of the aircraft. A flight instructor may log flight time as pilot in command that flight time during which he is serving as a flight instructor. All flight time so logged may be credited toward the total flight time required for a higher pilot rating.

(2) Copilot. A private or commercial pilot may log as copilot time that flight time during which he is performing the duties of a copilot. Such pilot shall be entitled to credit not more than 50 percent of such flight time toward the total flight time required for a higher grade of pilot rating, but in no event shall a private pilot be entitled to credit more than 50 hours of such flight time.

(c) Instrument time. Instrument flight time may be logged as such by the pilot actually manipulating the controls only when the aircraft is flown solely by reference to instruments either under actual or simulated instrument flight conditions.

§ 43.45 Use of liquor, narcotics, and drugs. No person shall pilot an aircraft or serve as a member of the crew while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or use any drug which affects his faculties in any manner contrary to safety. A pilot shall not permit any person to be carried in the aircraft who is obviously under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs, except a medical patient under proper care or in case of emergency.

§ 43.46 Towing by aircraft. No pilot shall tow anything by aircraft unless authority for such operation has been issued by the Administrator.

§ 43.47 Dropping objects or persons. (a) No person piloting an aircraft shall permit any object to be dropped from such aircraft in flight which creates a hazard to persons or property.

NOTE: This rule prohibits neither aerial application operations, such as seeding, spraying or dusting, nor the dropping of newspapers, periodicals, circulars, or objects of any other kind, provided reasonable precautions are taken to avoid injury or damage to persons or property.

(b) No person piloting an aircraft shall permit a parachute jump to be made from such aircraft over congested areas of cities, towns, or settlements, or an open air assembly of persons except in an emergency or except under the terms of an authorization issued by the Administrator.

§ 43.48 Acrobatic flight. No pilot shall intentionally fly an aircraft in aerobatic flight carrying passengers unless all occupants are equipped with approved parachutes.

§ 43.49 Parachutes. No pilot shall carry on an aircraft a parachute which is available for emergency use unless:

(a) It is an approved chair-type (canopy in back) parachute which has been packed by a qualified parachute rigger within the preceding 120 days; or

(b) It is an approved-type, other than a chair-type (canopy in back) parachute which has been packed by a qualified parachute rigger within the preceding 60 days.

§ 43.50 Transportation of explosives and other dangerous articles. No person piloting an aircraft shall permit explosives or other dangerous articles such as inflammable liquids or solids, oxidizing material, corrosive liquid, inflammable or noninflammable compressed gas, poison gas or liquid, poisonous liquid or solid, or tear gas to be carried in aircraft, except as provided for in Part 49 of this subchapter. Small arms ammunition for personal use, necessary aircraft signaling devices, and equipment necessary to safe operation of the aircraft are permitted.

§ 43.51 Fuel supply. Aircraft operated under IFR conditions shall carry sufficient fuel, considering weather reports and forecasts of wind and other weather conditions, to complete the flight to the point of first intended landing, to fly from there to the alternate airport, and to fly thereafter for 45 minutes at normal cruising speed.

STUDENT PILOT LIMITATIONS

§ 43.52 General limitations. No student pilot shall pilot an aircraft carrying a passenger, or on an international flight, or for compensation or hire, or in furtherance of a business.

§ 43.53 Requirements for first solo. A student pilot shall not operate an aircraft in solo flight until:

(a) He has passed a written examination on the pertinent provisions of this part, Part 62, and those of Part 60 of this subchapter relating to visual flight rules.

(b) He has been found competent by a flight instructor to make such flight and authority therefor has been endorsed by such instructor on the student pilot certificate, and

(c) He has been given instruction in the prevention of and recovery from power-on and power-off stalls entered from all normally anticipated flight attitudes.

§ 43.54 Flight area limitations. A student pilot shall not pilot an aircraft outside a local flying area designated by his flight instructor until:

(a) He has had a total of 15 hours of flight time, or, if enrolled in and receiving flying instruction from an approved air agency, he is deemed competent by such agency, and

(b) He has received at least 3 hours of dual cross-country instruction from a flight instructor, and his student pilot certificate has been appropriately endorsed by such instructor.

§ 43.55 Aircraft limitations. A student shall not pilot an aircraft other than that of the category, class, and type which has been endorsed on his student pilot certificate by a flight instructor.

§ 43.56 Recent experience. A student who has not piloted a powered aircraft within 90 days shall not pilot such aircraft in solo flight until he has passed a flight check given by a flight instructor and that fact has been endorsed by such instructor in the student pilot logbook.

PRIVATE AND COMMERCIAL PILOT PRIVILEGES AND LIMITATIONS

§ 43.60 Private pilot. A private pilot shall not pilot aircraft for compensation or hire; except that he may pilot aircraft in connection with any business or employment, if the flight is merely incidental thereto and does not involve the carriage of persons or property for compensation or hire, and an aircraft salesman holding a private pilot rating may demonstrate aircraft in flight to a prospective purchaser if he has at least 200 hours of flight time credited in accordance with the provisions of this part.

§43.61 Commercial pilot. A commercial pilot may pilot aircraft for hire. A commercial glider pilot may give flight instruction in gliders.

§ 43.62 Airline transport pilot. An airline transport pilot may exercise the privileges of a commercial pilot with an instrument rating.

§43.63 Rating requirements. A private or commercial pilot shall not serve as pilot in command of an aircraft carrying passengers or operated for remuneration other than in aircraft of the category and class for which he is rated. After May 1, 1953, a private or commercial pilot shall not serve as pilot in command of aircraft exceeding 12,500 pounds maximum certificated weight when carrying passengers or operated for remuneration unless, in addition to proper category and class ratings, he also holds an appropriate type rating. Upon application to the Administrator prior to May 1, 1953, by the holder of a valid private or commercial pilot certificate, type ratings for each aircraft exceeding 12,500 pounds maximum certificated weight will be issued to such holder, without further showing of competency, upon presentation of reliable evidence that the certificate holder either has passed an official rating test, as prescribed by the Administrator, in that type aircraft; or has served as pilot in command and sole manipulator of the controls for at least 10 hours since May 1, 1949, and such aircraft was within his category and class ratings. A private or commercial pilot may serve as pilot in command of aircraft for which he is not rated when it is being flown without passengers and is not being operated for remuneration, unless other limitations placed on his certificate prohibit him from doing so.

NOTE: Nothing contained in this section shall be construed as relieving the restrictions with respect to private pilots operating aircraft for hire.

§ 43.64 Flight instruction limitations. This section governs flight instructions:

(a) Aircraft. Aircraft shall be equipped with fully functioning dual controls.

(b) Flight time. A flight instructor shall not give more than 8 hours of dual flight instruction in any one day and not more than 36 hours of dual flight instruction in any 7-day period.

(c) Endorsement of student pilot certificates. A flight instructor shall endorse the certificate of any student pilot for solo flight or flight in different categories, classes, and types of aircraft only if he has determined that the student is competent to exercise such privileges with safety, and for cross-country flight only if he has additionally determined that the student has an elementary knowledge of aeronautical charts, meteorological data, and the use of a magnetic compass.

(d) Aircraft category limitations. A flight instructor shall not give flight instruction in a category of aircraft in which he has not demonstrated to an authorized representative of the Administrator his proficiency as a flight instructor.

§ 43.65 Instrument flight limitations. A pilot shall not pilot aircraft under instrument flight rules, unless he holds a valid instrument rating issued by the Administrator.

§ 43.67 Simulated instrument flight. Aircraft shall not be flown under simulated instrument flight conditions unless:

(a) Fully functioning dual controls are installed in the aircraft.

(b) An appropriately rated pilot occupies the other control seat as safety pilot, and

(c) Such safety pilot at all times has adequate vision forward and to either side of the aircraft, or a competent observer occupies a position in the aircraft so that his field of vision adequately supplements that of the safety pilot.

§ 43.68 Recent flight experience. This section governs recent flight experience:

(a) General. No person shall pilot an aircraft carrying passengers unless within the preceding 90 days he has made at least 5 take-offs and landings to a full stop in aircraft of the same category, class, and type of aircraft to be flown. No person shall pilot a glider carrying passengers in aero-tow flight unless within the preceding 12 months he has made at least 6 aero-tow flights aggregating 1 hour during which the foregoing take-off and landing requirements are met.

(b) Night flight. No person shall pilot an aircraft carrying passengers during the period from one hour after sunset to one hour before sunrise, unless he has made at least 5 take-offs and landings to a full stop during such period within the preceding 90 days.

(c) Instruction flight. A flight instructor shall not exercise the privileges of the instructor rating unless within the preceding 12 calendar months he has either:

(1) Given at least 10 hours of flight instruction while appropriately rated, or

(2) Demonstrated his continued proficiency to the Administrator.

(d) Instrument flight. A pilot shall not pilot an aircraft under instrument flight rules unless he has had at least 6 hours of instrument flight under actual or simulated flight conditions during the preceding six calendar months or until he has had 6 hours of such flight time under:

(1) Actual instrument conditions, accompanied by a pilot of at least private rating holding an appropriate aircraft and instrument rating, or

(2) Simulated instrument conditions in an aircraft accompanied by a pilot of at least private rating holding an appropriate aircraft rating, or

(3) Simulated instrument conditions in equipment approved by the Administrator, except that at least 3 hours must have been had in accordance with subparagraphs (1) or (2) of this paragraph.

DEFINITIONS

§ 43.70 Definitions. As used in this part terms shall be defined as follows:

Category. Category shall indicate a classification of aircraft such as airplane, helicopter, glider, etc.

Class. Class shall indicate a difference in basic design of aircraft within a category, such as single-engine land, multiengine sea, etc.

Copilot. Copilot shall mean a pilot serving in any piloting capacity other than as pilot in command on aircraft requiring two pilots for normal operations, but excluding a pilot who is on board the aircraft for the sole purpose of receiving dual instruction.

Dual instruction time. Dual instruction time shall mean that portion of the flight time during which a person is receiving flight instruction from a rated flight instructor on board the aircraft.

Flight instructor. Flight instructor means a pilot who is qualified to instruct other pilots and who has received a flight instructor rating.

Flight time. Flight time shall mean the total time from the moment the aircraft first moves under its own power for the purpose of flight until the moment it comes to rest at the end of the flight.[1]

Passenger. A passenger is an occupant of the aircraft in flight other than a crew member.

Pilot. A pilot is a person holding a valid pilot certificate issued by the Administrator.

Pilot in command. Pilot in command shall mean the pilot responsible for the operation and safety of the aircraft during the time defined as flight time.

Solo flight time. Solo flight time shall mean the flight time during which a pilot is the sole occupant of an aircraft.

To pilot. To pilot means to be in command of the aircraft during take-off, in flight, or landing.

[1] For example, a pilot taxies to the warm-up apron and holds there for several minutes before taking off to permit the engine to warm up. Such taxi and warm-up time is not considered flight time. Flight time begins when the aircraft leaves the warm-up apron and ends when the pilot returns to parking apron and turns the switches off.

Type. Type shall mean all aircraft of the same basic design including all modifications thereto except those modifications which result in a change in handling or flight characteristics.

PART 102—LICENSES AND PERMITS TO IMPORT BIOLOGICAL PRODUCTS

OVERTIME, NIGHT, AND HOLIDAY WORK AT LICENSED ESTABLISHMENTS

Pursuant to the authority conferred by the act of March 4, 1913 (37 Stat. 832–833, 21 U. S. C. 151–158), and the act of August 4, 1949 (63 Stat. 495, 7 U. S. C. 394a) relating to overtime duty performed at establishments which prepare virus, serum, toxin, or analogous products for use in the treatment of domestic animals, § 102.78 is hereby amended as follows, to become effective immediately:

§ 102.78 Overtime work at licensed establishments. The management of a licensed establishment desiring to work under conditions which will require the services of an employee of the Branch on Saturday, Sunday, or a holiday, or for more than eight hours of any other day, shall sufficiently in advance of the period of overtime, request the inspector in charge or his assistant to provide inspection service during such overtime period, and shall pay the Administrator of the Agricultural Research Service an amount sufficient to reimburse the service for the cost of the inspection service so furnished. It will be administratively determined from time to time which days constitute holidays.

Finding. The cost of furnishing the overtime inspection service must be covered by funds collected from the inspected licensee. It is imperative that the Service be prepared to adjust the billing rate without delay whenever necessary to adequately reimburse it for the inspection costs. It is found therefore that the notice, public rule making procedure, and effective date requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act (Pub. Law 404, 79th Cong.; 60 Stat. 237), are impracticable and contrary to the public interest with respect to this regulation.

(37 Stat. 832; 21 U. S. C. 154)

Done at Washington, D. C., this 28th day of September 1954.

(Sec. 6, 38 Stat. 722; 15 U. S. C. 46 Interprets or applies sec. 5, 38 Stat. 719, as amended; 15 U. S. C. 45) [Cease and desist order, The Capitol Service, Inc. et al., Lansing Mich., Docket 6164, Aug. 31, 1954]

This proceeding was heard by William L. Pack, hearing examiner, upon the complaint of the Commission, hearings at which certain evidence in support of and in opposition to the complaint was received, and a stipulation of fact entered into by counsel.

Said stipulation provided, among other things, that the record might be closed insofar as the reception of evidence was concerned and the case submitted to the hearing examiner for final consideration upon the record as made up to that time, including the stipulation, the filing of proposed findings and conclusion, and oral argument being waived, and said examiner, with the matter thus before him for final consideration on the merits, made his initial decision comprising certain findings as to the facts,[1] conclusions drawn therefrom,[1] and order.

No appeal having been filed from said initial decision of said hearing examiner, as provided for in Rule XXII of the Commission's rules of practice, nor any other action taken as thereby provided to prevent said initial decision becoming the decision of the Commission thirty days from service thereof upon the parties, said initial decision, including said order, accordingly, under the provisions of said Rule XXII became the decision of the Commission on August 31, 1954.

Said order is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondent The Capitol Service, Inc., a corporation, and its officers, and respondent Robert K. Smith, individually, and respondents' agents, representatives and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the offering for sale, sale and distribution in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, of a course of study and instruction intended for preparing students thereof for examination for civil service positions under the United States Government, or any similar course of study, do forthwith cease and desist from:

1. Representing, directly or by implication:

(a) That respondents or their school have any connection with the United States Civil Service Commission or any other agency of the United States Government.

(b) That respondents' sales agents are representatives or employees of the United States Civil Service Commission or any other government agency or have any connection therewith.

(c) That the completion of respondents' course of study assures students of positions in the United States Civil Service or makes them eligible for appointment to such positions.

(d) That it is necessary for persons seeking Civil Service positions to take respondents' course of study in order to qualify for or obtain such positions.

(e) That any Civil Service position which requires appointees to have veteran's status or special physical, mental, educational, or experiential qualifications is generally available.

(f) That it is necessary that persons desiring to prepare for civil service examinations be interviewed personally by respondents' salesmen.

(g) That vacancies exist in any Civil Service position contrary to the fact; or that the number of positions available or vacant in said service or any branch thereof is greater than is actually the fact.

(h) That the starting salary for any United States Civil Service position is greater than it is in fact.

(i) That respondents offer any specialized training or sell any course of instruction other than a basic course for lower grade positions.

(j) That positions obtained in the United States Civil Service will be at or near the place of residence of the employee.

[1] Filed as part of the original document.

(k) That prospective purchasers of respondents' course of instruction are especially selected.

(l) That enrollees may cancel their enrollment contract at any time without liability for the balance of the purchase price of said course.

2. Using any picturization resembling or simulating the dome of the United States Capitol unless in immediate conjunction therewith it is clearly set forth that respondents' business is a private correspondence school.

By "Decision of the Commission and Order to File Report of Compliance", Docket 6164, August 31, 1954, which announced and decreed fruition of said initial decision, report of compliance was required as follows:

It is ordered, That the respondents herein shall within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with the order to cease and desist.

Issued: August 31, 1954.

By the Commission.

Secretary.

TITLE 19—CUSTOMS DUTIES

Chapter I—Bureau of Customs, Department of the Treasury

[T. D. 53606]

PART 3—DOCUMENTATION OF VESSELS

PART 4—VESSELS IN FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC TRADES

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

Section 501 of the Customs Simplification Act of 1954, approved September 1, 1954 (Pub. Law 768; 68 Stat. 1140), amends existing law so as to exempt undocumented American pleasure vessels from the present requirements of entry and clearance and to remove the present requirement that yachts of over 15 gross tons make formal entry upon arrival from foreign ports. In addition, that section substitutes for the present requirement of a manifest of all "dutiable" articles in the case of a yacht not required to make entry a new requirement, for both yachts and undocumented American pleasure vessels, that all articles on board for which a customs entry is required, whether dutiable or not, be reported to the collector of customs within 24 hours after arrival. In view of these changes in existing law, the Customs Regulations are amended as follows:

1. Section 3.53 (a) is amended by deleting all the matter following the first sentence and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "A vessel which is so documented and which is not engaged in any trade nor in any way violating the customs or navigation laws of the United States may proceed from port to port in the United States or to foreign ports without clearing and is not subject to entry upon its arrival in a port of the United States, provided it has not visited a hovering vessel."

2. The citation of authority for § 3.53 is amended to read "(R. S. 4197, as amended, R. S. 4214, as amended, R. S. 4217, as amended, R. S. 4367, 4368, sec. 4, 28 Stat. 625, sec. 5, 35 Stat. 425, as amended, secs. 433, 434, 435, 441, 46 Stat. 711, 712; 19 U. S. C. 1433, 1434, 1441, 46 U. S. C. 91, 103–105, 107, 313, 314.)"

3. Section 4.2 is amended by redesignating paragraphs (c) and (d) as (d) and (e) and by inserting a new paragraph (c) to read as follows:

(c) In the case of a vessel described in section 441 (3), Tariff Act of 1930, as amended,[1] the report of articles subject to entry shall be made in accordance with the provisions of section 10.19 to the customs officer assigned to board the vessel. (See § 4.1 (c).)

(Sec. 441, 46 Stat. 712, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 2)

4. Section 4.3 is amended as follows:

a. Paragraph (a) is amended by deleting "R. S. 4218, as amended[1]."

b. Footnote 5, appended to paragraph (a), is amended by revising paragraph (3) thereof to read as follows:

(3) Licensed yachts or undocumented American pleasure vessels not engaged in trade nor in any way violating the customs or navigation laws of the United States and not having visited any hovering vessel: Provided, That the master of any such vessel which has on board any article required by law to be entered shall be required to report such article to the collector within twenty-four hours after arrival;

c. Footnote 6, appended to paragraph (a), is deleted.

(Sec. 501, 68 Stat. 1140)

5. Footnote 90, appended to § 4.60 (a) and (b), is amended by substituting the following for the parenthetical matter first appearing in the second sentence thereof:

(other than a licensed yacht or an undocumented American pleasure vessel not engaged in any trade nor in any way violating the customs or navigation laws of the United States)

6. Section 4.60 (b) (1) is amended to read as follows:

(1) A licensed yacht or undocumented American pleasure vessel not engaged in trade nor in any way violating the customs or navigation laws of the United States.[2]

(Sec. 501, 68 Stat. 1140)

It should be noted that nothing contained in the above-cited section 501 of the Customs Simplification Act of 1954 affects the necessity for reporting arrival as required by section 433, Tariff Act of 1930 (see § 4.2, Customs Regulations).

The foregoing amendments shall be effective October 1, 1954.

Acting Commissioner of Customs.

No vessel, the surrender of the documents of which has been so ordered, shall have, after the effective date specified in such order, the status of the vessel of the United States unless documented anew.

§ 3.67 Coastwise permit. Before an enrollment and license or license may be issued under the act of August 9, 1954, there shall be filed with the collector at the port at which the document is to issue a valid unexpired permit in duplicate issued by the Secretary of Commerce under authority of section 3 (c) of the act of August 9, 1954, authorizing the vessel to engage in the coastwise trade.

§ 3.68 Marking of official number and net tonnage. The official number and the net tonnage of every vessel documented under authority of the act of August 9, 1954, shall be marked upon the main beam. Such marking shall not, however, be required prior to the issue of a document to the vessel.

§ 3.70 Master's oath for enrollment and license.[42] (a) Prior to the granting or renewing of the enrollment and license or license of any vessel under the act of August 9, 1954, the master shall swear that such license shall not be used for any other vessel or for any other employment than the coasting trade, or in any manner whereby the revenue of the United States may be defrauded.

(b) This oath may be taken before any officer authorized by law to administer oaths generally and may be mailed to the collector together with the enrollment and license or license, whereupon action shall be taken as if the oath had been administered by the collector.

§ 3.71 Change of master. When the master of any vessel documented under the act of August 9, 1954, is changed, the new master shall report the change to the collector at the port where the change takes place or where the vessel shall first arrive after the change, and shall produce to the collector the vessel's document and make oath that he is the new master of the vessel. The collector shall then endorse upon the document the name of the new master.

§ 3.72 Issue, record, and surrender of documents. (a) The provisions of §§ 3.22 (a) and (b) and 3.26 shall apply with respect to documents issued under the act of August 9, 1954.

§ 3.73 Renewal of document. A document granted to any vessel under the act of August 9, 1954, shall be presented to the collector of the port at which the vessel may be at the time of its expiration within 3 days after that time, or if the vessel be at sea at that time, within 3 days after her first arrival at a port of the United States. Such a document may be renewed by the collector of customs upon the request of the master or the Secretary of Commerce if at the time of such request the documentation of the vessel is not prohibited by the act of August 9, 1954, by any order of the Commissioner of Customs issued under authority of that act requiring surrender of the vessel's document, or by any provision of the regulations in this part.

§ 3.74 Exchange of documents. (a) Any vessel enrolled and licensed or licensed under the act of August 9, 1954, may be registered.

(b) Any vessel registered under the act of August 9, 1954, may be enrolled and licensed or licensed for the coasting trade if a permit in duplicate issued by the Secretary of Commerce under section 3 (c) of the act of August 9, 1954, authorizing a vessel to engage in the coastwise trade is filed with the collector of customs.

PART 6—AIR COMMERCE REGULATIONS

DESIGNATION OF FRIDAY HARBOR, FRIDAY HARBOR, WASHINGTON, AS AN AIRPORT OF ENTRY

Friday Harbor, Friday Harbor, Washington, is hereby designated as an international airport for civil aircraft and merchandise carried thereon arriving from places outside the United States, as defined in section 9 (b) of the Air Commerce Act of 1926 (49 U. S. C. 179 (b)), effective on the date of publication of this Treasury decision in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The list of international airports in § 6.20 is hereby amended to include the name and location of this airport.

Notice of the proposed designation of Friday Harbor as an international airport was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of August 27, 1954 (19 F. R. 5490), pursuant to the provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003).

The designation of this airport is based on a determination that a sufficient need exists to justify such designation and is made for the purpose of providing for convenient compliance with customs requirements. For these reasons, it is found desirable to make the airport of entry available to the public as soon as possible and to dispense with the delayed effective date provision of section 4 (c) of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003 (c)).

INSPECTION OF RETURNS BY COMMITTEE ON GOVERNMENT OPERATIONS, HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, DURING 83D CONGRESS

PARAGRAPH 1. Pursuant to the provisions of sections 55 (a), 508, 603, 729 (a), and 1204 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 (53 Stat. 29, 111, 171; 54 Stat. 989, 1008; 55 Stat. 722; 26 U. S. C. 55 (a), 508, 603, 729 (a), and 1204), and of the Executive order of this date issued thereunder,[1] Treasury Decision 6012, approved on May 22, 1953 (§ 458.320), is hereby amended by striking out "1952" and inserting in lieu thereof "1953".

PAR. 2. Because of the necessity of the immediate application of the aforementioned amendment, it is found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to issue this Treasury decision with notice and public procedure thereon under section 4 (a) of the Administrative Procedure Act, approved June 11, 1946, or subject to the effective date limitation of section 4 (c) of said act.

PAR. 3. This Treasury decision shall be effective upon its filing for publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

[SEAL] G. M. HUMPHREY,
Secretary of the Treasury.

Approved: September 29, 1954.

TITLE 38—PENSIONS, BONUSES, AND VETERANS' RELIEF

Chapter I—Veterans' Administration

PART 4—DEPENDENTS AND BENEFICIARIES CLAIMS

SERVICEMEN'S INDEMNITY FOR DEATH

A new § 4.462 is added as follows:

§ 4.462 Servicemen's indemnity for death—(a) Provisions of act. Public Law 638, 83d Congress, approved August 24, 1954, provides as follows:

That section 2 of the Servicemen's Indemnity Act of 1951 is amended by inserting immediately after "including the National Guard when called or ordered to active duty or active training duty for fourteen days or more;" the following: "members of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, the Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps, and the Air Force Reserve Officers' Training Corps, when called or ordered to active training duty for fourteen days or more while on such active training duty;".

SEC. 2. The amendment made by this act shall take effect as of April 25, 1951.

(b) Scope of act. This act extends indemnity coverage for the first time to (1) members of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps of the Army (ROTC), (2) members of the Air Force Reserve Officers' Training Corps (AFROTC), and

(3) members of the Contract Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps (NROTC) (as distinguished from the Regular Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps (NROTC)) who are called or ordered to active training duty for 14 days or more, where death occurs on or after June 27, 1950, while on such active training duty. These categories are not covered while undergoing scholastic instruction, or inactive training duty, including flights in Government owned or leased aircraft as contemplated in § 4.300 (b) (1). They are covered during a period of travel only if such travel is performed under competent orders; e. g., travel to or from the port of embarkation or training station for the annual practice cruise or annual training period. Since indemnity coverage for these categories is limited to deaths which occur while on such active training duty, coverage does not extend for 120 days after separation or release from duty, even though the person may have been called or ordered to such duty for a period exceeding 30 days.

(c) Effective date of act. Section 2 of this act provides that it is effective April 25, 1951, the date of enactment of the original act, Public Law 23, 82d Congress. It is accordingly applicable to all active training duty as defined therein, rendered on or after June 27, 1950. There is no time limit for filing claims. Initial awards of indemnity under the provisions of this act shall be payable from the date of death of the serviceman, irrespective of whether death occurred prior to or on or after the date of the act. It is not contemplated that any automatic review of previously disallowed claims will be made. (Instruction 1, Pub. Law 638, 83d Cong.)

This regulation is effective October 5, 1954.

(f) Complaints. A complaint made by an employee or by an applicant failing of appointment must be made not later than 3 months from the date of the personnel action complained of, unless failure to submit the complaint within this time limit was due to unusual circumstances beyond the control of the complainant.

(g) Written complaints. Any initial written complaint must be signed by the complainant and include information regarding the specific personnel action complained of, the approximate date thereof, reasons in support of the alleged discrimination, a statement as to when the complainant first learned of the discrimination, and remedies sought.

(h) Hearings. Not more than one hearing shall be held on any individual complaint.

(i) Applicants. An applicant failing of appointment who alleges discrimination may file a complaint, which must be in writing, either with the appropriate Deputy Fair Employment Officer or with the Fair Employment Officer, Post Office Department, Washington 25, D. C. In all other respects complaints of applicants will be handled in the same manner as complaints of employees.

(j) Employees. An employee may file a complaint with the first-line supervisor, with the Deputy Fair Employment Officer, or with the Fair Employment Officer, Post Office Department, Washington 25, D. C. Complaints initiated with the supervisor may be oral or written. Those initiated with the Deputy Fair Employment Officer or the Fair Employment Officer must be in writing.

(k) Action by the supervisor. If a complaint cannot be adjusted satisfactorily and promptly by the first-line supervisor, he should advise the employee to submit the complaint in writing. The supervisor shall submit a written report to the Deputy Fair Employment Officer setting forth the basis for the complaint and the reasons for inability to effect a satisfactory adjustment. The report shall include the written complaint of the employee. The written report of supervisors under the jurisdiction of Postmasters; District Superintendents, Bureau of Transportation; Managers, District Operations Offices, Bureau of Post Office Operations; and Directors, Regional Accounting Offices, shall be submitted directly to these officials who shall, if the complaint cannot be satisfactorily adjusted at that level, make the required report to the Deputy Fair Employment Officer.

(l) Action by the Deputy Fair Employment Officer. On receipt of an original complaint or a complaint referred to him by a supervisor, the Deputy Fair Employment Officer should promptly make, or cause to be made, such inquiry as is necessary to ascertain the facts at issue on the complaint. He should endeavor through informal negotiation to effect a satisfactory settlement of the complaint and if necessary take, or cause to be taken, corrective action. The Fair Employment Officer should be advised of the settlement of the complaint and any corrective action which may be taken. In the event the Deputy Fair Employment Officer is not able to effect a satisfactory settlement of the complaint by informal negotiation, he shall forward to the Fair Employment Officer the complete file on the complaint.

(m) Action by the Fair Employment Officer. (1) On receipt of an original complaint or a complaint referred to him by a Deputy Fair Employment Officer or by the Fair Employment Board of the Civil Service Commission, the Fair Employment Officer shall make, or cause to be made, such investigation as is necessary to resolve all issues raised by the individual complaint. Simultaneously he shall make, or cause to be made, an appraisal of the personnel actions in the unit in which the complaint originated. If it is not possible to adjust the complaint to the satisfaction of the complainant, the Fair Employment Officer shall advise him of his right to a hearing.

(2) On request from the complainant, the Fair Employment Officer shall schedule a hearing which shall be held at a place reasonably convenient to the complainant. The complainant must attend the hearing, but he may be assisted by a representative of his own choosing. The hearing shall be conducted by a hearing officer to be designated from the postal service by the Fair Employment Officer. The complainant shall be permitted to present by witnesses or otherwise any facts pertinent to the issues. Where practicable, a transcript of the testimony shall be made. If a verbatim transcript is not practicable, a full summary of the testimony shall be made by the hearing officer. The summary may be agreed to and signed by the complainant and the hearing officer, or if the complainant does not agree with the summary, he may note and sign his exceptions which will become a part of the summary. Any transcript or summary shall be made available by the Fair Employment Officer for inspection by the complainant or his authorized representative.

(3) On the material facts disclosed by the investigation, by the general appraisal of personnel actions, and by the hearing if held, the Fair Employment Officer shall make findings of fact. From these findings of fact he shall make a decision and advise the interested parties of the decision, furnishing them with a copy of the findings of fact. If the decision is favorable to the complainant, the Fair Employment Officer shall take or cause to be taken appropriate corrective action. If the decision is unfavorable to the complainant, the Fair Employment Officer shall notify the complainant, in writing, of his right to appeal to the Postmaster General.

(n) Action by the Postmaster General. In the event that an appeal is taken from the decision of the Fair Employment Officer, a decision will be made by the Postmaster General upon the facts of the case, and the appellant will be notified in writing, in duplicate, of such decision. If the decision is favorable to the appellant, such corrective action as appears warranted will be taken.

(o) Appeals to the Fair Employment Board, Civil Service Commission. If the decision is unfavorable to the appellant, he will be advised in writing, in duplicate, of his right to appeal to the Fair Employment Board of the Civil Service Commission. A copy of the adverse decision must accompany such appeal.

(p) Election of appeal channel. In order to prevent duplication of appeals arising out of the same personnel action, any complainant who has the right of appeal to the Civil Service Commission under authority of law and also has a right of appeal under Executive Order 9980 (3 CFR, 1948 Supp.), may elect the channel through which he presents his complaint, but if he elects to appeal directly to the Civil Service Commission, he may not thereafter avail himself of the procedures under Executive Order 9980.

(q) Procedures for handling complaints filed by groups or organizations. (1) A group or organization may file a written complaint with the Fair Employment Officer regarding personnel actions which have the effect of discriminating against a group of employees or applicants on account of race, color, religion, or national origin. Such complaint must include full and complete information to support the allegations of discrimination in personnel actions, setting forth dates, names, and identification of individuals involved, incidents, occurrences, and circumstances.

(2) The Fair Employment Officer shall make or cause to be made a full and complete investigation of the allegations of discrimination. The holding of a hearing shall be optional with the Fair Employment Officer. The Fair Employment Officer shall report the results of the investigation, together with his recommendation, to the Postmaster General. The Postmaster General will make a decision on the specific allegations of discrimination, and where necessary, corrective action will be taken. The group or organization making the complaint will be advised of the decision and the facts on which the decision is based. In the event of an adverse decision, the group or organization will be advised of the right of appeal to the Fair Employment Board of the Civil Service Commission within 30 days of the receipt of the decision.

[47 CFR Part 3]

TABLE OF ASSIGNMENTS FOR TELEVISION BROADCAST STATIONS

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING AND ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE

In the matter of amendment of § 3.606, Table of assignments, rules governing television broadcast stations; Docket No. 11190.

1. Notice is hereby given that the Commission has received a proposal for rule making in the above-entitled matter.

2. Greylock Broadcasting Corporation, permittee of television station WMGT operating on Channel 74 at North Adams, Massachusetts, filed a petition on September 20, 1954, requesting that the Commission's Table of Television Channel Assignments set out in § 3.606 of its rules be amended to substitute Channel 19 for Channel 74 in North Adams. It is suggested that this assignment can be accomplished by making the following changes in the Table:

City	Channel No.
	Present	Proposed
North Adams, Mass.	74+, *80	19, *80
Portsmouth, N. H.	19+	15
Utica-Rome, N. Y.	13, 19, *25+	13, *25+, 54−, 74+
Bennington, Vt.	33

3. On September 27, 1954, Greylock Broadcasting Corporation filed a Supplement to its petition noting that concurrently with the filing of its request it was seeking a special temporary authority to operate on Channel 19. Greylock requests that the Commission issue an Order to Show Cause why Greylock should not be required to shift its operations on Mt. Greylock from Channel 74 to Channel 19 in order to provide a more dependable television service to the residents of Western Massachusetts.

4. In support of its petition, Greylock notes that it is currently operating station WMGT on Channel 74 at North Adams, with its 12 kw transmitter located on Mt. Greylock. Greylock states that because of certain technical difficulties, the station has been unable to operate with the power necessary to cover its contemplated service area. Petitioner submits that the use of high power which would be available immediately on a lower channel would enable it to provide television service to a number of communities located in the foothills of the Berkshire Mountains in Western Massachusetts.

5. A permit to construct a television station on Channel 19 in Utica has been outstanding (BPCT-1850); however, the permittee has indicated that it proposes to surrender its construction permit and request its cancellation. No applications are pending for any of the other channels that would be affected by petitioner's proposal. Petitioner states that the proposed amendments would conform to the Commissioner's Rules and would not affect any existing grants or pending applications.

6. The Commission is of the view that rule-making proceedings should be instituted in this matter in order that interested parties may submit their views. The subject petition is made a part of the docket in this proceeding.

7. Authority for the adoption of the proposed amendment is contained in sections 4 (i), 301, 303 (c), (d), (f), and (r) and 307 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

8. Any interested party who is of the opinion that the amendment proposed by petitioner should not be adopted or should not be adopted in the form set forth herein may file with the Commission on or before October 11, 1954, a written statement or brief setting forth his comments. Comments in support of the proposed amendment may also be filed on or before the same date. Comments or briefs in reply to the original comments may be filed within 5 days from the last day for filing said original comments or briefs. No additional comments may be filed unless (1) specifically requested by the Commission or (2) good cause for the filing of such additional comments is established. The Commission will consider all such comments before taking final action in this matter, and if any comment appears to warrant the holding of a hearing or oral argument, notice of the time and place of such hearing or oral argument will be given.

9. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.764 of the Commission's rules and regulations, an original and 14 copies of all statements, briefs, or comments shall be furnished the Commission.

10. Since Greylock Broadcasting Corporation is presently operating on Channel 74 in North Adams and the rule making proposed herein would substitute Channel 19 for Channel 74 in that community, Greylock Broadcasting Corporation is ordered to show cause in this proceeding why its outstanding authorization should not be modified to specify operation on Channel 19 in lieu of Channel 74. A reply in writing to the aforesaid Order to Show Cause should be filed on or before the same date for filing comments in the proceeding.

Adopted: September 29, 1954.

Released: September 30, 1954.

PART 1454—PARTIAL MANDATORY EXEMPTION OF PRIME CONTRACTS AND SUBCONTRACTS FOR NEW DURABLE PRODUCTIVE EQUIPMENT

This part is amended in the following respects:

1. The title of the part is deleted in its entirety and the new title reads as set forth above.

2. The words "Subpart A—Fiscal Years Ending Before June 30, 1953" are inserted as a center heading before § 1454.1.

3. Section 1454.1 Statutory provision is amended by deleting the words "Section 106 (c) of the act provides as follows" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "With respect to fiscal years ending before June 30, 1953, section 106 (c) of the act provides as follows".

4. Section 1454.2 Application of act to subcontracts for new durable productive equipment is amended by inserting the words "in a fiscal year ending before June 30, 1953" in the first sentence between the words "received or accrued" and the words "after the effective date".

5. Section 1454.4 What constitutes subcontract for new durable productive equipment; in general is deleted in its entirety and the following is inserted in lieu thereof:

§ 1454.4 What constitutes subcontract for new durable productive equipment; in general. For the purposes of the partial exemption set forth in section 106 (c) of the act, equipment is deemed to be durable if it has an average useful life of more than five years and is deemed to be productive if it does not become a part of an end product acquired by any agency of the Government under a contract with a department, or of an article incorporated therein. It will be considered that equipment does not become a part of an end product, or of an article incorporated therein, if such equipment is capable of being "used in the processing of other materials" (compare last sentence of § 1452.4 (b) (1) of this subchapter). A purchase order or agreement for new durable productive equipment is a subcontract subject to the act if such equipment is required for the performance of a prime contract or subcontract subject to the act.

6. Subpart B, consisting of new §§ 1454.21 to 1454.29, is added to read as follows:

SUBPART B—FISCAL YEARS ENDING ON OR AFTER JUNE 30, 1953

Sec.
1454.21 Statutory provision.
1454.22 Purpose of exemption.
1454.23 Application for exemption.
1454.24 What constitutes durable productive equipment.
1454.25 What constitutes prime contract for new durable productive equipment.
1454.26 What constitutes subcontract for new durable productive equipment.
1454.27 Components of new durable productive equipment.
1454.28 Prime contractors and subcontractors related to prime contracts for new durable productive equipment.
1454.29 Limitation on exemption of prime contracts for new durable productive equipment.

§ 1454.21 Statutory provision. With respect to fiscal years ending on or after June 30, 1953, section 106 (c) of the act provides as follows:

(1) In general. The provisions of this title shall not apply to receipts or accruals (other than rents) from contracts or subcontracts for new durable productive equipment, except (A) to that part of such receipts or accruals which bears the same ratio to the total of such receipts or accruals as five years bears to the average useful life of such equipment as set forth in Bulletin F of the Bureau of Internal Revenue (1942 edition) or, if an average useful life is not so set forth, then as estimated by the Board and (B) to receipts and accruals from contracts for new durable productive equipment in cases in which the Board finds that the new durable productive equipment covered by such contracts cannot be adapted, converted, or retooled for commercial use.

(2) Definition. For the purpose of this subsection, the term "durable productive equipment" means machinery, tools, or other equipment which does not become a part of an end product, or of an article incorporated therein, and which has an average useful life of more than five years. [Matter in italics added by Pub. Law 764, 83d Cong. approved September 1, 1954.]

§ 1454.22 Purpose of exemption. The purpose of the amendments contained in the foregoing exemption was stated as follows in the report of the Senate Committee on Finance ((1954) S. Rept. 643, 83d Cong. 3, to accompany H. R. 6287):

The fact that many Government purchases of machine tools at the present are for stockpiling purposes makes this amendment essential. By making sales of this type to the Government, the industry is, in effect, destroying the future market for its products because the eventual release of the Government stockpile will serve to satisfy normal demand. Thus, the amendment merely requires recognition of the fact that defense use can be expected to represent only a portion of the useful life of the equipment sold under prime contracts.

§ 1454.23 Application of exemption—(a) Prime contracts. The foregoing amended exemption has the effect of making the act applicable to prime contracts for new durable productive equipment only to the extent of that part of the amounts received or accrued in any fiscal year ending on or after June 30, 1953 which bears the same ratio to the total of such amounts received or accrued as five years bears to the average useful life of such equipment as set forth in Bulletin F of the Bureau of Internal Revenue (1942 edition) or, if an average useful life is not so set forth, then as estimated by the Board. A description of the methods of determining the amount of renegotiable business under prime contracts for new durable productive equipment is set forth in § 1456.4 (a) of this subchapter.

(b) Subcontracts. With respect to subcontracts for new durable productive equipment, amounts received or accrued in fiscal years ending on or after June 30, 1953 are exempt to the same extent as amounts received or accrued in fiscal years ending before that date. However, with respect to fiscal years ending on or after June 30, 1953, subcontracts under which the purchaser of new durable productive equipment has acquired such equipment for the account of the Government are not excluded from the term "subcontracts for new durable productive equipment", and therefore are within the partial exemption.

§ 1454.24 What constitutes durable productive equipment. For the purposes of the partial exemption set forth in section 106 (c) of the act, equipment is deemed to be durable if it has an average useful life of more than five years, and is deemed to be productive if it does not become a part of an end product, or of an article incorporated therein. It will be considered that equipment does not become a part of an end product, or of an article incorporated therein, if such equipment is capable of being "used in the processing of other materials" (compare last sentence of § 1452.4 (b) (1) of this subchapter).

§ 1454.25 What constitutes prime contract for new durable productive equipment; in general. A prime contract is one for new durable productive equipment if such equipment is new and has an average useful life of more than five years and, when acquired by the Government, is capable of being used in the processing of other materials. A prime contract for equipment which is not capable of being so used, although it is new and has an average useful life of more than five years, is not a prime contract for new durable productive equipment. Prime contracts for new durable productive equipment include pool orders and similar commitments.

§ 1454.26 What constitutes subcontract for new durable productive equipment; in general. A purchase order or agreement for new durable productive equipment is a subcontract subject to the act if such equipment is required for the performance of a prime contract or subcontract subject to the act.

§ 1454.27 Components of new durable productive equipment. In order for a prime contract or a subcontract to qualify as a prime contract or subcontract for new durable productive equipment, it is immaterial whether the equipment is used directly in the processing of an end product or of an article incorporated therein, or is incorporated in another item of such equipment.

§ 1454.28 Prime contracts and subcontracts related to prime contracts for new durable productive equipment. The extent to which the act applies to receipts or accruals from prime contracts and subcontracts for new durable productive equipment which is incorporated in another item of such equipment will be determined by reference to the average useful life of the equipment in question and not by reference to the life of the equipment of which it becomes a part. Prime contracts and subcontracts for equipment or other materials which are not new durable productive equipment are not covered by the exemption set forth in this part even though the equipment or other materials are incorporated in new durable productive equipment. The extent to which the act applies to receipts or accruals from such prime contracts and subcontracts will be determined according to the provisions of § 1456.5 of this subchapter.

§ 1454.29 Limitation on exemption of prime contracts for new durable productive equipment. Prime contracts for new durable productive equipment are not covered by the exemption set forth in this part when such equipment cannot practicably be adapted, converted or retooled for commercial use. (See § 1456.4 (a) (2) (i) of this subchapter.)

PART 1456—METHODS OF SEGREGATING RENEGOTIABLE AND NONRENEGOTIABLE SALES

This part is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1456.4 How to determine receipts or accruals subject to renegotiation; new durable productive equipment is amended by deleting paragraph (a) in its entirety and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

(a) Prime contracts. (1) With respect to fiscal years ending before June 30, 1953 (see Subpart A of Part 1454 of this subchapter), receipts and accruals under prime contracts for new durable productive equipment shall be determined in the same manner as receipts or accruals under all other prime contracts (see § 1456.3 (a)).

(2) With respect to fiscal years ending on or after June 30, 1953 (see Subpart B of Part 1454 of this subchapter), receipts and accruals under prime contracts for new durable productive equipment shall be determined in the following manner:

(i) The seller shall first classify such equipment according to whether it can or cannot be adapted, converted or retooled for commercial use. When the seller knows or ascertains that any such equipment cannot practicably be so adapted, converted or retooled, its sales of such equipment are not within the partial mandatory exemption but are wholly renegotiable and are not to be included in the calculation made pursuant to this subparagraph. Upon the request of the Board, the seller shall furnish such information and data available to the seller as the Board may require to enable it to determine whether the equipment can or cannot practicably be adapted, converted or retooled for commercial use.

(ii) Having determined which equipment can practicably be adapted, converted or retooled for commercial use, the seller shall then classify such equipment according to the average useful life thereof. Average useful life of new durable productive equipment shall be determined by reference to Bulletin F of the Bureau of Internal Revenue (1942 edition). If the average useful life of equipment of a particular type is not set forth in Bulletin F and if the Board has not yet made an estimate of the average useful life of equipment of such type, the seller shall estimate the average useful life of the equipment in question, taking into consideration the average useful life of comparable equipment as set forth in Bulletin F. It should be noted that equipment having an average useful life of 5 years or less is not covered by the partial mandatory exemption of prime contracts for new durable productive equipment.

(iii) The seller shall then determine the amount of receipts or accruals referable to each class of equipment having the same average useful life. The seller may make this determination on an over-all basis or on a contract by contract basis.

(iv) The seller shall next apply to the receipts or accruals determined in the manner set forth in subdivision (iii) of this subparagraph, with respect to each group of equipment having the same average useful life, a ratio equal to the ratio that 5 years bears to the average useful life of such equipment. The aggregate of the resulting figures represents the amount of the seller's renegotiable receipts or accruals from prime contracts for new durable productive equipment.

2. Section 1456.4 is further amended by deleting the last sentence of paragraph (b) (1) and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "It should be noted that with respect to fiscal years ending before June 30, 1953, equipment which is acquired by the purchaser for the account of the Government or which becomes a part of an end product acquired by the Government under a renegotiable prime contract, is not new durable productive equipment as defined in section 106 (c) of the act."

3. Section 1456.5 How to determine receipts or accruals subject to renegotiation; materials other than new durable productive equipment not incorporated in end product is amended by deleting the same in its entirety and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

§ 1456.5 How to determine receipts or accruals subject to renegotiation; materials other than new durable productive equipment not incorporated in end product. This section applies to materials which do not constitute new durable productive equipment and which are not incorporated in an end product delivered to a Department. Sales of such materials under prime contracts are wholly renegotiable unless otherwise exempted. Sales of such materials under subcontracts shall be considered renegotiable on the basis of the use of such materials (that is, whether the use is for renegotiable or non-renegotiable production). When the extent of the use cannot be readily established, such sales shall be considered renegotiable in substantially the same proportion as the production of the purchasers of such material is subject to renegotiation.

PART 1467—MANDATORY EXEMPTION OF CONTRACTS AND SUBCONTRACTS FOR STANDARD COMMERCIAL ARTERIES

Sec.
1467.1 Statutory provision.
1467.2 Basis of exemption.
1467.3 Application of exemption.
1467.4 Filing of information and data pertaining to standard commercial articles.
1467.5 Acceptability of report.
1467.6 Exemption denied when article fails to qualify as standard commercial article.
1467.7 Specific findings of sufficient competitive conditions.
1467.8 Specific findings of insufficient competitive conditions.
1467.9 Exemption not applicable to related subcontracts.

AUTHORITY: §§ 1467.1 to 1467.9 issued under sec. 109, 65 Stat. 22; 50 U. S. C. App. 1219. Interpret or apply sec. 106, 65 Stat. 17, Pub. Law 764, 83d Cong.; 50 U. S. C. App. 1216.

§ 1467.1 Statutory provision. Section 106 (a) (8) of the act (added by Pub. Law 764, 83d Cong., approved September 1, 1954) exempts the following:

(8) any contract or subcontract for the making or furnishing of a standard commercial article, unless the Board makes a specific finding that competitive conditions affecting the sale of such article are such as will not reasonably prevent excessive profits. This paragraph shall apply to any such contract or subcontract only if (1) the contractor or subcontractor files, at such time and in such form and detail as the Board shall by regulations prescribe, such information and data as may be required by the Board under its regulations for the purpose of enabling it to reach a decision with respect to the making of a specific finding under this paragraph, and (2) within a period of six months after the date of filing of such information and data, the Board fails to make a specific finding that competitive conditions affecting the sale of such article are such as will not reasonably prevent excessive profits, or (3) within such six-month period, the Board makes a specific finding that competitive conditions affecting the sale of such article are such as will reasonably prevent excessive profits. Any contractor or subcontractor may waive the exemption provided in this paragraph with respect to receipts or accruals in any fiscal year by including a statement to such effect in the financial statement filed by such contractor or subcontractor for such fiscal year pursuant to section 105 (e) (1). Any specific finding of the Board under this paragraph shall not be reviewed or redetermined by any court or agency other than by The Tax Court of the United States in a proceeding for a redetermination of the amount of excessive profits determined by an order of the Board. For the purpose of this paragraph—

(A) the term "article" includes any material, part, component, assembly, machinery, equipment, or other personal property;

(B) the term "standard commercial article" means an article—

(1) which, in the normal course of business, is customarily manufactured for stock, and is customarily maintained in stock by the manufacturer or any dealer, distributor, or other commercial agency for the marketing of such article; or

(2) which is manufactured and sold by more than two persons for general civilian industrial or commercial use, or which is identical in every material respect with an article so manufactured and sold;

(C) the term "identical in every material respect" means of the same kind, manufactured of the same or substitute materials, and having the same industrial or commercial use or uses, without necessarily being of identical specifications; and

(D) the term "persons" does not include any person under control of, or controlling, or under common control with any other person considered for the purposes of subparagraph (B) (2) of this paragraph.

[The statutory provision set forth above applies to contracts with the Departments and subcontracts only to the extent of the amounts received or accrued by a contractor or subcontractor after December 31, 1953.]

§ 1467.2 Basis of exemption. The basis of this exemption was stated as follows in the report of the Senate Committee on Finance ((1954) S. Rept. 643, 83d Cong. 4, to accompany H. R. 6287):

The Committee believes that in the case of standard commercial articles there is in most cases no basis or need for renegotiation since cost and pricing experience has already been acquired and prices made in a competitive market. It is believed that in the few cases where renegotiation is necessary to insure the Government against excessive prices, the public interest will be protected by giving the Board authority to make specific findings as to the lack of proper competitive conditions in such cases.

§ 1467.3 Application of exemption—(a) Effective date. The exemption provided in section 106 (a) (8) of the act, and the regulations contained in this part, are applicable only to amounts received or accrued after December 31, 1953 under prime contracts with the Departments and subcontracts. The exemption applies to such amounts without regard to whether such prime contracts or subcontracts were made on, before or after that date. Amounts received or accrued on or before December 31, 1953 under any such prime contracts or subcontracts are not exempt under this section.

(b) Effect. Pursuant to the foregoing exemption, when it is not waived by the contractor, receipts or accruals after the effective date under any prime contract or subcontract for the making or furnishing of a standard commercial article are exempt if the contractor files the Standard Commercial Article Report discussed in § 1467.4 within the time therein prescribed and if, within six months after such filing, the Board makes a specific finding that competitive conditions affecting the sale of such article are such as will reasonably prevent excessive profits, or fails within such six-month period to make a specific finding to the contrary.

(c) Procedure. When a contractor claims that the exemption provided in section 106 (a) (8) of the act is applicable to some or all of its receipts or accruals for a fiscal year, and the contractor does not waive the exemption, the applicability of the exemption to such receipts or accruals will be determined by the Board before the Board takes action with respect to any other receipts or accruals of the contractor in such fiscal year. To facilitate this procedure, the Board has prescribed that the amount of receipts or accruals claimed to be within the exemption shall be reported separately in the Standard Commercial Article Report discussed in § 1467.4 and may, for the purposes of such report, be estimated by the contractor.

(d) Initial treatment of standard commercial article sales. If the amounts received or accrued under prime contracts with the Departments and subcontracts during the fiscal year by the contractor and all related contractors, including receipts or accruals from sales of standard commercial articles, aggregate less than the applicable minimum amount for renegotiation prescribed in section 105 (f) (1) or (2) of the act, the contractor shall not file the Standard Commercial Article Report set forth in § 1467.4 but shall file the Statement of Non-Applicability set forth in § 1470.91 of this subchapter. Except as stated in the preceding sentence, every contractor who claims that the exemption provided in section 106 (a) (8) of the act is applicable to any of its receipts or accruals for a fiscal year, and who does not waive the exemption, shall file the Standard Commercial Article Report as provided in § 1467.4. If in addition the contractor has other renegotiable receipts or accruals in the same fiscal year, the contractor shall also file a financial statement pursuant to section 105 (e) (1) of the act with respect to such other receipts or accruals. Unless before such financial statement is filed the Board shall have determined that the exemption is not applicable to the receipts or accruals claimed by the contractor to be within the exemption, such receipts or accruals shall be excluded in computing the aggregate of the renegotiable receipts or accruals of the contractor and all related contractors in the fiscal year to which such statement relates and in determining whether for such fiscal year the contractor is required to file the Standard Form of Contractor's Report or the Statement of Non-Applicability.

(e) Waiver. Section 106 (a) (8) of the act provides that the exemption therein granted may be waived by the contractor with respect to receipts or accruals in any fiscal year by including a statement to such effect in the financial statement filed by such contractor for such fiscal year pursuant to section 105 (e) (1). Any such waiver made in the Standard Form of Contractor's Report shall be effective only with respect to the fiscal year to which such report relates, and shall not be effective for any other year. If the Board agrees to accept a waiver of this exemption from a contractor who has not included such waiver in its Standard Form of Contractor's Report, such waiver, when accepted, will be deemed a part of the Standard Form of Contractor's Report of such contractor with the same force and effect as if it had been set forth therein when such a report was filed. Once made, a waiver of this exemption may not be withdrawn except with the permission of the Board.

§ 1467.4 Filing of information and data pertaining to standard commercial articles—(a) Form. No special form of report is prescribed for the filing of information and data pertaining to prime contracts and subcontracts for standard commercial articles. However, the information and data described in paragraph (b) of this section will be known as the "Standard Commercial Article Report". The information and data required by this report may be furnished by letter or memorandum.

(b) Contents of Standard Commercial Article Report. The Standard Commercial Article Report shall contain the following information and data:

(1) A brief description of each article (by class) claimed to be exempt as a standard commercial article, including representative catalogs or brochures, if available.

(2) Actual or estimated net sales of each such article (by class) during the fiscal year under review under prime contracts with the Departments and subcontracts.

(3) A statement indicating whether the sales claimed to be exempt were made at prices equal to or higher or lower than the prices charged on sales of similar articles in comparable amounts for non-renegotiable use.

(c) Time for filing. (1) Except as set forth in the first sentence of § 1467.3 (d), every contractor who claims that the exemption provided in section 106 (a) (8) of the act is applicable to all of its receipts or accruals in a fiscal year under prime contracts with the Departments and subcontracts, and who does not waive the exemption, shall file the Standard Commercial Article Report as soon as practicable, either before or after the close of such fiscal year, but in no event later than the date upon which the contractor, if it did waive the exemption, would be required to file the Standard Form of Contractor's Report with respect to such fiscal year.

(2) If, in addition to receipts or accruals claimed to be within the exemption, the contractor also had other receipts or accruals in its fiscal year, the Standard Commercial Article Report may be filed, at the election of the contractor, at any time before the first day of the third calendar month following the close of such fiscal year. If the Standard Commercial Article Report is so filed, the contractor shall not be required to file its financial statement with respect to such other receipts or accruals until the date prescribed in § 1470.3 (d) (1) of this subchapter for the filing of such financial statement or until the thirtieth day after the contractor has received notice by registered mail of the action of the Board on the claim for exemption, whichever occurs later. If the Standard Commercial Article Report is not filed within the time specified in the first sentence of this subparagraph, it shall be filed by the contractor with its Standard Form of Contractor's Report or its Statement of Non-Applicability, as the case may be, for such fiscal year.

(d) Effect of filing. When the Standard Commercial Article Report is filed, it will be considered that the contractor has filed the information and data prescribed in paragraph (8) of section 106 (a) of the act and the six-month period prescribed in said paragraph will thereupon begin to run, except as provided in § 1467.5. A request by the Board for additional information pursuant to paragraph (e) of this section will not affect the running of such six-month period.

(e) Additional information. If the information contained in the Standard Commercial Article Report filed by the contractor, together with other information available to the Board, is not sufficient to enable the Board to determine whether the exemption is applicable, the Board will request the contractor to furnish such additional information, records or data which are considered by the Board to be necessary for such a determination. Such additional information may include, but is not limited to, all or any of the following:

(1) A statement that each article (by class) claimed to be exempt as a standard commercial article, in the normal course of business, is or is not customarily manufactured for stock, and is or is not customarily maintained in stock by the manufacturer or any dealer, distributor, or other commercial agency for the marketing of such article.

(2) If the statement required under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph is in the negative, set forth with respect to each such article (by class) the names and addresses of not less than two other persons, not related to the contractor and known or believed by the contractor to be not related to each other, who manufactured and sold such article (or an article identical therewith in every material respect) for general civilian industrial or commercial use during the fiscal year under review.

(3) If any such article was not manufactured and sold during the fiscal year by more than two persons for general civilian industrial or commercial use, but is claimed to be identical in every material respect with an article so manufactured and sold, set forth the information required by subparagraph (2) of this paragraph with respect to such other article, together with information sufficient to establish that both of such articles are of the same kind, are manufactured of the same or substitute materials, and have the same industrial or commercial use or uses.

(4) A statement indicating whether the prime contracts, if any, of the contractor for any such article were negotiated or resulted from formal advertising and competitive bidding in conformity with the requirements of section 3 of the Armed Services Procurement Act of 1947 (Pub. Law 413, 80th Cong.).

(5) A statement indicating whether the subcontracts, if any, of the contractor for any such article were negotiated or resulted from competitive bidding.

(6) Such other pertinent information and data as will, in the opinion of the contractor, tend to establish that competitive conditions affecting the sale of such article during the fiscal year under review were such as would reasonably prevent excessive profits.

§ 1467.5 Acceptability of report. If the Standard Commercial Article Report filed by any contractor is, in the opinion of the Board, incomplete or unsatisfactory in any material respect, the Board as soon as possible after the filing of such report will notify the contractor that exception has been taken thereto in such respect. Such filing will not be considered to be the filing of the information and data prescribed in paragraph (8) of section 106 (a) of the act, sufficient to start the running of the six-month period prescribed in said paragraph, and such period will not begin to run until such defect has been corrected. If the Standard Commercial Article Report contains a material misstatement of fact, the six-month period prescribed in section 106 (a) (8) of the act will not begin to run until such misstatement has been corrected, notwithstanding that the Board previously may have notified the contractor that such report had been accepted as complete and satisfactory.

§ 1467.6 Exemption denied when article fails to qualify as standard commercial article. If, within six months after the contractor files a Standard Commercial Article Report to which the Board has taken no exception, the Board determines that any article included therein is not a standard commercial article as that term is defined in section 106 (a) (8) of the act, the Board will give notice of such determination to the contractor by registered mail and will advise the contractor that the sales of such article in the fiscal year under review are not exempt under section 106 (a) (8) of the act.

§ 1467.7 Specific findings of sufficient competitive conditions. If, within six months after the contractor files a Standard Commercial Article Report to which the Board has taken no exception, the Board determines that any article included in such report is a standard commercial article and makes a specific finding that competitive conditions affecting the sale of such article during the fiscal year under review were such as would reasonably prevent excessive profits, the Board will give notice of such determination and finding to the contractor by registered mail and, except as provided in the last sentence of § 1467.5, the exemption of all sales of such article so reported shall thereupon become fixed and final and the receipts or accruals from such sales will not be renegotiated.

§ 1467.8 Specific findings of insufficient competitive conditions—(a) When Board fails to make specific finding. If, within six months after the contractor files a Standard Commercial Article Report to which the Board has taken no exception, the Board fails to determine that any article claimed by the contractor to be a standard commercial article is not a standard commercial article as that term is defined in section 106 (a) (8) of the act, or fails to make a specific finding that competitive conditions affecting the sale of such article during the fiscal year under review were such as would not reasonably prevent excessive profits, then, except as provided in the last sentence of § 1467.5, the exemption of all sales so reported shall thereupon become fixed and final and the receipts or accruals derived from such sales will not be renegotiated.

(b) When Board makes specific finding. If, within six months after the contractor files a Standard Commercial Article Report to which the Board has taken no exception, the Board makes a specific finding that competitive conditions affecting the sale of any standard commercial article included in such report were such as would not reasonably prevent excessive profits, the Board will give notice of such finding to the contractor by registered mail and will advise the contractor that the sales of such article in the fiscal year under review are not exempt under section 106 (a) (8) of the act.

§ 1467.9 Exemption not applicable to related subcontracts—(a) Statutory provision. Section 106 (a) (7) of the act exempts the following:

(7) any subcontract directly or indirectly under a contract or subcontract to which this title does not apply by reason of any paragraph, other than paragraph (8), of this subsection;

[Matter in italics added by Pub Law 764, 83d Cong., approved September 1, 1954, and applies to contracts with the Departments and subcontracts only to the extent of the amounts received or accrued by a contractor or subcontractor after December 31, 1953.]

(b) Effect. The exemption provided in paragraph (8) of section 106 (a) of the act is limited to prime contracts and subcontracts with respect to which the conditions prescribed in said paragraph are shown to exist. It does not extend to related subcontracts. With respect to any such subcontracts, the exemption, if claimed, must be independently established.

PART 1470—PRELIMINARY INFORMATION REQUIRED OF CONTRACTORS

SECTION 1470.3 Filing of financial statement is amended in the following respects:

1. Paragraph (a) Form and paragraph (b) By whom filed are deleted in their entirety and the following is inserted in lieu thereof:

(a) When renegotiable sales exceed statutory "floor". In accordance with the requirements of the first sentence of section 105 (e) (1) of the act, the "Standard Form of Contractor's Report" is hereby prescribed as the form of financial statement required to be filed by every person who holds renegotiable prime contracts or subcontracts when the aggregate renegotiable receipts or accruals of such person and all other persons under control of or controlling or under common control with such person exceed the applicable minimum amount for renegotiation prescribed in section 105 (f) (1) or (2) of the act. This includes brokers and manufacturers' agents and other whose principal business falls within the definition of subcontracts set forth in section 103 (g) (3) of the act. The Standard Form of Contractor's Report is composed of two parts (RB1 and RB 1B). No special form is prescribed for construction contractors, architects and engineers. Such contractors shall adapt the Standard Form of Contractor's Report to their particular needs.

(b) When renegotiable sales are less than statutory "floor". In accordance with the requirements of the first sentence of section 105 (e) (1) of the act, the "Statement of Non-Applicability of the Renegotiation Act of 1951, as amended" (as set forth in § 1470.91) is hereby prescribed as the form of financial statement required to be filed by every person who holds renegotiable prime contracts or subcontracts when the aggregate renegotiable receipts or accruals of such person and all other persons under control of or controlling or under common control with such person do not exceed the applicable minimum amount for renegotiation prescribed in section 105 (f) (1) or (2) of the act.

2. Paragraph (d) Time for filing is amended by deleting subparagraph (1) in its entirety and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

(1) In general. The Standard Form of Contractor's Report, including both RB Form 1 and RB Form 1B, or the Statement of Non-Applicability, whichever is appropriate, shall be filed on or before the first day of the fifth calendar month following the close of the fiscal year of the contractor, whether or not any specific request for filing has been made.

3. A new § 1470.91 is added to read as follows:

§ 1470.91 Statement of non-applicability of the Renegotiation Act of 1951, as amended.

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter VII—Commodity Stabilization Service (Farm Marketing Quotas), Department of Agriculture

PART 728—WHEAT

SUBPART—1955-1956 MARKETING YEAR

MINIMUM ALLOTMENTS FOR SUMMER FALLOW FARMS

The amendment herein is issued pursuant to the Agricultural Act of 1954 and is for the purpose of establishing minimum 1955 farm wheat acreage allotments in areas where a summer fallow crop rotation of wheat is a common practice for farms on which such rotation was practiced with respect to the 1952 and 1953 crops of wheat.

Since farmers in many of the summer fallow areas are now preparing to seed wheat for the 1955 crop, it is imperative that they be notified of this amendment and of any revised farm acreage allotments resulting therefrom as soon as possible. Accordingly, it is hereby found that compliance with the public notice, procedure, and 30-day effective date provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act is impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and the amendment herein shall become effective upon filing of this document with the Director, Division of the Federal Register.

The regulations pertaining to farm acreage allotments for the 1955 crop (19 F. R. 3249) are amended by adding a new section as follows:

§ 728.528 Minimum allotments for summer fallow farms. (a) Notwithstanding the provisions of §§ 728.510 to 728.527, in the States of California, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Washington, and Wyoming, which are areas in which a summer fallow crop rotation of wheat is a common practice, the minimum farm acreage allotment for any farm on which a summer fallow crop rotation of wheat was practiced with respect to the 1952 and 1953 crops of wheat shall be established as provided in this section. A fallow wheat acreage shall be determined for each eligible farm by taking 50 per centum of:

(1) The base acreage determined for the farm under § 728.516, plus

(2) The average of the acreage summer fallowed during the calendar year 1951 for the seeding of wheat for 1952 and the acreage summer fallowed during the calendar year 1952 for the seeding of wheat for 1953: Provided, That if the wheat acreage for one of the years 1952 and 1953 was eliminated in determining the 1955 base acreage for the farm under paragraph (b) (5) of § 728.516, the acreage summer fallowed during the immediately preceding calendar year for the production of wheat shall be eliminated in computing the fallow wheat acreage under this section. No acreage shall be included under this paragraph which is not cropland well suited for wheat. The fallow wheat acreage for any farm under this section shall not exceed 50 per centum of the cropland on the farm well suited for wheat, but this limitation shall not apply to any farm on which at least 90 per centum of the wheat acreage for 1952 and 1953 was seeded on land which was summer fallowed during the years 1951 and 1952, respectively, and for which a definite and regular alternate wheat and summer fallow crop rotation practice was determined under §§ 728.510 to 728.526.

(b) The minimum farm acreage allotment shall be established by multiplying the fallow wheat acreage or 640 acres, whichever is smaller, by the factor 0.674 (the ratio which the national acreage allotment for wheat for the 1955 crop bears to the national average seedings for the production of wheat for the years 1952 and 1953) and adding thereto the acreage in the fallow wheat acreage in excess of 640 acres multiplied by the county factor determined under § 728.517.

(c) The acreage required for the minimum farm allotments provided for in this section shall, to the extent that the allotment to any county is insufficient to provide for such minimum farm allotments, be in addition to the county, State, and national acreage allotments.

729.603 Apportionment of the national peanut acreage allotment for the crop produced in the calendar year 1955.

AUTHORITY: §§ 729.601 to 729.603 issued under sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 1375. Interpret or apply secs. 301, 358, 359, 361–368, 372, 373, 374, 376, 388, 52 Stat. 38, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 68, as amended; 55 Stat. 88, as amended, 66 Stat. 27; 7 U. S. C. 1301, 1358, 1359, 1361–1368, 1372, 1373, 1374, 1376, 1388.

§ 729.601 Basis and purpose. (a) Section 358 (a) of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, provides that between July 1 and December 1 of each calendar year the Secretary of Agriculture shall proclaim a national marketing quota for peanuts for the crop produced in the next succeeding calendar year in terms of the total quantity of peanuts which will make available for marketing a supply of peanuts from the crop with respect to which the quota is proclaimed equal to the average quantity of peanuts harvested for nuts during the immediately preceding five years, adjusted for current trends and prospective demand conditions. Section 358 (a) further provides that the national marketing quota established for the crop produced in the calendar year 1941 shall be a quantity of peanuts sufficient to provide a national acreage allotment of not less than 1,610,000 acres, and that the national marketing quota established for any subsequent year shall be a quantity of peanuts sufficient to provide a national acreage allotment of not less than that established for the crop produced in the calendar year 1941.

(b) Except for the preceding limitation, the national marketing quota would be 648,000 tons and the national acreage allotment would be 1,408,696 acres. In order to obtain the minimum national acreage allotment of 1,610,000 acres, the national marketing quota must be set at 740,600 tons. Section 358 (a) also provides that the national marketing quota shall be converted to a national acreage allotment by dividing such quota by the normal yield per acre for the United States.

(c) Section 358 (c) of the said act provides that the national acreage allotment, less the acreage to be allotted to new farms under section 358 (f), shall be apportioned among the States on the basis of their share of the national acreage allotment for the most recent year in which such apportionment was made.

(d) Section 729.602 of this proclamation establishes the national marketing quota, the normal yield per acre, and the national acreage allotment for the 1955 crop of peanuts. Section 729.603 apportions the 1955 national acreage allotment among the several peanut-producing States. The determinations in these sections are based on the latest available statistics of the Federal Government.

(e) Public notice of the proposed proclamation and determinations to be made with respect to the 1955 national marketing quota, the national acreage allotment, and apportionment of such allotment among the States was given (19 F. R. 5062) in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act. The proclamation is made after due consideration of recommendations submitted in response to such notice.

§ 729.602 Proclamation and determination with respect to national marketing quota, normal yield per acre, and national acreage allotment for peanuts for the crop produced in the calendar year 1955—(a) National marketing quota. The amount of the national marketing quota for peanuts for the crop produced in the calendar year 1955 is 740,600 tons.

(ii) Workers between 14 and 16 years of age when employed on a day basis. For workers between 14 and 16 years of age, the wage rate per 8-hour day (maximum employment is 8 hours per day for such workers without deduction from Sugar Act payments to the producer) shall be not less than three-fourths of the applicable day wage rate for adults provided under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph.

(iii) Hourly rates. Where workers are employed on an hourly basis, the wage rate per hour shall be determined by dividing the applicable day wage rate in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph by 9 in the case of adult workers, and three-fourths of such rate by 8 in the case of workers between 14 and 16 years of age.

(iv) Other piecework rates. The piecework rate for any operation specified in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph, when performed on a unit basis other than a ton, or the piecework rate for any operation not specified shall be that as agreed upon between the producer and the worker: Provided, That for such agreed upon piecework rate the hourly rate of earnings of each worker, for the time involved, shall be not less than the applicable hourly rate specified in subdivision (iii) of this subparagraph.

(v) Determination of average sugar prices. The four-week average price of raw sugar shall be determined by taking the simple average of the daily "spot" quotations of 96° raw sugar of the Louisiana Sugar Exchange, Inc., adjusted to a 100 pound basis; except that if the Director of the Sugar Division determines that for any four-week period such average price does not reflect the true market value of raw sugar, because of inadequate volume, failure to report sales in accordance with the rules of such Exchange or other factors, the Director may designate the average price to be effective under this determination. For the purpose of this determination, the average price of raw sugar prevailing during the period from August 20 through September 16, 1954 shall determine the wage rates from September 17 through October 14, 1954, and thereafter the wage rates in successive four-week periods shall be determined by the average price of raw sugar prevailing in the immediately preceding four-weeek period.

(2) Compensable working time. For work performed under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, compensable working time includes all time which the worker sends in the performance of his duties except time taken out for meals during the work day. Compensable working time commences at the time the worker is required to start work and ends upon completion of work in the field. However, if the producer requires the operator of mechanical equipment, driver of animals, or any other class of worker to report to a place other than the field, such as an assembly point, tractor shed, etc., located on the farm, time spent in transit to and from the field is compensable working time. Any time spent in performing work directly related to the principal work performed by the worker, such as servicing equipment, is compensable working time. Time of the worker while being transported from a central recruiting point or labor camp to the farm is not compensable working time.

(3) Equipment necessary to perform work assignment. The producer shall furnish without cost to the worker any equipment required in the performance of any work assignment. However, a charge may be made for equipment furnished any worker for the cost of such equipment in the event of its loss or destruction through negligence of the worker. Equipment includes, but is not limited to, hand and mechanical tools and special wearing apparel, such as boots and raincoats, required to discharge the work assignment.

(4) Perquisites. In addition to the foregoing, the producer shall furnish to the worker, without charge, the perquisites customarily furnished by him, such as a habitable house, medical attention, and similar items.

(b) Subterfuge. The producer shall not reduce the wage rates to workers below those determined herein through any subterfuge or device whatsoever.

(c) Claim for unpaid wages. Any person who believes he has not been paid in accordance with this determination may file a wage claim with the local County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office against the producer on whose farm the work was performed. Detailed instructions and wage claim forms are available at that office. Upon receipt of a wage claim the county office shall thereupon notify the producer against whom the claim is made concerning the representation made by the worker. The County ASC Committee shall arrange for such investigation as it deems necessary and the producer and worker shall be notified in writing of its recommendation for settlement of the claim. If either party is not satisfied with the recommended settlement, an appeal may be made to the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office, 1517 Sixth Street, Alexandria, Louisiana, which shall likewise consider the facts and notify the producer and worker in writing of its recommendation for settlement of the claim. If the recommendation of the State ASC Committee is not acceptable, either party may file an appeal with the Director of the Sugar Division, Commodity Stabilization Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C. All such appeals shall be filed within 15 days after receipt of the recommended settlement from the respective committee, otherwise such recommended settlement will be applied in making payments under the act. If a claim is appealed to the Director of the Sugar Division, his decision shall be binding on all parties insofar as payments under the act are concerned.

(d) The Deputy Administrator for Production Adjustment of the Commodity Stabilization Service will issue such instructions to the State Office as may be necessary to effectuate the purpose of this determination.

STATEMENT OF BASES AND CONSIDERATIONS

(a) General. The foregoing determination provides fair and reasonable wage rates which a producer in Louisiana must pay, as a minimum, for work performed by persons employed on the farm in the harvesting of the 1954 crop of sugarcane and in the production and cultivation of sugarcane during the 1955 calendar year, as one of the conditions for payment under the act.

(b) Requirements of the act and standards employed. In determining fair and reasonable wage rates the act requires that a public hearing be held, that investigations be made, and that consideration be given to (1) the standards formerly established by the Secretary under the Agricultural Adjustment Act, as amended (i. e., cost of living, prices of sugar and by-products, income from sugarcane and cost of production), and (2) the differences in conditions among various sugar-producing areas.

(c) 1954 harvest and 1955 production and cultivation wage determination. This determination continues unchanged the provisions of the 1953 harvest and 1954 production and cultivation wage determination except for clarification in language of the provision relating to compensable working time. The revision in no way affects the meaning or intent of the requirement in the prior determination.

A public hearing was held in Thibodaux, Louisiana, on July 28, 1954, at which interested persons presented testimony with respect to fair and reasonable wage rates for harvesting the 1954 crop of sugarcane and for the production and cultivation of sugarcane during the calendar year 1955. At this hearing producer representatives recommended no change from any of the provisions of the 1953 harvest and 1954 production and cultivation wage determination. The representatives stated that these recommendations were based primarily on continuing low net income from sugarcane, the adequacy of the wage-price escalator in distributing increased income to workers, and increased unit costs of production as a result of restrictive farm proportionate shares. The representatives of labor unions did not make specific wage recommendations, but suggested an examination of the administration of the wage provisions with the view to giving workers greater protection.

Consideration has been given to the recommendations and supporting testimony presented at the public hearing, to the standards customarily considered in wage determinations, to information obtained through investigations and to the returns, costs, and profits representative of the larger sugarcane growers who produce the bulk of the crop. Information available indicates that there have been no significant changes in production methods during the past year. Testimony at the public hearing and other information indicates that a large number of producers have been paying wages higher than the rates specified in the wage determinations for time and piecework. An analysis of returns, costs, and profits indicates that the average producer of sugarcane has the ability to pay the wage rates of the determination although the indicated net profit per ton of sugarcane is rather small.

After consideration of all the factors, the wage rates and other provisions of this determination are considered to be fair and reasonable.

Accordingly, I hereby find and conclude that the foregoing wage determination will effectuate the wage provisions of the Sugar Act, as amended.

HORSES

Pursuant to the provisions of section 201, Paragraph 1606 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (19 U. S. C. 1201, Par. 1606), recognition of the book of record of purebred Arabian and Thoroughbred horses entitled "Stud Book Argentino," published by the Jockey Club, Florida 571, Buenos Aires, Argentina (Dr. Agustin Alsina, Secretary General), is hereby withdrawn, and paragraph (a) of § 151.10, as amended, of the regulations governing the recognition of breeds and books of record of purebred animals (9 CFR 151.10 (a), as amended), is hereby further amended by removing the name of the said stud book from the list of books of record for the Arabian and Thoroughbred breeds under the subheading "Horses."

The above action is necessary because the "Stud Book Argentino" and its sponsoring organization no longer exist. Accordingly, pursuant to provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003), it is found, upon good cause, that notice and other public procedure in connection with this amendment are impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest, and good cause is found for making the amendment effective less than thirty days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Such notice or hearing is not required by any other statute.

The foregoing amendment shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

TITLE 12—BANKS AND BANKING

Chapter II—Federal Reserve System

Subchapter A—Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System

[Reg. K]

PART 211—BANKING CORPORATIONS AUTHORIZED TO DO FOREIGN BANKING BUSINESS UNDER SECTION 25 (a), FEDERAL RESERVE ACT

1. Effective September 29, 1954, Part 211 (Regulation K) is hereby amended in the following respects:

a. By adding the following new paragraph (c) after paragraph (b) of § 211.11, and relettering the present paragraph (c) to (d):

(c) Notwithstanding paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, a corporation may, at its option, comply with the following requirements in lieu of those stated in said paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section:

(1) The corporation shall not engage, either within the United States or abroad, in the business of receiving deposits.

(2) Loans or other credits acquired or guaranteed by the corporation shall have a maturity of not more than 5 years at the time they are so acquired or guaranteed: Provided, however, That this limitation shall not apply (i) to a loan or other credit, or any scheduled installment of a loan or credit, maturing within 10 years, but the aggregate amount of loans or credits or installments of loans or credits excepted under this subdivision shall not exceed 100 percent of the corporation's capital and surplus; or (ii) to other loans or credits, or scheduled installments of loans or credits, maturing within 10 years to the extent that they are secured or covered by unconditional guaranties, commitments or agreements to take over or purchase made by the United States or by any department or establishment of, or corporation wholly owned by, the United States.

(3) The corporation shall carry on its business in accordance with sound financial policies including, among other considerations, a proper regard to the relationship between its assets and the maturities of its obligations, so as to give reasonable assurance that the corporation will be in a position to pay its obligations as they mature.

(4) All obligations of any kind, regardless of maturity or payee, issued by the corporation shall contain a provision, or shall be issued under an agreement, which shall provide that the corporation will not, during the time any such obligations remain outstanding:

(i) Issue any obligations if immediately thereafter the assets of the corporation, excluding notes, drafts, bills of exchange and other evidences of indebtedness that are in default as to either principal or interest, would be less than 110% of the aggregate principal amount of all obligations of the corporation;

(ii) Mortgage, pledge or otherwise subject any of its assets to any lien or charge to secure any indebtedness for borrowed money or to secure any other obligation of the corporation, unless each person holding any of the corporation's unsecured obligations, which would remain outstanding after such transaction, either grants his consent or is provided with security substantially equivalent in value to that provided by such mortgage, pledge, lien or charge;

(iii) Sell, lease, assign or otherwise dispose of all or substantially all its assets; or

(iv) Declare or pay any dividend (other than a dividend payable in stock of the corporation) or authorize or make any other distribution on any stock of the corporation otherwise than out of the earned surplus of the corporation as determined in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

b. By adding the following sentence at the end of paragraph (a) of § 211.15: "In the case of a corporation which does not engage, either within the United States or abroad, in the business of receiving deposits, the limitations contained in this paragraph regarding the total liabilities of one borrower (1) shall be increased from 10 percent to 20 percent, and (2) shall not apply to the extent that the liabilities are secured or covered by unconditional guaranties, commitments or agreements to take over or to purchase, made by the United States or by any department or establishment of, or corporation wholly owned by, the United States."

2. a. The purposes of the amendments are to permit corporations organized under section 25 (a) of the Federal Reserve Act, as amended (12 U. S. C. 611–631), which do not receive deposits, to issue unsecured obligations subject to certain specific conditions, and to be subject to a less restrictive limitation on loans.

b. The amendments set forth herein were the subject of a notice of proposed rule making published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (19 F. R. 5063), and were adopted by the Board after consideration of all the relevant matter, including the data, views and arguments received from interested persons. The deferred effective date described in section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act is not followed in connection with these amendments for the reasons and good cause found as stated in the Board's rules of procedure (12 CFR 262.2 (e)), and especially because in connection with these permissive amendments such procedure is unnecessary as it would not aid the persons affected and would serve no other useful purpose.

§ 230.216 Securities exempted. (a) Except as hereinafter provided in this section, securities issued by any of the following persons shall be exempt from registration under the act if offered in accordance with the terms and conditions of §§ 230.215 to 230.224: (1) Any resident of the United States having his or its principal business operation in the United States, or (2) in the case of an offering to existing security holders on a pro rata basis pursuant to warrants or rights, any direct or indirect majority owned subsidiary of any resident of the United States whose principal business operations are in the United States and which has securities registered for trading on a national securities exchange pursuant to the provisions of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934.

2. Rule 217 of Regulation A would be amended to read as follows:

§ 230.217 Amount of securities exempted. (a) The aggregate offering price of all of the following securities of (i) the issuer, (ii) its predecessors and (iii) all of its affiliates which were organized, or became affiliates of the issuer, within the past 2 years, shall not exceed $300,000:

(1) All securities of such persons presently being offered under §§ 230.215 to 230.224, §§ 230.500 to 230.510, or specified in the notification under § 230.218 or § 230.503 as proposed to be so offered;

(2) All securities of such persons previously sold pursuant to an offering under §§ 230.215 to 230.224, or §§ 230.500 to 230.510, commenced within one year prior to the commencement of the proposed offering:

* * * * * *

(e) * * * or (iii) in the case of an offering by an issuer to existing security holders on a pro rata basis pursuant to warrants or rights that portion of the offering made outside of the United States.

All interested persons are hereby invited to submit views and comments on the proposed amendments in writing to the Securities and Exchange Commission, 425 Second Street, NW., Washington 25, D. C., on or before October 15, 1954. Views or comments received will be available for public inspection unless in any case a person requests that his views or comments shall not be made public.

FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION

[File No. 21–468]

BRICK, STRUCTURAL CLAY TILE, AND ALLIED PRODUCTS INDUSTRIES

NOTICE OF TRADE PRACTICE CONFERENCE

Notice is hereby given that a trade practice conference for the Brick, Structural Clay Tile, and Allied Products Industries will be held by the Federal Trade Commission in Room 332 of the Federal Trade Commission Building, Pennsylvania Avenue at Sixth Street NW., Washington, D. C., on October 27, 1954, commencing at 10:00 a. m., e. s. t.

The purpose of the conference is to afford members of the industries concerned an opportunity to cooperate with the Commission in formulating and establishing a comprehensive set of trade practice rules for such industries in substitution for rules promulgated by the Commission for the Common Brick, Face Brick, and Structural Clay Products Industries on July 19, 1931, August 17, 1931, and August 29, 1931 respectively. The new rules, if and when promulgated, will reflect present legal requirements and Commission policy and have as their purpose the elimination and prevention of such unfair competitive methods, and unfair or deceptive acts or practices, as may prevail in the several industries affected.

The principal industry products are face brick, common (backup) brick, and all other kinds of structural brick, structural clay tile; and structural non-clay products related to brick and tile. All persons, firms, corporations and organizations engaged in the manufacture, sale, offering for sale, or distribution of such industry products are cordially invited to attend and participate in the conference proceedings.

After the conference on October 27th, and prior to final rules being approved by the Commission, a draft of proposed rules in appropriate form will be made available to all affected or interested parties, including consumers, upon public notice affording them opportunity to present their views, criticisms, and suggestions respecting the rules, and to be heard at a public hearing.

Issued: September 30, 1954.

By direction of the Commission.

Secretary.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File No. 70-3299]

WISCONSIN ELECTRIC POWER CO. AND WISCONSIN MICHIGAN POWER CO.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED ISSUANCE AND SALE OF FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS AND OF COMMON STOCK, AND ACQUISITION OF SUCH STOCK BY PARENT

SEPTEMBER 28, 1954.

Notice is hereby given that a joint application-declaration has been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act"), by Wisconsin Electric Power Company ("Wisconsin Electric"), a registered holding company, and one of its public-utility subsidiaries, Wisconsin Michigan Power Company ("Wisconsin Michigan"). Applicants-declarants have designated sections 6, 7, 9, 10, and 12 of the act and Rules U-43, U-46, and U-50 thereunder as applicable to the proposed transactions.

All interested persons are referred to said application-declaration which is on file in the office of this Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which are summarized as follows:

Wisconsin Michigan proposes to issue and sell, pursuant to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50, $3,000,000 principal amount of First Mortgage Bonds, -- Percent Series due 1984, to be dated October 15, 1954, and to mature October 15, 1984. The bonds will be issued under and secured by the company's Mortgage and Deed of Trust dated July 15, 1936, as heretofore supplemented and amended and as to be further supplemented by a Sixth Supplemental Indenture to be dated October 15, 1954.

Wisconsin Michigan also proposes to issue an additional 125,000 shares of its Common Stock of the par value of $20 per share of which 50,000 shares are to be sold to Wisconsin Electric for $1,000,000, the aggregate par value thereof, and the remaining 75,000 shares are to be issued to Wisconsin Electric as a stock dividend. As to the proposed stock dividend, Wisconsin Michigan will, by the issuance of such stock, convert its capital surplus amounting to $42,942 and $1,457,058 of its earned surplus into an equivalent aggregate amount of additional par value common stock. Wisconsin Michigan states that at June 30, 1954, it had earned surplus of $2,725,983 and believes that the remaining earned surplus, estimated at over $1,200,000 after completion of the proposed transactions, will be adequate for Wisconsin Michigan's needs.

According to the filing Wisconsin Michigan desires to effect the proposed sale of bonds and stock to secure capital funds needed to meet expenditures required for additions, extensions and improvements to its utility plant and to retire short-term promisory notes aggregating $1,700,000 which will mature on November 30, 1954 and December 5, 1954.

The filing states that Wisconsin Michigan has filed applications with the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin and the Michigan Public Service Commission for approval of the issue and sale of the proposed securities. Wisconsin Electric has filed an application with the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin for approval of the acquisition of the common stock of Wisconsin Michigan. It is represented that no other State or Federal commission other than this Commission has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions.

No fees, commissions or expenses are to be paid in connection with the proposed transactions by Wisconsin Electric, other than routine clerical and incidental expenses. Wisconsin Michigan estimates that the fees and expenses to be paid by it in connection with the proposed issuance and sale of bonds and common stock will aggregate $51,250 including $14,500 for printing and engraving, $9,500 for legal fees and expenses and $5,000 for accountants fees and expenses.

The estimated fees and expenses of the firm of Cahill, Gordon, Reindel and Ohl, selected as counsel for the successful bidders for the bonds are to be supplied by amendment.

It is requested that this Commission issue its order granting the application and permitting the declaration to become effective on October 18, 1954.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than October 14, 1954, at 5:30 p. m., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the reasons for such request, the nature of his interest and the issues of fact or law raised by said joint application-declaration which he desires to controvert, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C. At any time after October 14, 1954, said joint application-declaration, as filed or as amended, may be granted and permitted to become effective as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may exempt such transactions as provided in Rule U-20 (a) and U-100 thereof.

By the Commission.

(j) When the value of the repairs, alterations, or processing is $500 or less, although any bill or statement of cost received by the importer shall be produced to the collector, no statement, or declaration, such as is provided for in paragraph (i) of this section need be filed under ordinary circumstances.

(k) There shall be filed in connection with the entry the certificate of registration (customs Form 4455), and a declaration made by the consignee, owner, or an agent having knowledge of the facts that the articles entered in their repaired, altered, or processed condition are the same articles covered by the certificate of registration. This declaration shall also show that the full cost or (when no charge is made) fair market value of the repairs, alterations, or processing is correctly stated in the entry. (l) In any case where an imported article was exported for repairs, alterations, or processing without compliance with the registration requirements of this section, the collector may waive such evidence if he is satisfied that the returned merchandise is entitled to entry under paragraph 1615 (g) (1) or (2), and that the failure to comply with the registration requirements was due to inadvertence, mistake, or inexperience, and not to negligence or bad faith.

(m) Collectors shall require at the time of entry a deposit of estimated duties based upon the full cost or fair market value, as the case may be, of the repairs, alterations, or processing.

(Sec. 201 (par. 1616), 46 Stat. 674, as amended; 19 U. S. C. 1201 (par. 1615))

4. Footnote 6, appended to § 10.8, is amended to read as follows:

"(g) (1) Any article exported from the United States for repairs or alterations may be returned upon the payment of a duty upon the value of the repairs or alterations at the rate or rates which would apply to the article itself in its repaired or altered condition if not within the purview of this subparagraph (g).

"(2) If—

"(A) any article of metal (except precious metal) manufactured in the United States or subjected to a process of manufacture in the United States is exported for further processing; and

"(B) the exported article as processed outside the United States, or the article which results from the processing outside the United States, as the case may be, is returned to the United States for further processing, then such article may be returned upon the payment of a duty upon the value of such processing outside the United States at the rate or rates which would apply to such article itself if it were not within the purview of this subparagraph (g).

"(3) This subparagraph (g) shall not apply to any article exported—

"(A) from bonded warehouse or from continuous customs custody elsewhere than bonded warehouse with remission, abatement, or refund of duty;

"(B) with benefit of drawback through substitution or otherwise; or

"(C) for the purpose of complying with any law of the United States or regulation of any Federal agency requiring exportation.

"(4) For the purposes of this subparagraph (g), the value of repairs, alterations, or processing outside the United States shall be considered to be—

"(A) the cost to the importer of such repairs, alterations, or processing; or

"(B) if no charge is made, the value of such repairs, alterations, or processing, as set out in the invoice and entry papers; except that, if the Secretary of the Treasury concludes that the amount so set out does not represent a reasonable cost or fair value, as the case may be, then the value of the repairs, alterations, or processing shall be determined in accordance with section 402 of this Act. No appraisement of the imported article in its repaired, altered, or processed condition shall be required unless necessary to a determination of the rate or rates of duty applicable to such article.

"(h) The allowance of total or partial exemption from duty under any provision of this paragraph shall be subject to such regulations as to proof of identity and compliance with the conditions of this paragraph as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe." PART 10—ARTICLES CONDITIONALLY FREE, SUBJECT TO A REDUCED RATE, ETC.

TEMPORARY IMPORTATIONS UNDER BOND

Section 10.31, Customs Regulations, relating to certain vehicles and craft imported temporarily by nonresidents to take part in races or other specific contests, amended.

To conform to changes effected by Public Law No. 694, 83d Congress, approved August 28, 1954, amending section 308 (5) of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended, the following amendments of the Customs Regulations are made to permit the admission of certain vehicles and craft for not over 90 days without formal entry or security for their exportation, when brought in by nonresidents to take part in races or other specific contests for which no money purses are awarded.

1. Section 10.31 of the Customs Regulations is amended by redesignating paragraphs (b), (c), (d), and (e) as (e), (f), (g), and (h), respectively, and by inserting new paragraphs (b), (c), and (d), to read as follows:

(b) The collector, if he is satisfied as to the importer's identity and good faith, may admit a vehicle or craft brought in by a nonresident to take part in a race or other specific contest for which no money purse is awarded, under the provisions of section 308 (5), Tariff Act of 1930, as amended, without formal entry or security for exportation. In such cases the collector shall issue to the importer a certificate on customs Form 4447, which shall be delivered with the article covered thereby to the customs officer at the port of exit at the time of departure. If at the time of arrival it appears that the article is likely to remain in the United States beyond 90 days, formal entry and bond shall be taken.

(c) When any article has been admitted without formal entry or security for exportation and the importer thereafter desires to prolong his stay beyond 90 days, an entry covering the article and security for its exportation shall be accepted at any port where the article may be presented for examination. Whenever an entry is substituted under the provisions of this paragraph for a certificate on customs Form 4447, the time during which the imported article may remain in the United States under the entry shall be computed from the date of original arrival in the United States and the article shall be appraised according to its value at the time of such arrival.

(d) In the case of a foreign-owned automobile or motorcycle, the registration card therefor may be taken up in lieu of the issuance of customs Form 4447, if the owner so desires, provided the collector is satisfied that the article concerned will leave the United States via the same route within 90 days.

2. The quotation of subdivision 5 of section 308, as amended, appearing in footnote 34, appended to § 10.31 (a), is amended to read as follows:

"(5) Automobiles, motorcycles, bicycles, airplanes, airships, balloons, boats, racing shells, and similar vehicles and craft, and the usual equipment of the foregoing; all the foregoing which are brought temporarily into the United States by nonresidents for the purpose of taking part in races or other specific contests; and, in the case of vehicles and craft entered under this subdivision to take part in races or other specific contests for other than money purses, collectors of customs, under such regulations as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe, may defer the exaction of a bond for not to exceed ninety days after the date of importation, but unless such vehicle or craft is exported or the bond is given within the period of such deferment, such vehicle or craft shall be subject to forfeiture.

The foregoing amendments of § 10.31 contemplate the use of a revised customs Form 4447. The present supply of this form shall be used, appropriately modified, until such supply is exhausted and the revised form is issued.

PART 14—APPRAISEMENT

ANTIDUMPING ACT; DETERMINATION OF INJURY

Section 14.17, Customs Regulations, relating to procedure under the Antidumping Act, amended.

The Antidumping Act, 1921, has been amended by the Customs Simplification Act of 1954 to transfer determination of injury in dumping cases to the Tariff Commission, effective October 1, 1954. In order to provide for the operation of the new law, the following amendment is being made effective at this time.

Section 14.17 is amended to read as follows:

§ 14.17. Findings of Commissioner of Customs; determination of injury. (a) When a notice of withheld appraisement has been issued on account of suspected dumping, the Commissioner of Customs will proceed as promptly as possible to determine whether the merchandise in question is in fact being, or is likely to be, sold in or to the United States at less than its fair value. If the determination is affirmative, he will advise the United States Tariff Commission accordingly.

PART 141c—CHLORTETRACYCLINE (OR TETRACYCLINE) AND CHLORTETRACYCLINE- (OR TETRACYCLINE-) CONTAINING DRUGS; TESTS AND METHODS OF ASSAY

PART 146—GENERAL REGULATIONS FOR THE CERTIFICATION OF ANTIBIOTIC AND ANTIBIOTIC-CONTAINING DRUGS

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

By virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary by the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463, as amended by 61 Stat. 11, 63 Stat. 409, 67 Stat. 389; sec. 701, 52 Stat. 1055; 21 U. S. C. 357, 371; 67 Stat. 18), the regulations for tests and methods of assay for antibiotic and antibiotic-containing drugs (21 CFR Part 141c; 19 F. R. 1141) and certification of antibiotic and antibiotic-containing drugs (21 CFR Parts 146, 146a, 146c; 19 F. R. 671, 1141) are amended as indicated below:

1. Part 141c is amended by adding the following new section:

§ 141c.223 Chlortetracycline-neomycin-streptomycin-penecillin ointment; chlortetracycline - neomycin - dihydrostreptomycin-penicillin ointment; tetracycline hydrochloride-neomycin-streptomycin-penicillin ointment; tetracycline hydrochloride-neomycin-dihydrostreptomycin-penicillin ointment—(a) Potency—(1) Penicillin content. Place an accurately weighed sample of approximately 1 gram in an extraction funnel prepared by fusing a ground-glass joint to the top of a medium-porosity sintered-glass filter funnel (30-millimeter diameter). Wash with five 10-milliliter portions of warm iso-octane and draw off the ointment base under vacuum. Discard the iso-octane washings. Wash the residue with three 10-milliliter portions of chloroform and draw off under vacuum, combine the extracts, and make to mark in a 250-milliliter volumetric flask with absolute alcohol. Make the proper estimated dilutions in 1-percent phosphate buffer, at pH 6.0, and proceed as directed in § 141a.1 of this chapter. Its content of penicillin is satisfactory if it contains not less than 85 percent of the number of units per gram of ointment that it is represented to contain.

(2) Chlortetracycline content. Wash the residue in the funnel four times with 10-milliliter portions of 0.3 percent piperedine in acetone solution. Withdraw each washing under vacuum. Combine the four washings in a 100-milliliter volumetric flask and make to mark with acetone. Remove an aliquot of this solution and proceed as directed in § 141c.201 (a) (8). Its content of chlortetracycline is satisfactory if it contains not less than 85 percent of the number of milligrams per gram of ointment that it is represented to contain.

(3) Tetracycline hydrochloride content. Prepare the sample as directed in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph and proceed as directed in § 141c.218. Its content of tetracycline hydrochloride is satisfactory if it contains not less than 85 percent of the number of milligrams per gram of ointment that it is represented to contain.

(4) Neomycin content. The residue remaining in the funnel after the extraction described in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph contains the neomycin and streptomycin or dihydrostreptomycin. Wash this residue five times, using 10-milliliter aliquots of distilled water, drawing each washing off under vacuum. Combine the washings in a 100-milliliter volumetric flask and make to mark with distilled water. Using an aliquot of this aqueous solution, proceed as directed in § 141a.65 (a) (2) (ii) or (iii) of this chapter. The content of neomycin is satisfactory if it contains not less than 85 percent of the number of milligrams per gram of ointment that it is represented to contain.

(5) Streptomycin content. Using an aliquot of the aqueous solution prepared in subparagraph (4) of this paragraph, proceed as directed in § 141b.101 (a) through (i) of this chapter. The content of streptomycin is satisfactory if it contains not less than 85 percent of the number of milligrams per gram of ointment that it is represented to contain.

(6) Dihydrostreptomycin content. Using an aliquot of the aqueous solution prepared in subparagraph (4) of this paragraph, and the dihydrostreptomycin working standard as a standard of comparison, proceed as directed in § 141b.101 (a) through (i) of this chapter. The content of dihydrostreptomycin is satisfactory if it contains not less than 85 percent of the number of milligrams per gram of ointment that it is represented to contain.

(b) Moisture. Proceed as directed in § 141a.8 (b) of this chapter.

2. Section 146.1 Definitions and interpretations is amended as follows:

a. Paragraphs (a), (b), (b–1) and (c) are amended by deleting the last sentence.

b. Paragraph (f) is amended by inserting after the words "crystalline potassium penicillin O" the words "standardized by the penicillin G master standard and".

c. Paragraph (l) is amended by changing the words "penicillin master standard" to read "penicillin G master standard".

d. Section 146.1 is further amended by adding the following new paragraph:

(x) Wherever the potency of an antibiotic drug included in the regulations in this chapter is expressed in terms of weight, such potency shall be equivalent to that contained in the same weight of the master standard of the drug.

3. In § 146a.39 Capsules procaine penicillin in oil, subparagraph (1) (iv) of paragraph (c) Labeling is amended by changing the number "24" to read "36".

4. In § 146a.51 Buffered penicillin powder • • •, paragraph (a) Standards of identity • • • is amended by inserting in the first sentence the words "sodium salicylate and a suitable antihistaminic agent," immediately following the word "probenecid,".

5. Part 146c is amended by adding the following new section:

§ 146c.223 Chlortetracycline - neomycin-streptomycin-penicillin ointment; chlortetracycline - neomycin - dihydrostreptomycin - penicillin ointment; tetracycline, hydrochloride - neomycin-streptomycin-penicillin ointment; tetracycline hydrochloride - neomycin-dihydrostreptomycin - penicillin ointment. (a) Chlortetracycline-neomycin-streptomycin-penicillin ointment, chlortetracycline-neomycin-dihydrostreptomycin-penicillin ointment, tetracycline hydrochloride-neomycin-streptomycin-penicillin ointment, and tetracycline hydrochloride - neomycin - dihydrostreptomycin-penicillin ointment conform to all requirements and are subject to all procedures prescribed by § 146c.202 for chlortetraycycline hydrochloride ointment and tetracycline hydrochloride ointment, except that:

(1) They contain not less than 28 milligrams of chlortetracycline hydrochloride or tetracycline hydrochloride per gram.

(2) They contain not less than 14 milligrams of neomycin per gram. The neomycin used conforms to the requirements prescribed by § 146e.410 (a) (2) of this chapter.

(3) They contain not less than 14 milligrams of streptomycin or dihydrostreptomycin per gram. The streptomycin used conforms to the standards prescribed by § 146b.101 (a) of this chapter, except § 146b.101 (a) (2), (4), and (5). The dihydrostreptomycin used conforms to the standards prescribed by § 146b.103 of this chapter, except the standards for sterility, pyrogens, and histamine.

(4) They contain not less than 28,000 units of procaine penicillin G per gram. The procaine penicillin used conforms to the requirements prescribed by § 146a.44 (a) of this chapter, except § 146a.44 (a) (2) and (3).

(b) In lieu of the directions for labeling prescribed for chlortetracycline hydrochloride ointment and tetracycline hydrochloride ointment by § 146c.202 (c) (1) (ii) and (iii), each package shall bear on the outside wrapper or container and the immediate container the number of milligrams of chlortetracycline hydrochloride or tetracycline hydrochloride, neomycin, and streptomycin or dihydrostreptomycin per gram, and the number of units of procaine penicillin per gram. Its expiration date shall be 12 months after the month during which the batch was certified.

(c) In addition to complying with the requirements of § 146c.202 (d), a person who requests certification of a batch shall submit with his request a statement showing the batch marks and (unless they were previously submitted) the results and dates of the latest tests and assays of the neomycin, streptomycin or dihydrostreptomycin, and penicillin used in making the batch for potency, toxicity, moisture, pH, streptomycin content of the dihydrostreptomycin, crystallinity if it is crystalline dihydrostreptomycin, and crystillinity and penicillin G content of the procaine penicillin G. He shall also submit in connection with his request a sample consisting of not less than 8 packages of such ointment and (unless they were previously submitted), accurately representative samples of the following, in the quantities indicated.

(1) The neomycin used in making the batch: 5 packages, each containing approximately equal portions of not less than 0.5 gram.

(2) The streptomycin or dihydrostreptomycin used in making the batch: 5 packages, each containing approximately equal portions of not less than 0.5 gram.

(3) The procaine penicillin G used in making the batch: 10 packages, each containing approximately equal portions of not less than 300 milligrams.

(d) The fee for the services rendered with respect to each immediate container in the samples of neomycin, streptomycin or dihydrostreptomycin, and penicillin submitted in accordance with the requirements prescribed therefor by this section shall be $4.00.

(Sec. 701, 52 Stat. 1055; 21 U. S. C. 371)

Notice and public procedure are not necessary prerequisites to the promulgation of this order, and I so find, since it was drawn in collaboration with interested members of the affected industry and since it would be against public interest to delay providing for the amendments set forth above.

This order shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, since both the public and the affected industry will benefit by the earliest effective date, and I so find.

Dated: September 30, 1954.

Secretary.

TITLE 41—PUBLIC CONTRACTS

Chapter II—Division of Public Contracts, Department of Labor

PART 201—GENERAL REGULATIONS

REVOCATION OF EXCEPTION FROM PROVISIONS OF SECTION 1 OF THE WALSH-HEALEY PUBLIC CONTRACTS ACT PERMITTING THE AWARD OF CONTRACTS FOR THE PRODUCTION OF TRAINING FILMS

On January 5, 1943 (8 F. R. 376), the Secretary of Labor granted an exception permitting the award of contracts during World War II for the production of training films without the inclusion of the representations and stipulations contained in section 1 of the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act (49 Stat. 2036; 41 U. S. C. 35). This exception was granted at the request of the Secretary of War after he had made a written finding that the inclusion of these representations and stipulations in Government contracts would seriously impair the production of training films for the United States Army.

The continuing need for this exception has been reviewed by the Department of Defense, and it has been found that the exception is not used in present contracts and that its use in future contracts is not contemplated.

Therefore, pursuant to authority contained in section 6 of the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act (49 Stat. 2036; 41 U. S. C. 35), the exception for the production of training films from the provisions of section 1 of that act is hereby revoked.

Signed at Washington, D. C., this 29th day of September 1954.

JAMES P. MITCHELL,
Secretary of Labor.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Agricultural Marketing Service

[7 CFR Part 964]

[Docket No. AO-258]

HANDLING OF DRIED FIGS PRODUCED IN CALIFORNIA

NOTICE OF RECOMMENDED DECISION AND OPPORTUNITY TO FILE WRITTEN EXCEPTION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND ORDER

Pursuant to the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900; 19 F. R. 57), notice is hereby given of the filing with the Hearing Clerk of this recommended decision of the Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, United States Department of Agriculture, with respect to a proposed marketing agreement and order regulating the handling of dried figs produced in California. Such marketing agreement and order would be effective pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.). Interested parties may file exceptions to this recommended decision with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Room 1371, South Building, Washington 25, D. C. Any such exceptions should be filed in quadruplicate, and must be received prior to the close of business on the tenth day after publication of this recommended decision in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Preliminary statement. A public hearing, on the record of which the presently proposed marketing agreement and marketing order (hereinafter called the "order") were formulated, was held at Fresno, California, from June 15 to 18, 1954, both dates inclusive. Such hearing was held pursuant to a notice thereof which was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (19 F. R. 3092) on May 28, 1954. Said notice contained a draft of a proposed order which had been presented to the Secretary of Agriculture (hereinafter called the "Secretary") by the California Fig Institute, the membership of which includes commercial producers of dried figs, and the California Dried Fig Advisory Board, which administers the Marketing Order for Dried Figs, as Amended, a California State marketing program operating under the California Marketing Act of 1937, as amended, with a petition for a hearing thereon. The objective of the order is to bring to the dried fig industry of California the benefits of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (hereinafter called the "act").

Material issues. The material issues presented on the record of the hearing are as follows:

(1) The right to exercise Federal jurisdiction;

(2) The need for the proposed regulatory program to effectuate the declared policy and purposes of the act;

(3) The specific terms and provisions to be incorporated in the order, if adopted such as:

(a) The definitions of such terms as "Secretary," "act," "person," "natural condition dried figs," "processed dried figs," "dried figs," "variety," "acquire," "producer," "handler," "handle," "crop year," "part," and "subpart."

(b) The establishment and maintenance of an administrative agency, to be known as the Dried Fig Administrative Committee (hereinafter referred to as the "committee") for conducting order operations, the powers and duties of such committee, and its manner of doing business;

(c) The formulation and adoption of a marketing policy for each crop year;

(d) The imposition of quality controls applicable to handlers' acquisitions and dispositions of dried figs irrespective of whether the estimated season average price to producers for dried figs exceeds parity, the adoption of minimum grade standards, and the inspection and certification of such figs;

(e) The authorization of volume regulation providing for the separation of handlers' acquisitions of dried figs into salable tonnage and surplus tonnage, and the manner of control and disposition of surplus tonnage;

(f) The filing of reports and the keeping of records by handlers, and the verification of such reports;

(g) The incurring of expenses by the committee and the levying of assessments;

(h) Additional terms and conditions as set forth in §§ 964.80 through 964.89 and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (19 F. R. 3092) on May 28, 1954, which are common to marketing agreements and orders, and certain other terms and conditions as set forth in §§ 964.94 through 964.96, and also published in said issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER, which are common to marketing agreements only; and

(4) The omission of prescribed procedure with respect to issuance of this Deputy Administrator's recommended decision and the opportunity to file written exceptions thereto.

Findings and conclusions: The findings and conclusions on the foregoing material issues, all of which are based on the evidence adduced at the hearing and the record thereof are as follows:

(1) The commercial production of dried figs in the United States, which comprises approximately 15 percent of the estimated world production, is confined to California and principally to the central (San Joaquin-Sacramento) valley region. About 87 percent of the figs produced in that State are dried and the remainder are canned or sold for consumption as figs. During the period 1949-53, an annual average of approximately 26,600 tons of dried figs was produced in California, of which more than 20 percent was of substandard quality. Under the State of California Marketing Order for Dried Figs as amended July 22, 1953 (hereinafter referred to as "the State program"), the dried figs of substandard quality are pooled and disposed of for purposes or uses (such as for animal feed) which are noncompetitive with the disposition of merchantable or passable quality dried figs.

Between 85 and 90 percent of the dried figs of passable or merchantable quality moves to destinations outside of California in the form of dried figs, sliced dried figs or fig paste, and the remainder moves to intrastate destinations. The principal markets for California dried figs are in the United States, but a small portion of the production is exported, mostly to Canada.

The order must regulate the handling of all dried figs produced in California if it is to operate effectively. One regulation contemplated by the order would require that each lot of natural condition dried figs tendered to a handler must be under the jurisdiction of the committee from the time of delivery thereof until inspection results are available. Another regulation would prohibit any handler from acquiring natural condition dried figs failing to meet prescribed minimum standards of quality. Still another regulation would require each handler acquiring dried figs to set aside and hold for disposition by the committee, that portion of such acquisitions as would be determined by the application of the surplus percentage fixed by the Secretary to such acquisitions. Handlers customarily do not maintain the identity of each lot acquired by them until they dispose of the dried figs because of the size-grading, sorting, blending, slicing, grinding or other processing operations which are necessary to prepare the fruit for market. Therefore, when handlers acquire dried figs, they do not know whether the particular fruit will eventually move to intrastate, interstate or foreign destinations. In these circumstances, it would be impracticable to regulate the handling of dried figs in interstate and foreign commerce without also regulating the handling of dried figs in intrastate commerce. It is concluded, therefore, that all handling of dried figs, as defined in the order, is either in the current of interstate or foreign commerce, or directly burdens, obstructs, or affects such commerce.

The existing State program provides for the imposition of quality and volume controls which are generally similar to those contemplated under the order, except that, insofar as quality regulation is concerned, the State program provides for the pooling and disposition of dried figs of substandard quality. Under the State program, a producer is, in effect, prohibited from selling to a handler and a handler is prohibited from buying from a producer any lot of dried figs which fails to meet certain prescribed minimum quality standards. Lots of dried figs which fail to meet these minimum quality standards (i. e., substandard figs) are required to be delivered to the State agency for pooling and disposition in channels which are not competitive with the normal market outlets for dried figs of merchantable quality, and the net proceeds from such pool are paid to the beneficiaries in proportion to their respective equities therein. The State program also precludes handlers from disposing of dried figs in normal market outlets unless the fruit meets minimum standards of quality for the disposition of dried figs. The volume regulation authorization under the State program is similar to the volume regulation authorization in the order. In addition, the State program authorizes advertising and sales promotion, and research and surveys respecting the production, processing and marketing of dried figs, and regulation with respect to unfair trade practices. Assessments to cover the costs of these indicated types of activities under the State program are levied on both producers and handlers.

The order would preclude any handler from acquiring any lot of natural condition dried figs which fails to meet prescribed minimum standards of quality or to dispose of dried figs in normal market outlets unless the fruit meets correlated minimum standards of quality for the disposition of dried figs. Also the order would contain authorization for volume regulation, under which salable and surplus percentages could be designated for application against handlers' acquisitions of natural condition dried figs of passable quality, and, during any crop year when such a type of regulation is in effect, the surplus portion would be pooled and disposed of in channels which are generally not competitive with the normal market outlets for merchantable dried figs unless needed to augment the salable portion. The net pool proceeds would be distributed to the beneficiaries in accordance with their respective interests therein.

It was testified at the hearing by the proponents of the order that they desire that the order and the State program complement each other so that the State program would continue to operate the substandard pool. In addition, it is desired that authorization with respect to advertising and sales promotion, and research and surveys respecting production, processing, and marketing, and regulation with respect to unfair trade practices be continued under the State program. Also, that the State continue to collect from producers and handlers whatever assessments may be necessary to cover the costs of the several types of activities which are proposed to be continued under its jurisdiction. At the same time the proponents desire that the order assume jurisdiction for quality regulation over the receiving and disposition of dried figs by handlers and for the imposition of volume regulation on handlers.

Since all handling of dried figs, as defined in the order, is either in the current of interstate or foreign commerce or directly burdens, obstructs, or affects such commerce, it is clear that the act authorizes the regulation of them pursuant thereto exclusively by the Federal Government if the Secretary concludes that such a way of handling is desirable in order to achieve the statutory purposes and policy most effectively. It is equally clear, however, that such regulation through the exercise of exclusive Federal jurisdiction is not the only method which is available for his use. To the contrary, he is expressly authorized by the provisions of section 10 (i) of the act, in any instance where he deems such action to be desirable and appropriate, "to issue [Federal] orders (subject to the provisions of section 608c of this title) complementary to orders or other regulations issued by such [State] authorities." The provisions of this section 10 (i) were interpreted by the Supreme Court of the United States in Parker v. Brown, 317 U. S. 341, 87 L. Ed. 315, 63 S. Ct. 307, as also authorizing the Secretary to rely solely upon State regulation for the achievement of the purposes and policy of the act when he concludes that such a way of handling is most appropriate and desirable.

That the Secretary's freedom of choice as to which of the aforementioned three alternative methods shall be selected for use in a particular situation may not be curtailed or restricted is believed to be too obvious to require any extended discussion of the matter. It should be sufficient to say that such freedom is essential for him to perform his functions under the act effectively. This freedom would not be affected by the fact that, at the time a proposed Federal program is being considered, a State program is in effect which may be accomplishing at least a part of the objectives which it is intended that the Federal program will accomplish. In other words, he must have the same freedom of choice in a situation of that kind as he would have in a case where no governmental control was in effect at the time of the consideration.

The soundness of the aforementioned statutory interpretation is confirmed from the following excerpt from the opinion written by the then Chief Justice in Parker v. Brown, supra:

> We may assume also that a stabilization program adopted under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act would supersede the state act. But the federal act becomes effective only if a program is ordered by the Secretary. Section 8c (3) provides that whenever the Secretary of Agriculture "has reason to believe" that the issuance of an order will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act with respect to any commodity, he shall give due notice of an opportunity for a hearing upon a proposed order, and section 8c (4) provides that after the hearing he shall issue an order if he finds and sets forth in the order that its issuance will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act with respect to the commodity in question. Since the Secretary has not given notice of hearing and has not proposed or promulgated any order regulating raisins, it must be taken that he has no reason to believe that issuance of an order will tend to effectuate the policy of the act.
> The Secretary, by section 10 (1), is authorized "in order to effectuate the declared policy" of the act, and "in order to obtain uniformity in the formulation, administration, and enforcement of Federal and State programs relating to the regulation of the handling of agricultural commodities," to confer and cooperate with duly constituted authorities of any state. From this and the whole structure of the act, it would seem that it contemplates that its policy may be effectuated by a state program either with or without the promulgation of a federal program by order of the Secretary. Cf. United States v. Rock Royal Co-op., supra. It follows that the adoption of an adequate program by the state may be deemed by the Secretary a sufficient ground for believing that the policies of the federal act will be effectuated without the promulgation of an order.
> It is evident, therefore that the Marketing Act contemplates the existence of state programs at least until such time as the Secretary shall establish a federal marketing program, unless the state program in some way conflicts with the policy of the federal act. The act contemplates that each sovereign shall operate "in its own sphere but can exert its authority in conformity rather than in conflict with that of the other." H. Rep. No. 1241, 74th Cong., 1st Sess. pp. 22–23; S. Rep. 1011, 74th Cong., 1st Sess. p. 15.

It is believed that the State and Federal programs operating together in the complementary relationship described above would provide the industry with a more desirable program structure than would the State program operating alone. As is indicated above, the situation is such that full jurisdiction over the proposed regulation to the extent permitted by the act could be assumed by the Federal Government. However, the indicated division of jurisdiction is desired by the dried fig industry and the State has expressed its willingness to cooperate with respect to complementary Federal and State programs for the benefit of the industry. The proposed division of jurisdiction is such that the order would include volume regulation which applies only to merchantable quality dried figs and that portion of the quality regulation which relates to handlers' receipts and dispositions of dried figs and which assures that only merchantable dried figs will be marketed in normal market outlets, and the State program would retain jurisdiction over the pooling and disposition of substandard dried figs in noncompetitive outlets. The latter operation involves the intricate regulation of all producers. The assumption of the quality and volume regulations by the Federal Government is particularly appropriate in view of the fact that from 85 to 90 percent of dried figs of merchantable quality produced in California move to destinations outside of that State.

It is contemplated by the proponents that, if the order is made effective, the State program provisions will either be amended to delete any portion which may be in conflict with the order or any such conflicting portion of the State program will be inoperative after the effective time of the order. Otherwise, if the Federal and State regulations should conflict with each other, the provisions in the order would prevail.

(2) The production and the preparation by producers of dried figs for delivery to handlers are very expensive operations because, among other reasons, of the time (about six years) required to bring a new fig orchard into bearing, the low yield per acre of figs, and the pecularities of the fig which make it and the dried fig especially vulnerable to insects, diseases, molds and various defects.

For each of six of the past seven marketing seasons (1950–51 was the exception), the estimated season average price received for dried figs by California producers has been well below the parity price for this commodity. The estimated season average price for 1952–53 was $143 per ton, or only 57 percent of parity, and for 1953–54 it was $156 per ton, or only 68 percent of the parity price for that season. Hence, it is clear that producers have been unable in recent years to obtain parity prices for dried figs, which is a declared objective of the act, or to obtain prices which represent a reasonable percentage of parity. This situation has prevailed notwithstanding the downward trends in the bearing acreage of California figs and the production of dried figs, and despite the industry's self-help efforts of long duration to improve its economic position through research, advertising, sales promotion, and mandatory quality controls.

Another indication of the distressed economic position of the industry is the carry-over of dried figs held by the industry on July 1 of certain recent years. For example, the hearing record shows that the industry carry-over as recently as July 1, 1952, totaled approximately 4,800 tons, excluding Kadotas, but including Calimyrna, Adriatic and Black Mission dried figs. In this regard, however, it was testified at the hearing that industry carry-over as of July 1 needed to be only 1,000 to 2,000 tons of dried figs to meet market demand before the new crop became available in appreciable volume. It is likely that industry carry-over of dried figs in recent years would have been even greater if the United States Department of Agriculture had not extended financial assistance to the industry by purchase and diversion programs which accounted for the disposition of approximately 16,300 tons of dried figs outside of normal commercial trade channels during the three-year period 1948–50.

The economic position of the industry has been and is being affected adversely by the increasing quantities of dried figs and fig paste which are being imported into the United States. These imports compete directly in the market place with the domestic production, and constitute a major reason in recent years for burdensome industry carry-overs, low prices to domestic producers, and for the California industry sharing to a decreasing extent in the domestic market. For the four marketing seasons 1945–46 to 1948–49, United States imports for consumption averaged only 1,559 tons of dried figs annually, with practically no imports of fig paste during that period, and supplied about seven percent of the apparent domestic consumption of dried figs and fig paste, which averaged about 23,100 tons annually for that period. During the four marketing seasons 1949–50 to 1952–53, imports for consumption annually averaged 3,210 tons of dried figs and 426 tons of fig paste, a total of 3,636 tons, representing about 15 percent of the annual average apparent domestic consumption of approximately 24,600 tons for that period.

On July 24, 1952, the United States Tariff Commission found, pursuant to section 7 of the Trade Agreements Extension Act of 1951 (fig paste was not eligible for consideration in that connection), that dried figs were being imported into the United States in such increased quantities, both actual and relative, as to cause serious injury to the domestic industry producing like or competitive products, and as to threaten continuance of such injury. The Commission further found and recommended to the President that the then current rate of import duty of 2½ cents per pound on dried figs should be increased to 4½ cents per pound. The President concurred in the Commission's recommendation and on August 29, 1952, put the increased rate into effect. As a result of later investigation, the Commission found on June 3, 1953, that the higher rate of duty of 4½ cents per pound of dried figs remained necessary to prevent serious injury to the domestic industry, and on June 25, 1953, the President concurred in this finding. Despite this, however, during the marketing year of July 1, 1953 to June 30, 1954, United States imports for consumption are estimated at 3,902 tons of dried figs and 2,504 tons of fig paste, or a total of 6,406 tons of dried figs and fig paste, which is more than the quantity imported for consumption in the United States in any other season since 1929–30.

Approximately two-thirds of the California production of dried figs of standard quality (processed dried figs, including dried figs, sliced dried figs and fig paste) is utilized in the bakery outlet, primarily in the manufacture of fig bars. Manufacturers also use imported dried figs and fig paste for this purpose. They were represented at the hearing by attorneys, who later filed with the Hearing Clerk a brief in which it was contended that the order should not be recommended by the Secretary because its approval and adoption would neither be in the public interest nor tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act. In support of these contentions, it was argued that the proponents had not demonstrated a need for the order, in that it would merely duplicate or replace certain quality and inspection controls and authorization for volume regulation which are now provided for under the State program, and which have been found to be adequate. It was contended, however, that volume regulation is not justifiable because the dried fig industry is a deficit industry in the sense that it does not supply all of the domestic market requirements for the commodity. It was further argued that the real purpose of the proponents was to use the order as a "stepping-stone" for obtaining limitations on imports pursuant to section 22 of the act; that, if this purpose were used to show a need for the order, such action would be "putting the cart before the horse" and the issuance of the order would constitute a perverted use of the act; and that imposition of limitations on imports would restrict a source of supply necessary for the consuming public by reason of the deficit supply position of the domestic industry.

It is true that the provisions of the order would replace certain similar quality and inspection controls which are imposed under the State program and would replace the similar authorization for volume regulation now contained in the State program. However, this change from State jurisdiction to Federal jurisdiction was proposed by the dried fig industry on its own volition, and the State through its authorized representative who testified at the hearing, has expressed its willingness to cooperate in developing complementary State and Federal programs for the benefit of the industry. In this instance, the State program would either be amended to delete any provisions which would conflict with the order or any such conflicting provisions in the State program would be inoperative. In these circumstances, the justification of the quality and volume regulatory provisions of the order is properly the same as that which would be appropriate in the absence of any State program covering those fields.

With respect to the contention that volume regulation would not be justified, it is true that during the four marketing seasons 1949–50 to 1952–53 the production of merchantable quality dried figs in California averaged approximately 21,900 tons, or about 2,700 tons less than the annual average apparent domestic consumption of approximately 24,600 tons of dried figs and fig paste. During the four marketing seasons 1945–46 to 1948–49, however, when imports were substantially less, the reverse was true when such production averaged approximately 26,800 tons, or about 3,700 tons more than the average annual apparent domestic consumption of approximately 23,100 tons for that period. The decline in the domestic merchantable production and the decline in the proportion of the domestic demand supplied by such production were accompanied by a substantial increase, as shown heretofore, in the average volume of imports, which contributed to producers receiving low average prices for dried figs during the past three seasons. As a result of such prices, the domestic production of dried figs has not been maintained at former levels.

Thus, increased imports have contributed to the deficit supply position of the domestic industry, and the combined supply of the domestic and imported dried figs and fig paste marketed in the United States in recent seasons has been excessive in that the prices for that supply have reflected less than fair and reasonable returns to domestic producers. In this regard, the level of producer prices must be considered in determining whether a surplus of an agricultural commodity exists.

It is possible that future supply, demand, and other conditions for dried figs will be such that producer prices and total returns from the sale of dried figs could be increased by withholding a portion of the domestic production of merchantable quality dried figs from regular commercial trade channels. Under average growing conditions, it is possible in any year that the merchantable production of a particular variety of California dried figs will exceed the domestic demand therefor at prices reflecting fair and reasonable returns to producers, and so as to make volume regulation advisable as to that variety. The proponents of the order recognize that volume regulation may not be needed, but wish to have authorization for it as insurance in case it is needed. They also recognize that the use of volume regulation must be avoided if it would encourage the importation of larger quantities of dried figs and fig paste to the detriment of the domestic industry. Safeguards against unwise use of volume regulation are provided in the order by special requirements that its establishment must be recommended by at least four producer members and four handler members of the committee and approved by the Secretary.

With respect to the manufacturers' arguments regarding section 22 of the act, it is recognized that, to the extent the order would tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, the cost of their domestic supply of raw material may be increased, and if the proponents are successful in obtaining limitations on imports, this source of supply for manufacturers also would be affected.

It is expressly set forth in section 2 of the act that the policy of Congress is that a marketing agreement and order program be operated by the Secretary, through the exercise of the powers conferred upon him under the act, so as to establish and maintain such orderly conditions with respect to the particular commodity as will establish and maintain parity prices to the producers of that commodity. Also, the consumer interest in that connection is required to be protected from the standpoints of not permitting too rapid an increase in the prices to producers and of not operating the program so as to maintain prices to producers above the parity level. Insofar as marketing agreement and order programs with respect to fruits and vegetables are concerned, the objective is required to be achieved by specified methods which limit the part of a crop which is available for sale in normal market channels. Those permissible methods, which are set forth in section 8c (6) of the act, are by the fixing and application of minimum standards of grade, size, or quality as a condition for the disposition in such channels, or by the fixing and application of salable and surplus percentages (i. e., so-called volume regulation) and the permitting of only the salable portion to be sold in such channels, or on a combination of those two general methods. It is proposed that a combination of such general methods be adopted in the present instance.

Since the limitation of the quantity of the production of the particular commodity which is available for sale in normal market outlets is the basic essential for the successful operation of a marketing agreement and order program, it is obvious that any disruption of this quantity limitation tends to militate against the effectiveness of the program operations. The evidence shows that such a disruption has occurred in connection with the regulation of dried figs under the State program, in that increasingly larger quantities of dried figs and fig paste are being imported into the United States, with a consequent reduction in demand for the domestic production, as well as in a reduction in the prices which domestic producers have received per unit of measurement. The seriousness of the present situation is evidenced by the fact that domestic producers are now receiving much less than the parity price.

The aforementioned disruption caused by the large volume of imports would presumably be obviated, or at least alleviated, by the imposition, pursuant to the provisions of Section 22 of the act (7 U. S. C. 624) of limitations on imports. However, a condition precedent for the obtaining of such relief is that such importations render or tend to render ineffective or materially interfere with certain types of Federal programs, such as the proposed order. In other words, this relief presumably may not be afforded in any event in the absence of a Federal program.

It has been demonstrated heretofore that the circumstances in regard to dried figs are such as to justify either exclusive Federal jurisdiction over regulation or concurrent Federal and State jurisdiction, whichever the Secretary may deem to be the more desirable. Thus, the fact that there is already a State program in existence is immaterial, and the situation is the same as if there were no regulation in effect and the matter of regulation was being considered originally on its merits. It could hardly be argued that there could not properly be Federal regulation in the latter event.

It seems clear that the provisions in section 22 and the other provisions in the act referred to above are coordinate parts of a single plan for raising farm prices to parity levels. In other words, if the effectiveness of a Federal marketing agreement and order program is being militated against by reason of large imports of the commodity which is being regulated, the provisions of section 22 provide a potential means by which the disruption of effectiveness may be obviated, or at least alleviated. To hold otherwise would mean that the authorized regulation of a commodity for the benefit of the producers might be impracticable in any instance where an appreciable volume of the particular commodity is available for import. Such a result could not reasonably have been intended by the Congress.

The proponents have admitted frankly that one reason for their desiring the order is so that the dried fig industry will be eligible to seek limitations on imports pursuant to section 22 and have indicated that it is their intent to seek such relief after the proposed order is put into effect, if the then existing conditions warrant such action. However, the proponents understand that the making of the order effective would be no assurance that they would be successful in obtaining such limitations. Nevertheless, as indicated above, it is necessary that the order be made effective for the proponents to be eligible to seek such relief.

However, eligibility for filing application for relief pursuant to provisions of section 22 of the act is only one of the reasons which has been advanced as to why an order should be issued in this instance. For reasons stated heretofore, it is believed that the order and the State program operating together in a complementary relationship would constitute a more desirable program structure than would the State program operating alone.

The proponents have indicated that the dried fig industry is willing to share the domestic market with foreign producers to the extent that imports are necessary to supplement the California production in fulfilling the domestic demand, provided that such imports will permit domestic producers to receive fair and reasonable prices. This is believed to be a reasonable position and not contrary to the public interest. For reasons stated heretofore, imports of dried figs and fig paste into the United States, however, have adversely affected prices to domestic producers and such prices have been less than fair and reasonable. Such a situation is not in the public interest. Attention is invited to sections 1 and 2 of the act in regard to Congressional policy with respect to the public interest.

In the interest of both producers and consumers, dried figs of substandard quality, and sliced dried figs and fig paste prepared from such dried figs, should be kept out of regular commercial trade channels for use as human food. Due to the fact that dried figs are particularly susceptible to major quality defects and in view of the difficulties and cost of controlling them, a substantial portion of the domestic production is of substandard quality. Competition in the marketing of dried figs, sliced dried figs and fig paste is based to a considerable extent on the price factor and the offering of such substandard quality items for sale to the trade, at price discounts, would depress the prices and value of that portion of the domestic dried fig production which is of merchantable quality. Moreover, it obviously would not be in the interest of users and consumers to permit the distribution to them for use as human food, of low quality dried figs, or sliced dried figs or fig paste prepared from such dried figs. On the other hand, industry experience has demonstrated that prohibiting the marketing in such channels of such substandard quality fruit stimulates the demand for and enhances the value of that portion of the production which is of merchantable quality, increases consumer satisfaction by keeping out of the markets dried figs and products thereof unacceptable to the public, and augments total returns to producers from their total production of dried figs. The order is designed to accomplish these purposes.

In view of all of the foregoing discussion relating to material issue numbered (2), it is concluded that the order is needed to accomplish the declared objectives of the act.

(3) (a) The definition of "Secretary" should include not only the Secretary of Agriculture of the United States, the official charged by law with the responsibility for programs of this nature, but also, in order to recognize the fact that it is physically impossible for him to perform personally all functions and duties vested in him by law, any other officer or employee of the United States Department of Agriculture who is, or who may hereafter be, authorized to act in his stead.

The definition of "act" provides the correct legal citations for the statute pursuant to which orders of this nature are operated, and avoids the need for referring to these citations thereafter.

The definition of "person" follows the definition of that term as set forth in the act, and will insure that it will have the same meaning as it has in the act.

The term "natural condition dried figs" should be defined to mean all figs produced in California which have been dried, either by sun-drying or artificial dehydration, to the extent necessary to inhibit rapid spoilage by fermentation, mold, souring or like cause, and which have not been processed. The term describes the condition of dried figs at the time they are delivered to handlers by producers and is well understood in the industry. Usually the task of drying figs is performed either by the grower in his own dry yard or in the dry yard of a neighbor or by a commercial dry yard operator. About two-thirds of the dried figs in California are produced by sun-drying figs and about one-third by the application of artificial heat to figs. Reduction of the moisture content of figs to approximately 16 to 18 percent is considered sufficient to inhibit rapid spoilage by fermentation, mold, souring or like cause, and to permit delivery of them to the packing plants as natural condition dried figs. In their dried state, figs are considered more perishable than other dried fruits and consequently require more care than do other dried fruits. The subject definition distinguishes dried figs in their natural condition form from processed dried figs. This distinction is necessary in the quality and volume control provisions of the order.

The term "processed dried figs" should be defined to identify all dried figs which have been cleaned, or treated with water or steam, or otherwise treated in preparation for market by a handler, except that this term should not include dried figs at the time they are cleaned by a producer in the course of preparing them for delivery to a producer or handler. It is necessary to distinguish between processed dried figs and natural condition dried figs by definition for the purposes of the regulatory provisions of the order. The processing by handlers of natural condition dried figs includes cleaning the dried figs with hot water or any other cleaning material or method, and their treatment with hot water or steam. In preparing dried figs for market, handlers also package them for shipment in consumer cartons or bulk packs, or slice them for packaging and shipment as sliced dried figs, or convert them by grinding or by slicing and grinding into fig paste for packaging and shipment as such. The term "processed dried figs," therefore, not only should be considered as including whole dried figs processed by handlers, but also sliced dried figs and fig paste prepared by them. Since many producers clean their natural condition dried figs by washing them in water, such dried figs should be specifically excluded from the subject definition.

The term "dried figs" should be defined to mean all natural condition dried figs and all processed dried figs produced in California. The term is referred to and used in those order provisions where it is unnecessary to distinguish between natural condition and processed dried figs.

The area specified in the subject definition should be the State of California. There are no differences in the production and marketing of dried figs in the various portions of that State which would require different terms for subdivisions of the production area. Although commercial production of dried figs in the United States is confined to California and is concentrated principally in the central portion of the State, it would not be practicable to limit the production area to a part of California, since handlers could operate in the excluded portion and escape regulation. Also, figs or dried figs could be produced in most of the countries not now producing them in commercial quantities. In view of the foregoing, it is concluded that the State of California constitutes the smallest regional production area which is practicable for coverage by the order, consistently with carrying out the declared policy of the act, and the issuance of several orders applicable to subdivisions of the production area would not carry out the declared policy of the act effectively.

The term "variety" should be defined to mean any one of the following kinds: Kadota, Calimyrna, Black Mission, Adriatic, or any kind or strain similar or related thereto. The need for defining the term arises from order provisions which would permit quality regulation and volume regulation by variety. Hearing testimony discloses that this definition covers all varieties of figs now produced in California for drying commercially, and that a long period of time probably will elapse before any new variety will be developed and produced for market as dried figs.

The term "acquire" should mean to obtain physical possession by purchase, storage arrangement, or otherwise, of natural condition dried figs as the first handler thereof. The significance of this definition must be considered in relation to the definition of "handler" and the order provisions dealing with quality control and volume regulation. One, but not the only way, for a person to become a handler would be for him to acquire natural condition dried figs as the first handler thereof. The term "acquire" should be limited in its application to first handlers because certain regulatory provisions of the order need to be applied at a particular point in the marketing channel and only once to the handling of acquisitions of natural condition dried figs. The order provisions relating to quality control would specifically prohibit a handler from acquiring natural condition dried figs unless they meet prescribed minimum quality standards. The term "acquire", therefore, should have a limited meaning in the sense that a handler could acquire only natural condition dried figs which meet such standards. He could not acquire substandard natural condition dried figs. Moreover, volume percentages would be applied to natural condition dried figs acquired by a handler, or, in other words, only to such fruit tendered to him which meets such minimum quality standards.

A handler may obtain physical possession of natural condition dried figs as the first handler thereof in a number of ways, the most common one being by purchase and delivery from producers.

Occasionally a handler will obtain physical possession on his processing premises of natural condition dried figs from a producer under a storage arrangement whereunder the handler stores the fruit for the producer's account. The term "acquire" should include this situation because the provisions of the order prevent the producer from regaining physical possession of such fruit. The handler would be permitted initially to obtain such physical possession of the fruit only if it were inspected and found to meet the prescribed minimum standards of quality. He would be prohibited by the provisions of the order from returning the fruit involved in the storage arrangement to the producer in order to prevent the producer from commingling the merchantable quality fruit with substandard dried figs for the purpose of making the commingled lot meet the prescribed minimum quality standards. Although the producer could not regain physical possession of the natural condition dried figs, it was testified that his freedom would not be restricted in selling his fruit under the storage arrangement either to the storing handler or to another handler. This practice has been in effect under the State program for a number of years and has been found generally satisfactory to both producers and handlers. It is now apparently an established custom of the industry.

The term "acquire" also should include the situation where a handler receives on his processing premises natural condition dried figs of which he is the producer and acquires such fruit when it is found to meet the prescribed minimum quality standards. Otherwise, a portion of the dried figs handled in the area would not be covered.

The preceding examples may not include all situations to which the subject term may apply. For the purpose of obtaining necessary regulatory control under the order of the handling of natural condition dried figs at a particular point in the market channel, it is concluded, however, that the term should apply in every case where physical possession of natural condition dried figs is obtained by a handler on his processing premises as the first handler thereof and the fruit upon inspection meets the minimum standards of quality then in effect under the order. In this regard, physical possession of the fruit is the important criterion. The handler may or may not own the fruit.

The term "producer" should be defined to mean any person engaged in a proprietary capacity in the business of producing or causing to be produced for market natural condition dried figs as defined in the order and should include a dry yard operator and any other person who buys or receives figs, dried or otherwise, for the purpose of drying, curing, sorting, or otherwise preparing natural condition dried figs for his own account. This definition is similar to the one used in the State program, under which primary certificates are issued to producers to identify them. A definition of the term is necessary for reasons such as the need to determine the persons eligible to vote for nominees for producer members and alternate members of the administrative committee. The evidence shows that the term should be limited to those persons who have an ownership or proprietary interest in the production of natural condition dried figs. That is, it should not include laborers, or others who perform work for a fee or for hire in converting figs into natural condition dried figs. Evidence further discloses that an average of about 87 percent of the fig production in California is used for drying and the remainder is canned or shipped for consumption as figs. Inasmuch as the order would regulate the handling of dried figs and not figs, the dried fig industry desires that only persons actually producing or causing to be produced natural condition dried figs for delivery to handlers be considered as producers for order purposes. For example, if a grower sold his production of figs outright to a canner or to a dry yard operator or dehydrator, the grower should not be considered a producer but the dry yard operator or the dehydrator should be so considered if he converted the figs into natural condition dried figs for market. If a grower has his figs dried and prepared for delivery for his account by a dry yard operator or dehydrator, the grower should be considered as the producer of the natural condition dried figs, since he caused them to be produced for delivery to a handler. Dry yard operators and dehydrators may convert figs of their own production as well as figs which they have purchased from growers into natural condition dried figs and deliver them to handlers, in which case they should be considered as producers with respect to all such natural condition dried figs. If a dry yard operator should buy or receive natural condition dried figs and dry, cure, sort, or prepare them for delivery to a handler, the dry yard operator should be considered a producer.

The term "handler" should be defined to identify those persons who would be regulated by the order. The term should include any person not specifically excluded who acquires natural condition dried figs, processes, packages, sells, consigns, transports, ships, or in any other way places dried figs in the current of commerce, whatever may be the ultimate destination or end use of the dried figs. It is customary for producers to sell and deliver their natural condition dried figs to persons who have the facilities for performing such functions. Application of the order restrictions to those persons would be in accordance with the act and would facilitate administration of and compliance with the order. The performance of any one or more of the listed functions by any person, other than those specifically excepted, should make that person a handler in order to control the handling of all dried figs and to prevent circumvention of the order restrictions.

A common or contract carrier of dried figs owned by another person should not be considered as the handler of such fruit, because the carrier has no proprietary interest in the fruit and transports it for hire.

The sale or delivery of natural condition dried figs by a producer to another producer or to a handler within the State of California, or the receipt or acquisition of natural condition dried figs by a producer from another producer need not be considered as handler functions under the order. However, the sale or delivery of dried figs by a producer to persons who are not producers or handlers within the State of California are handler functions which are subject to regulation, and any producer performing such functions should be subject to regulation with respect to the dried figs so handled the same as any other handler.

The term "handler" should exclude any person when he engages in the further handling of processed dried figs which have previously been inspected and certified as processed dried figs pursuant to the provisions of the order and which have been shipped or otherwise finally disposed of by a handler. This exception should be made because once the restrictions of the order are complied with by a handler, it would be impracticable to apply them again to persons such as wholesalers, manufacturers, retailers, and other subsequent receivers of dried figs. The exception does not mean, however, that there can not be more than one handler with respect to the same dried figs. For example, one handler may acquire a lot of natural condition figs from a producer, satisfy the incoming inspection requirements of the order with respect to it, and sell and transfer that lot to another person who would also become a handler as to such lot by processing, selling and shipping it. In that case the second handler would be required to meet the outgoing inspection requirements of the order. In every instance, handling operations, insofar as order coverage is concerned, would cease upon disposition preceded by outgoing inspection and certification.

For the purposes of the order, it would be unnecessary to regulate any person with respect to particular dried figs when he is engaged in manufacturing by-products therefrom, such as non-edible syrups and animal feed products which are not used for human consumption, or when he is engaged in converting them into distilled spirits. Therefore, any such person should not be considered as a handler with respect to those dried figs.

It is expected that the substandard pool will be operated under the State program. In order to obviate any question in this regard, the definition of "handler" should exclude the State of California, the Dried Fig Advisory Board and its agents and such persons as may obtain dried figs from them in carrying out the functions of the State program.

With the exceptions stated and for the reasons given heretofore, any persons performing with respect to dried figs any one or more of the functions specified in the definition of "handler" should be considered as such under the order. It follows, therefore, that the term "handle" should be defined to mean the performance of any one or more of the functions of a handler.

The term "crop year" should be defined to mean the 12-month period beginning August 1 of any year and ending July 31 of the following year. Industry experience has demonstrated that this period most accurately describes the 12 months in which dried figs are annually produced and marketed. Since the order may not, in any event, become effective by August 1, 1954, the first crop year should begin on the date when the order is made effective, assuming that the order is issued.

The term "part" should be defined to mean the order regulating the handling of dried figs produced in California, and all rules, regulations, and supplementary orders issued thereunder. The order regulating the handling of dried figs produced in California should be a "subpart", which is a subdivision of such part. The rules, regulations, and supplementary orders also would be subparts of that part. The use of such terms having those meanings is in conformance with the requirements of the Federal Register Division for orders of this nature.

(b) An agency should be established to administer the order and designated as the "Dried Fig Administrative Committee" to reflect its administrative character. It should be composed of a minimum of 10 members, of whom five should represent producers and five should represent handlers. Alternate members should be provided to act in the place and stead of such members. Provision also should be made for an eleventh member position on the committee, the occupancy of which would be optional, depending on whether the committee nominates and the Secretary selects a person to fill it, who need not be a producer or a handler. The eleventh member, if any, should be a person competent to serve as chairman. No alternate member needs to be provided for the eleventh member, because it is contemplated by the proponents that should there be such an eleventh member as chairman of the committee, the vice-chairman (either a producer or a handler) would act in the absence of the chairman.

Such a committee would be large enough to provide representation to all segments of the industry. At the same time, it would be of such size that it could operate effectively and efficiently. The foregoing division of members between producers and handlers is in conformity with the wishes of the dried fig industry. Industry experience indicates that such a committee of 10 or 11 members would be satisfactory. In this regard, the committee's composition would be identical with that of the Dried Fig Advisory Board under the State program and the same persons could serve on both the Board and the committee. This arrangement is desirable in that the order and the State program would complement each other and the administration of both programs by the same persons should result in proper coordination of the two programs.

The initial producer and handler members of the committee and their respective alternates should be the same as the producer and handler members of the Dried Fig Advisory Board for the State program, who are serving in such capacities at the effective time of the order, including the eleventh member of such Board if there be such a member. Such persons have had experience in the administration of dried fig marketing programs and are qualified to serve on the committee. The designation of the initial committee members in the order would permit the committee to become operative as soon as the order is made effective and the persons so designated file written acceptances with the Secretary.

Terms of office should be provided for the committee's initial and successor members and alternates so that the industry would have the opportunity, within relatively short periods of time, to indicate whether it desires to change the membership of the committee. Evidence shows that terms ending May 31 of each year would serve that purpose and permit the new committee membership to develop regulatory plans prior to the beginning of the ensuing crop year. As appointment of the new committee members and alternates may not always be made in time for them to take office immediately upon the expiration of the term of office of the existing committee, provision should be made for members and alternates, except for the eleventh member, to serve in their respective positions on the committee during the term of office for which they are selected and until their successors are selected and qualify. This provision would assure continuous functioning of the committee. The term of office of the eleventh member, however, should expire each year in any event on May 31 in accordance with the wishes of the proponents, and so that, after that date, the new committee could choose the eleventh member.

The Secretary should select the successor members and their respective alternates for the producer and handler groups from the nominations submitted for that purpose by those groups, or from among other eligible persons. The Secretary thus would have the benefit of the industry's recommendations with respect to the committee's membership, and he could exercise his discretion regarding the selection of eligible persons other than those nominated on the basis of the representation provided in the order. However, the Secretary should either select or decline to select the person nominated by the committee for the eleventh member position, but he should not fill it with some other person. The proponents wish assurance by means of order provisions that the important eleventh member position will not be occupied by a person undesirable to the committee. It is reasonable to grant this request.

Each producer member and alternate producer member of the committee should be during his term of office a producer in the district from which he is appointed and the major portion of his income from or interest in the dried fig industry should be as a producer. Each handler member and alternate handler member of the committee should be either a handler of dried figs or an employee or agent of a handler of dried figs actually engaged in the handling of dried figs while he is such member or alternate member, and whose primary interest in the dried fig industry is that of a handler. These provisions are necessary to establish the eligibility of producers and handlers to serve on the committee and to insure that the committee at all times will be truly representative of producers and handlers, respectively. Since a number of handlers are corporations, they would be excluded from representation unless employees or agents of handlers are authorized to serve as members on the committee.

The production area should be divided into the two districts described in the order for the purpose of establishing equitable producer representation on the committee by districts based on the relative production of dried figs in each district. Producers in District No. 1, in which approximately two-fifths of the area's dried figs are produced, should be represented on the committee by two producer members and their alternates Producers in District No. 2, in which the remainder of the dried figs in the production area are produced, should be represented on the committee by three producer members and their alternates.

These provisions for producer representation on the committee by districts are the same as those for the Dried Fig Advisory Board under the State program and experience has demonstrated them to be satisfactory. In order to maintain equitable producer representation on the committee based on production and to preclude the need for amending the order to accomplish this purpose, the order should provide that the districts described therein may be changed by recommendation of the committee and approval of the Secretary.

A procedure for the election by producers of nominees for successor members and alternate members of the committee should be prescribed in the order to assist the Secretary in his selection of such membership. Such nominations should be made at a meeting or meetings of producers called by the committee prior to May 1 in each of the two districts of the production area. By having the nomination meetings not later than May 1 of each year, the committee should be in a position to submit nomination lists to the Secretary in time for him to select the producer members of the new committee and their respective alternates prior to the expiration of the terms of office of the existing committee.

Each producer should be limited, at nomination meetings, to casting one vote for each producer member position and one vote for each alternate member position in the district in which he produces dried figs. Voting on this basis, rather than on the basis of relative tonnages produced, is in accordance with the usual procedure in producer elections. So that the nominees would be representative of producers who are sufficiently interested in order operations to attend the nomination meetings, only producers who are personally present at such nomination meetings should be permitted to vote for nominees. Although some producers produce dried figs in both districts, each producer should be permitted to vote only in one district (as he may choose) and only for the nominees to be selected in that district, so that his voting will not be given undue weight in the elections.

The order should provide that handler representation on the committee may be without regard to the districts of the production area, but, insofar as may be practical, should be representative of handlers generally. The committee should cause to be held each year prior to May 1, a meeting or meetings of handlers for the purpose of obtaining nominations of persons to serve as handler members and alternate members of the committee. Such meeting or meetings should be held prior to May 1 of each year for the same reason as heretofore stated in regard to the producer nomination meetings. It would be inadvisable to require that handler representation on the committee be by districts because handlers either do or are free to operate in both districts. Handler representation on the committee would provide their handling and marketing experience and information for use by the committee in its deliberations and decisions. It is unnecessary to prescribe in the order a detailed procedure or the voting basis to be followed by handlers in electing nominees for the handler positions on the committee because experience under the State program has demonstrated that they have agreed on and elected nominees representative of all handlers without the prescribing of such terms. Handlers prefer that terms not be prescribed. It was testified that only ten handlers are operating in the industry. In view of this, it should not be difficult for them to agree among themselves on nominees who would provide equitable representation of all handlers on the committee, particularly because they would be so represented by five members and five alternate members.

In the event nominations for any positions on the committee, except that of the eleventh member, are not received by May 5, the Secretary should be authorized to select such members and their alternates without regard to nominations. This provision should afford adequate time after the elections to submit the nominations to the Secretary. Any such selection by the Secretary should, of course, be on the applicable basis of representation provided in the order. The circumstances are such that these requirements should not apply to the eleventh member position.

Each person selected by the Secretary as a committee member or alternate should, prior to serving on the committee, qualify by filing with the Secretary a written acceptance of his willingness and intention to serve in such capacity. This requirement is necessary so that the Secretary will know whether the selectee will serve and so that appropriate action to fill the position can be taken promptly by the industry or Secretary if the selectee does not qualify. Such acceptance should be filed within 15 days after the notification of the appointment so that the keeping of the committee's membership whole will not be delayed unduly. Appropriate provision should be made for filling of vacancies on the committee, and the procedure followed should be that prescribed for the nomination and selection of previous incumbents of the vacant positions, insofar as practicable.

Members of the committee and alternate members when acting for members should serve without compensation but should be allowed their necessary expenses as approved by the committee. Experience has shown that producers and handlers give freely of their time for the benefit of the industry, and, therefore, would serve on the committee without compensation. However, it is deemed only fair that they should be made whole by the committee for expenses incurred in rendering such service.

The committee should be given those specific powers which are set forth in section 8c (7) (C) of the act. Such powers are necessary to enable an administrative agency of this character to function.

The committee should select a chairman from among its members and such other officers as may be appropriate from its membership or employees. Substantial fulfillment of the duties of the chairman of the committee would be important to the welfare of the dried fig industry. Therefore, it is deemed advisable for the chairman to be a member of the committee. The provision which authorizes committee employees to be officers of the committee would permit employees to perform services and take care of details which otherwise might require an undue amount of time and attention of committee members. For reasons stated heretofore, whenever the committee has an eleventh member, he should act as chairman of the committee.

Not less than seven members, including alternate members acting in the place and stead of members, should constitute a quorum of the committee. This requirement would insure that committee actions would be taken by a more fully representative committee than if a quorum consisted of a simple majority of six.

Except as otherwise stated in the second succeeding sentence, no action should be taken by the committee, including the nomination of an eleventh member, unless a quorum is present and a concurring vote of not less than three producer members and three handler members, or alternate members acting in the place and stead of members, is obtained. By requiring that all committee actions, except the establishment of volume regulation, be considered by at least seven of its membership and approved by at least a majority of both producer members and handler members, the foregoing provision would contribute toward the avoidance of possible domination of the committee by any particular group. However, because volume regulation would be of vital importance to the industry, any committee recommendation to establish it should require the concurring vote of not less than four producer members and four handler members, or alternate members acting in the place and stead of members. Although no restriction would be placed on the voting by the eleventh member chairman with respect to committee actions, his vote, if he were not a producer or a handler, would not be decisive in affecting actions of the committee in view of the foregoing requirements as to voting.

The committee's duties, as set forth in the order, are necessary for the discharge of its responsibilities. These duties are generally similar to those specified for administrative agencies under other programs of this character. It is intended that any activities undertaken by the committee will be confined to those which are reasonably necessary to carry out its responsibilities as prescribed in the order. It should be recognized that these specified duties are not necessarily all inclusive in that it may develop that there are other duties which the committee may need to perform.

Other provisions relating to the establishment and operation of the committee are set forth in the order. The need for these provisions is believed to be obvious and discussion of them unnecessary.

(c) The committee should hold a meeting in advance of each crop year to formulate and adopt a marketing policy for the regulation of the handling of dried figs during such crop year, and should prepare and submit to the Secretary a report thereon. The policy so established would serve to inform, in advance of the particular crop year, producers and handlers of the committee's plans for regulation for that year and the basis therefor. They then could plan their operations accordingly. The formulation of such policy would be useful to the committee in making specific recommendations to the Secretary of proposed quality or volume regulations. The committee's marketing policy report would be helpful to the Secretary in determining upon the regulation of the handling of dried figs.

In developing its marketing policy, the committee should give consideration to the supply of and demand for dried figs, other factors set forth in the marketing policy provisions of the order, and any other information, such as prospective imports of dried figs and fig paste into the United States, which would pertain to the marketing and regulation of the handling of dried figs during the ensuing crop year. Consideration of such factors would be essential to the development of a sound policy.

It was proposed at the hearing that § 964.40 (h) of the order, which would require the committee to determine and consider in connection with its marketing policy the estimated probable market requirements for dried figs in foreign commerce, segregated by countries, be changed so that one estimate of the total requirements of foreign countries for California dried figs would be made by the committee instead of estimating such requirements for each country separately. It is concluded that the order should not be so changed because the committee may need the more detailed estimates in connection with disposition of surplus tonnage pursuant to § 964.58 (c) of the order which provides, in part, that the committee may sell surplus tonnage for export to the extent that the requirements for this outlet were not provided for in estimating the salable quantity of dried figs for the particular crop year.

The committee should hold its marketing policy meeting not later than July 12 and should submit its policy report to the Secretary not later than July 17, except that for the first crop year the meeting should be held and the report submitted as soon as practicable after the effective time of the order. Except for the first crop year, these time limitations should be appropriate in view of industry operations and from the standpoint of allowing sufficient time for the Secretary to issue regulations to take effect on the handling of dried figs produced in the ensuing crop year.

The committee should be permitted to modify or change its marketing policy so that the policy could give recognition to changing and latest known conditions affecting the marketing of dried figs. A report of any such changed marketing policy should be submitted promptly by the committee to the Secretary, along with any information considered by the committee in the revision, so that he could evaluate the basis for the committee's action in that respect.

The committee should give reasonable publicity promptly to producers and handlers of the contents of each marketing policy report submitted to the Secretary and of each report modifying or changing such policy. Such publicity may be given through newspapers having general circulation in the production area or through other channels, but the committee should be able to use any or all of such media. Copies of all such reports should be maintained in the offices of the committee where they should be available for examination by producers and handlers. Those persons would be vitally concerned relative to the marketing policy decisions of the committee and, therefore, the relevant information should be available to them.

(d) Quality regulations should be applied to the handling of dried figs for the reasons and purposes stated in the foregoing discussion of issue numbered (2).

The quality regulations should include the application of minimum grade standards to handlers' receipts of natural condition dried figs and the application of correlated but more restrictive minimum grade standards to their shipments or other final dispositions of dried figs, sliced dried figs, and fig paste. Such receipts and dispositions should be inspected in order to determine whether they meet the applicable minimum grade standards, to ascertain the quality of the fruit on a uniform basis, and to facilitate the segregation and control of dried figs failing to meet those standards.

The quality regulations contained in the order with respect to handlers' receipts of natural condition dried figs (incoming quality regulations) would establish a barrier for diverting substandard dried figs from the regular commercial channels of trade, afford producers and handlers a basis upon which to price such receipts according to quality, encourage producers to produce better quality dried figs, prevent dried figs excessively affected with contaminating defects from jeopardizing and increasing the cost of good fruit in handlers' plants, facilitate compliance with the quality regulations relating to handlers' shipments and other dispositions, and help safeguard the public against the distribution of food unfit for human consumption.

The quality regulations contained in the order with respect to handlers' shipments or other final dispositions of dried figs, sliced dried figs, and fig paste (outgoing quality regulations) would provide another barrier for diverting from normal trade channels substandard dried figs and products unacceptable to users and consumers. This barrier would be another cause of all such diversion in the sense that one of the purposes of the incoming quality regulations and regulatory procedures employed prior to the application of the outgoing quality regulations would be to make more certain the successful operation of the outgoing quality regulations. These latter regulations would prevent the entry of such unacceptable dried figs and products into a competitive relationship with acceptable dried figs and products at the expense of the value of the latter. The outgoing quality regulations also would serve to minimize the quantity of dried figs and products seized in trade channels by the United States Food and Drug Administration.

It is estimated that the combined operation of the incoming and outgoing quality regulations would accomplish the diversion from human food channels of an average of about 25 percent of the annual production.

The proposed initial minimum grade standards applicable to handlers' receipts of natural condition dried figs, as set forth in the notice of hearings, prescribed a tolerance allowance for total defects (insect infested, moldy, sour, filthy and worthless dried figs) of not to exceed 25 percent, including a maximum tolerance of 10 percent for insect infested dried figs. These are the same tolerances which were in effect under the State program during the 1953–54 marketing season. On August 3, 1954, the Dried Fig Advisory Board (consisting of five handler members, five producer members and the eleventh member chairman) of the State program recommended to the Director of Agriculture of the State of California that such tolerance allowances be changed to 33 percent and 13 percent, respectively, for the 1954–55 marketing season. The Director approved this recommendation and the revised standards became effective on August 11, 1954. The Board's reasoning in recommending this change was that it would facilitate the harvesting of figs by producers, lower their costs, while at the same time making a more abundant supply of dried figs. The Board also believes that modern processing methods would permit handlers to process natural condition dried figs with defects not exceeding the changed tolerances in such a way as not to reduce the quality of dried figs, sliced dried figs, and fig paste shipped to the trade. In this regard, the minimum grade standards in the order which are applicable to handlers' shipments and other dispositions would be the same for 1954–55 as they have been under the State program and as provided in the notice of hearing.

The order would provide that the initial incoming grade standards may be superseded by either less or more restrictive standards. It was testified at the hearing that such flexibility is needed to meet varying production conditions affecting producers and that it would be the committee's intent to recommend such standards as would promote sound administration of the order and effectuate the purposes of the act, while at the same time permitting producers to operate most efficiently and economically in harvesting, producing and delivering their crops for marketing purposes. It is noted that the present members of the Board who made the recommendation will, in all likelihood, be the initial members of the committee. Moreover, it will not be possible to put the order into effect until after a considerable portion of the 1954 production of dried figs has been marketed by producers and handlers. It would be inequitable to them if the lower incoming minimum grade standards recently established under the State program were superseded during the 1954–55 marketing season by more restrictive standards under the order. Since it is intended that the order will complement the State program, it would not be proper to disrupt operations under that program needlessly. In view of the foregoing reasons, it is concluded that the initial minimum grade standards applicable to handlers' receipts of natural condition dried figs which were set forth in the notice of hearing should be changed to provide a tolerance allowance for total defects of not to exceed 33 percent, including a maximum tolerance of 13 percent for insect infested dried figs.

The minimum grade standards used in connection with outgoing quality regulations should be more restrictive than those for incoming quality regulations because handlers are able to utilize for human food purposes a portion of the defective dried figs in passable lots acquired from producers, which portion would make a differential in the tolerances for defects as between the two sets of standards desirable. For example, when handlers slice dried figs, the defective slices are sorted out and the remaining slices are sold as sliced dried figs, or, after grinding, as fig paste for bakery use. Handlers possess the facilities, which producers do not, to perform such operations, and it would be unreasonable and uneconomic to apply the more restrictive grade standards for outgoing quality regulations to producers' deliveries of natural condition dried figs to handlers. In view of the circumstances, however, handlers are able to comply with such standards. The minimum grade standards specified in § 964.90 (Exhibit A) of the order are appropriate for use as the initial standards for application to handlers' shipments or final dispositions. The standards are the same as those now in use under the State program, reflect the regulatory standards of the United States Food and Drug Administration, and would operate to prevent the use for human food of dried figs excessively insect infested, moldy, sour, filthy or worthless, and also sliced dried figs and fig paste prepared from such dried figs. The standards would provide reasonable tolerances for such defects because it is economically impossible to produce and process perfect dried figs in volume.

If the committee should later recommend to the Secretary that the initial minimum grade standards applicable to handlers' acquisitions of natural condition dried figs or those applicable to handlers' shipments or other final dispositions of dried figs, should be superseded by other minimum standards as to quality, it should submit its recommendation to the Secretary, together with its data supporting the recommendation. The Secretary should issue such superseding regulation if he should find, upon the basis of the committee's recommendation and supporting data, or from other pertinent information available to him, that to do so would tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act. The order should further provide that any superseding regulations may be by variety, shall provide a maximum tolerance for total defects, and may provide a maximum tolerance for single defects or classes of defects. Any superseding regulations issued by the Secretary should subsequently be modified, suspended or terminated in case he should find that the pertinent factors and circumstances so warrant.

The order should permit the quality of dried figs to be regulated by variety because production and marketing conditions may vary according to variety and the inherent quality characteristics of the individual varieties differ to some extent.

It should be permissible for the incoming initial minimum grade standards to be superseded by either less restrictive or more restrictive standards. On the one hand, technological advances in production techniques and the quality characteristics of a particular crop may enable producers profitably to produce dried figs meeting higher incoming grade standards. On the other hand, technological advances in processing techniques and improvement in market demand may permit handlers to eliminate profitably more of the defects in their acquisitions of dried figs so that lower incoming grade standards would result in a more abundant supply of dried figs and products thereof of a quality suitable for human consumption.

However, the order should not permit the initial outgoing minimum grade standards to be superseded by less restrictive standards, but only by more restrictive standards. Such initial standards are in line with the standards of the United States Food and Drug Administration and fruit not meeting them would be considered unfit for human consumption. Since the requirements of that Administration as to dried figs and products thereof may become more stringent in the future, advances may be made in production and processing techniques, and consumers and bakers may demand better quality dried figs and products thereof, the order should permit the initial outgoing standards to be superseded by more restrictive standards.

So that persons in the industry would be informed of regulatory actions affecting their operations, the committee should give prompt publicity through newspapers having general circulation in California and should be authorized to give notice through other channels, if the committee deems it desirable, to producers and handlers of each recommendation with respect to minimum standards of quality submitted by it to the Secretary and of each superseding regulation relative thereto which is issued by the Secretary. Notice of each such regulation issued should include, but not be limited to, writtten notice by registered mail to all handlers of whom the committee has a record. Since handlers must comply with the regulations issued, the receipt of notice by each of them should be assured.

Each handler should, at his own expense, cause an inspection to be made of each lot of natural condition dried figs tendered to him by a producer, and no handler should be permitted to acquire such dried figs until he has obtained from the inspection agency a certificate that they meet the applicable minimum grade standards. The handler should submit or cause to be submitted to the committee that certificate, together with such other instruments and records as the committee may require. Dried figs so certificated as meeting the applicable requirements should be known and referred to as "passable dried figs" for identification purposes. The foregoing requirements would enable the separation of substandard dried figs from passable dried figs, prevent handlers from processing and packing substandard dried figs for market, provide the committee with information needed in administering the order, and, in the event of volume regulation, facilitate the control of the surplus. The cost of inspection and certification of the passable dried figs should be borne by the handler because he would arrange for each inspection and this cost is normally paid by the handler.

With respect to the complementary relationship contemplated between the State program and the order, it is intended that, when natural condition dried figs are tendered to a handler on his premises, they will at that point pass from the jurisdiction of the State program into the jurisdiction of the committee and remain under that jurisdiction until they are sampled on the handler's premises and inspected. If they are certificated as passable dried figs, the handler, pursuant to the order, would be permitted to acquire them, subject to further order controls, for processing and preparation for market. However, in the event they fail to pass inspection, the dried figs would be rejected and released from the jurisdiction of the committee into the jurisdiction of the State program as substandard dried figs and they would be controlled as such under the State program.

After receipt of a producer's tender of natural condition dried figs on a handler's premises, samples would be drawn therefrom for inspection purposes and a period of time would elapse before the inspection results would be available. These results usually would be available within 24 hours after the receipt. It is necessary that each lot of such dried figs tendered to a handler be under the jurisdiction of the committee from the time of delivery until the inspection results are available so that the committee will have the authority to control the sampling procedures necessary for inspection, to require that the fruit be held separately and identifiable on the handler's premises until the inspection is completed, to prevent handlers from using substandard or uncertificated fruit in their processing operations, and to insure the removal of substandard dried figs from the handler's premises when the inspection results are available. It is contemplated that the committee will issue rules and procedures to attain these purposes.

The order should prohibit any handler from returning or transferring to any producer natural condition dried figs that have been certificated as passable dried figs to preclude the possibility of the producer commingling substandard dried figs with the passable lot and tendering the blended lot to a handler. Such action would be contrary to the intent of the order that orderly marketing be achieved through improvement of the quality of dried figs marketed.

Except as otherwise indicated below, the order should prohibit any handler from shipping or otherwise making final disposition of natural condition dried figs or of processed dried figs (including sliced dried figs and fig paste prepared from such dried figs) which fail to meet the then applicable minimum grade standards, either as set forth in § 964.90 (Exhibit A) of the order or as subsequently modified or changed. Each handler should, before shipping or otherwise making final disposition of dried figs, unless the dried figs are specifically excepted from coverage, cause an inspection to be made of such dried figs to determine whether they meet the then applicable minimum grade standards. The handler also should obtain a certificate from the inspection agency that the fruit meets such standards, and should submit or cause to be submitted to the committee the certificate, together with such other instruments and records as the committee may require. The foregoing requirements are necessary to assure that dried figs, sliced dried figs, fig paste shipped to the trade and dried figs used in the manufacture of human food products, will be of a quality satisfactory for use as human food and otherwise achieve the objectives of quality regulation.

In conformity with procedures which the industry has developed in cooperation with the United States Food and Drug Administration, it is contemplated that inspection will be made of the dried figs being prepared by the handler for shipment as such and of dried figs to be converted by him into fig juice or concentrate. The dried figs or the sliced dried figs, whichever the case may be, used by the handler in the manufacture of fig paste would be inspected, but if any doubt exists that the fig paste made from a particular variety of dried figs meets the quality standards prescribed for it, a verifying inspection would be made of the paste. Also in the event that a handler permitted an unreasonable period of time to elapse between inspection and shipment or other final disposition, it is expected that the committee would require the commodity to be reinspected. In some cases the fruit may fail upon inspection to meet the outgoing minimum quality standards. In order to administer the outgoing quality and inspection requirements properly, it is expected that the committee will issue rules and procedures to cover the situations described in this paragraph or other related inspection problems which may arise.

It is necessary that an agency be designated in the order to render the required inspection services. The Dried Fruit Association of California should be the inspection agency so designated. Testimony was to the effect that those services could be performed satisfactorily by this agency. However, the order should contain provision for use of an alternative inspection agency as may be recommended by the committee and designated by the Secretary to perform such services, so that, if for any reason, the inspection services of the Dried Fruit Association ceased to be available, the inspection services required by the order could be performed.

Certain exceptions should be made to the requirements of the order relating to quality controls applicable to handlers' shipments or other dispositions of dried figs.

Any handler should be permitted to transfer natural condition dried figs or processed dried figs from a plant owned by him to another plant owned by him within the State of California and to ship dried figs from his plant to another handler's plant within that State without having the dried figs inspected. These transfers should be permitted to minimize interference with handlers' normal operations. Reports of inter-handler transfers should be made promptly by the transferring handlers to the committee so that it would be informed of the quantities of dried figs held by the respective handlers. The receiving handler, however, before shipping or otherwise making final disposition of dried figs, should be required to comply with the inspection and quality regulations then in effect so that dried figs and products thereof of unsuitable quality would not be available in the markets for use as human food.

The order should provide that any defective dried figs which may be obtained by a handler by removing them from his passable dried figs, and any dried figs acquired by a handler which fail to meet the minimum quality standards for shipment or final disposition as dried figs, may be disposed of or marketed for disposition as animal feed or as other dried fig products for other than for human consumption. The tolerances for defects specified in the minimum quality standards applicable to handlers' shipments are more restrictive than those applicable to handlers' receipts of natural condition dried figs. This difference by itself would cause diversions of quantities of dried figs from regular commercial trade channels, but probably not in quantities commensurate with the difference in such tolerances, because handlers are able to use some of the defective dried figs in preparing sliced dried figs and fig paste for market by sorting out the defective pieces after slicing. Handlers not only sort out defective pieces of sliced dried figs to meet quality requirements for sliced dried figs and fig paste but also sort out a portion of the defective dried figs in their acquisitions to improve their consumer packs. These practices should be encouraged. Also, dried figs prepared by handlers for shipment may be rejected upon inspection. A portion of the rejected lot may be sorted out so that the remainder will pass inspection or it may not pay the handler to rework the lot for this purpose. It is only fair and reasonable that handlers be permitted to recover, in noncompetitive outlets, such financial value as they can for defective dried figs, pieces, sort-outs and unsuitable lots, in that the handlers would have acquired such dried figs for their own accounts in lots certified as passable. Any such dried figs should be disposed of for purposes other than for use as human food so that the objectives of the order would not be defeated. The committee should be authorized to establish such rules and procedures as may be necessary to be sure that such fruit is used only for eligible purposes.

Dried figs however processed (including dried figs, sliced dried figs and fig paste) being prepared for export, except to Canada, outside of the continental limits of the United States and its possessions and territories should be exempt from the quality and inspection requirements applicable to handlers' dispositions of dried figs. Such provision is in accordance with the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act, as amended, which provides in part that a food intended for export shall not be deemed to be adulterated or misbranded under the act if it: (1) Accords to the specifications of the foreign purchaser, (2) is not in conflict with the laws of the country to which it is intended for export, and (3) is labeled on the outside of the shipping package to show that it is intended for export. It was testified that the legislative history of that act discloses its intention to permit United States exporters to meet world competition on the basis of world standards relating to food, so long as in doing so, United States exports are not in contravention of the laws of the importing countries. It was testified further that dried figs produced in and exported from foreign countries are in general of lower quality than domestic dried figs meeting the minimum quality standards prescribed by the order. Canada should not be so exempted because it is the major export market for California dried figs, and shipments to Canada are required to meet the same minimum standards of quality as apply to domestic shipments. Exports of California dried figs to countries other than Canada are unimportant from the standpoint of quantity, averaging only 159 tons annually during the four marketing seasons 1949–50 to 1952–53. It is contemplated that rules and procedures will be issued pursuant to the order to insure against misuse or abuse of the exemption.

Pursuant to section 2 (3) of the act, the provisions of the order relating to minimum standards of quality and inspection requirements, and any other provisions of the order necessary for the administration and enforcement of such quality and inspection requirements, should continue in effect irrespective of whether the season average price to producers for dried figs is in excess of the parity level specified in section 2 (1) of the act. Incorporation in the order of authority for quality regulation in an above-parity situation would assure the continuity of such regulation. Operation of the incoming and outgoing quality regulations would prevent manufacturers and consumers from receiving California dried figs which are excessively insect infested, moldy, sour, filthy and worthless, and also sliced dried figs and fig paste prepared from such dried figs. In view of the type of defects to be controlled, it is obvious that such operation would contribute to the orderly marketing of dried figs and be in the public interest.

As in the case of quality regulation for a below-parity situation and for the reasons stated in respect thereto, the order should permit, for an above-parity situation, the incoming grade standards to be made either less or more restrictive and the outgoing grade standards to be made more restrictive than those now set forth in § 964.90 (Exhibit A). Insofar as outgoing quality standards are concerned, it would be desirable from the standpoint of the public interest, either in a below-parity or an above-parity situation to minimize, as rapidly as improvements in processing techniques will permit, the tolerances permitted for the defects listed in such standards or to prescribe limitations on other defects. In any event, the minimum standards during an above-parity situation should be such that dried figs and products thereof acceptable to users and consumers would not be withheld from them, but all of that which is so acceptable would be available to them. To meet these objectives in an above-parity situation, it is concluded that the matter of consumer acceptance as of that time be considered by the committee and the Secretary and appropriate minimum standards should be issued by the Secretary for application during such period pursuant to section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act.

(e) For the reasons stated in the discussion of the issue numbered (2), the order should provide the means for restricting, when it is desirable to do so, the supply of passable dried figs made available for disposition in regular commercial trade channels and for the control and disposition of surplus dried figs.

If the committee should conclude that the supply and demand for any variety or varieties of passable dried figs make it advisable to designate the percentages of such dried figs acquired by handlers in any crop year which should be salable and which should be surplus, it should recommend such percentages to the Secretary. Since a handler would not be permitted under the order to "acquire" substandard natural condition dried figs, the volume percentages should be applied only to those natural condition dried figs which meet the minimum quality standards prescribed pursuant to the order, or in other words, to passable dried figs. Authorization for separate salable and surplus percentages for each variety of dried figs is necessary because it may happen that a surplus of dried figs of one or more varieties will exist while supplies of other varieties will be less than or in balance with market demand.

In view of the effect which volume regulation would have on producer returns from dried figs, the committee, in making any recommendation to the Secretary with respect thereto, should consider and analyze the pertinent estimated factors listed in the order. The committee should submit to the Secretary along with its recommendation, the information used as basis for its recommendation as assistance to and use by him in taking action on such recommendation. The original recommendation by the committee as to percentages with respect to any crop year should be filed with the Secretary at the same time it submits its marketing policy report so that the volume regulation, if any, can be based on the latest information available, which will permit it to be made effective near the beginning of the crop year.

Whenever the Secretary should find from the recommendation and supporting information supplied by the committee, or from any other available information, that to designate by variety or otherwise the percentages of natural condition dried figs acquired by handlers during any crop year which should be salable tonnage and surplus tonnage, respectively, would tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, he should designate such percentages. The act authorizes the Secretary to take such action in those circumstances.

A change of the foregoing provision, which would substitute the word "and" for the word "or" in the phrase "or from any other information" was proposed at the hearing by an attorney representing handlers of approximately 85 percent of the dried fig production and was supported by the proponents. The purpose of the amendment was to preclude the Secretary from establishing volume regulation in the absence of recommendation for such regulation by the committee, but not to preclude the Secretary from designating different volume percentages from those recommended by the committee or prevent him from declining to establish any volume percentages recommended by the committee. It is considered that such a change would constitute an undue restriction of the Secretary's duty and responsibility under the act in this regard, and, therefore, that the change should not be made.

If the committee should deem it desirable to modify, suspend, or terminate any designation by the Secretary of salable and surplus percentages, it should submit to him its recommendation in that regard together with the information supporting its recommendation. If the Secretary should find from such recommendation and supporting information, or from any other available information, that for him to take any one of such actions would tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, he should do so. These provisions should be included in the order because conditions, unforeseen at the time of designating volume percentages may arise later in the crop year, which would require, for the benefit of the industry, the modification, suspension or termination of the volume percentages then in effect. The authority to modify the volume percentages, should not be used, however, to decrease the salable percentage and to increase the surplus percentage because inequities and hardship to producers and handlers would result.

The committee should give reasonable advance notice to producers and handlers of each meeting to consider any recommendation with respect to volume percentages, and each such meeting should be open to them. Such notice should be given through publicity in newspapers having general circulation in the area, and may be given through other channels, if the committee should deem it desirable. The committee also should give similar notice to producers and handlers of all such recommendations submitted to the Secretary. The Secretary should notify the committee promptly of each volume percentage fixed by him. The committee, in turn, should give prompt notice thereof to producers and handlers, including, but not necessarily limited to, written notice by registered mail to each handler of whom the committee has a record. The foregoing open meeting and notice requirements are desirable in that the committee would have the benefit of the views of different segments of the industry and the industry would be informed promptly of the committee's and the Secretary's actions with respect to volume percentages.

The salable percentage for any variety of dried figs should be such that its application would result in an adequate quantity of that variety which could be sold in regular commercial trade channels at prices which would tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act. These outlets would require not only dried figs for consumption as dried figs but also dried figs, sliced dried figs and fig paste for manufacturing purposes. The salable tonnage should not be a quantity so small as to result in a scarcity of dried figs and inflationary prices, nor should it be an excessive quantity which would create depressed prices. The surplus percentage for any variety of dried figs should result in the quantity of that variety representing the remainder of that year's production of passable dried figs acquired by handlers. If the salable tonnage should prove to be insufficient to fulfill the aforesaid commercial requirements, either due to overestimation of the supply of that variety or underestimation of the demand therefor, the surplus tonnage should be used to the extent necessary for correction of the deficiency, and the balance of the surplus tonnage should be disposed of by the committee in a manner which could not affect the price stability of the salable tonnage.

Since the committee would have the responsibility for the control and disposition of surplus tonnage, surplus tonnage acquired by each handler should be held by him, subject to the applicable restrictions of the order, for the account of the committee.

Each handler should hold in storage all surplus tonnage acquired by him until he has been relieved of that responsibility by the committee, either by delivery to the committee, or otherwise. It is desirable that the committee utilize the storage facilities of the handlers for storing surplus tonnage because handlers are experienced in the storing of dried figs, and have adequate facilities and trained personnel for this function.

So as to protect the interests of equity holders in surplus tonnage and at the same time not impose unreasonable storage requirements on handlers, the order should provide that each handler store surplus tonnage in such a manner as will maintain the dried figs in the same condition as when he acquired them, except for normal and natural deterioration and shrinkage, standards for which may be recommended by the committee and established by the Secretary, and except for loss through fire, acts of God, force majeure, or other conditions beyond the handler's control. Since a handler would hold surplus tonnage dried figs subject to the control of and disposition by the committee, he should deliver any part or all of them to the committee, or to any one designated by it, after reasonable notice from the committee to do so. Inasmuch as it would be the responsibility of the committee to make arrangements for transfers of surplus tonnage, such delivery should be considered as having been made when the handler makes the dried figs available to the committee at his warehouse or at such other place as they may be stored by the handler. It may be necessary for the committee to dispose of surplus tonnage either as natural condition dried figs or as processed dried figs, or in both forms. Therefore, the committee should be authorized to require that the delivery of surplus tonnage by a handler consist of natural condition dried figs, or to arrange for the delivery to consist of processed dried figs.

It should be required that each handler have in his possession, or under his control, at all times, a quantity of dried figs, by variety, equal to the quantity of surplus tonnage referable to his acquisitions of dried figs of that variety less any quantity of such surplus tonnage delivered by him pursuant to instructions of the committee and any quantity of such tonnage acquired by him but subsequently sold to him by the committee. This provision is needed to insure that a handler will have on hand at all times a sufficient quantity of surplus to meet his then current obligations.

The committee should have the authority to defer the fulfilling by a handler of his surplus tonnage obligation for a specified period ending not later than December 15 of the particular crop year, if the handler meets such reasonable terms and conditions as are prescribed by the committee including, but not limited to, the giving of a performance bond.

Deferment of the meeting of such obligation may be advisable because the setting aside and holding of appreciable quantities of dried figs from early season deliveries might retard the movement of dried figs into regular commercial trade channels, and thus reduce the total quantity which would ultimately move in such channels. Fulfillment of a handler's surplus tonnage obligation should not be deferred beyond December 15 because a handler would have had the opportunity by that time to supply the largest market demand for dried figs, which usually occurs during the first four or five months of the crop year, and because procurement of dried figs from producers might be retarded and the effect of the pooling operation unduly delayed. In order to insure, insofar as practicable, that a handler who is granted such a deferment will subsequently satisfy his surplus obligation, the committee should require that he file with it an appropriate written undertaking secured by a performance bond. Since the committee would be in the production area and would be administering the order, and prompt action would be needed on requests for deferment, it is concluded that the committee should administer the approving of such bonds. In exercising this function, it should determine what sureties, corporate or private, are satisfactory for acceptance as bondsmen. Since any unaccounted for surplus would presumably be disposed of as salable tonnage, the amount of such a bond should be computed on the basis of the then current market value of natural condition dried figs, as determined by the committee, for the quantity for which the deferment is granted. Inasmuch as this matter would be under the supervision and control of the committee, each such bond should run in favor of the committee. In addition, however, the Secretary also should be included as an obligee, because, under the act, any suits in that regard would need to be brought, upon the request of the Secretary, by the appropriate district attorney of the United States in the appropriate Federal court. Since any deferment granted to a handler would be for his benefit, he should bear the cost of the performance bond. Any sums collected through default of a handler on his bond should, after reimbursement of the committee for any expenses incurred by it in effecting collection, be deposited with the proceeds from the disposition of surplus tonnage for disbursement to equity holders thereof. This procedure is justifiable since surplus tonnage not set aside and sold by the handler in salable tonnage outlets would displace salable tonnage of producers and they would be entitled to compensation therefor.

Surplus tonnage delivered by any handler to the committee, whether in the form of natural condition dried figs or processed dried figs, should meet the applicable minimum quality standards provided in § 964.50 or § 964.51 of the order, unless otherwise specified by the committee. This provision is necessary to protect the sales value of the surplus tonnage and equity holders' interests therein. Since the quality of dried figs acceptable in the different outlets for surplus tonnage may vary, the committee should have the authority to prescribe for surplus tonnage higher or lower minimum quality standards than those provided in the order, or to waive them. Inasmuch as the quality characteristics, uses and rates of normal and natural deterioration vary for the different varieties of dried figs, the committee should be authorized to establish different minimum quality standards for individual varieties delivered from the surplus tonnage. It is expected, of course, that the committee will operate these provisions so as to achieve equity among all handlers.

Handlers should be compensated for receiving, storing and handling surplus tonnage held by them for the account of the committee, in accordance with a schedule of payments established by the committee and approved by the Secretary. It is only fair for the committee to reimburse handlers for services which the committee has them perform in carrying out its obligations with respect to the surplus tonnage held for it. Such reimbursement should, for obvious reasons, be made by the committee from surplus tonnage sales proceeds.

There was set forth in the notice of hearing a proposal that the committee should have the authority, in its discretion, to obtain loans, nonrecourse or otherwise, on any part, or all, of the surplus tonnage, and to pledge or hypothecate the dried figs on which such loans are obtained as security therefor: Provided, That, in every such case, there is included in the loan agreement a provision to the effect that, in case the lender should obtain possession or control of such dried figs, he would not dispose of them in any manner contrary to the order provisions for the disposal of surplus dried figs. Also, that the net proceeds of any such loan should be distributed by the committee to the respective producers, or their successors in interest, on the basis of the volume of their respective contributions to the pooled dried figs of each variety on which the loan is obtained. It is concluded that the committee should be given authority to obtain loans in connection with surplus dried figs under the modified terms and conditions which are specified below.

This authority is needed to enable payments of net funds to producers in connection with the surplus portions of their deliveries of dried figs earlier in the crop year than would otherwise be practicable. Experience under other programs of this nature has demonstrated that, in the absence of such borrowing authority, it has not been practicable generally to make any appreciable distribution of the net pool proceeds until the latter half of the particular 12-month period and such payments may not normally be made in full until after such period has elapsed. On the other hand, borrowing authorization has been incorporated in the regulatory programs of this nature in regard to two other commodities which are produced in California, and experience under one of the programs has demonstrated that it has facilitated the making of such payments earlier and for relatively larger amounts. In these circumstances, it seems clear that the inclusion of a borrowing authorization in the regulatory provisions would be desirable.

However, insofar as the specific proposal is concerned, the witness for the proponents agreed at the hearing that: a lender who acquired surplus dried figs as a result of a default on a loan for which they were pledged as security for repayment would not qualify as a handler of those figs, and hence there is considerable doubt whether such a lender would be liable criminally for a violation of the regulatory provisions in case he should dispose of the surplus dried figs in normal market, as opposed to authorized surplus, outlets; insofar as disposition in authorized surplus outlets is concerned, it is not intended that the lender would be permitted, in any event, to dispose of such surplus in any except possibly the lowest priced of those outlets, such as for cattle feed, and a loan on such a basis of valuation would not provide sufficient money; a practicable alternative method would be for the lender to have the committee dispose of such surplus for him in some higher priced surplus outlet or for the lender to rely upon the committee to make payment of the loan from the surplus proceeds generally; it is doubtful that "any soundly managed banking institution would be willing to lend money • • • under a condition which required the bank to dispose of the figs only within the limitations imposed by this provision"; and "a loan only on a contract of sale (i. e., a so-called firm contract of sale) would (probably) cure the problem that exists here." It was argued that the potentially objectionable results which are indicated above would be avoided, first, because the committee, in negotiating for such a loan, could reasonably be expected to insist upon the inclusion in the loan agreement of provisions adequate to insure against such a happening, and, second, any lender would, as a matter of good business policy, regulate his actions so that such results would not occur. It was predicted that, if a lender loaned more than the cattle or hog feed value of the pledged security, he would either rely upon the committee to dispose of such security in a higher priced surplus outlet or look generally to the surplus pool proceeds for repayment.

The more recent of the two previous loan authorizations in a regulatory program of this nature in connection with a California commodity is contained in §§ 993.63 (j) and (k) of the further amended marketing agreement and order regulating the handling of dried prunes produced in California (19 F. R. 1313) which became effective on March 9, 1954. It is provided in paragraph (j) that, in no event, shall the administrative agency hypothecate surplus tonnage. However, the provisions of paragraph (k) permit the hypothecation of binding written contracts for the sale of surplus, but only on the condition that the loan agreement contains the following terms and conditions: (a) The recourse of the lender shall be confined to the particular sale contract, or the proceeds which are derived therefrom; (b) neither the Secretary, the committee, any of the committee's members, alternate members, officers, employees, and agents, nor any distributees as such (including their respective officers and employees) of the loan proceeds, shall be liable for the repayment, either in whole or in part, of the particular loan; and (c) the lender waives any right which he might otherwise have, in case of default in repayment, to obtain either possession or control of the surplus involved. The desirability and need for these restrictions were discussed in the Recommended Decision (see 19 F. R. 5314–5315) which preceded the issuance of the aforesaid further amended regulation with respect to dried prunes.

The other previous loan authorization in connection with a California commodity is contained in § 989.66 (g) of the marketing agreement and order regulating the handling of raisins produced from raisin variety grapes grown in California (7 CFR Part 989), which became effective on August 18, 1949. While the loan authorization set forth in that regulation is substantially the same as that proposed in this instance, it was recognized in the aforementioned discussion in the Recommended Decision preceding the issuance of the further amended regulation on dried prunes that the exercise of the lending authority under the raisin regulation had been found to be "feasible • • • subject to the restrictions indicated above [i. e., those in the further amended prune regulation], as soon as firm contracts of sale have been executed."

In the light of the foregoing, it is concluded that the loan authorization in the present instance should be confined to the hypothecation of binding written contracts for the sale of surplus dried figs, subject to the following restrictions, which should be set forth in, and form a part of, each such loan agreement: (a) The recourse of the lender shall be confined to the particular sales contract or the proceeds which are derived therefrom; (b) neither the Secretary, the committee, any of the committee's members, alternate members, officers, employees, and agents, nor any distributees as such (including their respective officers and employees) of the loan proceeds, shall be liable for the repayment, either in whole or in part, of the particular loan; and (c) the lender waives any right which he might otherwise have, in case of default in payment, to take any action to obtain either possession or control of the dried figs involved. It is believed that these restrictions are desirable because they insure that the potentially objectionable situations will not arise, rather than leave the avoidance of such happenings to the taking of precautionary measures by the committee and the particular lender in their respective discretions. Also, it appears from the proponent's testimony on the matter that such restrictions would be feasible of operations and presumably should not prevent the obtaining of loans.

It is possible, of course, that, even in the case of a binding written contract for sale, it could happen that the sale is not consummated, such as by reason of a breach of the contract by the contracting buyer. In order to avoid any misunderstanding as to the action which it is expected that the committee would take in such an event, it is considered that it would have a strong, and compelling, moral responsibility to see to it that repayment of the loan is made from other surplus pool proceeds.

Handlers constitute an important segment of the dried fig industry and should be accorded fair treatment by the committee with respect to opportunities for purchasing or for contract processing or packing of surplus tonnage. Accordingly, if the committee offers surplus tonnage dried figs to handlers for any one of the foregoing purposes in connection with paragraphs (b), (c), (d) or (h) of § 964.58 of the order, each handler should, insofar as practicable, be given the first opportunity to purchase or process or pack, whichever the case may be, his share of the offer, which share should be determined as the same proportion that the respective surplus tonnage received by him is of the surplus tonnage received by all handlers. Any surplus for which a deferment has been granted to a handler should be included in his receipts of surplus tonnage in determining his share so as not to penalize a handler for availing himself of a privilege conferred by the order. It is possible that the following of the foregoing method may not be practicable in every instance. For example, an offering may be of such a small quantity that it would be uneconomical to have all handlers participate. Therefore, the committee should be authorized to deviate from the method and to restore equitable proration in subsequent offerings. If a handler declines or fails to purchase or contract for processing or packing any or all of his share of any offer, the remaining portion should be reoffered by the committee to all handlers who purchased or contracted for processing or packing all of their respective shares of such offer, in proportion to their respective shares. When a handler does not avail himself of the privilege of accepting such offer by the committee, it is reasonable that the remaining surplus tonnage covered by the offer should be made available to other handlers. Any quantity of surplus tonnage remaining unsold or not contracted for processing or packing after a reoffer should be withdrawn from the particular offer, but the committee should be authorized to sell or contract to any handler or handlers any such remaining quantity. The primary purpose of this latter provision would be to facilitate the disposition of small quantities which may remain after an offer and reoffer.

The committee should be permitted to dispose of surplus tonnage dried figs in outlets which would yield the best possible net returns without jeopardizing unduly the value of or restricting the market for salable tonnage.

The committee should be authorized to sell direct, or to sell to handlers for resale, surplus tonnage to the United States Government or to any agency thereof (including, but not limited to, sales for domestic or foreign relief purposes, school lunch and institutional feeding, or for foreign economic assistance), or to any foreign government. Such sales generally would not be competitive with sales of salable tonnage. In this regard, it is not contemplated under this authorization that customary competitive sales to United States Government agencies, such as those to the armed services for subsistence or commissary use, will be made from the surplus tonnage because such sales normally would be made by handlers from the salable tonnage. It is intended, however, to authorize sales of surplus tonnage to United States Government agencies when such sales will not interfere unduly with the normal marketing of salable tonnage dried figs. Since the committee usually could not estimate accurately the requirements of a foreign government for dried figs by the beginning of a crop year, those requirements should not be included in the estimates upon which the salable percentage is based. The committee might lose opportunities to maximize the proceeds from the disposition of the surplus tonnage if it were not permitted to dispose of that tonnage to such a buyer. The United States Government or foreign government might prefer to purchase the surplus dried figs directly from the committee, or from handlers. Therefore, the order should provide for either alternative.

The committee should be authorized to sell direct, or sell to handlers for resale, any surplus tonnage dried figs for animal feed, botanicals, distillation, or for any other manufacturing uses or for export which were not provided for in estimating the salable quantity of dried figs for the then current crop year. Sales of surplus tonnage for the purposes and under the conditions stated in the preceding sentence normally would not interfere with the sale of dried figs in regular commercial channels. The committee should be authorized to exercise such supervision as may be reasonably necessary to insure that the surplus dried figs are disposed of for the respective uses for which they are sold.

The committee should be permitted to offer to sell and sell to handlers dried figs from the surplus tonnage for disposition in regular commercial trade channels when such sales would not disrupt or weaken the market for salable tonnage and to preclude an unreasonable increase in the price of salable tonnage. This would permit replenishing salable tonnage from surplus tonnage if the salable tonnage should develop to be less than that needed for commercial market requirements. The purpose of setting aside dried figs in the surplus pool would be to obtain a reasonable increase in the price and value of the salable tonnage and to create stabilized marketing conditions. Sales of dried figs from the surplus tonnage for use as salable tonnage should be permitted when it would not interfere with achieving this objective. These sales should be made only under certain conditions so that they would not constitute interference of this character.

Prior to any offer by the committee to sell surplus tonnage to handlers for use as salable tonnage, it should find either that more than 80 percent of the estimated salable tonnage for the crop year has been sold by handlers, or that more than 20 percent of the uncontracted salable tonnage is being held so tightly by relatively few handlers or producers as seriously to restrict commerce in dried figs and 75 percent of all handlers have made a written request therefor and such requesting handlers have purchased over 65 percent of the salable tonnage purchased from producers. It would not be justifiable for the committee to sell surplus dried figs to handlers for use as salable tonnage if a substantial quantity of dried figs remained readily procurable from producers even if most of the salable tonnage of handlers has been sold. On the other hand, it should not be required that the entire quantity being held by producers be purchased because some producers may be unwilling to sell their dried figs. The meeting of the foregoing percentage conditions should contribute toward guaranteeing that the supply of salable tonnage has been depleted to a point where sales from the surplus tonnage would not adversely affect commercial market prices.

No offer to sell to handlers surplus tonnage for use as salable tonnage should be made prior to December 15 of any crop year because the supply of salable tonnage should be ample to fulfill all trade requirements at least up to that date. No offer to sell surplus tonnage to handlers should be so excessive as to quantity that it obviously would disrupt orderly marketing conditions for the salable tonnage.

Any offer by the committee to sell surplus tonnage to handlers for use as salable tonnage outstanding as of July 5 of any crop year should be withdrawn at that time and no further offers should be made. This provision would prevent an increase in the supply of dried figs available for regular commercial trade channels just prior to the availability of the new crop and thus prevent interference with the marketing of the new crop. An exception to this requirement should be made to permit waiving it if the committee determines, with the approval of the Secretary, that a major change in conditions has occurred, such as the involvement of the United States in war or a serious crop shortage or a crop failure in the following year, or any other significant development which indicates a serious shortage of supply. This exception would permit the committee to sell surplus tonnage after July 5 for use in regular commercial trade channels if unanticipated conditions develop to the point where a real need for surplus dried figs exists in those channels.

Committee sales to handlers of surplus tonnage for use as salable tonnage in regular commercial trade channels, as would be authorized by § 964.58 (d) of the order, should not be made at a price below that which reflects the weighted average price received by producers for salable tonnage of the particular variety of dried figs during the then current crop year to a date as near as is practicable to the date of the offer, plus accrued charges for receiving, handling and storing the surplus tonnage to be sold. This provision would aid in protecting the price level for dried figs in regular commercial trade channels and in encouraging distributors and users to purchase salable tonnage dried figs. In case of a rising market in the trade, this restriction would not handicap the committee in disposing of surplus tonnage in such channels. In case of a declining market in the trade, the minimum price prescribed would restrict the committee in disposing of surplus tonnage in such channels, but this restriction generally would be desirable in that it would prevent augmentation of the supply of salable tonnage and accentuation of the price decline. The use of a weighted average price as a minimum should prevent abnormal fluctuations in the committee's offer prices.

However, the committee should be permitted to sell surplus tonnage at negotiated prices for the purposes and under the conditions specified in paragraphs (b), (c) and (h) of § 964.58 of the order. All such outlets are generally regarded as being noncompetitive with outlets for salable tonnage. It is reasonable to presume that such sales at negotiated prices would not adversely affect salable tonnage prices nor restrict the market therefor, but would enable the committee to maximize the proceeds from the disposition of surplus tonnage by selling it in outlets which otherwise might not take the fruit on account of price.

The committee should endeavor to sell all dried figs in the surplus tonnage at a rate which would achieve as nearly as practicable its complete disposition not later than July 31, the end of the crop year. Any surplus tonnage unsold as of that date should be disposed of as soon as practicable for animal feed, distillation, or in any other outlet which is not competitive with the sale of dried figs in regular commercial trade channels. That date is chosen because it would be the end of the crop year. Unless the surplus tonnage is out of the way by that time, the committee might be put in the position of having two surplus pools at the same time, each to be accounted for separately. Moreover, doubling up the surplus might constitute a threat to confidence in the successful operation of the order. However, the foregoing provisions should not be operative when the committee determines, with the approval of the Secretary, that a major change in conditions has occurred which indicates a shortage of supply. In that case, demand for surplus dried figs carried over might develop in normal commercial trade channels which could be fulfilled without detrimental effects on the marketing of the new crop. In order to enable the committee to make prompt disposition of such surplus after July 31, it should be permitted to sell it at negotiated prices.

The committee should file with the Secretary, by telegram or airmail letter, prior to making any offer to sell surplus dried figs, complete information with respect thereto, including the basis therefor. The Secretary should have the right to disapprove, within seven calendar days after he receives such information, the making of such an offer or any term or condition thereof. The Secretary should have opportunity to determine whether the proposed offer is justifiable in light of the order's objectives and to notify the committee of his decision.

The committee should be enabled by the order to donate surplus tonnage dried figs for use in research or promotional activities so as to encourage activities which might result in expanding the market for dried figs or in creating new uses, products or markets.

In conformity with the act, expenses incurred by the committee in receiving, handling, holding or disposing of surplus tonnage should be charged against the sales proceeds of that tonnage.

The net proceeds from the disposition of surplus tonnage should be distributed to producers on the basis of their respective contributions to the surplus tonnage, or to their successors in interest with such appropriate quality or varietal differentials as may be established by the committee. It is only fair that the net proceeds should be paid to producers to the extent that they share, respectively, in bearing the burden of the surplus. Since a producer might assign his equity in the proceeds to another person, the provision should recognize that the successor in interest would share in the proceeds as his interest might appear. The provision also should recognize that surplus dried figs may vary in value according to quality and variety, by authorizing the committee to establish appropriate differentials for these factors. Producers generally would need to receive promptly any proceeds from the disposition of surplus tonnage to meet their financial obligations. For this reason, the committee should be authorized to make progress payments as sufficient funds become available.

The order should provide that distribution of the net proceeds could be made by the committee either directly or through handlers as agents of the committee, under safeguards to be established by it. The committee might find that it would save time and money if the distribution were made through handlers as its agents. It is contemplated that, if the committee should elect to distribute the proceeds through handlers, each handler would make distribution to the producers from whom he received surplus tonnage and to any successors in interest. It is not contemplated that the handlers would obtain custody of the proceeds. It is further intended that the committee would be in a position to check the accuracy of each calculation from the records in its possession before it approves the drafts for payment.

Prior to making any distribution of the net proceeds from the disposition of surplus tonnage, the committee should submit to the Secretary a report covering all pertinent details. The Secretary should have the right to disapprove, within seven calendar days after he receives such information, the making of the disbursement or any term or condition of it. This procedure would permit the Secretary to check and make his views known to the committee regarding the proposed disbursement method, the amounts to be distributed to equity holders, and the amount to be withheld to cover pool expenses.

(f) It would be necessary that the order contain certain reporting and record keeping requirements so that the committee and the Secretary would be provided with information needed to administer and enforce the program.

Each handler should, upon the request of the committee, file promptly with it a certified report, by varieties, of all natural condition dried figs and processed dried figs, separately, which were held by him on January 31 and July 31 of any crop year. That report should show the quantity of each variety and its location. These reporting dates are the same as those used under the State program. The reports would inform the committee relative to the quantities of the several varieties of dried figs owned or controlled by handlers, whether in the production area or on consignment, and would be of assistance to the committee in its computations of the supply of domestic dried figs available for use in normal market channels.

If a surplus percentage is established for any crop year, each handler should, upon request, file with the committee, in such manner and at such times as it may designate, a certified report showing, with respect to his acquisitions of each variety of dried figs during the period covered by the report, the surplus tonnages referable to his acquisitions of dried figs and the locations of those tonnages. The committee would need the foregoing information for administrative, compliance, fiscal and disposal purposes in connection with volume regulation. Also, in order to enable the committee to ascertain the interests of persons in surplus tonnage and to make proper distribution of the net proceeds thereof, each handler should, upon request, file with the committee, in such manner and at such times as it may prescribe, the name and address of each person from whom he acquired dried figs and the quantity of each variety acquired from each such person.

Each handler should file with the committee such price reports as may be requested by it, showing the weighted average price paid by him to producers for each variety of dried figs and the quantity purchased at each price. These reports would be needed by the committee to determine, as provided in § 964.58 (f) of the order, the minimum prices at which it would be permitted to sell surplus tonnage to handlers for use as salable tonnage, and in fixing negotiated prices for other dispositions of the fruit.

Upon the request of the committee each handler should furnish such other reports and information as are needed to enable the committee to perform its functions under the order. It is impracticable to anticipate every type of report or kind of information which the committee may need in administering the order, but it should have the authority to obtain such reports and information needed for that purpose.

By reason of the nature of reports which a handler would be required to file with the committee and the records he would need to keep, some of the information contained therein might be such as to disclose his trade secrets, or adversely affect his trade position, financial condition, or business operations if known to his competitors. Therefore, insofar as is reasonably consistent with the necessary use of such information in connection with the administration of the order, each handler should be protected against such disclosure of the confidential information furnished by him. It is concluded that this objective would be attained by having the information furnished to one or more of the employees of the committee charged specially with the responsibility of keeping such information confidential and disclosing it to no person except to the Secretary upon request. The pertinent provisions in the notice of hearing included a provision which would permit the custodians of the confidential information to disclose to the committee confidential information as to a particular handler in connection with its investigations of alleged violations by him. This provision has been omitted. The proponents testified at the hearing that only summaries of confidential information supplied by handlers would be made available to the committee members. It should be recognized in this regard that the committee would be comprised, in part, of five handler members and their alternates, and that there are ten recognized dried fig handlers. Insofar as investigations by the committee are concerned, the use of confidential information should be handled by the employees who are responsible for keeping it confidential.

Any information which is furnished to the California State authorities for their use in administering the State program would need to be treated in accordance with the applicable terms and conditions set forth in section 10 (i) of the act, namely, that "such information is relevant to transactions within the regulatory jurisdiction of such authorities, and then only upon a written agreement by such authorities that the information so furnished shall be kept confidential by them in a manner similar to that required of Federal officers and employees."

In order to enable the committee to verify the correctness of reports filed with it by handlers, and also to determine whether handlers are complying with the order, each handler should maintain records of all dried figs handled by him as prescribed by the committee. Those records should include, but not necessarily be limited to, the quantity of dried figs of each variety acquired from each person and the name and address of each such person, total acquisitions, total sales and total other disposition of each variety which he handles.

The committee, through its duly authorized representatives, should have access to any handler's premises and should be permitted to inspect his premises and any dried figs held by the handler, and any of his records with respect to the acquisition, holding or disposition of dried figs. Each handler should furnish all labor and equipment necessary to make such examinations at no expense to the committee. Each handler should store dried figs in a manner which will facilitate examination and should maintain storage records which will permit accurate identification of dried figs held or theretofore disposed of by him. The committee thus would be enabled to ascertain whether the reports and data submitted to it are accurate and whether handlers are complying with the order. All data and information obtained or received through checking and verification of reports should be treated as confidential information so that a handler's business operations would not be affected adversely.

(g) The committee should be authorized to incur such expenses (exclusive of expenses for the receiving, handling, holding or disposing of any quantity of surplus tonnage) as the Secretary finds are reasonable and likely to be incurred by it during each crop year for the maintenance and functioning of the committee and for such other purposes as the Secretary may, pursuant to the provisions of the order, determine to be appropriate. The funds to cover such expenses should be obtained through the levying of assessments on handlers. The act specifically authorizes the Secretary to approve the incurring of such expenses by an administrative agency such as the committee, and requires that each marketing order contain provisions requiring handlers to pay, pro rata, the necessary expenses. So as to assure continuance of the committee throughout the period that the order is in effect, it should be permissible to require the payment of assessments irrespective of whether particular provisions of the order are suspended or become inoperative.

The committee's recommendation as to the expenses for its maintenance and functioning and the recommended rate of assessment for each crop year together with all data supporting such recommendations, should, except for the first crop year, be filed with the Secretary not later than July 17 preceding the crop year in connection with which such recommendations are made. The committee would have determined by that date upon its marketing policy for the ensuing crop year and be in a position to estimate its expenses and the total assessable tonnage for that year. Also, the committee's submissions of such recommendations by that date should enable the Secretary to take action with respect to them near the beginning of the new crop year.

Each handler should pay to the committee, upon demand, with respect to all salable tonnage, dried figs handled by him as the first handler thereof and on all dried figs sold to him from surplus tonnage for resale, his pro rata share of such expenses which the Secretary finds will be incurred by the committee during each crop year. Each handler's pro rata share of these expenses should be equal to the ratio between the total salable tonnage handled by him as the first handler thereof plus the tonnage sold to him from surplus tonnage for resale during the applicable crop year, and the total salable tonnage of dried figs handled by all handlers as the first handlers thereof plus the tonnage sold during the same crop year to such handlers from surplus tonnage for resale. In this way, payment of assessments would be proportionate to the respective quantities of dried figs handled by handlers as the first handlers thereof and assessments would not be levied on the same dried figs more than once. Surplus tonnage sold by the committee to handlers for resale would, in effect, become salable tonnage. Therefore, it should be assessed on the same basis as salable tonnage.

The Secretary should have the authority, at any time during a crop year or thereafter, to increase the rate of assessment to obtain sufficient funds to cover the expenses of the committee. The Secretary should reduce the assessment rate applicable to all assessable tonnage of the particular crop year if he finds that when thus reduced it will provide funds sufficient to enable the committee properly to perform its functions under the order. The act requires that administrative expenses shall be paid by all handlers pro rata, and it is necessary, therefore, that any increased or decreased rate apply retroactively against all assessable dried figs handled during the particular crop year.

In order to provide funds for administration of the order during periods when sufficient assessment monies have not been received. the committee should be authorized to accept advance payments from handlers. Any such advance payments should be credited by the committee toward such assessments as may be levied later against the respective handlers. Provision for the acceptance by the administrative agency of advance assessment payments is included in other marketing orders, and has been found to be a satisfactory and desirable method of providing funds to cover costs of operation prior to the time when assessment collections are being made in an appreciable amount.

It should be provided that any money collected as assessments during any crop year and not expended in connection with that crop year's operations may be used by the committee in paying its expenses for a period not in excess of the first five months of the succeeding crop year. It should be further prescribed that the committee shall, from funds on hand, including assessments collected during the new crop year, credit, or make payment, within six months after the beginning of the new crop year, the aforesaid excess, as verified by audit, to each handler from whom an assessment was collected in the proportion that the amount of the assessment paid by the respective handler bears to the total amount of the assessments paid by all handlers during the previous crop year. As has happened under other marketing programs, the assessment monies collected from dried fig handlers during a crop year may exceed, for various reasons, the committee's administrative expenses for that year. These excess funds could not be returned or credited to handlers until the committee's books are closed for the year and verified by audit. Also, unforeseen delays may be encountered in following rule making procedure for the approval of a budget of expenses and the establishment of a rate of assessment for the new crop year. Completion of these actions would normally require a period of time during the new crop year when assessment revenue may not be available in appreciable amounts. Therefore, it should be permissible for the committee to use such excess funds from the previous crop year which would otherwise be idle to meet expenses incurred during the first five months of the new crop year, which is considered a reasonable time limitation for this purpose. To the extent that these funds were available, the committee would not need to request handlers to make advance payments. It is contemplated that the committee would confine its use of any such excess funds in paying the expenses of operations during the succeeding crop year to such period of time as that action may be necessary in case use of the full five-month period is not needed.

Any money collected from assessments and remaining unexpended in the committee's possession upon the termination of the order should be distributed in such manner as the Secretary may direct. In exercising this authority, it is intended that, insofar as reasonably practicable, such refunds will be made pro rata to handlers of the then current crop year on the basis of their respective assessment payments after deduction of expenses incident to the operation of the order during the then current crop year up to the time of the liquidation of the committee's affairs. The Secretary should be authorized to exercise sufficient discretion to meet in an equitable and appropriate manner unusual situations which may arise upon termination of the order. These unusual situations might comprise, but would not be necessarily limited to, those involving refunds of surplus assessment funds due handlers in connection with previous crop years which have not been paid because of inability to locate handlers.

The committee should be authorized, with the approval of the Secretary, to maintain in its own name, or in the name of its members, a suit against any handler for the collection of his assessment. Such a provision is set forth in the act.

Obviously, all funds received by the committee should be used solely for the purposes, and accounted for in the manner, prescribed in the order.

The Secretary should be authorized to require the committee, at any time, to account for all receipts and disbursements. Such authority would aid in assuring careful administration and accounting of the committee's funds.

(h) The provisions of §§ 964.80 through 964.89, as hereinafter set forth, are, except as indicated below with respect to producer referendums mentioned in the last sentence of § 964.86 (b), provisions similar to those which are usually included in other marketing agreements and orders now operating. The provisions of §§ 964.94 through 964.96, as hereinafter set forth, are also included in other marketing agreements now operating. All these provisions are incidental to and not inconsistent with the act and are necessary to effectuate the other provisions of the recommended marketing agreement and order and to effectuate the declared policy of the act. Testimony at the hearing supports the inclusion of each such provision.

Those provisions which are applicable to both the recommended marketing agreement and order, identified by both section number and heading, are as follows: § 964.80 Personal liability; § 964.81 Separability; § 964.82 Derogation; § 964.83 Duration of immunities; § 964.84 Agents; § 964.85 Effective time; § 964.86 Termination or suspension; § 964.87 Procedure upon termination; § 964.88 Effect of termination or amendment; and § 964.89 Amendments.

Those provisions which are applicable to the recommended marketing agreement only, identified by both section number and heading, are as follows: § 964.94 Counterparts; § 964.95 Additional parties; and § 964.96 Order with marketing agreement.

The order properly could, and it is concluded that it should, provide that, upon recommendation of the producer members of the committee, adopted by a majority vote, a referendum would be held to determine whether a majority of the producers in the production area favor termination. But it should not be required that a referendum be held prior to 1955, or more often than once every two years. In this way, the Secretary would not be required to conduct a referendum at a time when there might be little evidence that a majority of producers favor termination, and yet it would afford producers an opportunity to express, through their representatives on the committee, their desire for a referendum, and for referendums to be conducted periodically if recommended as aforesaid. It should be understood, however, that the foregoing referendum provisions would not, in any event, affect the Secretary's right under the act to hold a referendum at any time, or to terminate the order at any time without a referendum if he should find that the provisions of the order fail to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(4) It is provided in § 900.12 (d) of the rules of practice and procedure governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders that the issuance of a recommended decision in connection with a proposed program of this nature "may be omitted only if the Secretary finds on the basis of the record that due and timely execution of his functions imperatively and unavoidably requires such omission." The proponents argued at the hearing that the recommended decision should be omitted in this instance so that the order might be made effective prior to the time that dried figs from the current crop are marketed in appreciable quantities and the industry could secure the benefits of the order as soon as practicable. In further support of this request, it was testified that producers and handlers, through their organizations, had signified unanimously that they desired that an order of the proposed nature be put into effect.

It is agreed that it would have been very desirable to have put this order in effect at the beginning of this crop year (August 1), or shortly thereafter. However, the circumstances are such that this will not be practicable in any event. The hearing was not held until the middle of June 1954, and considerable time has been needed to resolve satisfactorily the several difficult problems which the proposals involve. That is to say, even if the issuance of the recommended decision should be omitted, the order could not be issued and made effective until after a considerable portion of the current production of dried figs had been handled. It was testified at the hearing that the movement of dried figs to handlers begins in July; and that the bulk of the movement usually takes place in August and September. It would still be necessary to prepare and issue a decision by the Secretary and to have a referendum of producers, as well as to present the agreement to handlers for signature, the first two of which actions, of necessity, require a period of several weeks. This would be particularly true of the decision, since it would need to cover each issue in considerable detail.

One of the main objectives for the issuance of a recommended decision is to afford all interested persons an opportunity to consider the findings and conclusions which are proposed to be made by the Secretary and to give them an opportunity to file exceptions thereto. This opportunity cannot be afforded in any instance where the issuance of a recommended decision is omitted. Therefore, if practicable, such omission should normally be had only in those instances where all interested parties are obviously in agreement, first, as to the need for the proposed regulation, and, second, the general nature of what the details of such regulation should be.

In the present situation, the need for the order is being contested by manufacturers who use the major portion of the domestic dried fig production in the manufacture of fig bars. This was evidenced by questions asked witnesses for the proponents at the hearing and by a brief filed on behalf of these manufacturers after the hearing was ended. The nature of their objections is such that it is concluded that they should be afforded a reasonable opportunity to consider the proposed preliminary findings and conclusions and to file exceptions thereto if they should desire to do so. The request to omit the issuance of the recommended decision is, therefore, denied.

Rulings on proposed findings and conclusions. At the time of the hearing, the Presiding Officer set July 3, 1954, as the time by which briefs would need to be filed by interested parties with respect to facts presented in evidence and the conclusions which should be drawn. That time was later extended to July 12, 1954, by the Presiding Officer. A brief was filed on behalf of the American Bakers Association, Washington, D. C., and the Biscuit and Cracker Manufacturers Association, Los Angeles, California, by Joseph M. Creed, counsel for the first Association and by Pierce Works and William L. Scott of O'Melveny & Meyers, counsel for the second Association. The brief contained proposed findings of fact, conclusions and arguments with respect to the proposals discussed at the hearing. Every point covered in such brief has been considered carefully along with the evidence in the record in making the findings and reaching the conclusions herein set forth. To the extent that the suggested findings and conclusions contained in that brief are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions contained herein, the request to make such findings, or to reach such conclusions, is denied on the basis of the facts found and stated in connection with this recommended decision.

General findings. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing, and the record thereof, it is hereby found that:

(1) This marketing agreement and order, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) This marketing agreement and order will regulate the handling of dried figs in the same manner as, and is applicable only to the persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activities specified in, the proposed marketing agreement and order upon which a hearing has been held:

(3) The marketing agreement and order are limited in their application to the smallest regional production area which is practicable, consistently with carrying out the declared policy of the act, and the issuance of several orders applicable to subdivisions of the production area would not carry out the declared policy of the act effectively;

(4) There are no differences in the production and marketing of dried figs in the production area covered by the marketing agreement and order which would require different terms applicable to different parts of such area; and

(5) The handling of all dried figs produced in California is either in the current of interstate or foreign commerce, or directly burdens, obstructs, or effects such commerce. It is hereby recognized, however, that this program will be operated in conjunction with the State of California Marketing Order for Dried Figs as amended July 22, 1953, or as it may be amended thereafter, and that the two programs will complement each other pursuant to the provisions of section 10 (1) of the act.

DRIED FIG ADMINISTRATIVE COMMITTEE

§ 964.20 Establishment of Dried Fig Administrative Committee. A Dried Fig Administrative Committee, hereafter referred to as the committee, consisting of 10 members with an alternate member for each such member, is hereby established to administer the terms and provisions of this part, of whom, with their respective alternates, five shall represent producers and five shall represent handlers. The committee may nominate and recommend for appointment an eleventh member of the committee who need not be a producer nor a handler. There shall be an alternate member for each member of the committee except the eleventh member.

§ 964.21 Selection of members of the committee—(a) Initial members. The initial producer and handler members of the committee and their respective alternates shall be the same as the producer and handler members and their respective alternates of the Dried Fig Advisory Board under the Marketing Order for Dried Figs, as Amended, established under the provisions of the California Marketing Act of 1937, as Amended, who are serving in such capacities at the effective time hereof, including the eleventh member of such Dried Fig Advisory Board if there be such an eleventh member. The initial 10 members of the committee and their respective alternates shall hold office for a term ending May 31, 1955 and until their successors shall be selected and shall qualify. The eleventh member, if any, shall hold office for a term ending May 31, 1955.

(b) Term of office of successor members. The successors of the 10 original members and their respective alternates shall be selected annually by the Secretary for a term of one year beginning June 1 and shall serve until their respective successors shall be selected and shall qualify; and in the event the committee shall nominate an eleventh member he may be selected by the Secretary for the balance of such year.

(c) Selection of successor members. Selection of the 10 successor members of the committee, and their respective alternates, shall be made by the Secretary, for the producer and handler groups from the nominations submitted for that purpose by those groups, or from among other qualified persons, in the discretion of the Secretary, but such selections shall be made upon the basis of the representation provided for in §§ 964.22, 964.23, and 964.24.

§ 964.22 Eligibility. Each producer member and alternate producer member of the committee shall be during his term of office a producer in the district from which he is appointed and a major portion of his income from or interest in the dried fig industry shall be as a producer. Each handler member and alternate handler member of the committee shall be either a handler of dried figs or an employee or agent of a handler of dried figs actually engaged in the handling of dried figs while he is such member or alternate member, and whose primary interest in the dried fig industry is that of a handler.

§ 964.23 Producer representation. Producer representation on the committee shall be by districts as described in this section or as such districts may be changed by recommendation of the committee with the approval of the Secretary to maintain equitable representation based on production. District No. 1 shall have two members and two alternate members and shall include all of the area of California north of the northern boundaries of Monterey, San Benito, Fresno and Inyo Counties. District No. 2 shall have three members and three alternate members and shall include the counties of Monterey, San Benito, Fresno and Inyo and all counties south thereof.

§ 964.24 Nomination of successors to initial producer members of the committee.—(a) Nomination meetings. Nominations for producer members and alternate producer members of the committee subsequent to the initial members and alternates, shall be made at a meeting or meetings of producers held in each of the foregoing districts. Such meetings shall be called by the committee at such times and at such places within such districts as the committee shall designate, prior to May 1 of each year. The producers at each of such meetings shall select a chairman and secretary therefor. (b) Producer voting in nomination meetings. In the nomination of producer members and alternate producer members of the committee, each producer shall be entitled to cast one vote for each member position and one vote for each alternate member position in the district in which he produces dried figs. Only producers who are personally present at such nomination meetings shall be entitled to vote for nominees. Each producer shall be entitled to vote only in one district and only for the nominees to be elected in such district.

§ 964.25 Handler representation. Handler representation on the committee may be without regard to districts but insofar as may be practical shall be representative of handlers generally.

§ 964.26 Nomination of successors to initial handler members. The committee shall cause to be held each year prior to May 1, a meeting or meetings of handlers affected by this part for the purpose of obtaining nominations of persons to serve as handler members and alternate members of the committee.

§ 964.27 Failure to nominate. In the event nominations for any positions on the committee except that of the eleventh member, are not received by May 5, the Secretary may select such members and their alternates without regard to nominations but each such selection shall be on the applicable basis prescribed in §§ 964.22, 964.23, and 964.25.

§ 964.28 Acceptance. Each person selected as a member or alternate member of the committee shall, prior to serving on the committee, qualify by filing with the Secretary a written acceptance within 15 days after receiving notice of his selection.

§ 964.29 Alternates. An alternate member of the committee shall act in the place and stead of the member for whom he is an alternate (a) during his absence, or (b) in the event of his removal, resignation, disqualification, or death until a successor for such member's unexpired term has been selected and has qualified.

§ 964.30 Vacancies. In the event of any vacancy occasioned by the failure of any person selected as a member or alternate member of the committee to qualify or by the removal, resignation, disqualification, or death of any member or alternate member, a successor for such person's unexpired term shall be nominated within 60 calendar days after such vacancy occurs and selected in the manner provided in this subpart insofar as applicable.

§ 964.31 Obligations. Upon the removal, resignation, disqualification, or expiration of the term of office of any member or alternate member of the committee, such member or alternate member shall account for all receipts and disbursements and deliver to his successor, to the committee, or to a designee of the Secretary all property (including, but not limited to, all books and records) in his possession or under his control as member or alternate member, and he shall execute such assignments and other instruments as may be necessary or appropriate to vest in such successor, committee, or designee full title to such property and funds, and all claims vested in such member or alternate member. Upon the death of any member or alternate member of the committee, full title to such property, funds, and claims vested in such member or alternate member shall be vested in his successor or, until such successor has been selected and has qualified, in the committee.

§ 964.32 Compensation and expenses. Members of the committee and alternate members when acting as members shall serve without compensation but shall be allowed their necessary expenses as approved by the committee.

(a) To administer the terms and provisions of this subpart;

(b) To makes rules and regulations to effectuate the terms and provisions of this subpart;

(c) To receive, investigate and report to the Secretary complaints of violations of this subpart; and

(d) To recommend to the Secretary amendments to this subpart.

§ 964.34 Procedure—(a) Organization. The committee shall select a chairman from among its members and such other officers as may be appropriate from its membership or employees. Whenever an eleventh member has been nominated by the committee and appointed by the Secretary such eleventh member shall act as chairman of the committee.

(b) Quorum. Not less than seven members, including alternate members acting in the place and stead of members, shall constitute a quorum of the committee.

(c) Voting requirements. No action shall be taken by the committee including the nomination of an eleventh member unless a quorum is present and a concurring vote of not less than three producer members and three handler members, or alternate members acting in the place and stead of members, is obtained: Provided, however, That any recommendation to establish volume regulation under § 964.55 of this subpart shall require the concurring vote of not less than four producer members and four handler members, or alternate members acting in the place and stead of members.

§ 964.35 Duties. The committee shall have, among others, the following duties:

(a) To act as intermediary between the Secretary and any producer, or handler;

(f) To submit to the Secretary not later than July 17 of each year a budget of its anticipated expenditures and the recommended rate of assessment for the ensuing crop year and the supporting data therefor, except that such submission for the first crop year shall be made as soon as practicable after the effective time of this subpart.

(g) To submit to the Secretary such available information with respect to figs and dried figs as the committee may deem appropriate or as the Secretary may request;

(h) To prepare and submit to the Secretary statements of the financial operations of the committee exclusive of surplus control operations at such times as the committee may deem appropriate or as the Secretary may request, and to make such statements together with the minutes of the meetings of said committee available for inspection at the offices of the committee by producers and handlers;

(i) To prepare and submit to the Secretary annually as soon as practicable after the end of each crop year and such other times as the committee may deem appropriate or the Secretary may request a statement of the financial operations of the committee with respect to the surplus control for such crop year and to make such statement available at the offices of the committee for inspection by producers and handlers;

(j) To cause the books of the committee to be audited by a certified public accountant at least once each crop year and at such other times as the committee may deem necessary or as the Secretary may request. Such report shall show among other things, the receipt and expenditure of funds. At least two copies of such audit report shall be submitted to the Secretary. A copy of each such report shall be available at the offices of the committee for inspection by producers and handlers.

(k) To give the Secretary the same notice of meetings of the committee and subcommittees as is given to the members of the committee or subcommittees;

(l) To give producers and handlers reasonable advance notice of meetings of the committee and to maintain all such meetings open to such persons;

MARKETING POLICY

§ 964.40 Report of marketing policy. Prior to the beginning of each crop year, the committee shall prepare and submit to the Secretary a report setting forth its marketing policy for the regulation of the handling of dried figs in such crop year. Such report shall include the data and information used by the committee in the formulation of such marketing policy. In developing the marketing policy, the committee shall give consideration to the following factors:

(a) The estimated tonnage of dried figs by variety from preceding crop years held by handlers;

(b) The estimated tonnage of dried figs by variety from preceding crop years held by producers;

(c) The estimated production of dried figs by variety in such crop year;

(d) An appraisal of the quality and size of dried figs by variety of the crop to be produced in such crop year;

(e) The estimated tonnage of dried figs marketed in recent crop years segregated by countries as to foreign commerce and segregated by uses as to domestic commerce;

(f) The current prices being received for dried figs by producers and handlers;

(g) The trend and level of consumer income;

(h) The estimated probable market requirements for dried figs in such crop year in domestic commerce segregated by uses and in foreign commerce, segregated by countries; and

(i) Such other factors as may have a bearing on the marketing of dried figs.

§ 964.41 Policy meeting. The committee shall hold a meeting for the purpose of formulating and adopting the marketing policy for any crop year not later than July 12 preceding the beginning of such crop year, except that the meeting for the first crop year shall be held as soon as practicable after the effective time of this subpart.

§ 964.42 Time of submission. The marketing policy report for any crop year shall be submitted to the Secretary as promptly as possible after the policy meeting and in no event later than July 17 preceding the beginning of such crop year, except that the submission for the first crop year shall be as soon as practicable after the effective time of this subpart.

§ 964.43 Modification or change. In the event the committee subsequently determines that such marketing policy should be modified or changed by reason of change in economic or other conditions, it shall make such modification or change in the manner provided for above for the original formulation of a marketing policy, insofar as applicable, and shall submit promptly a report of such modified or changed marketing policy to the Secretary, along with the data which it considered in connection with the making of such modification or change.

§ 964.44 Publicity. The committee shall promptly give reasonable publicity to producers and handlers of the contents of each marketing policy report submitted to the Secretary and of each report modifying or changing a marketing policy. Such publicity may be given through newspapers having general circulation in the area or through other channels, but the committee may use any or all of such media. Copies of all such reports shall be maintained in the offices of the committee where they shall be available for examination by producers and handlers.

QUALITY CONTROL

§ 964.50 Receiving of natural condition dried figs by handlers—(a) General. In order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, no handler shall acquire natural condition dried figs except in accordance with the provisions of this section.

(b) Initial regulation. As of the effective time of this subpart, and continuing until such regulation is superseded by other regulations prescribed by the Secretary, no handler shall acquire natural condition dried figs unless they meet the minimum standards for natural condition dried figs as set forth in § 964.90 (Exhibit A).

(c) Superseding regulation. In case the committee should recommend to the Secretary that the initial minimum standards as to quality, as provided for in paragraph (b) of this section, should be superseded by other minimum standards as to quality, it shall submit its recommendations to the Secretary, together with the data and information upon which it acted in making such recommendation, and such other information as the Secretary may request. The Secretary shall issue such superseding regulation if he finds, upon the basis of the recommendation and supporting data submitted to him by the committee, or from other pertinent information available to him, that to do so would tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act. Any superseding regulations may be by variety, shall provide a maximum tolerance for total defects, and may provide a maximum tolerance for single defects or classes of defects. Any superseding regulations issued by the Secretary shall subsequently be modified, suspended, or terminated, in case he finds that the pertinent facts and circumstances so warrant; and the committee, in submitting any recommendation therefor to the Secretary, shall, in each instance, submit to him the information and data on the basis of which such recommendation is made. The committee shall give prompt publicity through newspapers having general circulation in the area and may give notice through other channels, if the committee deems it desirable, to handlers and producers of each recommendation submitted by it to the Secretary and of each superseding regulation issued by the Secretary. Notice of each regulation issued shall include, but not be limited to, written notice by registered mail to all handlers of whom the committee has a record.

(d) Inspection. (1) Each handler shall cause an inspection to be made of each lot of natural condition dried figs tendered to him. Prior to acquiring such dried figs, each handler shall obtain a certificate that the dried figs meet the minimum standards for passable dried figs as established pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (b) or (c) of this section, and said handler shall submit or cause to be submitted to the committee such certificate, together with such other instruments and records as the committee may require. Such certificates shall be issued by inspectors of the Dried Fruit Association of California, or such other inspection agency as may be recommended by the committee and designated by the Secretary. Each lot of dried figs so certificated as meeting the applicable requirements shall be known and referred to as passable dried figs. The cost of inspection and certification of such passable dried figs shall be borne by the handler.

(2) For purposes of inspection, natural condition dried figs shall be sampled on a handler's premises in accordance with the rules and procedures established pursuant to the provisions of this subpart. Each lot of natural condition dried figs tendered to a handler shall be under the jurisdiction of the committee from the time of delivery thereof until inspection results are available. No handler may acquire natural condition dried figs failing to meet the minimum standards of quality, and no handler may return or transfer to any producer any natural condition dried figs that have been certificated as meeting minimum standards of quality.

§ 964.51 Regulation of the handling of dried figs subsequent to their acquisition by handlers—(a) General. In order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, no handler shall ship or otherwise make final disposition of natural condition dried figs or of processed dried figs, except in accordance with the terms and conditions of this section.

(b) Initial regulation. As of the effective time of this subpart, and continuing until such regulation is superseded by other regulations prescribed by the Secretary, except as otherwise specifically provided, no handler shall ship or otherwise make final disposition of dried figs which fail to meet the applicable minimum standards set forth in § 964.90 (Exhibit A).

(c) Superseding regulation. In case the committee should recommend to the Secretary that the initial minimum standards as to quality, as provided for in paragraph (b) of this section should be superseded by other minimum standards as to quality, it shall submit its recommendation to the Secretary, together with the data and information upon which it acted in making such recommendation, and such other information as the Secretary may request. The Secretary shall issue such superseding regulation if he finds, upon the basis of the recommendation and supporting data submitted to him by the committee, or from other pertinent information available to him, that to do so would tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act. Any superseding regulations may be by variety, shall not be below the applicable minimum standards for dried figs, as set forth in § 964.90 (c) of Exhibit A, and any such minimum standards for quality shall provide a maximum tolerance for total defects, and may provide a maximum tolerance for single defects or classes of defects. Any superseding regulations issued by the Secretary shall subsequently be modified, suspended, or terminated in case he finds that the pertinent facts and circumstances so warrant; and the committee, in submitting any recommendation therefor to the Secretary shall, in each instance, submit to him the information and data on the basis of which such recommendation is made. The committee shall give prompt publicity through newspapers having general circulation in the area and may give notice through other channels, if the committee deems it desirable, to handlers and producers of each recommendation submitted by it to the Secretary and of each superseding regulation issued by the Secretary. Notice of each regulation issued shall include, but not be limited to, written notice by registered mail to all handlers of whom the committee has a record.

(d) Inspection. Each handler shall at his own expense, before shipping or otherwise making final disposition of dried figs, unless such figs are specifically excepted in this section, cause an inspection to be made of such dried figs to determine whether they meet the then applicable quality standards for dried figs. No handler shall ship or otherwise make final dispositon of such figs for any use, unless they are specifically excepted in this section, if they do not meet such minmum standards. Each handler shall obtain a certificate that such dried figs meet the aforementioned minimum standards and shall submit or cause to be submitted to the committee such certificate, together with such other instruments and records as the committee may require. Such certificates shall be issued by inspectors of the Dried Fruit Association of California, or such other inspection agency as may be recommended by the committee and designated by the Secretary.

(e) Exceptions to restrictions—(1) Interplant and inter-handler transfers. Notwithstanding the restrictions contained in paragraphs (b) or (c) of this section, any handler may transfer dried figs from one plant owned by him to another plant owned by him within the State of California without having an inspection made as provided for in paragraph (d) of this section, and any handler may ship dried figs from his plant to another handler's plant within the State of California without having an inspection made as provided for in paragraph (d) of this section. A report of such inter-handler transfer shall be made promptly to the committee by the transferring handler. The receiving handler shall, before shipping or otherwise making final disposition of such dried figs, comply with the requirements of this section.

(2) Defective dried figs. Any defective dried figs which may be accumulated by a handler by removing them from his passable dried figs, and any dried figs acquired by a handler which fail to meet the quality standards for shipment or final disposition as dried figs, may be disposed of or marketed for disposition as animal feed, or as other dried fig products in which they are used in channels other than for human consumption. The committee shall issue any such rules and procedures as may be necessary to insure such uses.

(3) Export shipments. Dried figs however processed being prepare for export, except to Canada, outside of the continental limits of the United States and its possessions and territories are exempt from the quality inspection and certification requirements of this section. Handlers preparing dried figs or dried fig products for such exempted export markets shall observe rules and procedures established pursuant to the provisions of this subpart.

§ 964.52 Above parity situations. The provisions hereof relating to minimum standards of quality and inspection requirements, within the meaning of section 2 (3) of the act, and any other provisions pertaining to the administration and enforcement thereof, shall continue in effect irrespective of whether the season average price to producers for dried figs is in excess of the parity level specified in section 2 (1) of the act.

VOLUME REGULATION

§ 964.55 Recommendations for designation of percentages—(a) Committee determinations. If the committee concludes that the supply of and demand for any variety or varieties of dried figs make it advisable to designate the percentages of such dried figs acquired by handlers in any crop year which shall be salable and which shall be surplus, it shall recommend such percentages to the Secretary. With any recommendation respecting percentages, the committee shall also submit the information on the basis of which such recommendation was made. In the event the committee subsequently deems it desirable to modify, suspend, or terminate any such percentages, it shall submit to the Secretary its recommendation in that regard together with the information on the basis of which such modification, suspension, or termination is recommended.

(b) Pertinent considerations. In determining any recommendation referred to in paragraph (a) of this section, the committee shall consider and analyze the following pertinent estimated factors:

(1) The supply of dried figs, comprising any carryovers of dried figs from preceding crop years held by producers and handlers and the tonnage of dried figs to be produced in the crop year under consideration;

(2) The trade demand during the crop year for dried figs in normal market channels, both domestic and foreign;

(3) The current prices being received for dried figs by producers and handlers;

(4) The trend and level of consumer income;

(5) Present and prospective price trends for dried figs;

(6) Other pertinent economic and marketing factors relative to dried figs; and

(7) If the committee recommends volume regulation by variety, the information insofar as possible shall be furnished by variety.

(c) Notice. The committee shall give reasonable advance notice to producers and handlers of each meeting to consider the recommendation of the percentages to be fixed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, or any recommendation to modify, suspend, or terminate such percentages, and each such meeting shall be open to them. Such notice shall be given through publicity in newspapers having general circulation in the area, and may be given through other channels, if the committee deems it desirable. The committee also shall give similar notice to producers and handlers of all such recommendations submitted to the Secretary.

(d) Filing of recommendation with the Secretary. The original recommendation by the committee as to percentages with respect to any crop year shall be filed with the Secretary at the same time it submits its marketing policy report.

§ 964.56 Regulation by the Secretary—(a) Designation of percentages. Whenever the Secretary finds from the recommendation and supporting information supplied by the committee, or from any other available information, that to designate by variety or otherwise the percentages of natural condition dried figs acquired by handlers during any crop year which shall be salable tonnage, and surplus tonnage, respectively, would tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, he shall so designate the percentages of such dried figs acquired by handlers during such crop year which shall be salable tonnage, and surplus tonnage, respectively. In the event the Secretary subsequently finds from the recommendations and supporting information supplied by the committee, or from any other available information, that modification, suspension, or termination of any such regulation will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, he shall so modify, suspend, or terminate such regulation.

(b) Notice. The Secretary shall notify the committee promptly of each such percentage so fixed. The committee, in turn, shall give prompt notice thereof to producers and handlers, including, but not necessarily limited to, written notice by registered mail to each handler of whom the committee has a record.

§ 964.57 Surplus tonnage of dried figs generally—(a) General requirement. Surplus tonnage acquired by each handler shall be held by him for the account of the committee, and subject to the applicable restrictions of this subpart.

(b) Holding and delivery. Each handler shall hold in storage all surplus tonnage acquired by him until he has been relieved of such responsibility by the committee, either by delivery to the committee, or otherwise. Such handler shall store such surplus tonnage in such a manner as will maintain the dried figs in the same condition as when he acquired them, except for normal and natural deterioration and shrinkage, standards for which may be recommended by the committee and established by the Secretary, and except for loss through fire, acts of God, force majeure, or other conditions beyond the handler's control. The committee may, after giving reasonable notice, require a handler to deliver to it, or any one designated by it, at such handler's warehouse or at such other place as the dried figs may be stored, part, or all of the surplus dried figs held by him. The committee may require that such delivery consist of natural condition dried figs, or it may arrange for such delivery to consist of processed dried figs.

(c) Surplus obligation and deferment thereof. Each handler shall have in his possession, or under his control, at all times, a quantity of dried figs, by variety, equal to the quantity of surplus tonnage referable to his acquisitions of dried figs less any quantity of such surplus tonnage delivered by him pursuant to instructions of the committee and any quantity of such tonnage acquired by him but subsequently sold to him by the committee: Provided, That the committee may defer, upon the written request of any handler and for good and sufficient cause, the meeting by such handler of such requirement for a specified period ending not later than December 15 of the particular crop year. As a condition to the granting of any such deferment, the committee shall require the handler to obtain and file with it a written undertaking that by the end of the deferment period he will have fully satisfied his obligations with respect to the holding or control by him of the surplus tonnage applicable to his acquisitions of dried figs. Such undertaking shall be secured by a bond or bonds to be filed with and acceptable to the committee, running in favor of the committee and the Secretary, and for an amount computed on the basis of the then current market value of natural condition dried figs, as determined by the committee, for the quantity for which the deferment is granted. The cost of such bond shall be borne by the handler filing same. Any sums collected through default of a handler on his bond shall, after reimbursement of the committee for any expense incurred by it in effecting collection, be deposited with the funds obtained by it from the disposition of the surplus pool and disbursed by it to producers as set forth in § 964.58 (j). In addition to the foregoing, the committee may establish other reasonable and necessary terms and conditions upon which such deferments may be granted.

(d) Quality requirements. Surplus tonnage delivered by any handler to the committee, or to any person designated by it, whether in the form of natural condition dried figs or processed dried figs shall meet the minimum standards provided in §§ 964.50 or 964.51 unless otherwise specified by the committee. Different minimum standard requirements may be established by the committee for individual varieties delivered to the committee from the surplus tonnage.

(e) Payment for services. Handlers shall be compensated for receiving, storing, and handling surplus tonnage held by them for the account of the committee, in accordance with a schedule of payments established by the committee and approved by the Secretary.

(f) Loans. The committee may hypothecate binding written contracts for the sale of surplus dried figs, for the purpose of obtaining funds for the distribution of net proceeds from the disposition of surplus tonnage dried figs in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (j) of § 964.58: Provided, That there are included in, and made a part of, the loan agreement in connection with each such loan the following terms and conditions: (1) The recourse of the lender shall be confined to the particular sales contract, or the proceeds which are derived therefrom; (2) neither the Secretary, the committee, any of the committee's members, alternate members, officers, employees, and agents, nor any distributees as such (including their respective officers and employees) of the loan proceeds, shall be liable for the repayment, either in whole or in part, of the particular loan; and (3) the lender waives any right which he might otherwise have, in case of default in payment, to obtain either possession or control of the surplus dried figs involved. The proceeds of any such loan, after deducting a reasonable amount to help defray the surplus pool operation expenses, shall be distributed by the committee to the respective producers, or their successors in interest, on the basis of the volumes of their respective contributions to the pooled dried figs of each variety on which the loan is obtained.

§ 964.58 Disposition of surplus tonnage.—(a) Handlers' pro rata shares. In the event the committee offers surplus tonnage dried figs to handlers for purchase, or for contract processing or packing, each handler shall, insofar as practicable, be given the first opportunity to purchase or process or pack his share of the offer, which share shall be determined as the same proportion that the respective surplus tonnage received by him is of the surplus tonnage received by all handlers: Provided, That any surplus tonnage for which a deferment has been granted to a handler pursuant to the provisions of and as authorized in § 964.57 (c) shall be included in his receipts of surplus tonnage in determining his share: And provided further, That any inequities resulting from this method may be corrected by the committee. In the event that any handler declines or fails to purchase or contract for processing or packing any or all of his share of any such offer, the remaining portion thereof shall be reoffered by the committee to all handlers who purchased or contracted for processing or packing all of their respective shares of such offer, in proportion to their respective shares. Any quantity of surplus tonnage remaining unsold or not contracted for processing or packing after a reoffer shall be withdrawn from the particular offer, but may be sold or contracted to any handler or handlers notifying the committee of his or their desire to purchase or contract same.

(b) Sales to the United States Government and foreign governments. The committee is authorized to sell direct, or to sell to handlers for resale, surplus tonnage to the United States Government or to any agency thereof (including, but not limited to, sales for domestic or foreign relief purposes, school lunch and institutional feeding, or for foreign economic assistance), or to any foreign government.

(c) Sales for animal feed, certain manufacturing uses and export. The committee may sell direct, or sell to handlers for resale, any surplus dried figs for animal feed, botanicals, distillation, or for any manufacturing uses or for export which were not provided for in estimating the salable quantity of dried figs for the then current crop year. The committee is hereby authorized to exercise such supervision as may be reasonably necessary to insure that such figs are disposed of for the respective uses for which they are sold.

(d) Sales to handlers under specified supply conditions.—(1) Authorization. If the committee finds that total contracted sales by all handlers during the crop year exceeds 80 percent of the total salable tonnage received by all handlers plus 80 percent of the estimated tonnage held unsold by producers which would become salable tonnage; or, if the committee finds that more than 20 percent of the uncontracted salable tonnage is being held so tightly by relatively few handlers or producers, as seriously to restrict commerce in dried figs, and if 75 percent of all handlers have made a written request therefor and such requesting handlers have purchased over 65 percent of the salable tonnage purchased from producers, the committee shall, in either event, offer to sell to handlers surplus dried figs from the surplus tonnage for use as salable tonnage.

(2) Commencement date. No such offer shall be made prior to December 15 of the crop year.

(3) Quantity limitations. No single sales offer of surplus tonnage to handlers shall be so excessive as to quantity that it obviously would disrupt orderly marketing conditions for the salable tonnage.

(4) Handlers' pro rata shares. In any offer by the committee to sell surplus tonnage to handlers pursuant to this paragraph the method for such sales shall be the same as that prescribed in paragraph (a) of this section.

(5) Withdrawal of offer. Any offer to sell surplus tonnage to handlers outstanding as of July 5 of any crop year shall be withdrawn and the committee shall not make any further offer to sell surplus tonnage to handlers after that date except that if the committee determines, with the approval of the Secretary, that a major change in conditions has occurred, such as the involvement of the United States in war or a serious crop shortage or a crop failure in the following year, or any other significant development which indicates a shortage of supply, the said July 5 limitation shall no longer apply.

(e) Notice to Secretary of proposed sales of surplus. The committee shall file with the Secretary, by telegram or air mail letter, prior to making any offer to sell surplus dried figs pursuant to this section, complete information with respect thereto, including the bases therefor. The Secretary shall have the right to disapprove, within seven days after he receives such information, the making of such an offer or any term or condition thereof.

(f) Prices. No sale of surplus dried figs shall be made by the committee at a price below that which reflects the weighted average price received by producers for salable tonnage of the particular variety during the then current crop year to a date as near as practicable to the date of the offer, as shown by the reports to be filed under the provisions of § 964.62, plus accrued charges for receiving, handling and storing surplus tonnage: Provided, That the committee may sell surplus dried figs at negotiated prices for the purposes and under the conditions specified in paragraphs (b), (c) and (h) of § 964.58 of this subpart.

(g) Donations of surplus dried figs. The committee may donate quantities of surplus dried figs for use in research or promotional activities.

(h) Unsold surplus tonnage. The committee shall endeavor to sell all dried figs in the surplus tonnage at a rate so as to achieve as nearly as may be practicable, the complete disposition of the surplus tonnage not later than July 31 of the crop year. Any surplus tonnage unsold as of July 31 shall be disposed of as soon as practicable for animal feed, distillation, or in any other outlets which are not competitive with the sale of dried figs in normal marketing channels, unless determination with respect to a shortage of supply has been made as provided for in paragraph (d) (5) of this section. The committee may dispose of unsold surplus dried figs after July 31 at negotiated prices.

(i) Charges against sales proceeds of surplus tonnage. Expenses incurred by the committee in receiving, handling, holding, or disposing of surplus tonnage shall be charged against the proceeds of sales of surplus tonnage.

(j) Distribution of net proceeds. Net proceeds from the disposition of surplus tonnage shall be distributed by the committee either directly, or through handlers as agents of the committee, under safeguards to be established by the committee, to the respective producers or to their successors in interest on the basis of their respective contributions to the surplus tonnage with appropriate quality or varietal differentials as may be established by the committee. Progress payments may be made by the committee in the same manner, as sufficient funds accumulate. Prior to making any such distribution, the committee shall submit to the Secretary a report including all pertinent details with respect thereto. The Secretary shall have the right to disapprove, within seven calendar days after he receives such information the making of such a disbursement or any term or condition thereof.

REPORTS AND RECORDS

§ 964.60 Report of carryover. Each handler shall, upon request of the committee, file promptly with the committee a certified report, by varieties, of all natural condition dried figs and processed dried figs, separately, which were held by him on January 31 and July 31 of any crop year, which report shall show the quantity of each variety, and the locations thereof.

§ 964.61 Acquisition reports. In the event a surplus percentage is established for any crop year, each handler shall file with the committee, on request, a certified report showing, with respect to his acquisitions of each variety of dried figs during the period covered by such report: (a) The surplus tonnages referable to his acquisitions; and (b) the locations of those surplus tonnages. Each such report shall be filed in such manner and at such times as the committee may designate. Upon request of the committee, each handler shall furnish to the committee, in such manner and at such times as it may prescribe, the name and address of each person from whom he acquired dried figs and the quantity of each variety of dried figs acquired from each such person.

§ 964.62 Reports of prices. Each handler shall file with the committee such price reports as may be requested by the committee, showing the weighted average price paid by such handlers to producers for each variety of dried figs and the quantity purchased at each such price to enable the committee to determine the weighted average price received by producers for the purposes set forth in § 964.58 (f).

§ 964.63 Other reports. Upon the request of the committee each handler shall furnish such other reports and information as are needed to enable the committee to perform its functions under this subpart.

§ 964.64 Confidential information. All reports and records furnished or submitted by a handler to the committee shall be received by and at all times kept under the custody or control of one or more employees of the committee, who shall disclose to no person, except the Secretary upon request therefor, data or information obtained or extracted therefrom which would constitute a trade secret or the disclosure of which might affect the trade position, financial condition, or business operations of the particular handler from whom received: Provided, That the committee may require such an employee to disclose to it, or to any person designated by it or by the Secretary, information and data of a general nature, compilations of data affecting handlers as a group and any data affecting one or more handlers, so long as the identities of the individual handlers involved are not disclosed.

§ 964.65 Records. Each handler shall maintain such records of all dried figs handled by him as prescribed by the committee. Such records shall include, but not necessarily be limited to, the quantity of dried figs of each variety acquired from each person and the name and address of each such person, total acquisitions, total sales, and total other disposition of each variety which he handles.

§ 964.66 Verification of reports. For the purpose of checking and verifying reports filed by handlers, the committee, through its duly authorized representatives, shall have access to any handler's premises and shall be permitted to inspect such premises and any dried figs held by such handler, and any and all records of the handler with respect to the acquisition, holding or disposition of dried figs by him. Each handler shall furnish all labor and equipment necessary to make such examinations at no expense to the committee. Each handler shall store dried figs in a manner which will facilitate examination and shall maintain storage records which will permit accurate identification of dried figs held by him or disposed of theretofore. Insofar as is practicable and consistent with the carrying out of the provisions of this subpart, all data and information obtained or received through checking and verification of reports shall be treated as confidential information.

EXPENSES AND ASSESSMENTS

§ 964.70 Expenses. The committee is authorized to incur such expenses (exclusive of expenses for the receiving, handling, holding or disposing of any quantity of surplus tonnage) as the Secretary finds are reasonable and likely to be incurred by it during each crop year for the maintenance and functioning of the committee and for such other purposes as the Secretary may, pursuant to the provisions of this subpart, determine to be appropriate. The recommendation of the committee as to these expenses and the recommended rate of assessment for each such crop year together with all data supporting such recommendations, shall be filed with the Secretary not later than July 17 preceding the crop year in connection with which such recommendations are made, except that such submission for the first crop year shall be made as soon as practicable after the effective time of this subpart.

§ 964.71 Assessments—(a) Requirement for payment and rate of assessment. The funds to cover the expenses of the committee (exclusive of expenses for the receiving, handling, holding, or disposing of any quantity of surplus tonnage) shall be obtained by levying assessments. Each handler shall pay to the committee, upon demand, with respect to all salable tonnage dried figs handled by him as the first handler thereof and on all dried figs sold to him from surplus tonnage for resale, his prorata share of such expenses which the Secretary finds will be incurred as aforesaid, by the committee during each crop year. Each handler's pro rata share of such expenses shall be equal to the ratio between the total salable tonnage of dried figs handled by him as the first handler thereof plus the tonnage sold to him from surplus tonnage for resale during the applicable crop year, and the total salable tonnage dried figs handled by all handlers as the first handlers thereof plus the tonnage sold to such handlers from surplus tonnage for resale, during the same crop year. The Secretary shall fix the rate of assessment to be paid by such handlers on the basis of a specified rate per ton. At any time during or after a crop year the Secretary may increase the rate of assessment to apply to all salable tonnage dried figs handled by handlers as the first handlers thereof and on all tonnage sold to handlers from surplus tonnage for resale during such crop year to obtain sufficient funds to cover the expenses of the committee. Each handler shall pay such additional assessment to the committee upon demand. The Secretary shall reduce the assessment rate applicable to all such tonnage of the particular crop year if he finds that when thus reduced it will provide funds sufficient to enable the committee properly to perform its functions under this subpart. The payment of assessments for the maintenance and functioning of the committee may be required under this part throughout the period it is in effect, irrespective of whether particular provisions thereof are suspended or become inoperative.

(b) Advance payments. In order to provide funds to carry out the functions of the committee, the committee may accept advance payments from any handler to be credited toward such assessments as may be levied pursuant to this section against the respective handler.

(c) Use and refund of excess funds from assessments. Any money collected as assessments during any crop year and not expended in connection with the respective crop year's operations hereunder may be used and shall be refunded by the committee in accordance with the provisions hereof. Such excess funds may be used by the committee during the period of five months subsequent to such crop year in paying the expenses of the committee incurred in connection with the new crop year. The committee shall, however, from funds on hand, including assessments collected during the new crop year, distribute or otherwise make available, within six months after the beginning of the new crop year, the aforesaid excess, as verified by audit, to each handler from whom an assessment was collected, as aforesaid, in the proportion that the amount of the assessment paid by the respective handler bears to the total amount of the assessments paid by all handlers during said previous crop year. Any money collected from assessments hereunder and remaining unexpended in the possession of the committee upon the termination hereof shall be distributed in such manner as the Secretary may direct.

(d) Suits for collection. The committee may, with the approval of the Secretary, maintain in its own name, or in the name of its members, a suit against any handler for the collection of such handler's assessment.

§ 964.72 Funds. All funds received by the committee pursuant to the provisions of this subpart shall be used solely for the purposes authorized in this subpart and shall be accounted for in the manner provided for in this subpart. The Secretary may, at any time, require the committee or its members and alternate members to account for all receipts and disbursements.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 964.80 Personal liability. No member or alternate member of the committee, or any employee, representative, or agent thereof shall be held personally responsible, either individually or jointly with others, in any way whatsoever, to any person, for errors in judgment, mistakes or other acts, either of commission or omission, as such member, alternate member, employee, representative, or agent, except for acts of dishonesty.

§ 964.81 Separability. If any provision of this subpart is declared invalid, or the applicability thereof to any person, circumstances, or thing is held invalid, the validity of the remainder of this subpart or the applicability thereof to any other person, circumstance or thing shall not be affected thereby.

§ 964.82 Derogation. Nothing contained in this subpart is, or shall be construed to be, in derogation or modification of the rights of the Secretary or of the United States to exercise any powers granted by the act or otherwise, or, in accordance with such powers, to act in the premises whenever such action is deemed advisable.

§ 964.83 Duration of immunities. The benefits, privileges, and immunities conferred upon any person by virtue of this subpart shall cease upon the termination of this subpart, except with respect to acts done under and during the existence of this subpart.

§ 964.84 Agents—(a) Authorization by Secretary. The Secretary may, by a designation in writing, name any person, including any officer or employee of the United States Government, or name any bureau or division in the United States Department of Agriculture, to act as his agent or representative in connection with any of the provisions of this subpart.

(b) Authorization by committee. The committee may authorize any person or persons or agency to act as its agent or representative in connection with the provisions of this subpart.

§ 964.85 Effective time. The provisions of this subpart, as well as any amendments to this subpart, shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare, and shall continue in force until terminated, or during suspension, in one of the ways specified in § 964.86.

§ 964.86 Termination or suspension—(a) Failure to effectuate policy of act. The Secretary may, at any time, terminate the provisions of this subpart, by giving at least one day's notice by means of a press release or in any other manner which he may determine. The Secretary shall terminate or suspend the operation of any or all of the provisions of this subpart, whenever he finds that such provisions do not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(b) Referendum. The Secretary shall terminate the provisions hereof at the end of any crop year whenever he finds that such termination is favored by a majority of the producers of dried figs who during that crop year have been engaged in the production for market of dried figs in the State of California: Provided, That such majority have during such period produced for market more than 50 percent of the volume of such dried figs produced for market within said State; but such termination shall be effected only if announced on or before July 15 of the then current crop year. The Secretary may, at any time he deems desirable, hold a referendum of producers to determine whether they favor termination of this subpart. However, beginning with 1955, if the Secretary receives a recommendation, adopted by at least a majority vote of the producer members of the committee, requesting the holding of such a referendum, the Secretary shall hold such a referendum: Provided, That the Secretary shall not be required to hold such a referendum upon the basis of such a request more than once every two years.

(c) Termination of act. The provisions of this subpart shall terminate, in any event, upon the termination of the act.

§ 964.87 Procedure upon termination. Upon the termination of this subpart, the members of the committee then functioning shall continue as joint trustees, for the purpose of liquidating the affairs of the committee. Action by such trustees shall require the concurrence of a majority of the said trustees. Such trustees shall continue in such capacity until discharged by the Secretary, and shall, from time to time, account for all receipts and disbursements, and deliver all property on hand, together with all books and records of the committee and the joint trustees, to such person as the Secretary may direct; and shall, upon the request of the Secretary, execute such assignments or other instruments necessary or appropriate to vest in such person full title and right to all the funds, properties, and claims vested in the committee or the joint trustees pursuant to this subpart. Any person to whom funds, property, or claims have been transferred or delivered by the committee or the joint trustees, pursuant to this section, shall be subject to the same obligations imposed upon the members of the said Committee and upon said joint trustees.

[Docket No. G-3123]

NATURAL GAS PIPELINE CO. OF AMERICA

ORDER SUSPENDING REVISED TARIFF SHEETS AND PROVIDING FOR HEARING

On September 1, 1954, Natural Gas Pipeline Company of America (Natural) tendered for filing Third Revised Sheets Nos. 5 and 6 to its FPC Gas Tariff, First Revised Volume No. 1, to become effective October 1, 1954, proposing an increase in rates and charges of $10,701,551, based on sales for twelve months ending June 30, 1954, as adjusted. The proposed increase is in addition to the presently effective contingent rates which are the subject of investigation in Docket No. G-2302.

In support of its proposed increase, Natural relies primarily on the "average field price" of gas at wellhead and on the increased rates filed by one of its suppliers, Colorado Interstate Gas Company, which rates are under suspension until February 1, 1955, in Docket No. G-2576.

Certain customers of Natural have protested and urged suspension of the aforesaid tariff sheets, along with the State Commissions of Wisconsin and Illinois.

The increased rates and charges provided in said new rate schedules have not been shown to be justified and may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory or preferential, or otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds: It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon a hearing, pursuant to authority contained in sections 4 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, concerning the lawfulness of Natural's FPC Gas Tariff, First Revised Volume No. 1, as proposed to be changed by Third Revised Sheets Nos. 5 and 6, and that said tariff sheets be suspended as hereinafter provided and the use thereof be deferred pending hearing and decision thereon.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority contained in sections 4 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, a public hearing be held in this proceeding on October 18, 1954, at 10 a. m., E. S. T., in the Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the lawfulness of Natural's FPC Gas Tariff, First Revised Volume No. 1, as proposed to be changed by Third Revised Sheets Nos. 5 and 6.

(B) Pursuant to the provisions of section 4 (e) of the Natural Gas Act, Natural shall go forward with the burden of proof imposed upon it, to present its justification of such proposed increased rates and charges.

(C) After Natural has so presented its justification, other parties, including Commission Staff Counsel, shall conduct so much of their cross-examination with respect to Natural's justification as they are then prepared to undertake. Thereupon the Presiding Examiner shall recess the hearing to a time to be fixed by further order of the Commission, in order to permit such preparation for the remainder of their cross-examination as the facts and circumstances may warrant, to expedite the proceeding.

(D) Pending such hearing and decision thereon, Natural's proposed Third Revised Sheets Nos. 5 and 6 of its FPC Gas Tariff, First Revised Volume No. 1, be and the same hereby are suspended and the use thereof deferred until March 2, 1955, and until such further time as they may be made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(E) Interested State commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

Adopted: September 29, 1954.

Issued: September 30, 1954.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File Nos. 31-208, 31-505]

INTERNATIONAL PAPER CO.

ORDER DECLARING SUBSIDIARY NOT TO BE AN ELECTRIC UTILITY COMPANY AND GRANTING CERTAIN RELATED REQUESTS

SEPTEMBER 30, 1954.

International Paper Company ("Paper") has filed an application, under section 2 (a) (3) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act"), for an order declaring its subsidiary, Canadian International Paper Company ("Canadian"), not to be an electric utility company as defined in that section of the act.

Paper also has filed certain applications (File Nos. 31-208 and 31-505) requesting an order making applicable to it orders previously issued in respect of its predecessors, International Paper and Power Company ("Power") and International Paper Company ("Old Paper"); or, in the alternative, requesting orders under sections 2 (a) (7) and 2 (a) (3) of the act declaring Paper not to be a holding company and not to be an electric utility company, as defined therein.

Paper has also requested permission, upon the entry of an order declaring Canadian not to be an electric utility company, to withdraw the pending applications with regard to Paper and that it be relieved of any further duty or obligation under a certain commitment (contained in Paragraph 11 of Amendment No. 2, dated January 31, 1939, to the application in File No. 31-208), made by Power and Old Paper obligating them to notify the Commission within thirty days of any material changes in any existing leases or contracts, or the terms and conditions of any new lease or contract, between Power and Old Paper and their subsidiaries, on the one hand, and International Hydro-Electric System ("IHES"), a former holding company subsidiary of Power, and The Olcott Falls Company, a former public-utility subsidiary of Old Paper, and their subsidiaries, on the other hand.

Due notice of the filing of the application for an order declaring Canadian not to be an electric utility having been given, and a hearing not having been ordered by, or requested of, the Commission; and

The Commission having examined said application, the statements contained therein, and the files pertinent thereto, and having considered the requests made in connection therewith; and

It appearing that Canadian is a corporation organized under the laws of the Province of Quebec, Canada, operates entirely in Canada, has no securities outstanding in the hands of the public, and has no subsidiaries operating in the United States; that it and its subsidiaries are all engaged in the manufacture and sale of pulp, paper, and paper products, or in owning and holding property and facilities for future development and use in connection with such manufacturing business; that Canadian purchases the major portion of its electric power requirements from Gatineau Power Company and the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, non-affiliates; but that, in connection with certain of its manufacturing plants, it owns and operates certain facilities for the generation of electric energy for use in its manufacturing operations, and it sells electric energy to certain affiliated and nonaffiliated manufacturing companies, and to tenants, employees, and in a minor measure to others, residents of communities adjacent to certain of its plants; and that during the eight-year period 1946–1953, Canadian's gross revenues ranged from $87,829,910 in 1946 upwards to $174,646,438 in 1953. During the same period its revenues from the sale of electric energy ranged from $148,453 in 1946 upwards to $253,789 in 1953, of which the portion from sales to tenants, employees, and other householders ranged from $31,000 in 1946 to $58,945 in 1953 (approximately 95 percent being from tenants and employees); and

It further appearing that neither Paper nor any of its subsidiaries now owns any securities of IHES or The Olcott Falls Company and that Paper owns only 29 shares of preferred stock and 43 shares of common stock of Gatineau Power Company (a public-utility subsidiary of IHES and formerly an indirect subsidiary of Power), and 1,440 shares of common stock of New England Electric System, a registered holding company (whose predecessor was a holding company subsidiary of IHES and an indirect subsidiary of Power); and

The Commission having found that Canadian is primarily engaged in one or more businesses other than the business of an electric utility company, and that by reason of the small amount of electric energy sold by such company, all of which is sold in the Dominion of Canada, it is not necessary in the public interest or for the protection of investors or consumers that such company be considered an electric utility company for the purposes of the act; and the Commission having further found it appropriate to grant Paper's requests for permission to withdraw the pending applications pertaining to it under sections 2 (a) (7) and 2 (a) (3) of the act, and that it be relieved of any further duty or obligation under the aforesaid commitment of Power and Old Paper:

It is ordered, Pursuant to section 2 (a) (3) of the act, that Canadian be, and it is hereby, declared not to be an electric utility company.

It is further ordered, That permission be, and it hereby is, granted to Paper to withdraw the pending applications pertaining to it under section 2 (a) (3) and 2 (a) (7) of the act.

It is further ordered, That Paper be, and it hereby is, relieved of the commitment contained in Paragraph 11 of Amendment No. 2 dated January 31, 1939 to the application in File No. 31–208.

It is further ordered, Pursuant to request by applicant, that this order become effective upon its issuance.

By the Commission.

PROCLAMATION 3070

IMPOSING A QUOTA ON IMPORTS OF OATS

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

A PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, pursuant to section 22 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, as added by section 31 of the act of August 24, 1935, 49 Stat. 773, reenacted by section 1 of the act of June 3, 1937, 50 Stat. 246, and as amended by section 3 of the act of July 3, 1948, 62 Stat. 1248, section 3 of the act of June 28, 1950, 64 Stat. 261, and section 8 (b) of the act of June 16, 1951, 65 Stat. 72 (7 U. S. C. 624), the Secretary of Agriculture has advised me that he has reason to believe that oats, hulled or unhulled, and unhulled ground oats are practically certain to be imported into the United States after September 30, 1954, under such conditions and in such quantities as to render or tend to render ineffective, or materially interfere with, the price-support program undertaken by the Department of Agriculture with respect to oats pursuant to sections 301 and 401 of the Agricultural Act of 1949, as amended, or to reduce substantially the amount of products processed in the United States from domestic oats with respect to which such program of the Department of Agriculture is being undertaken; and

WHEREAS, on August 20, 1954, I caused the United States Tariff Commission to make an investigation under the said section 22 with respect to this matter; and

WHEREAS, the said Tariff Commission has made such investigation and has reported to me its findings and recommendations made in connection therewith; and

WHEREAS, on the basis of the said investigation and report of the Tariff Commission, I find that oats, hulled and unhulled, and unhulled ground oats, in the aggregate, are practically certain to be imported into the United States during the period from October 1, 1954, to September 30, 1955, inclusive, under such conditions and in such quantities as to render or tend to render ineffective, or materially interfere with, the said price-support program with respect to oats; and

WHEREAS, I find and declare that the imposition of the quantitative limitations hereinafter proclaimed is shown by such investigation of the Tariff Commission to be necessary in order that the entry, or withdrawal from warehouse, for consumption of oats, hulled and unhulled, and unhulled ground oats will not render or tend to render ineffective, or materially interfere with, the said price-support program:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER, President of the United States of America, acting under and by virtue of the authority vested in me by the said section 22 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, as amended, do hereby proclaim that the total aggregate quantity of oats, hulled and unhulled, and unhulled ground oats entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption during the period from October 1, 1954, to September 30, 1955, inclusive, shall not be permitted to exceed 40,000,000 bushels of 32 pounds each, which permissible total quantity I find and declare to be proportionately not less than 50 per centum of the total average aggregate annual quantity of such oats entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption during the representative period from July 1, 1948, to June 30, 1953, inclusive; and that, of the foregoing permissible total quantity, not more than 39,312,000 bushels of 32 pounds each shall be imported from Canada and not more than 688,000 bushels of 32 pounds each shall be imported from other foreign countries.

The provisions of this proclamation shall not apply to certified or registered seed oats for use for seeding and crop-improvement purposes, in bags tagged and sealed by an officially recognized seed-certifying agency of the country of production: Provided, (a) that the individual shipment amounts to 100 bushels (of 32 pounds each) or less, or (b) that the individual shipment amounts to more than 100 bushels (of 32 pounds each) and the written approval of the Secretary of Agriculture or his designated representative is presented at the time of entry, or bond is furnished in a form prescribed by the Commissioner of Customs in an amount equal to the value of the merchandise as set forth in the entry, plus the estimated duty as determined at the time of entry, conditioned upon the production of such written approval within 6 months from the date of entry.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington this 4th day of October in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and fifty-four, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and seventy-ninth.

However, the restrictions pertaining to such movement from nonquarantined areas, contained in said Subpart B, as amended will apply thereto.

The amendment relieves certain restrictions presently imposed and must be made effective immediately to be of maximum benefit to persons subject to the restrictions which are relieved. Accordingly, under section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003), it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to the amendment are impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and the amendment may be made effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

TITLE 19—CUSTOMS DUTIES

Chapter I—Bureau of Customs, Department of the Treasury

[T. D. 53617]

PART 7—CUSTOMS RELATIONS WITH INSULAR POSSESSIONS AND GUANTANAMO BAY NAVAL STATION

PART 9—IMPORTATIONS BY MAIL

PRODUCTS OF INSULAR POSSESSIONS OTHER THAN PUERTO RICO

In order to provide for uniform customs treatment of articles produced in the insular possessions of the United States, except Puerto Rico, and brought into customs territory of the United States, and to conform to changes in law made by the Customs Simplification Act of 1954, the following amendments are made to the Customs Regulations:

1. Section 7.8 is amended to read as follows:

§ 7.8 Insular possessions of the United States other than Puerto Rico (a) When articles coming directly into the United States from an insular possession, other than Puerto Rico, in a shipment valued over $25 are sought to be admitted free of duty under the provisions of section 301, Tariff Act of 1930, as amended, relating to certain articles produced in such insular possessions,[14] there shall be filed in connection with the entry a certificate of origin covering articles shipped from insular possessions (except Puerto Rico) to the United States, customs Form 3229, signed by the chief or assistant chief customs officer at the port of shipment,[15] showing that such merchandise is the growth or product of such possession, or manufactured or produced in such possession, from materials the growth, product, or manufacture of any such possession or of the United States, or of both, which do not contain foreign materials to the value of more than 50 per centum of their total value. Such certificate shall not be required for any shipment valued at $25 or less.

(b) When articles coming directly into the United States from an insular possession, other than Puerto Rico, in a shipment valued over $25 are sought to be admitted free of duty under the provisions of section 301, Tariff Act of 1930, as amended, relating to certain articles returned to the United States,[16] there shall be filed in connection with the entry the following evidence:

(1) A certificate, customs Form 4467, of the collector of customs at the port from which the merchandise was shipped from the United States, except that no such certificate shall be required if the collector is satisfied by reason of the nature of the articles or otherwise that no drawback of duties or refund or remission of taxes was allowed on the merchandise by reason of such shipment. This certificate shall be issued on application of the importer, or of the collector at the importer's request, and shall be mailed by the issuing officer directly to the port at which it is to be used. If the merchandise was shipped from the port at which entry is made and the fact of shipment appears on the records of the customhouse, the fact of return shall be noted on such record but the filing of the certificate on Form 4467 shall not be required.

(2) A declaration of the shipper in the insular possession in the following form:

I, _____ of _____, do hereby declare that to the best of my knowledge and belief the articles identified below were sent directly from the United States on _____, 19____, to _____, _____, of _____, on the _____, and that the (Insular possession) (Name of carrier) articles remained in said insular possession until shipped by me directly to the United States via the _____ (Name of carrier)
on _____, 19____.

Marks	Numbers	Quantity	Description	Value

Dated at _____, this ____ day of _____, 19__.

(Shipper)

Such certificate and declaration shall not be required for shipments valued at $25 or less, or in any case where the collector is satisfied by reason of the nature of the articles or otherwise that they were shipped directly to the insular possession and were returned therefrom by direct shipment, and that no drawback of duties or refund or remission of taxes was allowed when the articles were shipped from the United States.

(c) When merchandise, excluding any shipments valued at $25 or less, arrives unaccompanied by a certificate of origin or a declaration of the shipper, or when any other document necessary to complete entry is lacking, a bond for the production thereof may be taken on customs Form 7551, 7553, or other appropriate form, except that a bond for production of a bill of lading shall be taken on customs Form 7581.

(d) In determining whether an article produced or manufactured in any such insular possession contains foreign materials to the value of more than 50 per centum, a comparison shall be made between the actual purchase price of the foreign materials (excluding any material which at the time such article is entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption in the United States, may be imported into the United States from a foreign country, other than Cuba or the Philippine Republic, free of duty), plus the cost of transportation to such insular possession (but excluding duties and taxes, if any, assessed by the insular possession and any charges which may accrue after landing), and the final appraised value in the United States determined in accordance with section 402, Tariff Act of 1930, as amended, of the article brought into the United States.

(e) An invoice certified by the chief or assistant chief customs officer at the port of shipment in such insular possessions shall be required in connection with the entry of each shipment of dutiable merchandise valued over $500, except that no such invoice shall be required if the shipment would have been exempt under § 8.15 of this chapter from the requirement of a certified invoice if it had been imported from a foreign country, or when the merchandise is covered by a certificate of origin provided for in paragraph (a) of this section.

(f) Merchandise may be withdrawn from bonded warehouse under section 557, Tariff Act of 1930, as amended, for shipment to the Virgin Islands, American Samoa, Wake Island, Midway Islands, Kingman Reef, or the Island of Guam, without payment of duty, or with refund of duty if the duties have been paid thereon, in like manner as for exportation to foreign countries. No drawback may be allowed under section 313, Tariff Act of 1930, as amended, on articles manufactured or produced in the United States and shipped to any insular possession. No drawback of internal-revenue tax is allowable under section 313 of the Tariff Act on articles manufactured or produced in the United States with the use of domestic tax-paid alcohol and shipped to Wake Island, Midway Islands, or Kingman Reef. (See § 22.22 of this chapter.)

2. Sections 7.9 and 7.10 are deleted.

3. Footnote 15 of Part 7 is deleted. Footnote 14 is renumbered 15 and new footnotes 14 and 16 are appended to paragraphs (a) and (b), respectively, of § 7.8, to read as follows:

[14] "There shall be levied, collected, and paid upon all articles coming into the United States from any of its insular possessions, except Puerto Rico, the rates of duty which are required to be levied, collected, and paid upon like articles imported from foreign countries; except that all articles the growth or product of any such possession, or manufactured or produced in any such possession from materials the growth, product, or manufacture of any such possession or of the United States, or of both, which do not contain foreign materials to the value of more than 50 per centum of their total value, coming into the United States directly from any such possession, * * * shall be admitted free of duty upon compliance with such regulations as to proof of origin as may be prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury. In determining whether an article produced or manufactured in any such insular possession contains foreign materials to the value of more than 50 per centum, no material shall be considered foreign which, at the time such article is entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, in the United States for consumption, may be imported into the United States from a foreign country, other than Cuba or the Philippine Republic, free of duty." (Sec. 301, Tariff Act of 1930, as amended.)

[15] "* * * all articles previously imported into the United States with payment of all applicable duties and taxes imposed upon or by reason of importation which are shipped from the United States, without remission, refund, or drawback of such duties or taxes, directly to the possession from which it is being returned by direct shipment, shall be admitted free of duty upon compliance with such regulations as to proof of origin as may be prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury." (Sec. 301, Tariff Act of 1930, as amended.)

4. Section 9.9 is amended by deleting paragraphs (c) and (d) and inserting a new paragraph (c) to read as follows:

(c) A conditionally free shipment from any United States insular possession, except Puerto Rico, valued over $25 but not over $250, when accompanied by the documentary evidence required by § 7.8 of this chapter, and any such shipment valued at $25 or less, may be passed without issuance of a mail entry if the collector is satisfied that the merchandise is entitled to free entry. In the case of each such shipment valued over $250, formal entry shall be required and the provisions of Parts 7 and 8 of this chapter shall be followed.

New customs Form 3229, prescribed for use by §§ 7.8 and 9.9 of the Customs Regulations, as amended by this decision, will be printed and available for distribution within approximately 90 days from the date hereof. The form will not be salable. Collectors may obtain supplies thereof from the Section of Forms, Customs Information Exchange, 201 Varick Street, New York 14, New York.

TITLE 19—CUSTOMS DUTIES

Chapter I—Bureau of Customs, Department of the Treasury

[T. D. 53617]

PART 7—CUSTOMS RELATIONS WITH INSULAR POSSESSIONS AND GUANTANAMO BAY NAVAL STATION

PRODUCTS OF INSULAR POSSESSIONS OTHER THAN PUERTO RICO

In order to provide for uniform customs treatment of articles produced in the insular possessions of the United States, except Puerto Rico, and brought into customs territory of the United States, and to conform to changes in law made by the Customs Simplification Act of 1954, the following amendments are made to the Customs Regulations:

1. Section 7.8 is amended to read as follows:

§ 7.8 Insular possessions of the United States other than Puerto Rico (a) When articles coming directly into the United States from an insular possession, other than Puerto Rico, in a shipment valued over $25 are sought to be admitted free of duty under the provisions of section 301, Tariff Act of 1930, as amended, relating to certain articles produced in such insular possessions,[1] there shall be filed in connection with the entry a certificate of origin covering articles shipped from insular possessions (except Puerto Rico) to the United States, customs Form 3229, signed by the chief or assistant chief customs officer at the port of shipment,[2] showing that such merchandise is the growth or product of such possession, or manufactured or produced in such possession, from materials the growth, product, or manufacture of any such possession or of the United States, or of both, which do not contain foreign materials to the value of more than 50 per centum of their total value. Such certificate shall not be required for any shipment valued at $25 or less.

(b) When articles coming directly into the United States from an insular possession, other than Puerto Rico, in a shipment valued over $25 are sought to be admitted free of duty under the provisions of section 301, Tariff Act of 1930, as amended, relating to certain articles returned to the United States,[1] there shall be filed in connection with the entry the following evidence:

(1) A certificate, customs Form 4467, of the collector of customs at the port from which the merchandise was shipped from the United States, except that no such certificate shall be required if the collector is satisfied by reason of the nature of the articles or otherwise that no drawback of duties or refund or remission of taxes was allowed on the merchandise by reason of such shipment. This certificate shall be issued on application of the importer, or of the collector at the importer's request, and shall be mailed by the issuing officer directly to the port at which it is to be used. If the merchandise was shipped from the port at which entry is made and the fact of shipment appears on the records of the customhouse, the fact of return shall be noted on such record but the filing of the certificate on Form 4467 shall not be required.

(2) A declaration of the shipper in the insular possession in the following form:

I, _____ of _____, do hereby declare that to the best of my knowledge and belief the articles identified below were sent directly from the United States on _____, 19____, to _____, _____, of _____, on (Insular possession)
the _____, and that the (Name of carrier)
articles remained in said insular possession until shipped by me directly to the United States via the _____ (Name of carrier)
on _____, 19____.

Marks	Numbers	Quantity	Description	Value

Dated at _____, this ____ day of _____, 19__.

(Shipper)

Such certificate and declaration shall not be required for shipments valued at $25 or less, or in any case where the collector is satisfied by reason of the nature of the articles or otherwise that they were shipped directly to the insular possession and were returned therefrom by direct shipment, and that no drawback of duties or refund or remission of taxes was allowed when the articles were shipped from the United States.

(c) When merchandise, excluding any shipments valued at $25 or less, arrives unaccompanied by a certificate of origin or a declaration of the shipper, or when any other document necessary to complete entry is lacking, a bond for the production thereof may be taken on customs Form 7551, 7553, or other appropriate form, except that a bond for production of a bill of lading shall be taken on customs Form 7581.

(d) In determining whether an article produced or manufactured in any such insular possession contains foreign materials to the value of more than 50 per centum, a comparison shall be made between the actual purchase price of the foreign materials (excluding any material which at the time such article is entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption in the United States, may be imported into the United States from a foreign country, other than Cuba or the Philippine Republic, free of duty), plus the cost of transportation to such insular possession (but excluding duties and taxes, if any, assessed by the insular possession and any charges which may accrue after landing), and the final appraised value in the United States determined in accordance with section 402, Tariff Act of 1930, as amended, of the article brought into the United States.

(e) An invoice certified by the chief or assistant chief customs officer at the port of shipment in such insular possessions shall be required in connection with the entry of each shipment of dutiable merchandise valued over $500, except that no such invoice shall be required if the shipment would have been exempt under § 8.15 of this chapter from the requirement of a certified invoice if it had been imported from a foreign country, or when the merchandise is covered by a certificate of origin provided for in paragraph (a) of this section.

(f) Merchandise may be withdrawn from bonded warehouse under section 557, Tariff Act of 1930, as amended, for shipment to the Virgin Islands, American Samoa, Wake Island, Midway Islands, Kingman Reef, or the Island of Guam, without payment of duty, or with refund of duty if the duties have been paid thereon, in like manner as for exportation to foreign countries. No drawback may be allowed under section 313, Tariff Act of 1930, as amended, on articles manufactured or produced in the United States and shipped to any insular possession. No drawback of internal-revenue tax is allowable under section 313 of the Tariff Act on articles manufactured or produced in the United States with the use of domestic tax-paid alcohol and shipped to Wake Island, Midway Islands, or Kingman Reef. (See § 22.22 of this chapter.)

(68 Stat. 1139, secs. 309, 313, 482 (f), 557, 46 Stat. 690, as amended, 693 as amended, 720, 744, as amended; 19 U. S. C. 1301, 1309, 1313, 1482 (f), 1557)

2. Sections 7.9 and 7.10 are deleted.

3. Footnote 15 of Part 7 is deleted. Footnote 14 is renumbered 15 and new footnotes 14 and 16 are appended to paragraphs (a) and (b), respectively, of § 7.8, to read as follows:

[14] "There shall be levied, collected, and paid upon all articles comng into the United States from any of its insular possessions, except Puerto Rico, the rates of duty which are required to be levied, collected, and paid upon like articles imported from foreign countries; except that all articles the growth or product of any such possession, or manufactured or produced in any such possession from materials the growth, product, or manufacture of any such possession or of the United States, or of both, which do not contain foreign materials to the value of more than 50 per centum of their total value, coming into the United States directly from any such possession, • • • shall be admitted free of duty upon compliance with such regulations as to proof of origin as may be prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury. In determining whether an article produced or manufactured in any such insular possession contains foreign materials to the value of more than 50 per centum, no material shall be considered foreign which, at the time such article is entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, in the United States for consumption, may be imported into the United States from a foreign country, other than Cuba or the Philippine Republic, free of duty." (Sec. 301, Tariff Act of 1930, as amended.)

[16] "• • • all articles previously imported into the United States with payment of all applicable duties and taxes imposed upon or by reason of importation which are shipped from the United States, without remission, refund, or drawback of such duties or taxes, directly to the possession from which it is being returned by direct shipment, shall be admitted free of duty upon compliance with such regulations as to proof of origin as may be prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury." (Sec. 301, Tariff Act of 1930, as amended.)

4. Section 9.9 is amended by deleting paragraphs (c) and (d) and inserting a new paragraph (c) to read as follows:

(c) A conditionally free shipment from any United States insular possession, except Puerto Rico, valued over $25 but not over $250, when accompanied by the documentary evidence required by § 7.8 of this chapter, and any such shipment valued at $25 or less, may be passed without issuance of a mail entry if the collector is satisfied that the merchandise is entitled to free entry. In the case of each such shipment valued over $250, formal entry shall be required and the provisions of Parts 7 and 8 of this chapter shall be followed.

TREATY INVESTORS

Part 41, Chapter I, Title 22 of the Code of Federal Regulations, is amended in the following respects:

1. Paragraph (b) of § 41.76 Burden of proof and evidence of treaty-investor status, is amended to read as follows:

(b) An alien applying for a visa as a nonimmigrant under the provisions of section 101 (a) (15) (E) (ii) of the act shall be required to present any evidence deemed necessary by the consular officer to establish that he is entitled to nonimmigrant classification under that section. C. 1003) relative to notice of proposed rule making and delayed effective date are inapplicable to this order because the regulations contained therein involve foreign affairs functions of the United States.

TITLE 26—INTERNAL REVENUE

Chapter I—Internal Revenue Service, Department of the Treasury

Subchapter A—Income and Excess Profits Taxes

[T. D. 6105; Regs. 111, 118]

COMPUTATION OF, AND CREDITS AGAINST NET INCOME

Regulations 118 and 111 amended to conform to sections 1 and 3 of Public Law 213 (83d Congress) approved August 7, 1953, relating to the extension of the applicable period of section 22 (b) (13) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 and to the definition of dependent.

On April 3, 1954, notice of proposed rule making with respect to amendments conforming the income tax regulations to sections 1 and 3 of Public Law 213 (83d Congress) approved August 7, 1953, was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (19 F. R. 1909). No suggestions or protests were presented regarding the proposals, and the following amendments to Regulations 118 (26 CFR Part 39) and 111 (26 CFR Part 29) are hereby adopted:

PARAGRAPH 1. Section 39.22 (b) (13) is amended as follows:

(A) By striking the date "January 1, 1954" from section 22 (b) (13) wherever it appears, and by inserting in lieu thereof "January 1, 1955", and

(B) By inserting "; sec. 1, Pub. Law 213 (83d Cong.)" before the closing bracket of the historical note following section 22 (b) (13).

PAR. 2. Section 39.22 (b) (13)-1 is amended as follows:

(A) By striking from the heading and from the section the date "January 1, 1954" wherever it appears, and by inserting in lieu thereof "January 1, 1955", and

(B) By striking from the second sentence of paragraph (b) the parenthetical phrase "(including a year after 1953)" and by inserting in lieu thereof "(including a year after 1954)".

PAR. 3. Section 39.25 is amended as follows:

(A) By striking the third sentence from section 25 (b) (3) which sentence reads "For the purposes of determining whether any of the foregoing relationships exist, a legally adopted child of a person shall be considered a child of such person by blood." and by inserting in lieu thereof the following sentence: "For the purposes of determining whether any of the foregoing relationships exist (1) a legally adopted child of a person or (2) a child for which petition for adoption was filed by a person in the appropriate court and denied because of mental incapacity of surviving natural parent to agree to such adoption, shall be considered a child of such person by blood."

and

(B) By inserting "; sec. 3, Pub. Law 213 (83d Cong.)" before tthe closing bracket of the historical note following section 25.

PAR. 4. Section 39.25-2 is amended as follows:

(A) By inserting immediately preceding the first sentence of paragraph (e) the numeral "(1)", and

(B) By striking the sixth sentence of paragraph (e) (1), as so designated in (A) above, which sentence reads "A legally adopted child of a person shall be considered a child of such person by blood." and by inserting in lieu thereof the following sentences: "A legally adopted child of a person, or a child for which petition for adoption has been filed by a person in the appropriate court and denied because of the mental incapacity of the surviving natural parent to agree to such adoption, shall be considered to become a child of such person by blood as of the date on which the decree for adoption is issued, or the petition for adoption is denied because of the mental incapacity of the surviving natural parent to agree to such adoption. For example, during 1952, a calendar year taxpayer furnished the chief support of a child who had less than $600 of gross income for that year. A decree of adoption with respect to that child was issued in December 1952. The taxpayer is entitled to an exemption on behalf of the child for the taxable year 1952, provided the other requirements of this subparagraph, such as citizenship or residence of the dependent, are met. On the other hand, if the decree was issued in January, 1953, no exemption with respect to the child would be allowable to the taxpayer for the taxable year 1952. Similarly, if the petition for adoption was denied in December, 1952, because of the mental incapacity of the surviving natural parent to agree to such adoption, the taxpayer would be entitled to an exemption on behalf of the child for the taxable year 1952, provided the requirements of this subparagraph are otherwise met. On the other hand, if such a petition was denied in January, 1953, no exemption would be allowable to the taxpayer with respect to the child for the taxable year 1952. For the purposes of this section a decree of adoption includes an interlocutory decree of adoption, only if under the applicable State law the legal effect of such decree is to declare the child for all intents and purposes to be the child of the person so adopting."

PAR. 5. There is inserted immediately preceding § 29.25-1 the following:

PUBLIC LAW 213, 83D CONGRESS, APPROVED AUGUST 7, 1953

* * * * *

SEC. 3. (a) That the third sentence of section 25 (b) (3) of the Internal Revenue Code, relating to the definition of dependent, is amended to read as follows: "For the purposes of determining whether any of the foregoing relationships exist (1) a legally adopted child of a person or (2) a child for which petition for adoption was filed by a person in the appropriate court and denied because of mental incapacity of surviving natural parent to agree to such adoption, shall be considered a child of such person by blood."

(b) The provisions of subsection (a) shall be applicable to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1945.

PAR. 6. Section 29.25-3, as amended by Treasury Decision 5993, approved February 18, 1953, is further amended as follows:

(A) By inserting after the eighth sentence of paragraph (b) which sentence reads "A legally adopted child of a person shall be considered a child of such person by blood." the following sentence: "See paragraph (d) (5) of this section."

(B) By inserting at the end of paragraph (c) the following sentences: "In addition, a child for which petition for adoption was filed by a person in the appropriate court and denied because of the mental incapacity of the surviving natural parent to agree to such adoption shall be considered a child of such person by blood. See paragraph (d) (5) of this section."

and

(C) By deleting the sixth sentence of the first unnumbered subdivision of paragraph (d) (5) (26 CFR 29.25-3 (d) (5) (i)), which sentence reads "A legally adopted child of a person shall be considered a child of such person by blood." and by inserting in lieu thereof the following sentences: "A legally adopted child of a person, or a child for which petition for adoption has been filed by a person in the appropriate court and denied because of the mental incapacity of the surviving natural parent to agree to such adoption, shall be considered to become a child of such person by blood as of the date on which the decree for adoption is issued, or the petition for adoption is denied because of the mental incapacity of the surviving natural parent to agree to such adoption. For example, during 1948, a calendar year taxpayer furnished the chief support of a child who had less than $600 of gross income for that year. A decree of adoption with respect to that child was issued in December, 1948. The taxpayer is entitled to an exemption on behalf of the child for the taxable year 1948, provided the other requirements of this subdivision, such as citizenship or residence of the dependent, are met. On the other hand, if the decree was issued in January, 1949, no exemption with respect to the child would be allowable to the taxpayer for the taxable year 1948. Similarly, if the petition for adoption was denied in December, 1948, because of the mental incapacity of the surviving natural parent to agree to such adoption, the taxpayer would be entitled to an exemption on behalf of the child for the taxable year 1948, provided the requirements of this subdivision are otherwise met. On the other hand, if such a petition was denied in January, 1949, no exemption would be allowable to the taxpayer with respect to the child for the taxable year 1948. For the purposes of this section a decree of adoption includes an interlocutory decree of adoption, only if under the applicable State law the legal effect of such decree is to declare the child for all intents and purposes to be the child of the person so adopting."

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

Internal Revenue Service

[26 CFR Parts 81, 86]

ESTATE AND GIFT TAXES

ABATEMENT OF JEOPARDY ASSESSMENTS

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act, approved June 11, 1946, that the regulations set forth in tentative form below are proposed to be prescribed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury. Prior to the final adoption of such regulations, consideration will be given to any data, views, or arguments pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing in duplicate to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Washington 25, D. C., within the period of thirty days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The proposed regulations are to be issued under the authority contained in sections 1029 and 3791 of the Internal Revenue Code (53 Stat. 157, 467; 26 U. S. C. 1029, 3791).

[SEAL] O. GORDON DELK,
Acting Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

In order to conform Regulations 105 (26 CFR Part 81) and Regulations 108 (26 CFR Part 86) to Public Law 274 (83d Congress), approved August 14, 1953, relating to the abatement of jeopardy assessments, such regulations are amended as follows:

PARAGRAPH 1. There is inserted immediately after section 872 and before section 874 of the Internal Revenue Code which precede § 81.74 of Regulations 105 and preceding § 86.43 of Regulations 108 the following:

PUBLIC LAW 274 (83D CONGRESS [APPROVED AUGUST 14, 1953]

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That • • •

• • • • •

(b) Sections 872 and 1013 (relating to the abatement of jeopardy assessments of estate and gift taxes, respectively) are hereby amended by adding at the end of each of such sections the following new subsection:

(j) Abatement if jeopardy does not exist. The Secretary may abate the jeopardy assessment if he finds that jeopardy does not exist. Such abatement may not be made after a decision of The Tax Court of the United States in respect of the deficiency has been rendered or, if no petition is filed with The Tax Court of the United States, after the expiration of the period for filing such petition. The period of limitation on the making of assessments and the beginning of distraint or a proceeding in court for collection, in respect of any deficiency, shall be determined as if the jeopardy assessment so abated had not been made, except that the running of such period shall in any event be suspended for the period from the date of such jeopardy assessment until the expiration of the tenth day after the day on which such jeopardy assessment is abated.

(c) The amendments made by this Act shall be applicable to jeopardy assessments made or in existence on the date of enactment of this Act or which are thereafter made.

PAR. 2. Section 81.74 of Regulations 105, as amended by Treasury Decision 6034, approved July 29, 1953, is further amended as follows:

(A) By changing the heading thereof to read as follows: "Assessments—(a) In general."

(B) By adding at the end of the first paragraph of (a) the following: "For abatement of jeopardy assessments where jeopardy does not exist, see paragraph (b) of this section."

(C) By adding at the end of such section the following:

(b) Abatement of jeopardy assessments where jeopardy does not exist. (1) The district director may abate a jeopardy assessment which existed on August 14, 1953, or which is made on or after such date, if it is shown to his satisfaction that jeopardy does not exist. An abatement may not be made under this paragraph after a decision of the Tax Court in respect of the deficiency has been rendered, or, if no petition is filed with such Court, after the expiration of the period for filing such petition.

(2) The abatement of a jeopardy assessment, because jeopardy does not exist, will have the effect of abating any proceedings to collect the tax so assessed. The district director may then proceed to assess and collect a deficiency in the manner authorized by law as if the jeopardy assessment so abated had not existed. If a notice of deficiency had been sent to the taxpayer prior to the abatement of the jeopardy assessment, whether such notice was sent before or after the making of the assessment, the abatement of such assessment will not affect the validity of the notice or of any proceedings for redetermination based thereon. The period of limitation on the making of assessments and the beginning of distraint or a proceeding in court for collection in respect of any deficiency shall be determined as if the jeopardy assessment so abated had not been made, except that the running of such period shall in any event be suspended for the period from the date of such jeopardy assessment until the expiration of the tenth day after the date on which such jeopardy assessment is abated. The provisions of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following example.

Example. On February 15, 1954, twenty-eight days before the three-year statutory period of limitations on assessments would otherwise have expired, a jeopardy assessment was made in respect of a proposed deficiency. On April 2, 1954, before the mailing of the notice of deficiency provided for by section 872 (b), this assessment was abated. By virtue of this paragraph, the period of limitations for the making of an assessment did not expire prior to May 10, 1954, i. e., the thirty-eighth day after the date of the abatement. If the notice of deficiency provided for in section 872 (b) had been sent prior to the abatement, the running of the statute of limitations on assessments would have been suspended pursuant to the provisions of section 875.

(3) Request for abatement of a jeopardy assessment, because jeopardy does not exist, should be filed with the district director and must state fully the reasons for the request and must be supported by such evidence as will enable the district director to determine that the collection of the deficiency is not in jeopardy. See section 872 (c) and the first paragraph of § 81.74 (a) with respect to the abatement of jeopardy assessments which are excessive in amount.

PAR. 3. Section 81.92 of Regulations 105 is amended by adding at the end thereof the following: "See, however, § 81.74 with respect to requests for the abatement of jeopardy assessments."

PAR. 4. Section 86.43 of Regulations 108, as amended by Treasury Decision 5503, approved March 20, 1946, is further amended as follows:

(A) By changing the heading thereof to read as follows: "Jeopardy assessments—(a) In general."

(B) By adding at the end of the second paragraph of (a) the following: "For abatement of jeopardy assessments where jeopardy does not exist, see paragraph (b) of this section."

(C) By adding at the end of such section the following:

(b) Abatement of jeopardy assessments where jeopardy does not exist. (1) The district director may abate a jeopardy assessment which existed on August 14, 1953, or which is made on or after such date, if it is shown to his satisfaction that jeopardy does not exist. An abatement may not be made under this paragraph after a decision of the Tax Court in respect of the deficiency has been rendered or, if no petition is filed with such Court, after the expiration of the period for filing such petition.

(2) The abatement of a jeopardy assessment, because jeopardy does not exist, will have the effect of abating any proceedings to collect the tax so assessed. The district director may then proceed to assess and collect a deficiency in the manner authorized by law as if the jeopardy assessment so abated had not existed. If a notice of deficiency had been sent to the taxpayer prior to the abatement of the jeopardy assessment, whether such notice was sent before or after the making of the assessment, the abatement of such assessment will not affect the validity of the notice or of any proceedings for redetermination based thereon. The period of limitation on the making of assessments and the beginning of distraint or a proceeding in court for collection in respect of any deficiency shall be determined as if the jeopardy assessment so abated had not been made, except that the running of such period shall in any event be suspended for the period from the date of such jeopardy assessment until the expiration of the tenth day after the date on which such jeopardy assessment is abated. The provisions of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following example.

Example. On February 15, 1954, twenty-eight days before the three-year statutory period of limitations on assessments would otherwise have expired, a jeopardy assessment was made in respect of a proposed deficiency. On April 2, 1954, before the mailing of the notice of deficiency provided for by section 1013 (b), this assessment was abated. By virtue of this paragraph, the period of limitations for the making of an assessment did not expire prior to May 10, 1954, i. e., the thirty-eighth day after the date of the abatement. If the notice of deficiency provided for in section 1013 (b) had been sent prior to the abatement, the running of the statute of limitations on assessments would have been suspended pursuant to the provisions of section 1017.

(3) Request for abatement of a jeopardy assessment, because jeopardy does not exist, should be filed with the district director and must state fully the reasons for the request and must be supported by such evidence as will enable the district director to determine that the collection of the deficiency is not in jeopardy. See section 1013 (c) and the second paragraph of § 86.43 (a) with respect to the abatement of jeopardy assessments which are excessive in amount.

PAR. 5. Section 86.44 of Regulations 108 is amended by adding to the end thereof the following: "See, however, § 86.43 with respect to requests for the abatement of jeopardy assessments."

CIGAR-FILLER, CIGAR-FILLER AND BINDER, BURLEY, FLUE-CURED, FIRE-CURED, DARK AIR-CURED, VIRGINIA SUN-CURED, AND MARYLAND TOBACCO

NOTICE OF DETERMINATIONS TO BE MADE WITH RESPECT TO TOBACCO MARKETING QUOTAS FOR THE 1955–56 MARKETING YEAR

Pursuant to the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, the Secretary of Agriculture is preparing to proclaim national marketing quotas for cigar-filler tobacco, cigar-filler and binder tobacco, Burley tobacco, flue-cured tobacco, fire-cured tobacco, dark air-cured tobacco, Virginia sun-cured tobacco, and Maryland tobacco, for the 1955–56 marketing year, determine the amount of the national marketing quota for each such kind of tobacco, apportion the national marketing quotas among the several States, and convert the State marketing quotas into State acreage allotments.

The Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended (7 U. S. C. 1312 (a)), provides that the Secretary of Agriculture shall proclaim a national marketing quota for each marketing year for each kind of tobacco for which a national marketing quota was proclaimed for the immediately preceding marketing year. The act (7 U. S. C. 1301 (b) (15)) defines "tobacco" as each one of the kinds of tobacco listed below comprising the types specified as classified in Service and Regulatory Announcement Numbered 118 (7 CFR Part 30) of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the Department:

Fire-cured tobacco, comprising types 21, 22, 23, and 24;
Dark air-cured tobacco, comprising types 35 and 36;
Virginia sun-cured tobacco, comprising type 37;
Burley tobacco, comprising type 31;
Maryland tobacco, comprising type 32;
Cigar-filler and cigar-binder tobacco, comprising types 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 51, 52, 53, 54, and 55;
Cigar-filler tobacco, comprising type 41.

The act provides that any one or more of the types comprising any such kind of tobacco shall be treated as a "kind of tobacco" for the purposes of this act if the Secretary finds that there is a difference in supply and demand conditions as among such types of tobacco which results in a difference in the adjustments needed in the marketings thereof in order to maintain supplies in line with demand. Pursuant to this authority the Secretary has determined (15 F. R. 8214) that type 46 tobacco shall be treated as a separate kind of tobacco for purposes of marketing quotas and price supports on the 1951 and subsequent crops of such tobacco.

The act (7 U. S. C. 1313 (i)) provides that notwithstanding any other provision of the act, whenever after investigation the Secretary determines with respect to any kind of tobacco that a substantial difference exists in the usage or market outlets for any one or more of the types comprising such kind of tobacco and that the quantity of tobacco of such type or types to be produced under the marketing quotas and acreage allotments established pursuant to this section would not be sufficient to provide an adequate supply for estimated market demands and carry-over requirements for such type or types of tobacco, the Secretary shall increase the marketing quotas and acreage allotments for farms producing such type or types of tobacco in the preceding year to the extent necessary to make available a supply of such type or types of tobacco adequate to meet such demands and carry-over requirements. The increases in farm marketing quotas and acreage allotments shall be made on the basis of the production of such type or types of tobacco during the period of years considered in establishing farm marketing quotas and acreage allotments for such kind of tobacco. The additional production authorized by this subsection shall be in addition to the national marketing quota established for such kind of tobacco pursuant to section 312 of this act. The increase in acreage under this subsection shall not be considered in establishing future State or farm acreage allotments.

National marketing quotas were proclaimed for the 1954–55 marketing year as follows: Cigar-filler tobacco and cigar-filler and binder tobacco—18 F. R. 6443; Burley tobacco and flue-cured tobacco—18 F. R. 7653; fire-cured tobacco, dark air-cured tobacco, and Virginia sun-cured tobacco—18 F. R. 7653, 19 F. R. 202, and 19 F. R. 1814; and Maryland tobacco—18 F. R. 6446 and 18 F. R. 6558.

The act (7 U. S. C. 1312 (a)) provides that the Secretary shall also determine and specify in such proclamation the amount of the national marketing quota in terms of the total quantity of tobacco which may be marketed, which will make available during such marketing year a supply of tobacco equal to the reserve supply level. The act provides further that the amount of the 1955–56 national marketing quota may, not later than March 1, 1955, be increased by not more than 20 per centum if the Secretary determines that such increase is necessary in order to meet market demands or to avoid undue restriction of marketings in adjusting the total supply to the reserve supply level. The act (7 U. S. C. 1301 (b)) defines the "total supply" of tobacco for any marketing year as the carryover at the beginning of the marketing year (or on January 1 of such marketing year in the case of Maryland tobacco) plus the estimated production in the United States during the calendar year in which such marketing year begins. "Reserve supply level" is defined as the normal supply plus 5 per centum thereof. "Normal supply" is defined as a normal year's domestic consumption and exports, plus 175 per centum of a normal year's domestic consumption and 65 per centum of a normal year's exports. A "normal year's domestic consumption" is defined as the yearly average quantity produced in the United States and consumed in the United States during the ten marketing years immediately preceding the marketing year in which such consumption is determined, adjusted for current trends in such consumption. A "normal year's exports" is defined as the yearly average quantity produced in the United States which was exported from the United States during the ten marketing years immediately preceding the marketing year in which such exports are determined, adjusted for current trends in such exports.

The act (7 U. S. C. 1312 (b)) requires that within 30 days after a national marketing quota is proclaimed for the 1955–56 marketing year for cigar-filler tobacco, fire-cured tobacco, dark air-cured tobacco, and Maryland tobacco, the Secretary shall conduct a referendum of farmers who are engaged in the production of the 1954 crop of each of such kinds of tobacco to determine whether such farmers are in favor of or opposed to such quota. If more than one-third of the farmers voting in the referendum oppose such quota, the quota shall not be effective thereafter. The Secretary is also required to submit to such farmers the question of whether they favor marketing quotas for a period of three years beginning with the 1955–56 marketing year. If two-thirds of the farmers voting on this question favor quotas for such three-year period, the Secretary is required to proclaim marketing quotas for such period. A separate referendum will be held for each of such kinds of tobacco and the results of any referendum will not affect the results of any other referendum.

Cigar-filler and binder, Burley, flue-cured, and Virginia sun-cured tobacco growers favored marketing quotas for the 1955–56 marketing year in referenda held pursuant to the act (7 U. S. C. 1312 (b)) as follows: Cigar-filler and binder tobacco—18 F. R. 8474; Burley tobacco—17 F. R. 11737; Flue-cured tobacco—17 F. R. 7613; and Virginia sun-cured tobacco—17 F. R. 11380.

The act (7 U. S. C. 1313 (a)) requires the Secretary to apportion the national marketing quota, less the amount to be allotted under subsection (c) of section 1313 (small farms and "new" farms), among the several States on the basis of the total production in each State during the five calendar years immediately preceding the calendar year in which the quota is proclaimed, with such adjustments as are determined to be necessary to make correction for abnormal conditions of production, for small farms, and for trends in production, giving due consideration to seed bed and other plant diseases during such five-year period. The act (7 U. S. C. 1313 (g)) authorizes the Secretary to convert State marketing quotas into State acreage allotments on the basis of average yield per acre for the State during the five years last preceding the year in which the national marketing quota is proclaimed, adjusted for abnormal conditions of production.

In making the determinations of the amounts of the national marketing quotas, the apportionment of the quotas among the several States, and the conversion of State marketing quotas into State acreage allotments, consideration will be given to any data, views and recommendations pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing to the Director, Tobacco Division, Commodity Stabilization Service, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C. All submissions must be postmarked not later than 15 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER in order to be considered.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 1st day of October 1954.

[SEAL] WALTER C. BERGER,
Acting Administrator.

Persons asserting preference rights, through settlement or otherwise, and those having equitable claims, shall accompany their applications by duly corroborated statements in support thereof, setting forth in detail all facts relevant to their claims.

5. All of the lands will be leased in tracts of approximately two and one-half acres, with approximate dimensions of 330 x 330 feet, each tract forming an aliquot part of the section in accordance with the official survey thereof.

6. Preference right leases referred to in paragraph 2 will be issued only if the tract applied for conforms to or is amended to conform to the area, dimensions, and form specified in paragraph 5.

7. Leases will issue for a period of three years at an annual rental of $5.00, payable for the entire lease period in advance of issuance of the lease. Leases will contain an option to purchase clause at the appraised value of $125.00 per tract. Application to purchase may be filed during the term of the lease but not more than 30 days prior to the expiration of one year from the date of issuance.

8. Tracts will be subject to all existing rights-of-way and to additional rights-of-way, 33 feet in width on, or as near as practicable to, the boundaries thereof for road purposes and public utilities. Such rights-of-way may be utilized by the Federal Government or the State, county, or municipality in which the tract is situated, or by any agent thereof. The rights-of-way may, in the discretion of the authorized officer of the Bureau of Land Management, be definitely located prior to the issuance of the patent. If not so located, they may be subject to location after patent is issued.

9. All inquiries relating to the above described lands should be addressed to the Manager, Land Office, Bureau of Land Management, Room 1512, Post Office Building, Los Angeles 12, California.

WASHINGTON

SMALL TRACT CLASSIFICATION ORDER NO. 6

SEPTEMBER 28, 1954.

1. Pursuant to authority delegated to the State Supervisors by section 2.5 of Redelegation Order No. 541, issued April 21, 1954 by the Director, Bureau of Land Management, the following described lands are hereby classified for lease and sale under the Small Tract Act of June 1, 1938 (52 Stat. 609) as amended by the Act of June 8, 1954 (68 Stat. 239), for home site purposes:

WILLAMETTE MERIDIAN

T. 9 N., R. 28 E.,
Sec. 8, Lot 3, SW¼, SW¼NW¼, E½SE¼NW¼.

The lands described comprise 104 small tracts and contain a total of 259.15 acres.

2. The lands are located approximately three miles west of the city of Richland, Washington. The topography is level to rolling and the lands have an elevation of 600 feet. The annual precipitation average is nine inches and the temperature varies from a summer high of 100 degrees to a winter low of zero.

3. The lands will be leased and sold in approximately 2½ acre tracts of one tract to each successful applicant. Access to public highways from the tracts will be afforded by a reservation of rights of way along the boundary of each tract for road or public utility facilities which will not exceed 33 feet in width and as shown on the layout plats of the area.

4. This order shall not become effective to change the status of the lands until 10:00 a. m. on the 35th day after the date of this order. At that time the land shall, subject to valid existing rights, become subject to application as follows:

(a) Ninety-one-day period for preference-right filings. For a period of 91 days commencing at the hour and on the date specified above, the lands affected by this order shall be subject to application by qualified veterans of World War II and the Korean conflict. All applications filed under this paragraph, either on or before 10:00 a. m. on the 35th day after the date of this order, shall be treated as though filed simultaneously at that time. All applications filed under this paragraph after 10:00 a. m. on the 35th day shall be considered in the order of filing.

(b) Commencing at 10:00 a. m. on the 126th day after the date of this order any lands remaining shall become subject to application under the Small Tract Act by the public generally. All such applications filed, either on or before 10:00 a. m. on the 126th day, shall be treated as though filed simultaneously at the hour specified on such 126th day. All applications filed thereafter shall be considered in the order of filing.

A veteran shall accompany his application with a complete photostat, or other copy, (both sides) of his certificate of honorable discharge, or of an official document of his branch of service which shows clearly his honorable discharge as defined in § 181.36 of Title 43 of the Code of Federal Regulations, or constitute evidence of any facts upon which the claim for preference is based and which shows clearly the period of service. Other persons claiming credit for service of veterans must furnish like proof in support of their claims. Persons asserting preference right through settlement or otherwise and those having equitable claims, shall accompany their applications by duly corroborated statements in support thereof, setting forth in detail all facts relevant to their claims.

5. Leases for homesites will be issued for a period of three years at an annual rental of $15, payable in advance for the entire lease period. Leases for the homesites will provide option to purchase at the appraised values ranging from $50 to $100. Before purchases may be made, the leases must have been in effect for a period of one year, and the tract must have actually been used and improved for the purposes for which the lease is issued.

In the event the right to purchase has been exercised prior to the expiration of the three year leasable period, the unearned rental paid will be applied to the purchase price. The United States reserves the right to reject any application to purchase and to cancel any lease if the property under application has been used or developed in such a manner as to detract from the value of the remaining tracts for the purposes for which they are classified.

6. Inquiries relative to these lands should be addressed to the Manager, Land Office, Bureau of Land Management, Federal Building, Spokane, Washington.

J. M. HONEYWELL,
State Supervisor.

PHILLIPS PETROLEUM CO.

ORDER SUSPENDING PROPOSED RATE INCREASES

On August 31, 1954, Phillips Petroleum Company (Phillips) filed 44 contracts with amendments for the sale of natural gas containing rates in effect on June 7, 1954. These rate filings have been designated as Rate Schedules 1 through 45, inclusive, and are accepted for filing. (The identification of these Rate Schedules is shown in Appendix A hereto.)

Simultaneously with the filing of its basic Rate Schedules, Phillips filed proposed rate increases with a proposed effective date of September 1, 1954, the purpose of which is to provide for the reimbursement by the buyers under the respective Rate Schedules for an increase in the Texas Production Tax, these Supplemental Rate Schedules being identified in Appendix B hereto. The requirement of 30-days notice for such increases has been waived and such rate increases have been allowed to take effect as of the requested date.

At the same time it filed 12 proposed rate increases with proposed effective dates of September 1, 1954, the purpose of which is to recover under the rate schedules an increase in the Texas Production Tax and at the same time to establish a new method of computation of the amount of such tax increase to be recovered, these Supplemental Rate Schedules being identified in Appendix C hereto. It appears that in this change in method of computing the tax recovery Phillips may be undertaking to collect monies for taxes it does not pay and is not obligated to pay under contract. Such proposed increases have not been shown to be justified and will be suspended pending hearings.

Phillips has also proposed four rate increases pursuant to schedules of periodic increases provided in the basic rate contracts, these Supplemental Rate Schedules being identified in Appendix D hereto. Phillips has not filed any substantive support for these proposed rate increases, but merely states such increases are to be made in accordance with the terms of its contract.

Since the ruling by the United States Supreme Court on June 7, 1954 in Phillips Petroleum Company v. Wisconsin, 347 U. S. 672, that Phillips is a natural-gas company subject to the Natural Gas Act in certain respects, and the issuance of the Court's mandate in accordance therewith, Phillips has endeavored to comply with the requirements of that statute and the regulations of the Commission thereunder. However, the increases proposed in the Supplemental Rate Schedules identified in Appendices C and D hereto have not been justified and raise problems which have not been heretofore decided but which are related to the treatment to be accorded escalation clauses referred to in our order in Docket No. R-137 upon which oral argument will be heard on November 4, 1954. In the absence of proper justification, these particular increases will be suspended and brought up for consideration as soon as possible.

The Commission finds: It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon a hearing, pursuant to the authority contained in section 4 of the act, concerning the lawfulness of:

Supp. 13 to Rate Schedule No. 5.
Supp. 8 to Rate Schedule No. 18.
Supp. 3 to Rate Schedule No. 20.
Supp. 11 to Rate Schedule No. 26.

Supp. 1 to Rate Schedule No. 8.
Supp. 14 to Rate Schedule No. 5.
Supp. 5 to Rate Schedule 9.

Supp. 2 to Rate Schedule 21.
Supp. 13 to Rate Schedule 32.
Supp. 4 to Rate Schedule 33.
Supp. 1 to Rate Schedule No. 7.

and that said proposed changes be suspended as hereinafter provided and the use thereof be deferred pending hearing and decision herein.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority contained in section 4 of the Natural Gas Act, a public hearing be held upon a date to be fixed by further order of the Commission concerning the lawfulness of rates, charges, and classifications contained in the aforesaid Rate Schedules as proposed to be amended.

(B) Pending such hearing and decision thereon, Phillips' are hereby suspended and the use thereof deferred until further order of the Commission, but not for more than five months from the adoption of this order, or until such further time as they may be made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(C) Interested State commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

PHILLIPS PETROLEUM CO.

ORDER ACCEPTING RATE SCHEDULES FOR FILING AND SUSPENDING CERTAIN SUPPLEMENTS THERETO

Phillips Petroleum Company (Phillips) on August 31, 1954, submitted for filing a basic contract dated December 11, 1945, and 11 amendatory agreements thereto, relating to the sale of natural gas to Michigan Wisconsin Pipeline Company. The basic contract has been designated as Phillips Petroleum Company FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 4 and the amendatory agreements have been assigned the supplement numbers set forth in Appendix A, attached hereto and incorporated herein.

At the same time Phillips also submitted for filing Supplement No. 1 to Supp. 6 and Supplement No. 1 to Supp. No. 7 to its FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 4, constituting notices of change based upon the increase in the Texas Gas Production Tax, effective September 1, 1954. These proposed changes purport to increase and change the method of computing the amount of tax reimbursement to be paid by Michigan Wisconsin after September 1, 1954.

As revealed by the computations submitted with its filings, Phillips interprets its FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 4 and the supplements thereto to provide rates as of June 7, 1954, averaging 9.37958 cents per Mcf of gas delivered from its Stratford Acreage and 9.44231 cents per Mcf of gas delivered from its Dedicated Acreage.

In deriving the average rates referred to above, Phillips has purported to adjust the minimum contract prices of 8.9330 cents per Mcf for gas from the Stratford Acreage and 7.5930 cents per Mcf of gas from the Dedicated Acreage effective June 7, 1954, to give effect to the inflation adjustment clause in the contract on the basis of an assumed revenue of 35 cents per Mcf for Michigan Wisconsin.

Since the decision by the United States Supreme Court on June 7, 1954, in Phillips Petroleum Company v. Wisconsin, that Phillips is a natural-gas company subject to the Natural Gas Act and the issuance of the Court's mandate in accordance therewith. Phillips has endeavored to comply with the requirements of that statute and the regulations of the Commission thereunder. However, the increases proposed in the supplements referred to below have not been justified and raise problems not finally determined.

The rate increases proposed by Phillips in Supplement Nos. 8 and 11 to Phillips FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 4 and Supplement No. 1 to Supplement No. 6 and Supplement No. 1 to Supplement No. 7 to its FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 4 have not been shown to be justified and may be unjust, unreasonable and otherwise unlawful. Furthermore, the rate increases proposed in Supplement Nos. 8 and 11 relate to matters considered in Opinion No. 275, In the Matter of Michigan Wisconsin Pipe Line Company, Docket Nos. G-1678 and G-1996, and accompanying order issued July 30, 1954. On September 27, 1954, upon consideration of the application of Michigan Wisconsin Pipe Line Company for modification of Opinion No. 275 and accompanying order, the Commission granted such application to the extent only that it requested a reconsideration of that opinion and order upon the present record. In the determination of the issues thus raised, consideration must be given to the proper rates for gas purchased by Michigan Wisconsin from Phillips, and it is proper and in the public interest that pending such reconsideration the rate increases filed by Phillips applicable to gas purchased by Michigan Wisconsin be suspended.

The Commission finds: It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act, that Phillips FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 4 and the supplements thereto listed in Appendix A, except Supplement Nos. 8 and 11, be accepted for filing; and that the Commission enter upon a hearing pursuant to the authority contained in section 4 of the Natural Gas Act concerning the lawfulness of the rates and charges contained in Phillips FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 4, as supplemented, as proposed to be further supplemented by Supplement Nos. 8 and 11 and Supplement Nos. 1 to Supplements Nos. 6 and 7, and that pending hearing and decision thereon, the aforesaid supplements be suspended as hereinafter provided and ordered.

The Commission orders:

(A) Phillips FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 4 and the supplements thereto listed in Appendix A, except Supplement Nos. 8 and 11, be and the same hereby are accepted for filing.

(B) A public hearing be held at a date to be set by further order concerning the lawfulness of the rates, charges, classifications and services contained in Phillips FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 4, as supplemented, as proposed to be further supplemented by Supplement Nos. 8 and 11 and Supplement No. 1 to Supplements Nos. 6 and 7.

(C) Pending such hearing and decision thereon, the proposed rates and charges contained in Supplement Nos. 8 and 11 and Supplement No. 1 to Supplements Nos. 6 and 7 to Phillips FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 4, hereby are suspended and their use deferred until February 1, 1955, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission, and until such further time thereafter as they may be made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(D) Interested State commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

(E) This order is without prejudice to any findings or orders which have been or may hereafter be made by this Commission in Docket No. G–1148, or in any other proceeding now pending or hereafter instituted by or against Phillips.

Adopted: September 30, 1954.

Issued: October 1, 1954.

By the Commission.

ONEIDA LTD.

ORDER GRANTING EXEMPTION

OCTOBER 1, 1954.

Oneida Ltd. ("Oneida") having filed an application under section 3 (a) (3) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act") for exemption from the provisions of the act; and

Due notice of the filing of the application having been given, and a hearing not having been ordered by, or requested of, the Commission; and

The Commission having examined the application and the statements therein contained; and

It appearing that Oneida is a New York corporation engaged in the manufacture of silver plate, sterling, and stainless steel tableware, and certain defense products; that it proposes to acquire all of the common stock (326 shares of $100 par value each) of the Sherrill-Kenwood Power & Light Company ("Sherrill-Kenwood"), a New York corporation organized in June 1953 for the purpose of acquiring the property and assets of The Kenwood Electric Light Company ("Kenwood"), a proprietorship engaged in furnishing electric service in the City of Sherrill and in parts of the City of Oneida and the Town of Vernon, contiguous communities in the State of New York in the area surrounding Oneida's manufacturing plant; and that upon the consummation of the transactions Sherrill-Kenwood will be an electric utility company, as defined in section 2 (a) (3) of the act, and Oneida will be a holding company as defined in section 2 (a) (7) of the act; and

Oneida having stated that it purchases from Niagara Mohawk Power Company, a non-affiliate, large quantities of electric energy for use in its manufacturing plant, and that the proposed acquisition of Sherrill-Kenwood is to insure the continuation of an existing arrangement under which Oneida, in order to procure its electric energy requirements more economically, purchases electric energy in excess of its own requirements and sells the surplus to Kenwood for resale to residential and commercial customers in the area adjacent to Oneida's plant; and

It further appearing that the acquisition of the assets of Kenwood by Sherrill-Kenwood, and the issuance by Sherrill-Kenwood of 326 shares of $100 par value common stock and the acquisition thereof by Oneida have been authorized by the New York Public Service Commission; and

It further appearing that there is substantial doubt whether the application for exemption meets the standards of section 3 (a) (3) of the act and the Commission deeming it appropriate to consider such application under the standards of section 3 (a) (1) of the act; and

The Commission having found that Oneida and Sherrill-Kenwood are predominantly intrastate in character as to their public-utility business and carry on such business in a single state in which both are organized, and the Commission having further found that the granting of the requested exemption will not be detrimental to the public interest or the interest of investors or consumers:

It is ordered, That the application of Oneida for exemption of itself as a holding company, and its subsidiary as such, be, and the same hereby is, granted pursuant to section 3 (a) (1) of the act, effective forthwith upon the acquisition by Oneida of the common stock of Sherrill-Kenwood.

By the Commission.

CENTRAL POWER AND LIGHT CO.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED ACQUISITION OF NOTES OF ASSOCIATE COMPANY

OCTOBER 1, 1954.

Notice is hereby given that an application has been filed with this Commission, pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act"), by Central Power and Light Company ("Central"), a public-utility subsidiary of Central and South West Corporation, a registered holding company. Applicant has designated sections 9 (a), 10 and 12 (f) of the act and Rules U-41, U-43 and U-45 promulgated thereunder as applicable to the proposed transactions.

All interested persons are referred to said application which is on file in the office of this Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which are summarized as follows:

Central proposes to enter into certain transactions with Compania Electrica de Matamoros, Sociedad Anonima, a Mexican corporation (also known as Matamoros Electric Company, and herein called "Matamoros").

All the outstanding shares of stock of Matamoros are owned by Central and South West Corporation. Matamoros is a corporation organized and existing under the laws of Mexico. It owns and operates an electric distribution system in Matamoros, Mexico, and a transmission line across the Rio Grande connecting on the north side of the river in the State of Texas with Central's electric transmission system, and is engaged primarily in furnishing electric service in Matamoros, Mexico. Matamoros derives no part of its income, directly or indirectly, from sources within the United States and is not a public-utility company operating in the United States. It has no subsidiaries and does not own any public-utility company or holding company operating, directly or indirectly, in the United States and by order of this Commission dated February 5, 1942, is exempt from all provisons of the act applicable to it as a subsidiary of a registered holding company.

Central proposes to acquire five (5) notes payable of Matamoros aggregating $98,534.53 in principal amount, each dated September —, 1954, and bearing interest at the rate of 8 percent per annum from date. One of said notes will be in the principal sum of $19,706.53, due September 15, 1955; and the other four notes will be in the principal sum of $19,707 each, due, respectively, on the 15th day of September, 1956 to 1959, inclusive. Said notes will be issued by Matamoros and accepted by Central in payment of (a) the purchase price ($70,594.53, representing the cost to Central) of certain substation equipment, materials and related facilities owned by Central, which Central has agreed to sell to Matamoros, and (b) a portion ($27,940) of the cost to Central of certain poles, line materials and supplies heretofore delivered by Central to Matamoros.

It is stated that no State commission, and no Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions. No fees or commissions have been or are to be paid and it is estimated that expenses relating to the transactions will be nominal.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than October 15, 1954, at 5:30 p. m., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the reasons for such a request, the nature of his interest and the issues of fact or law raised by said application which he desires to controvert, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C. At any time after said date, said application, as filed or as amended, may be granted as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may exempt such transactions as provided in Rules U-20 (a) and U-100 thereof.

Northeast having requested that a further extension of such period of temporary exemption be granted until December 1, 1954, and having represented, in connection with such request for extension, that it does not contemplate during that period the taking of any action which would require prior approval of the Commission if it were registered under the act, and having agreed that in the event it does propose any such transaction, it will give the Commission 10 days' notice thereof and comply with any directions issued by the Commission with respect thereto, as more fully set forth in such request; and

The proceeds to be derived from the issuance of the proposed notes will be used by the borrowing companies to pay then outstanding notes or to pay for construction expenditures.

The joint application-declaration states that incidental services in connection with the proposed note issues will be performed at cost by New England Power Service Company, an affiliated service company, such cost being estimated not to exceed $100 for NEES and each borrowing company, or an aggregate of $1,400.

PART 959—IRISH POTATOES GROWN IN THE COUNTIES OF CROOK, DESCHUTES, JEFFERSON, KLAMATH, AND LAKE IN OREGON, AND MODOC AND SISKIYOU IN CALIFORNIA

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

Finding. (1) Pursuant to Marketing Agreement No. 114 and Order No. 59, as amended (7 CFR Part 959), regulating the handling of Irish potatoes grown in the counties of Crook, Deschutes, Jefferson, Klamath, and Lake in the State of Oregon, and Modoc and Siskiyou in the State of California, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Oregon-California Potato Committee, established pursuant to said marketing agreement and amended order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the amendment to the limitation of shipments, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendment until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) in that (i) the time intervening between the date when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, (ii) more orderly marketing in the public interest, than would otherwise prevail, will be promoted by regulating the shipment of potatoes, in the manner set forth below, on and after the effective date of this amendment, (iii) compliance with this amendment will not require any preparation on the part of handlers which cannot be completed by the effective date, and (iv) information regarding the committee's recommendation has been made available to producers and handlers in the production area.

Order as amended. The provisions of § 959.311 (b) (FEDERAL REGISTER August 19, 1954, 19 F. R. 5251) are hereby amended to read as follows:

(b) Order. (1) During the period October 11, 1954, to May 31, 1955, both dates inclusive, no handler shall ship any potatoes unless they meet the requirements of the U. S. No. 2, or better grade, and are of a size not smaller than 1⅞ inches minimum diameter.

(2) During the period beginning October 11, 1954, and ending November 1, 1954, both dates inclusive, no handler shall ship any potatoes unless such potatoes meet the requirements of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph and, in addition, are not more than "slightly skinned", as such term is defined in the U. S. Standards for Potatoes, which means that not more than 10 percent of the potatoes in any lot have more than one-fourth of the skin missing or "feathered": Provided, That during such period, not to exceed 100 hundredweight of each variety of such potatoes may be handled every 7 days for any producer without regard to the aforesaid skinning requirement, if the handler thereof reports, prior to such handling, the name and address of the producer of such potatoes, and each shipment hereunder is handled as an identifiable entity.

(3) Pursuant to § 959.54, each handler may ship not in excess of five hundredweight of potatoes per week without regard to the provisions set forth in this paragraph and §§ 959.41 and 959.60.

(4) The limitations set forth in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph shall not be applicable to shipments of potatoes for the following purposes: (i) Grading or storing in the production area, (ii) certified seed, (iii) export, (iv) canning, freezing, (v) dehydration, or manufacture or conversion into starch, flour, or alcohol, (vi) charity, and (vii) livestock feed within the production area: Provided, That during the period October 11, 1954, to May 31, 1955, both dates inclusive, no handler shall (a) ship potatoes for export which do not meet the requirements of the U. S. No. 1, or better grade, or which are less than 1½ inches minimum diameter, and (b) ship potatoes for dehydration, or manufacture or conversion into starch, flour, or alcohol which do not meet the requirements of 85 percent of the U. S. No. 1, or better grade, and which are less than 1½ inches minimum diameter.

(5) Each handler making shipments of potatoes pursuant to subparagraph (4) of this paragraph shall (except for shipments for grading or storing in the production area and shipments for livestock feed within the production area) (i) file an application for a Certificate of Privilege pursuant to §§ 959.130 and 959.131, (ii) pay assessments pursuant to § 959.41 on shipments of certified seed, to export, to dehydration, or manufacture or conversion into starch, flour, or alcohol, or, for charity, and (iii) have such shipments (except shipments of certified seed potatoes) inspected pursuant to § 959.60, and (iv) for each shipment made pursuant to subdivisions (iii), (iv), (v), and (vi) of subparagraph (4) of this paragraph, shall furnish a record of shipment applicable thereto to the committee: Provided, That each application to ship potatoes made pursuant to subdivisions (iii), (iv), (v) and (vi) of subparagraph (4) of this paragraph shall be accompanied by the applicant handler's certification and the buyer's certification that the potatoes to be shipped are to be used for the purpose stated in the application: Provided further, That each handler agrees in his application to furnish a copy of the bill of lading on each such shipment and, in the case of shipments made pursuant to subdivisions (iv) and (v) of subparagraph (4) of this paragraph, to bill each such shipment directly to the applicable processor.

(6) The terms used in this section shall have the same meaning as when used in Marketing Agreement No. 114 and Order No. 59, as amended and grades and sizes shall have the same meaning assigned these terms in the U. S. Standards for Potatoes (§§ 51.1540 to 51.1559 of this title), including the tolerances set forth therein.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c)

PART 993—DRIED PRUNES PRODUCED IN CALIFORNIA

SCHEDULE OF PAYMENTS TO HANDLERS TO COMPENSATE THEM FOR NECESSARY SERVICES IN CONNECTION WITH SURPLUS TONNAGE PRUNES

Notice was published in the September 18, 1954 issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER (19 F. R. 6043) that the Secretary of Agriculture was considering a rule to approve an amended schedule of payments, as set forth in such notice, to compensate handlers for necessary services rendered by them in connection with surplus tonnage prunes. The aforesaid amended schedule of payments was submitted by the Prune Administrative Committee pursuant to the applicable provisions of Marketing Agreement No. 110, as further amended, and Order No. 93, as further amended (19 F. R. 1301), regulating the handling of dried prunes produced in California, effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.). In said notice, opportunity was afforded all interested persons to file written data, views, or arguments with respect thereto. No such written data, views, or arguments were filed, and the period provided therefor has now expired.

It was stated in the notice that it was proposed to change the numbering of existing §§ 993.201 to 993.401 and to amend said section as set forth therein.

After consideration of all pertinent available information, it is concluded that the aforementioned amended schedule of payments, as renumbered, should be approved as set forth in the aforesaid notice of proposed rule making in that connection.

Therefore, it is hereby ordered, That the numbering of § 993.201 (15 F. R. 1888) is changed to § 993.401 and that the provisions of such renumbered section are amended to read as follows:

§ 993.401 Schedule of payments to handlers for necessary services rendered by them in connection with surplus tonnage prunes. (a) Surplus tonnage prunes which producers and dehydrators tender to a handler shall be held by him in proper storage until the committee shall have relieved him of the obligation of such holding.

(b) For standard prunes of the surplus tonnage, the handler so holding such prunes, who performs the necessary services thereon for the committee, shall be reimbursed, except as provided in paragraphs (c) and (e) of this section, at the rate of $18.00 per ton for the following service costs:

(1) Acquisition costs, including, but not limited to, those for salaries, commissions or brokerage fees, transportation and handling between plants and receiving stations, and other costs, including container expense incidental to acquisition or storage;

(2) Direct labor costs, including, but not limited to, those for receiving, grading, preliminary sorting and storing, including that performed by the handler at receiving station, and loading for shipment; and

(3) Plant overhead costs, including, but not limited to, superintendence and indirect labor, payroll taxes and compensation insurance, fuel, power and water, taxes and insurance on facilities, depreciation and rent, repairs and maintenance, and factory supplies and expense.

(c) A handler may, at any time, demand removal by the committee of surplus tonnage held by him. With respect to surplus tonnage prunes of any crop year, if the handler demands removal of standard prunes of such surplus tonnage prior to December 1 of the crop year, such handler automatically waives payment for any and all charges as set forth in this section. If such demand is made during December or January of the crop year, the handler making such demand shall receive payment for 50 percent of the total charges as set forth in this section. If a handler demands removal by the committee of such surplus during February of the crop year, he shall receive payment for 60 percent of such total charges; if during March of the crop year, 70 percent; if during April of the crop year, 80 percent; if during May of the crop year, 90 percent; and if during any month thereafter, 100 percent of such total charges.

(d) For substandard prunes of the surplus tonnage which a handler holds for the account of the committee, such handler shall receive payment for services performed, including, but not limited to, transportation from receiving points, in and out charges, and the placing of prunes in containers furnished by the committee, at the rate of $10.00 per ton for each ton so held, except that on any tonnage of such substandard prunes of which the handler demands removal by the committee prior to December 1 of the crop year, any and all payments due thereon shall automatically be waived by such handler.

(e) Each handler holding surplus tonnage for the account of the committee shall maintain proper insurance thereon, including fire and extended coverage, in valuations according to grade and size differentials as the committee shall establish and such handler shall be reimbursed for the actual cost of such insurance.

It is hereby found that good cause exists for not postponing the effective date of this amended schedule of payments later than the date of the publication of this document in the FEDERAL REGISTER (see section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.), because: (1) This amended schedule of payments is applicable to payments to handlers for necessary services with respect to surplus tonnage dried prunes received and stored by a handler for the account of the Prune Administrative Committee on or after August 1, 1954; (2) it is desirable that the Prune Administrative Committee have authority as soon as practicable to make payments to handlers for such services at the rates prescribed in this amended schedule of payments; (3) handlers generally are aware of the recommendation of the Prune Administrative Committee with respect to this amended schedule of payments; and (4) handlers will not need to make any preparation for compliance with the provisions of the amended section.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c)

Issued this 5th day of October 1954, to be, and become, effective as of the date of the publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

[SEAL] ROY W. LENNARTSON,
Deputy Administrator.

TITLE 19—CUSTOMS DUTIES

Chapter II—United States Tariff Commission

PART 201—RULES OF GENERAL APPLICATION

PART 208—INVESTIGATIONS OF DUMPING INJURY TO DOMESTIC INDUSTRY

The Commission, on September 27, 1954, amended §§ 201.1, 201.6 (c), 201.10, and 201.11 (a) so as to make said sections read as set forth below, and, on the same date, the Commission added new Part 208, also set forth below.

1. Section 201.1, 201.6 (c), 201.10, and 201.11 (a) are amended as follows:

§ 201.1 Applicability of general rules. The Tariff Commission rules of general application apply to investigations under the provisions of section 332 of the Tariff Act of 1930, and, so far as pertinent, to investigations under the provisions of sections 336 and 337 of the Tariff Act of 1930 (46 Stat. 698, 701, 703; 19 U. S. C. 1332, 1336, 1337); to investigations under section 22 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, as amended (sec. 3, Pub. Law 579, 81st Cong.; Pub. Law 50, 82d Cong.); to investigations under section 504 of the Philippine Trade Act of 1946 (60 Stat. 156; 22 U. S. C. 1354); to investigations under sections 3 and 7 of the Trade Agreements Extension Act of 1951, as amended (Pub. Law 50, 82d Cong.; Pub. Law 215, 83d Cong.); and to investigations under section 201 (a) of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended by sec. 301, Pub. Law 768, 83d Cong. Rules having specific application to investigations under sections 336 and 337 of the Tariff Act of 1930, under section 22 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, as amended, under section 504 of the Philippine Trade Act, under sections 3 and 7 of the Trade Agreements Extension Act of 1951, as amended, and under section 201 (a) of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended, respectively, appear separately in Parts 202 to 208, inclusive, of this chapter. In case of inconsistency between a rule of general application and a rule having specific application, the latter is controlling. No rules governing investigations under section 338 of the Tariff Act of 1930 (46 Stat. 704; 19 U. S. C. 1338) are issued because such investigations, which concern questions of possible discrimination by foreign countries against the commerce of the United States, are of a nature requiring their conduct under cover of secrecy.

§ 201.6 Confidential information. * * *

(c) Information submitted to the Commission in confidence should be submitted on separate pages clearly marked "Submitted in Confidence." The Commission may refuse to accept in confidence any particular information which it determines is not entitled to confidential treatment.

§ 201.10 Public notices. Public notice of receipt of applications or complaints properly filed, of the institution of investigations, of public hearings, of dismissal of applications or investigations, and of other formal actions of the Commission, under sections 336 and 337 of the Tariff Act of 1930, under section 22 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, as amended, under section 504 of the Philippine Trade Act of 1946, under sections 3 and 7 of the Trade Agreements Extension Act of 1951, as amended, and under section 201 (a) of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended, will be given by posting a copy of the notice at the principal office of the Commission at Washington, D. C., and at its office in New York City; and by publishing a copy of the notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER and in Treasury Decisions. Copies of such notices will also be sent to press associations, trade and similar organizations of producers, and to importers and others (including all persons named in the application or complaint concerned) known to the Commission to have an interest in the subject matter of the investigation.

§ 201.11 Public hearings. (a) Hearings are required by law in the case of investigations under sections 336 and 337 of the Tariff Act of 1930, under section 22 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, as amended, under section 504 of the Philippine Trade Act of 1946, under section 3 of the Trade Agreement Extension Act of 1951, and under certain conditions under section 7 of the Trade Agreements Extension Act of 1951, as amended. No public hearing is required in general investigations under section 332 of the Tariff Act of 1930 or in investigations under section 201 (a) of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended; however, when determined by the Commission to be appropriate and feasible, hearings will be held in such investigations.

2. Part 208—Investigations of Dumping Injury to Domestic Industry is amended as follows:

Sec.
208.1 Applicability of rules regarding investigations under section 201 (a) of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended.
208.2 Purpose of investigation.
208.3 Institution of investigation.
208.4 Public hearings.
208.5 Written statements.
208.6 Notification of Commission determination.

AUTHORITY: §§ 208.1 to 208.6 issued under sec. 201 Pub. Law 768, 83d Cong.

NOTE: This part relates to the functions of the United States Tariff Commission under the provisions of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended. Responsibility for the administration of that act, except with respect to the functions to which this part relates, is vested by law in the Secretary of the Treasury. Investigations under the Antidumping Act to determine whether a class or kind of foreign merchandise is being, or is likely to be, sold in the United States or elsewhere at less than its fair value are initiated by the Bureau of Customs.

§ 208.1 Applicability of rules regarding investigations under section 201 (a) of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended. The rules under this part are specifically applicable to investigations for the purposes of section 201 (a) of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended, and apply in addition to the pertinent rules of general application set forth in Part 201 of this chapter.

§ 208.2 Purpose of investigation. The purpose of an investigation under section 201 (a) of the Antidumping Act, 1921, is to determine whether an industry in the United States is being, or is likely to be, injured, or is prevented from being established, by reason of the importation into the United States of a class or kind of foreign merchandise which the Secretary of the Treasury has determined is being, or is likely to be, sold in the United States or elsewhere at less than its fair value.

§ 208.3 Institution of investigation. After the receipt of advice from the Secretary of the Treasury that he has determined that a class or kind of foreign merchandise is being, or is likely to be, sold in the United States or elsewhere at less than its fair value, the Commission will institute an investigation for the purposes indicated in § 208.2. Public notice of such investigation will be given in the manner prescribed in § 201.10 of this chapter. Such notice will describe the class or kind of merchandise covered by the determination of the Secretary of the Treasury.

§ 208.4 Public hearings. If, in the judgment of the Commission, there is good and sufficient reason therefor, the Commission, in the course of its investigation, will hold a public hearing and afford interested parties opportunity to appear and be heard at such hearing. Public notice of the time and place set for such hearings will be given in the manner prescribed in § 201.10 of this chapter. In the event that no notice of public hearing issues concurrently with a notice of investigation, any interested party who believes that a public hearing should be held may, within 15 days after the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER of the notice of investigation, submit a request in writing to the Secretary, United States Tariff Commission, Washington 25, D. C., that a public hearing be held, stating the reasons for such request.

§ 208.5 Written statements. At any time after a investigation is published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, any interested party may submit to the Commission a written statement of information pertinent to the subject matter of such investigation. If a public hearing is held in the investigation such statement may be presented in lieu of appearance at such hearing. Fifteen clear copies of such statement will be required and should be addressed to the Secretary, United States Tariff Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

CROSS REFERENCE: For rule regarding submission of confidential information, see § 201.6 (b) of this chapter.

§ 208.6 Notification of Commission's determination. On or before the expiration of three months after the date of the receipt by the Commission of the advice from the Secretary of the Treasury referred to in § 208.3 the Commission will notify the Secretary of the Treasury of its determination.

Promulgated as of this date in pursuance of the action of the United States Tariff Commission under date of September 27, 1954, effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By direction of the Commission.

[SEAL] DONN N. BENT,
Secretary.

TITLE 29—LABOR

Chapter V—Wage and Hour Division, Department of Labor

PART 516—RECORDS TO BE KEPT BY EMPLOYERS

RECORD OF RETROACTIVE PAYMENT OF WAGES

On August 11, 1954, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (19 F. R. 5062) under which Part 516, issued pursuant to section 11 (c) of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended (52 Stat. 1060; as amended, 29 U. S. C. 201 et seq.), would be amended by the addition of a new paragraph and subparagraph.

A new paragraph (b) under § 516.2 would require employers to record their payments of back wages owed employees when such payments are made under the supervision of the Administrator. A new subparagraph (7) under paragraph (b) of § 516.21 would require similar recording with respect to employers of industrial homeworkers.

Interested persons were given 30 days in which to submit to the Administrator of the Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions their views and arguments relative to the proposed decisions. The only objections received appear to be based on the misunderstanding that it is the purpose of the proposed amendment to require that all retroactive wage payments, made to achieve compliance with sections 6 or 7 of the act, be reported on the form provided by the Administrator. Sections 516.2 (b) and 516.21 (b) (7), as proposed, are revised to emphasize that the only purpose of this amendment is to require records and reports of payments made under the supervision of the Administrator pursuant to section 16 (c).

Accordingly the regulations contained in this part are amended as follows:

(1) Amend § 516.2 by adding a new paragraph (b), to read as follows:

(b) Record of retroactive payment of wages. Every employer who makes retroactive payment of wages or compensation under the supervision of the Administrator pursuant to section 16 (c) of the act, shall:

(1) Record and preserve, as an entry on his payroll or other pay records, the amount of such payment to each employee, the period covered by such payment, and the date of payment.

(2) Prepare a report of each such payment on the receipt form provided or authorized by the Wage and Hour Division, and (i) preserve a copy as part of his records, (ii) deliver a copy to the employee, and (iii) file the original, which shall evidence payment by the employer and receipt by the employee, with the Administrator or his authorized representative within 10 days after payment is made.

2. Amend § 516.21 (on industrial homeworkers) by adding a new subparagraph (7) under paragraph (b), to read as follows:

(7) Record of retroactive payment of wages. Every employer who makes retroactive payment of wages or compensation under the supervision of the Administrator pursuant to section 16 (c) of the act, shall:

(i) Record and preserve, as an entry on his payroll or other pay records, the amount of such payment to each employee, the period covered by such payment, and the date of payment.

(ii) Prepare a report of each such payment on the receipt form provided or authorized by the Wage and Hour Division, and (a) preserve a copy as part of his records, (b) deliver a copy to the employee, and (c) file the original, which shall evidence payment by the employer and receipt by the employee, with the Administrator or his authorized representative within 10 days after payment is made.

(Sec. 11, 52 Stat. 1066, as amended; 29 U. S. C. 211)

Signed at Washington, D. C., this 5th day of October 1954.

WM. R. MCCOMB,
Administrator,
Wage and Hour Division.

PART 710—CORSETS, BRASSIERES, AND ALLIED GARMENTS INDUSTRY IN PUERTO RICO

MINIMUM WAGE ORDER

Pursuant to the provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001), notice was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on August 21, 1954 (19 F. R. 5361), of my proposed decision to approve the recommendation of Special Industry Committee No. 15 for Puerto Rico for the Corsets, Brassieres, and Allied Garments Industry in Puerto Rico, together with the Wage Order which I proposed to issue to carry such recommendation into effect.

As indicated in the notice, my findings and conclusions in this matter were set forth in a document entitled "Findings and Opinion of the Administrator in the Matter of the Recommendations of Special Industry Committee No. 15 for Puerto Rico for a Minimum Wage Rate in the Corsets, Brassieres, and Allied Garments Industry in Puerto Rico."

Interested parties were given an opportunity to file exceptions to the proposed action within fifteen days of the date of publication of the notice. Two exceptions have been filed. Dandy Brassieres, Inc., objects to the proposed action (or in the alternative, requests an exemption from it) on the ground that it is just commencing operations in the industry and the proposed action will delay the day when the new plant will first show a profit. As this objection does not indicate that curtailment of employment in the industry will flow from the proposed decision, it must be denied. The regulation providing the general minimum wage for this industry is not the place to consider individual applications for learner exemptions, and the act gives me no authority to grant general exemptions for particular companies.

Exceptions have also been filed by Mr. Joel H. Fisher on behalf of Jem Manufacturing Corporation, Pan American Crafts, Inc., Puerto Rico Shoulder Strap Corporation, Inc., Atlantic Accessories, Inc., and Southern Industries, Inc. (hereinafter referred to as the "Jem Group").

The "Jem Group" objects, inter alia, to the appointment of two members of the Committee who, while appointed as representatives of employees in the industry, were officials of labor unions which have no membership in Puerto Rico. "Jem" argues that their business of representing mainland employees gives them an interest which is inimical to Puerto Rico employees and has excepted to the Proposed Decision of the Administrator on the ground that the recommendation was not made in accordance with law since Special Industry Committee No. 15 was not lawfully constituted under section 5 (b) of the act.
